OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

By B. C. Mellencamp

Source of Baby Chicks Should Receive Careful Attention

This is the time of year for every farmer to carefully consider the kind of stock that will produce the best results and the greatest returns. The old adage "The grass is always greenest on the other side of the fence" seems to hold true in many cases. For example, many poultrymen have been in the habit of purchasing their baby chicks from Missouri, Kansas and other sources hundreds of miles away and in the majority of cases the purchaser has no knowledge of the hatcherymen's reputation, honesty and integrity. In case of losses usually great difficulty is encountered when trying to get a settlement."

The State Poultry Improvement Association is supervising the activity of many of the state hatcheries. You can buy just as high quality from hatcheries in Michigan as you can find anywhere in the United States, and you have the added assurance that these establishments are inspected by state inspectors and that in case of difficulty you can receive adjustments. If you want higher quality chicks why not notify your extension office and receive a list which includes some 35 hatcherymen having all breeds of chicks and who are good responsible hatcherymen.

If you are interested in higher quality of baby chicks we have a list of 10 hatcherymen who can furnish you United States certified chicks, all Pullorum tested. Still if you want the highest quality we have the list of hatcherymen who sell "record" or "performance" baby chicks. Hatcherymen in this classification have complete records of egg production, egg weight, and body weight, in addition to production records.

So much for the poultrymen. If you are a general farmer interested in high quality seed production and in high yields we would recommend that you buy the best seed attainable. Our Michigan Growers Improvement Association has large quantities of seed available for sale in oats, corn, beans, barley, alfalfa, and smooth brome grass. If you haven't changed your source of seed for several years, why not purchase a few bushels of high quality seed to grow for next year's seed supplies.

We would recommend most highly the Huron oat, a new variety released first in 1939. This variety has a higher weight per bushel than any other variety in Michigan. It is somewhat earlier than the Wolverine and will grow wherever Wolverine oats have been adapted.

In regard to corn, there are many open pollinated varieties that are to be recommended. In addition there are two or three hybrids that for several years have proved to be high yielders and good quality. Of these, the Minnesota No. 402 is highly recommended for this county. The Wisconsin No. 355 likewise is recommended. One advantage with the Minnesota No. 402 is the fact that we have a local grower in our own county who has something like 40 bushels for sale. If interested, get in touch with Robert Tainter, Boyne City, who has grown No. 402 for several years. Let us know and we will give you further particulars in regard to growers or the various seeds and the prices. Why not start next spring with at least a seed plot.

AT THE MOVIES

"This Thing Called Love" Is Terrific!

This thing called laughter is here in abundance! This thing called romance is all over the place! This thing called entertainment sparkles so gaily, you'll adore . . . you'll love . . . "This Thing Called Love"!

It's so nice . . . but definitely . . . "This Thing Called Love"! And especially when its practiced by those experts d'amour . . . Rosalind Russell and Melvyn Douglas . . . in their first uproarious appearance together!

The hectic new Columbia comedy, "This Thing Called Love," opens March 8 at the Palace Theatre. Supporting the co-stars is an all-comedy cast which includes Binnie Barnes, Allyn Joslyn, Gloria Dickson, Lee J. Cobb, Gloria Holden, Paul McGrath, Leona Maricle and Don Beddoe.

"Four Daughters" Cast Increases by Four in "Four Mothers"

Latest and said to be best of a very successful series, "Four Mothers" opens on March 11 at the Palace Theatre. The cast differs from that of its predecessors, "Four daughters" and "Four Wives," only in point of natural population increase. As the new title indicates, some of the Lemp daughters have become mothers.

Tots Barbara Quintanilla and Sharon Van play the children of Priscilla Lane and Gale Page, and twins Barbara Ann and Arlene Laabs are assigned to Lola Lane.

Jeffrey Lynn, Rosemary Lane, Eddie Albert, Frank McHugh, Dick Foran, Claude Rains, May Robson and Vera Lewis are the other principals. William Keighley directed. The rest of the staff, like the cast, is little changed.

New Kay Kyser Film Is Musical Thriller

Kay Kyser was such a sensational success in "That's Right, You're Wrong," his starring film of last year, that the ebullient band leader and his College of Musical Knowledge were returned to the RKO Radio studio for a second film, "You'll Find Out," opening March 13 at the Palace Theatre.

Differing widely from the plot pattern of the first, Kay is still the natural, lovable "Ol' Professor" of his air program, but now in "You'll Find Out" he is involved in mystery as well as music.

Those chief bogey-men of the screen, Peter Lorre, Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi are merchants of the menace that hangs over the head of pretty Helen Parrish, sweetheart of Dennis O'Keefe and niece of Alma Kruger.

Such popular specialists in Kyser's musical troupe as Ginny Simms, Harry Babbitt, Ish Kabibble and Sully Mason are also featured, not only playing important roles in the melodyrama, but performing the various specialties for which they are famous.

LANSING LETTER

"Third Chamber"

Pressure groups, or organized minority blocs, have been said to constitute a "third chamber" of modern government.

They have made political two-party rule somewhat of a myth.

William Allen White, Emporia (Kansas) editor, referred to them as follows:

"The constitution has been supplanted and we have two kinds of government — our political government which is supposed to be in the hands of a majority of the people; and a group of organized minorities, making an uncontrolled but tremendously powerful, invisible government — the government of minorities."

Whereas the traditional weapons of legislative persuasion once were booze and bribery, today's chief guns are pressure and propaganda.

If you have a pet idea to develop at Lansing, form an organization, raise a jackpot of money, by assessments, hire an "executive secretary," set up weighty committees, hold meetings by districts and towns, and release pompous press articles—all for the purpose of influencing public opinion and, what is more important, influencing the legislature.

Whether your cause is good or bad, this formula eventually will get results.

Appeasement

The Democrats' state convention at Grand Rapids revealed the sorry plight of administration officials who have no patronage pap to appease political workers.

Polish delegates from the first congressional district, Detroit, went on a strike. They refused to vote on any question. They even threatened to nominate an opponent against G. Donald Kennedy for highway commissioner—all because of a hunger for "more" patronage.

Paul T. Anderson, acting civil service director, recently disclosed that only 34 out of 18,000 employees were dismissed in the first seven weeks of 1941. One year ago the dismissals totaled 216, while two years ago the job turnover was delayed until May when the legislature revised the civil service bill.

Because civil service has "jelled" nearly all employees into their jobs, Republicans have benefitted far more than the Democrats. This prompted the Republican majority in the House of Legislature, in a mood of righteousness, to ask an investigation of the legality of dismissals since January 1 in "certain departments."

The liquor control commission was one target of this inquiry. Among deserving Democrats who have been appointed to jobs recently is former Senator Henry O'Shea, now a prohibition lecturer—if you please.

Labor Pains

Governor Van Wagoner, an individual who is inclined by disposition to be forthright frank and outspoken, is having labor troubles.

When 3,000 Motor Wheel Corp. employees (A. F. of L.) went on a strike at Lansing for a closed union shop, production ceased on a $4,000,000 national defense contract. Another "bottleneck" came into being.

Spencer Miller, Jr., New York City, director of the American Federation of Labor workers education bureau, had pleaded at the state A. F. of L. convention for workers to forfeit their right to strike during the nation's present armament production crisis.

Governor Van Wagoner promptly condemned the union for having "broken" its word, and he urged employees to return to work, pledging state police protection.

But the next day when a labor committee visited the executive offices and registered an angry protest, the governor talked in glittering generalities about "law and order" and assured the committee that state police would be summoned only, and if, local officials asked for them—an entirely different thing.

At the Grand Rapids convention the state C.I.O. declined flatly to participate. Wise to bargaining advantages, Richard Frankensteen, international vice-president of U.A.W.-C.I.O., explained that labor leaders were going to wait until both parties had shown their cards with regard to labor legislation.

Organized labor does not want a 30-day strike notice, such as was given in the Motor Wheel tie-up. They favor a wage-hour law with a 50-cent per hour minimum and 40-hour per week maximum for all intrastate commerce — all stores, example, coming in this classification.

Miscellany

Both industrial and labor leaders are said to be cool towards the Brake "anti-sabotage" bill which was drafted at Washington, D. C., by the department of justice as a model for state legislation. Reason: "Hysteria" legislation is seldom sound.

Thrift-minded Vernon J. Brown, state auditor general, recently advocated the establishment of a state insurance fund to save taxpayers many millions of dollars annually. During the past three years the state paid to politically-favored agents a total amount of $10,395,638 in surety bond premiums, while losses recovered totaled only $2,898,166.

Conservationists insist that the Knox bill for redemption of tax-reverted lands in northern Michigan would deprive the state of valuable mineral rights; would restore these to mining and lumber companies.

House Bill 177, advocated by union painters, would prohibit a business man from utilizing unproductive time of his employees for the purpose of painting and decorating his shop or store. An exemption for communities under 5,000 population is for one year only. Furthermore, the bill would deprive hardware dealers of paint sales—all, of course, in the interest of the "public welfare."

Opponents to the prepaid sales tax plan are quietly spreading the word that a gross income tax may be an unwelcome result of legislative tinkering—jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

It is reported that James Monroe, while maintaining the office of president of the United States in good style, retired from office completely broke.

Who Checks Your Income Tax?

You can get the answer on the check-up, from the time the Internal Revenue Department gets it until the auditors give it the final O.K. What happens in-between . . . the case with which they check up on you, your family, and your sources of income, is revealed in a fascinating article by Donald MacGregor. Watch for it in This Week, The Detroit News Sunday magazine.

Your Signature

YOUR signature is the bank's authority to pay money from your account or to execute other orders given by you. When you open an account at the bank you are required to leave a specimen signature on file as a guide in judging the genuineness of signatures on checks presented for payment.

Because signatures are sometimes forged the bank watches them very carefully. If one differs materially from the one on file it will be brought to the attention of the signer. For this reason it is important that you sign your name exactly the same way each time. If you should change your signature, first leave a specimen of the new signature at the bank.

Safeguard your banking signature. Do not leave paper lying around on which it appears. Thus you will prevent crooks from gaining access to the signature.

residing in Chicago. Carl compliments me on my column, as for our progressiveness in building a new home for The Courier, and adds a compliment for the new "Do You Remember" feature. He says: "The new column gives some of us who have been away from Charlevoix a long time a chance to recall names and incidents that were very familiar." Once again I'll say we're happy to please others.

With No Personal Reflections—

Office Girl: "Your little daughter wants to kiss you over the telephone."

Boss: "Take the message. I'll get it from you later."

Things haven't been the same in a local home since a Charlevoix business man vacationing in Florida made the following typographical error on a postal card sent to his wife: "Having a wonderful time. Wish you were 'her'."

An Ellsworth news item says: "Wilson H. McAllister, Ellsworth's oldest resident, will be 89 years of age this week, but will not be able to celebrate. He was born on February 29, 1852, a (leap year baby), and last year observed his 21st birthday."

I note that the fisheries advisory committee of the U. S. Department of Interior recommends that the federal Fish and Wildlife service make an investigation of the relative value of artificial and natural propagation of whitefish and lake trout. This should strike a responsive note with Michigan commercial fishermen who have advocated right along that hatchery propagation of lake trout especially, and these to fingerling stage, is the proper remedy of the so-called shortage of commercial fish in the Great Lakes. No stretch of the imagination can picture natural fish propagation, confronted with predator fish from the time eggs are laid until fry reaches a stage of self-protection, approaching the efficiency of artificial propagation as revealed by figures showing 85% to 97% hatching of spawn at the local federal hatchery year after year when it was in operation. And the fact nearly a million lake trout fry were raised to fingerling stage at the hatchery last summer proves conclusively this more desirable method of propagation which brings fish to the stage of self-protection before planting, is entirely feasible. It is obvious that when a person needs the services of dentist he doesn't go to a garage mechanic. On the same basis of reasoning, it shouldn't be asking too much of the conservation commission to quit theorizing and tinkering with prohibitive and discriminatory laws—all of which they have done or propose to do on the advise of everybody except the commercial fishermen who have spent a life-time in the closest touch with the situation. No doubt the conservation commission's past record in this respect is the reason why upper peninsula commercial fishermen are opposed to the reappointment of William H. Lontit as member of the commission and are advocating the appointment of a commercial fisherman in his place as a means of bringing to an end a "one-sided" administration in the state department of conservation. It is about time something was done to protect, instead of ruin through impractical theory, the commercial fishing industry.

Persistency pays! If you don't believe so, ask Gordon "Sure Shot" Dennis, who Sunday bagged his first red fox in three years of hunting.

On page 6 of this issue appears a picture of the Alma College basketball team, M.I.A.A. champions. Top performers are Keith Carey, "Chick" Gallagher and Bob "Tinker" Kirby, a trio of Charlevoixans who starred for C. H. S. It is quite unusual when one considers Charlevoix provided three and Alma two of the five regulars on this championship team.

If you plan on seeing newer movie releases than are available at home when you visit the city (particularly Grand Rapids), your due for a disappointment. Discovered this to be a fact recently. All of the current features at Grand Rapids theaters had already been shown in Charlevoix and some already shown here were billed for a week later.

Perhaps most of you know that Torch lake, due to its great depth, is the last in the north to freeze. Last week's cold spell did the trick, later than usual, however. J. C. Marshall and Glenn Ingalls initiating the trout fishing there Sunday, said the entire 26-mile surface was like a pane of glass. (Yeh, they caught one trout).

Dr. Wallace M. Chapman addressed the group on public health, and explained the program of the health unit.

Tentative plans were made for a visit late in April to the Children's Clinic in Traverse City.

COUNTY HIGHWAY PROGRAM IS SET

The project description included: improve roads including excavating, clearing, grubbing, installing culvert pipe, sodding, surfacing, construction sea wall and headwalls, and performing appurtenant and incidental work.

Difference in the amount allotted by PWA and that stated in the Citizen article in all likelihood is accounted for by the county contribution toward the projects, bringing the total to the stated $194,000.

WPA OFFERS NEW RECREATION SERVICE

According to Mr. Davenport, plans are under way to secure movies of the Ishpeming ski tournament, Marquette winter carnival and other recreational winter sports. These pictures were recently filmed by Glenn Straub, state WPA photographer, who is developing a new three dimensional film and, if successful, Charlevoix may have an opportunity of seeing something that will revolutionize moving pictures.

Joseph Wm. Mosher Died Last Wednesday at Age of 91 Years

Joseph William Mosher died last Wednesday, February 26, at Charlevoix Hospital. He had been ill for many months.

He was born in Houghton township, Norfolk county, Ontario, Canada on January 1850. Here he grew to manhood and was associated in the lumber and milling business with his father. When this business was sold he came to Yale, Mich., and engaged in the livery business. Later selling this to his partner, he traveled extensively. Forty-seven years ago he located at Ironton, then a thriving village. He purchased a small general store which he enlarged and continued to operate until his last illness. For several years he was postmaster at Ironton, and also owned and operated the only grist mill in this community. At various times he bought land until he owned a fine farm, which he worked until a year before his death.

Mr. Mosher never married. His surviving relatives are two sisters, Mrs. J. H. Purvis, Bremerton, Wash., Mrs. V. L. Bement, Northampton, Mass.; and three nieces, Mrs. William Lennox, Detroit, Mrs. George Glados, this city, and Mrs. George Lennox, Port Huron.

Funeral services were held from the See funeral home Saturday, with Rev. John W. Alexander officiating. Burial was at Brookside cemetery.

PRECAUTION AN AID TO FIRE PREVENTION

Cooperation of Public Sought by Local Fire Department

Cooperation of the public on matters making for greater efficiency and effectiveness of fire protection in Charlevoix is being sought by Fire Chief Charles Marshall.

One important step to this end would be a prompt report by citizens of any fire hydrants covered by snow or found defective. Any suspicions of fire should be reported also, Mr. Marshall stated. All that is necessary is to call the fire station, telephone 27, at any time.

Men and equipment are available for immediate calls at any time and, with such precautions prevalent, fire loss may be prevented in many instances. Fire insurance rates are based upon fire prevention efficiency, thus preventative measures make for lower insurance rates.

NAVY DROPS BARRIER FOR DRAFT SELECTEES

Now Offer Those Desiring Opportunity To Enter Service

The policy of the navy in connection with men enlled to the colors by the Selective Service Act, was christied today by Commander Carson R. Miller, officer in charge of navy recruiting for this area.

"In order to offer selective service men the fullest opportunity to enter the service of their choice, the navy department has ruled that men whose numbers have been called may now enter the navy up to the very day prior to their induction," said Commander Miller, continuing, "men who wish to take advantage of the technical training, high pay and rapid advancement afforded by the navy should also remember that entrance requirements for our service are somewhat more rigid than those of the selective service boards. It is often necessary for applicants for our service to wait several days while minor disqualifications are being corrected. Young men who wish to enter the navy will find it a far safer policy to apply at the nearest navy recruiting station as soon as possible, in order to protect their interests."

MASONS WINNER OF CRIBBAGE CONTEST

SCORED SIXTH VICTORY IN ELEVEN YEARS OF PLAY

Losing Odd Fellows to Fete Winners at Annual Cribbage Banquet Next Monday Evening

Monday night's play concluded the 11th annual Masonic-Odd Fellow cribbage contest with a Masonic victory.

Next Monday evening, March 17th, the victors will be guests of the losers at the annual cribbage banquet to be held this year at the I.O.O.F. hall. Prizes for high and low scores during the 10-game series will be awarded.

The Masons' victory was their sixth since the contest was inaugurated eleven years ago. Each lodge had won five contests and the Masonic victory gave them the advantage of having won six to the Odd Fellows' five. The Masons trailed but once during the contest just closed. While their number of victories was less than the Odd Fellows', the margin was sufficient to carry them through.

In the final contest, the Masons won by a margin of 557 points for a series lead of 677. There were nine tables participating and team scores were 16,419 for the Masons, 15,853 for the Odd Fellows. Evening high scores were turned in by S. O. Sorenson with 945 for the Masons, Joe Williams with 940 for the Odd Fellows.

When the series was inaugurated, a perpetual trophy was provided and each year name of the winning lodge is engraved upon it.

REGIONAL TOURNEY OPEN AT PETOSKEY

HARBOR SPRINGS, MACKINAW CITY, DISTRICT WINNERS

Charlevoix Bowed Out of District Play Friday Night When Defeated by Harbor Springs

Harbor Springs was the class C and Mackinaw City the class D winner in the district basketball tournament finals Saturday night at the high school gymnasium and, as a result of their victories, enter regional competition which opens Thursday afternoon at Petoskey.

Harbor Springs upset predictions of pre-tournament dopsters by downing the favored Boyne City team 21 to 13. Harbor scored a clear-cut victory, leading 8 to 2 at the quarter, 16 to 6 at the half, 18 to 6 at the third intermission. Boyne had won over Harbor Springs twice in pre-tournament play, once by a one-point margin and once by a two-point margin in over-time.

Harbor Springs defeated Charlevoix, and Boyne downed Pellston to enter the finals.

Mackinaw City justified pre-tournament predictions by copping the class D crown in the finals from Indian River. The score was 26 to 20. Mackinaw City led all the way—7 to 4 at the quarter, 15 to 9 at the half and 19 to 13 at third intermission. Mackinaw City had defeated Boyne Falls 47 to 22, and Indian River bested Levering by a 32 to 20 count to enter the finals. Boyne Falls eliminated Alanson 22 to 20 in the class D first round.

DAIRIES GRADED UNDER ORDINANCE

GRADE A PASTEURIZED GIVEN LOCAL DISTRIBUTORS

Report From District Health Department Lauds Steps Taken by Two Local Dairymen

By working in accordance with the provisions of the standard milk ordinance passed by the Charlevoix city council September 17, the dairymen in this area are producing one of the finest milk supplies in the state of Michigan.

This ordinance is used widely thruout the United States, in over 2,200 communities. The methods of operation and labels used are uniform in all communities. Because of this, a person traveling from place to place is not confused by a multiplicity of advertising. Conformance to this standard is particularly desirable in a resort community such as Charlevoix, for confidence in a milk supply is often the deciding factor in the selection of a place to stay.

Last year the District Health Department received letters from widely scattered points, requesting information regarding the milk supply. Those communities using the standard ordinance, which reach a 90% rating in compliance, as judged by state sanitary engineers, are given nation-wide publicity through booklets put out by the U. S. Public Health Service.

The ordinance requires that grades must be announced at least every six months. The first six months' period since the ordinance went into effect ends March 17. These grades have been determined by the local health department in accordance with the grade specifications in the Standard Ordinance and Code.

All milk should be purchased on the basis of grade. These grades appear on each bottle cap, and on placards to be posted in each restaurant, soda fountain, etc.

Grade A pasteurized is the safest grade of milk. Grade A raw is as safe as raw milk can be made, short of pasteurization. In Charlevoix only these grades of milk will be allowed, except during emergency periods.

WINTER SPORTS PARK PROJECT PROGRESSING

Extended Roadway Built; Toboggan Slide Under Construction

Excellent progress is being made toward development of Charlevoix's new winter sports park on property recently acquired by the city at Mt. McSauby from Ira Waller estate.

The present roadway has been extended around behind the hill to the west, providing access for automobiles to the toboggan and ski slides now under construction. Part of the roadway has been graveled and a turn around built.

Clearing of several hundred feet of the toboggan slide which extends westward towards Lake Michigan has been completed. The Ernest Lochs, of Chicago, well known summer residents, visited the park site last week. They expressed great satisfaction over progress so far made as well as possibilities of the property for a winter park.

The project is being supervised by Nat Blissett, WPA superintendent.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Women are a lot more patient with their children than with their husbands; with men, it's vice versa.

Spring must be just around the corner. The postoffice received its first shipment of baby chicks last Friday, and either the crows and robins heard and seen Saturday know what it's all about or else have got their signals mixed.

Bob "Connie" McCall has been coming home for basketball tournaments ever since he left Charlevoix for the city, and this year is no exception, either.

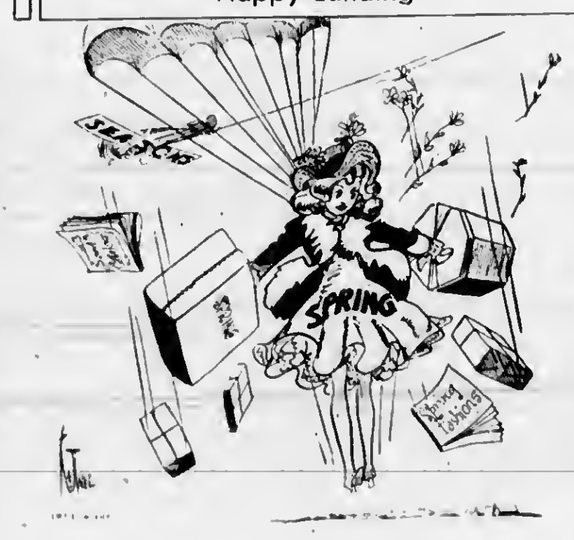
Happy Landing



LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Something has happened to Michigan in the winter-time.

It is this colorful thing called "winter sports."

As a tonic for war jitters, view for a moment the following picture of Michigan's 1941 winter sport season and then judge for yourself whether it merits the verdict of a "truly remarkable development."

When grandma and grandpa were young, they were apt to hug the base burners on snappy, wintery days.

Now, Michigan's post-war, depression-sired generation of lads and lassies don bright rainbow-hued duds, climb into a train or bus or automobile, and within a few hours they are reveling in the great outdoors.

To lean on a very trite saying—yes, times have changed.

How to Stop Payment on a Check

STOPPING payment on a check consists of giving the bank official notice that it is to refuse to pay a check you have issued if it is presented for payment. This notice should be in writing and should describe the check completely—giving the check number, date, amount, payee, and reason for stopping payment.

If payment is stopped by telephone it should be confirmed in writing immediately.

If payment is stopped on a lost check which is later found, it is preferable to issue a new check bearing a different date and number than to revoke the stop payment order.

Andrew Ross defeated George Priest for the mayoralty in the spring primary election, with Charles Emrey victorious over A. L. Livingston for city clerk, and Alonzo Hanshew winning the race with S. M. Rose for treasurer.

The new Blanchard Hardware Co. store opened with a bang Saturday, March 4. Officers of the corporation were: president, Mrs. L. D. Bartholomew; vice-president, Forrest L. Bartholomew; secretary - treasurer and general manager, H. K. Allen. The first customer at the new store was Earl Harrington, a young lad.

New uniforms for the local independent basketball team were a certainty after a highly successful benefit supper at the Masonic temple Friday night.

McCann's Bakery was preparing to move into the building vacated by the Blanchard Hardware company. The building was being remodeled and repainted, and new and modern equipment was to be installed.

Mrs. Sarah Sherman, 84, a former resident of this vicinity, died at the home of her son, William Sherman, at Muskegon last Thursday.

City Attorney Lisle Shanahan left on Tuesday for Jackson, called there on account of a lawsuit.

William Ranger, 66, died Sunday night at his home. A native of Sussex county, England, he had resided in Charlevoix thirty years.

The home of John Curtis on Petoskey avenue was totally destroyed by fire during the heavy wind and snow storm Monday forenoon. Some of the first-floor furniture was saved, but all other contents were a total loss.

The severe snow storm Monday delayed all trains in this section of the state. The passenger train from the south due to reach Charlevoix at 4:25 p. m. did not arrive until after midnight, and the southbound train was several hours late. Roads were badly filled and in some places the snow was from four to eight feet deep.

The Association of Commerce, at their regular monthly meeting Friday, decided to open an information bureau at 311 Bridge street, about May 1. Miss Addie Holly, as assistant secretary of the association, was to be in charge of the office.

The "Marquis Roen," a 90-foot freighter built in John Roen's shipyard on the south shore of Round lake, was launched Thursday afternoon. E. B. Ward, president of the Association of Commerce, directed the ceremonies. Schools and business places of the city were closed from 2:00 to 4:00 p. m. for the event. Designed by Roy Ranger, built by Herbert Hulme, the boat was to be handled by Capt. John Roen and Engineer Augustus Sendenburg.

Charlevoix high school's basketball team beat East Jordan 51-20 Friday night on the Jordanites' home floor, with Pete Hallett, Martin Halverson and Marshall Ackert starring.

A gang of six men are at the county jail this week installing fixtures. They expect to have the new jail ready for occupancy about the first of next month.

The road is now open as far south as Phelps. Clifford Blanchard of that place made the trip through in his car Monday. This is earlier than has been possible in several years.

Born Wednesday afternoon, a daughter, Rose Mary, to Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Cooper.

Fifteen Years Ago
Wednesday, March 10, 1926

Great enthusiasm met the proposal to organize a boat club in Charlevoix. Sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. M. Roy Brady, and heartily supported by the Association of Commerce, the club had enrolled twenty-four members among summer residents alone, and was soon to start a membership drive among local citizens.

Charlevoixans were all pepped up over the idea of building a $75,000 community-theatre on the Stockman property, corner Bridge and Clinton streets. Plans called for a building in Spanish architecture, in the arcade style, with stores occupying the front portion, seating capacity of 1250, pipe organ — Well, it was a great idea while it lasted, but the bubble burst!

Damage to the extent of around $1,000 resulted from a fire at the Arthur Joseph residence, 301 Michigan avenue, last Friday evening.

The common council accepted the bid of C. R. Munyon of $45 for removing the bell from the fire tower.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Ives returned Monday by auto from Detroit, where they have been spending the winter months. They drove north as far as Atwood, being forced to leave their car there on account of the heavy snow.

The editor of the Courier was the victim in a well-planned birthday surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McCann, Monday evening.

Ray Pearl returned Monday from Florida, where he has been spending the winter.

Eight inches of snow fell Saturday night, March 6, and still the "beautiful" falls. Car traffic on country roads is impossible until the weather man comes to the rescue.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

What flower shall we choose for the city flower of Charlevoix? Here are some annuals worth consideration.

Shall it be the China or common aster, which has probably been in cultivation as long as any other annual, coming to America about 100 years ago. It has many colors and is popular for bedding and border planting. For early bloom, the seed must be started in flats under glass during March or early April.

Shall it be the bachelor's-button, otherwise known as cornflower, blue bottle, ragged sailor, and bluette? Botanists call this species centaurea cyanus. Thrives under any conditions and readily self-sows, having single or double flowers in white, blue, purple and pink.

Balsam, combined with alyssum or verbena, looks well as a border subject. It grows rapidly; colors are pastel shades.

The feathery foliage and light blossoms of the cosmos make a universal appeal. However, they blossom rather late in the summer.

The morning glory is too well known to require description. Heavenly Blue and the new Scarlett O'Hara, red, are a little longer getting started but reward you later with a wealth of bloom.

The petunia is a boon to the flower-lover who is handicapped for time and must depend on a flowering plant that will practically take care of itself. They self-sow readily, are nice in window and porch boxes, in hanging baskets and in rock gardens. However, when self-sown, the flowers seem to deteriorate in quality of color and size.

Zinnias will grow for anyone, too. Although criticized for their coarse, stiff flowers, the new, modern forms of the flower do not give this impression. In a wide range of delicate colors, the size of the flowers varies from tiny buttons to huge double forms six inches across.

"Flowers are the beautiful hieroglyphics of Nature, by which she indicates how much she loves us."—Goethe.

COUNCIL PLANS TO BUY THIRD DIESEL ENGINE

Will Open Bids on 250 KW Unit Here on Monday, March 24th

The city council authorized preliminary steps toward installation of a third diesel unit at the Ferry avenue municipal electric light plant Monday night.

Bids will be opened at the city hall on March 24th for a 250 KW diesel engine-generating unit. Several manufacturers have been invited to bid on the unit.

Purpose of the lighter capacity engine is to replace two steam units recently sold, providing an engine capable of handling current requirements over capacity of the Bellaire hydro-electric unit, thus eliminating necessity of using the two large diesel motors for a light load. It is planned to have the engine installed before the coming summer season.

Applications for building permits by Dr. D. C. Nettleton and H. A. Dahlquist were granted, payroll of $3,946.54 approved and purchase of poles for necessary replacements through the city authorized.

We propose in this weekly column to give a few of the facts to the average person who has no real conception of just what the American Red Cross is doing to aid war sufferers as well as disaster victims, not only in our own land but all over the world. Any questions as to the various activities of this tremendous organization will be very gladly answered here.

The National Red Cross received its Congressional Charter in 1905 and the partnership between National Headquarters and Red Cross chapters is the natural outcome of the growth of a vital idea. It was necessary that a way be found to integrate the Red Cross ideal of service into every community and the wish of every community to have an active, functioning unit of the Red Cross in their midst has resulted in the growth of the organization to 3,721 chapters with 6,585 branches. These chapters are there to bring help to families as diverse as those found in the hill country of New England and on the Texas plains, by utilizing the neighborliness of the American people. To heal, to mend, to rebuild something which has been destroyed—these are the goals. The American Red Cross represents the will to help and the resources of a generous people transplanted into direct action for those who have been stricken.

When war broke out in 1939 the thousands of women volunteers who had been making garments for flood and disaster victims and surgical dressings for their local hospitals turned to making these for war sufferers and hospitals in war torn lands. Many more thousands joined their ranks till today more than 600,000 women are active in this vital work.

After scoring a first round victory over Ens' Jordan 27 to 19, Charlevoix's Red Rayders bowed out of the tournament Friday night through defeat by Harbor Springs by a 29 to 19 margin. Harbor led 10 to 7 at the quarter, 16 to 10 at the half and 26 to 18 at the third intermission. Charlevoix literally lost the game on fouls, committing 17. Harbor made good on 11 of these free shots. McBride, with 14, and Squier, with 9, led the Harbor attack. Charlevoix lost Carey and Rowe from the line-up because of fouls.

Sixteen teams will compete at the Petoskey regional which opens Thursday afternoon and runs through the finals scheduled Saturday night. Class B contenders are Petoskey, Traverse City, Rogers City and Cheboygan; Class C — Harbor Springs, Gaylord, Manton and Frankfort; Class D—Mackinaw City, McBain, St. Francis of Traverse City, Bear Lake, Suttons Bay, Bosrommon, East Tawas and Bellaire.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

Fruit Men Will Meet Thursday and Friday This Week

All producers of fruit will be interested in the announcement that T. A. Merrill, specialist in horticulture, will spend Thursday and Friday, March 13 and 14 in holding two meetings and in making farm visits where particular problems exsist.

It is planned to utilize Thursday and Friday forenoons in making visits to orchardists who have special problems that are difficult to solve. In this way we feel that the most good can be obtained from the two days time available to fruit men in this county.

On Thursday afternonn at 2:00 o'clock, a pruning and trimming demonstration will be held at the farm of John Rude, East Jordan. Here you will see both cherry and apple trees of various ages that should receive different treatments in so far as praning is concerned. Each tree really has to be treated differently for best results.

Then on Friday afternoon, beginning promptly at 2:00 o'clock, in the East Jordan city building, Mr. Merrill will discuss spraying, choice of spray materials and cultural methods that are giving best results throughout the state. This session will be more or less of an open forum where any topic may be brought up for discussion. This meeting is for the growers of small fruits and berries as well as tree fruits, so let's have a good attendance. It is doubtful if any farm enterprise has more specific problems than that of the fruit grower. This meeting Friday afternoon will be the last of this type held this winter so let's get together, get acquainted and find out what is new in fruit.

Frightened Deer Races Through City Fleeing Hounds

South side residents of this city were startled early Saturday morning by a frightened deer frantically seeking to elude hounds that had pursued it from the swamps down the frozen surface of the Boyne River.

The deer had evaded the hounds by swimming the river bayou near Pearl Street. It then ran a mile through the residential district until it reached the heavily wooded area to the southeast of the city.

This is the second time in recent years that deer have been seen in the downtown section of Boyne City, although it is well established that they frequent the outskirts.

In general, it may be stated that no raw milk can be fully protected against disease, and, if used, should first be home-pasteurized, or boiled, as described in the booklet, "What Every Person Should Know About Milk," available at the health department office, or from the U. S. Public Health Service.

Any milk sold in Charlevoix, other than the graded supplies, will be known as "bootleg milk," and the production of it will be just as questionable as "bootleg" in other forms.

Since the milk pasteurizers must buy some of their supply from various other farms, these farms, too, must be inspected and found to meet the requirements of the ordinance. In this way any milk, regardless of cleanliness, cannot be made safe by pasteurization, and then sold as Grade A.

The local milk producers have built up their establishments to a point where they are a source of pride to the community. Residents of Charlevoix would do well to visit their milk plants and see for themselves what modern milk production means.

Should the survey, made recently by the state, disclose a 90% rating on the local supply, it is planned to have a celebration, and thus gather as much publicity as possible for the benefit of Charlevoix.

The distributors who received the following grades according to the U. S. Public Health Service Milk Ordinance are:

Hillview Dairy, John Hyek, proprietor—Grade A. Pasteurized; Kirkpatrick Dairy, J. F. Kirkpatrick, proprietor—Grade A Pasteurized.

FARMERS WARNED ON HANDLING OF BEANS

Excessive Moisture Content From Wet Fall Season Dangerous

The bean growers of Michigan are cautioned against the storing of beans on the farm that have an excessive moisture content. Commissioner of Agriculture, Elmer A. Benner, said that owing to the wet harvesting season last fall, a lot of the 1940 crop of beans still in the farmers' hands are liable to show from 19 to 25% moisture, and some higher, state and federal grades of dry edible beans recognize a moisture content in excess of 18% as being too high for safe-keeping in warm climate.

THE RECORD .... Facts That Concern You — No. 24 of a Series

A few weeds grow in every garden

Among the thousands of decent law-abiding beer retail establishments in America there may be a few disreputable "joints."

While it is the brewers' responsibility to brew good beer and the retailers' responsibility to sell beer under wholesome conditions, nevertheless the brewing industry is concerned about these undesirable places and wants them cleaned up.

We want them cleaned up because they endanger your right to enjoy good beer . . . and our right to make it.

We want them cleaned up because they endanger the 58,312 jobs and $58,300,740 payroll created by beer in Michigan since re-legalization. Beer contributed $4,439,995.07 last year in taxes in this state.

These benefits are worth preserving. You can help us, if you will, by (1) patronizing only the reputable, legal places that sell beer and by (2) reporting any law violations to the duly constituted law enforcement authorities.

Bread for the workers of Michigan

Modern methods and constant improvements of seed result in the high yield of wheat on Michigan farms. Among the new varieties introduced by Michigan State College is Bald Rock, a hardy, red, beardless wheat, well adapted to the climate.

YEAR after year some 900,000 of Michigan's fertile acres are sown to the great staple food crop — wheat. And most of it is winter wheat. Good farming methods, an intelligent State Government and an alert Michigan State College, have steadily increased the yield per acre. In 1910 it was 15% above the national average.

Swift, low-cost communication helps the Michigan farmer make a profit on his wheat. By telephone he can get advice from his County Agent, order seed and fertilizer, arrange for harvesting and threshing crews, and sell his grain and straw to advantage.

Bread is the food of industry — a vital factor in national emergencies. Your Bell Telephone Company serves the nation's defense by bringing increased efficiency to the growing, storing, milling and marketing of wheat.

Wheat by the trainload for Michigan-made bread and breakfast cereals. Agriculture and industry are closely linked in this state, and the telephone serves them both.

Michigan was practically isolated from easy public access during a seemingly long winter.

Today, the highways of concrete are kept clear of snow, day and night by huge motorized plows, "Big Berthas" of the road.

Railroad excursions transport thousands of city dwellers to northern sport centers for an inexpensive week-end or Sunday holiday. Comfortable buses maintain schedules with regularity. Modern automobiles, warmed by heaters, are veritable Pullmans on rubber.

Add to this the short work-week, often ending on Friday afternoon, and the resultant expanse of leisure play time, and it all amounts to this: Winter sports constitute the fastest growing recreational field in Michigaa today!

Uncle Sam

In every northern community you can find certain outdoor enthusiasts who for years have foreseen a bright future in our northern climate and our rugged hills and steep valleys.

At Grayling, for example, businessmen led by Clarence Johnson raised private funds to establish a public park for winter sports.

Uncle Sam put it over.

Say what you care about federal spending, the fact remains that tens of thousands of dollars have been literally poured into Michigan winter recreational facilities, money which otherwise would not have been available.

Due to generous support of the federal park service, state conservation department, and Civilian Conservation corps, Grayling offers today the finest public toboggan set-up in the entire United States, and this isn't paid ballyhoo. Six steel slides are the only ones of their kind anywhere not excluding Lake Placid or Sun Valley. Two ski tows have been in operation; next senson there will be three.

Nineteen snow trains joorneyed during the 1940-41 season to Grayling, a gain of nearly one-third over the previous high. The weekly pnyroll at the park is between $500 and $700. Soon Grayling will offer a semi-professional bobsled run with sleds guided by expert drivers. A 95-foot professional ski jump is to be ready for 1942.

Silver Valley

Over on the east side of the state is Silver Valley, a few miles west of East Tawas and situated in the Huron National Forest.

For a picturesque name, Silver Valley has all the word magic of Union Pacific's high-powered Sun Valley.

It is a lovely valley wiading through a forest of pino and spruce. When wrapped with a white blanket of snow, it possesses startling grandeur.

Facilities: Skiing, tobogganing, ice skating. Attendance was double that of the previous season. Visitors widely proclaim Silver Valley to be an ideal winter playground.

Other Centers

At Gaylord, highest point of the lower peninsula, are twn private ski clubs—the Otsego Ski Club, with a log clubhouse overlooking the majestic Valley of White Sands through which the Sturgeon river twists and also the Vanderbilt Ski Club, with its superb, breath-taking thrill of a 1400-foot run in a sheer 18 seconds' time.

Snow trains convey Detroit and Toledo sport lovers for a Friday-to-Monday holiday. The Gaylord Chamber of Commerce has been cooperating enthusiastically.

Harrison has two skating rinks, a new mile-long ski run, and a daredevil toboggan slide.

Lewiston's toboggan slide, the "baby" of 1941, is growing up fast.

The Newaygo winter sport park on M-37 has a toboggan slide, skating rinks and natural ski runs. A second toboggan slide is planned for 1942.

Cadillac's Caberfae

On the west side of the state, lower peninsula, is another federal-sponsored project, the Caberfae winter sport area 15 miles from Cadillac, right in the heart of the Manistee National Forest.

Here is another mass recreation program. U. S. cost to date has been $65,000.

Ski addicts enthuse of its 1200-foot ski tow that serves 15 downhill runs.

A toboggan slide, a half mile long, has a wide sweeping curve at the finish, requiring installation of a field telephone between starter and finish crew to assure public safety.

Unknown almost a year ago, the Caberfae area has soared quickly into high popularity. It serves a populous area from Grand Rapids to Chicago.

Upper Peninsula

A 1941 survey of Michigan's honest-to-goodness snowbelt, the Upper Peninsula, reveals these significant news items:

Mount Zion at Ironwood was the destiantion of a snow train from Chicago—the first to run that far north from the Lake Michigan metropolis.

Weather Horn, second highest peak on the east end of the Porcupine Mountain Range at Ontonagon (home of the Lake of the Clouds), now offers the skiing master thrill of a 1,000 foot drop in one mile! The Porcupine Mountain Ski Club, assisted by the federal forest service, has just cleared a run down the mountainside. A comfortable shelter house has been built.

(As Ontonagon is served by fast railway express from Chicago, the Porcupine project may become widely publicized.)

The Gladstone Ski Club ran its first snowtrain last Sunday (March 9) over 20 miles of lumber railroad line to Nahma camp 27—Paul Bunyon up-to-date! Food: Lumberjack dinner.

Ice Skating

Petoskey and Alpena have been publicized for their ice skatiag. Petoskey has n public ski tow. Alpena claims its rink to be the finest in the north.

Ionia's Mertha M. Brock park on M-21 has skating, skiing and tobogganing. Handicap: Unpredictable thaws.

Other communities by the dozen hold winter carnivals with skating events, presided over by an inevitable winter queen.

And then, don't forget the famous smelt fishing villages on ice at Beulah's Crystal Lake and Boyne City's Lake Charlevoix. (Boyne City's tomato pudding is nn oddity worth mentioning.)

Skiing, Hockey

"Suicide Hill" nt Ishpeming, where an international ski tournament is conducted annually, is aationally famous.

Iron Mountain's 1941 ski meet attracted 22,000 persons. The U. S. record wns broken.

The Stephenson ski slide was the scene Sunday, March 2, of its first tournament under official Central U. S. Ski Association rules.

Sault Ste. Marie recently staged a 30-mile "airsled" derby on the Soo river. (What is an "airsled"? Answer: A snowsled powered by an airplane motor aad propellor.) The Soo city's artificial ice rink, housed in its new community center, is open year around.

From Ironwood nnd Houghton east to Sault Ste. Marie the favorite night sport is ice hockey—the fastest, roughest, maddest sport of them all.

Tonic for Nerves

This growth of winter sports has been rapid and unexpected.

Curiously enough, it has been somewhat in proportion to an increase of public nervous tension over the current European nightmare. Winter sports offer relaxation, an escenpe from unpleasant realities, and n wholesome diversion that is beneficial to health.

This thing called winter sports is bringing thousands of dollars into Michigaa resort areas at a time of the year that otherwise has been dull and listless.

Because Michignn is geogrnphically at the door of millions of Americans, it can truthfully be said that a bright future lies ahead for the snow centers which cater to what the puhlic wants.

AT THE MOVIES

"The Thief of Bagdad" Is Entertainment Plus

The fabulous romance, the drnmn snd intrigue, the spectacle nnd color of the exotic East thnt is the Arabian Nights will be unreeled March 15-16 on the screen of the Palace Theatre with presentation of Alexander Korda's "The Thief of Bagdad."

Brilliantly directed by Ludwig Berger and Michael Powell, its eye-filling wonders, thrilling plot, breath-taking magic and the over-whelming beauty of its color photography make it the outstanding motion picture spectacle of the year.

A cast of thousands, hended by Snbu, of "Elephant Boy" and "Drums;" June Duprez, last seen in "Four Feathers;" John Justin and Conrad Veidt are presented in this new film with all the magnificence of Arahian Nights entertainment.

Lum and Abner in Screen Debut as Stars of "Dreaming Out Loud"

Bringing one of radio's favorite teams, Lum and Abner, to the screen in a timely dramatic comedy, RKO-Radio's "Dreaming Out Lond" comes to the Palace Thentre March 18-19. Featured in top roles with Lum and Abner in the story of life in Pine Ridge are Fraaces Langford, Frank Craven, Bobs Watson and Phil Harris.

The story, one of humor nnd drama, revolves around the efforts of Lum and Abner to aid their neighbors and friends hy buying a mobile hospital unit for Pine Ridge. The two old storekeepers, Lum and Abner, find themselves thrust into a rapidly moving drama that taxes their homespun ingenuity to the utmost whea they attempt to aid their friend, Frank Craven, who portrays a small town doctor.

The ideal food seems to be the entire grain of wheat, the whole of an egg, the whole of milk, the whole of fish, and the whole of any fruit or vegetable. Oysters, clams, shrimp, crabs and little fish which can be eaten entirely are good for us. The modern theory is that when we ent the whole we get everything that nature pat there for sustaining life. Therefore, when you have smelt, eat the heads, tails, bones, and everything—as tho you were a hungry animal.

Ike: "Did you give your wife that little lecture on economy you spoke of?"

Mike: "Yes, and as a result, I've got to give up smoking."

Look for those little words in fine type under the price—small carrying charge—and ask a mathematician to explain them to you.

A young Charlevoix bride says married life isn't much different. She used to wait up half the night for him to go home. Now she waits up half the night for him to come home.

When the directors are imparting unpleasant news to stockholders, they call it "your's company, but in the joyous days it's "our" company.

Was poking through the annual printed report of the Department of Conservation the other day. Imagine my surprise to run across a picture of Ras Hendrickson reeling nets at his dock on the south shore of Round lake. Bet Ras never knew the picture was taken.

Had a letter from Frank Chvatil, now residing at Flint, and it sure stuck a respondent cord. He said: "Am waiting for the day to come when I can drop my hook in back of a log on the Jordan river." You and I have the same anticipations, Frank!

Another unexpected, but greatly appreciated communication came this week from M. Roy Brady, former local resident now at Long Beach, California. Formerly superintendent of the Robinson Marine Construction Co., at Benton Harbor, Roy now holds a similar position with the Harbor Boat Building Co. of Terminal Island, Calif. At Benton Harbor, Roy supervised building of several 60-foot boats for the United States Navy and now is in charge of nearly 500 men occupied with government contracts in California. In his letter he stated: "Just thought you might be glad to hear from me and how I was getting along. Just tell the gang hello, and that "Brady boats are going to help win the war.' I built ten 52 M.P.R. torpedo boats for France two years ago in Benton Harbor. I suppose the Germans have them now, but Brady boats are going to take them away from them."

If you've never had time to look around you and see what beautiful scenery we have right here in Charlevoix, stop and inspect the collection of photographic views of "The Beautiful" that Bob Miles has on display this week at the Central Drug store.

WORK STARTED ON TWO BUSINESS BUILDINGS

Dr. D. C. Nettleton and Dahlquist Building Jobs Under Way

Work preliminary to construction of two new business buildings in Charlevoix was started Monday.

Ground was broken for basement of a new office building to be built by Dr. D. C. Nettleton immediately west of the new Courier office now under construction on Clinton street. The new structure, 22½x62 feet with one story and full basement, will house dental office, laboratory and living quarters. It will be brick veneered. Kit Carson Lumber Co. has the building contract.

Razing of the former Blair buildings, corner of Bridge and Mason streets, was started to make way for a new store to be built by H. A. Dahlquist, of Traverse City, owner of the Dahlquist 5c to $1 Stores chain. While details are not now available it is understood this structure will be approximately 50x84 feet, full basement, brick walls, steel reinforced, with modernistic front, reportedly one of the finest in northern Michigan. Contractors are the Peterson Construction Co., of Cadillac.

Work on the new Courier building, started several weeks ago, is proceeding satisfactorily. It is expected it will be available for occupancy within a few weeks.

BELOVED LOCAL WOMAN SUCCUMBED ON TUESDAY

Funeral Services to Be Held Thursday for Mrs. A. A. Swinton

Mrs. A. A. Swinton died Tuesday morning at her home after an illness of many months. For the past week she had been confined to her bed.

Marguerite Enos was born June 30, 1870, at Ovid, Mich., the daughter of Henry M. and Laura Barstow Enos. She spent her girlhood in Cadillac, where her father was superintendent of schools. Later he became superintendent of schools in what was then the village of Charlevoix, and she completed her high school education here. A member of the first graduating class of six members from Charlevoix high school in 1888, Mrs. Swinton was the last surviving member of the class. She graduated from Olivet college in 1894.

She married Dr. Archie A. Swinton at Charlevoix on September 14, 1898, and has made her home here since then. Dr. Swinton died in 1921.

Mrs. Swinton, a fine pianist, had taught nearly two generations of music students. Although recently in constant pain, she remained faithful to her work and gave lessons until ten days before her death, when it became impossible for her to continue.

She was a member of the Congregational church, and a charter member of the Shakespeare Club.

Surviving are son Don of this city; two daughters, Mrs. Gerald W. Richardson of Green Bay, Wis., and Mrs. Eugene J. Wulfman of Mt. Clemens; four grandchildren, Douglas Richardson, Sally Swinton, Carl and David Wulfman. Another son died at birth.

Funeral services are to be held Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the Swinton home, 401 Michigan avenue, with Rev. G. Russell Parker of Northport officiating. Interment will be at Brookside cemetery.

ART EXHIBIT ENJOYABLE FEATURE AT DICKENS CLUB MEETING MONDAY

The Charles Dickens Club enjoyed an unusual meeting Monday afternoon, with an art exhibit and tea at the home of Mrs. Earl A. Young. Mrs. F. J. Fessenden was leader and co-hostess.

Each member was asked to bring objects of art which they possessed, and a very remarkable collection was brought to light. Included in the exhibit was an exquisite piece of Dresden china, a necklace of genuine jet, some Mexican Indian filigree work, a plaque and pottery made by the Hopi Indians of Mexico and Arizona, a shawl and handwork from England, two beautifully hand-quilted bedspreads, an exquisite hand-crocheted tablecloth, a perfect out-door sleeping-bag and a linen tablecloth that had been made from the flax to the finished article by one family.

A group of quilt blocks was displayed that had been made by one member's great-great-grandmother. Two rugs made of silk were very beautiful. A book of etchings, by Charles Dana Gibson, of characters from several of Charles Dickens' works were of outstanding interest to the members, who study one of Dickens' books each year. A group of ceramics made by a member's son were lovely. A tray cover made by one member when she was nine years old was very unusual and perfectly made. Book-ends made from material from the ship "Constitution" were also unusual.

The two hostesses presented a display of their own artistic work. Paintings, watercolors, pen and ink sketches and silhouettes were shown in groupings about the living-room walls and on tables. Both exceptionally talented artists, their choice of subjects, depth of feeling and perspective and perfect blending of colors showed in every lovely painting. Each group brought praiseworthy comment.

Tea was served in the dining-room, with the president, Mrs. Rollie Lewis, presiding at a prettily decorated table. On the buffet was a small display of Mrs. Young's own hand-decorated china.

The whole meeting proved so intensely interesting, it was suggested that it be made an annual affair.

Mrs. W. A. Shockley of this city, and Mrs. Earl Grove of Traverse City, were guests.

INGALLS APPLIANCE CO. GAS PRODUCT DEALERS

Named Local Distributor Petgas Co., Now Petoskey Corporation

An advertisement elsewhere in this issue carries the announcement of the appointment of Ingalls Appliance Co. as local distributors for the Petgas Company, newly incorporated Petoskey industry.

Following a $25,000 organizing program, the concern is prepared to bottle and distribute a natural gas product throughout the northern part of the lower peninsula through appointed dealers. In Charlevoix, as well as Bayne City, Cheboygan and Harbor Springs, arrangements have been completed for a "metered system" at the same rate charged by the Petoskey Gas Company.

Relating to his newly-acquired dealership, Mr. Ingalls states; "Many residents, business places and cottage owners throughout northern Michigan not serviced with regular gas have expressed a desire to use the product. Petgas will accord them this opportunity."

BOAT COMPANY RECEIVERSHIP FILED

ACTION AIMED TO PROTECT EMPLOYES, STOCKHOLDERS

Harry G. Foster Named Temporary Receiver — Will Continue Manufacture of Boats

Papers were filed Tuesday in the office of the county clerk, appointing Harry G. Foster temporary receiver for the Foster Boat Company.

This action, voluntary on the part of the company, was taken subsequent to the adoption of a resolution by the board of directors at a special meeting Saturday. The following statement given the Courier by Mr. Foster clarifies the company's decision:

"In appealing to the court to establish a receivership for the Foster Boat Company the directors of the company, on the advice of their attorneys, have acted to safeguard the interests of their employees, creditors and stockholders. The legal method adopted is designed primarily to preserve the life of a company whose working capital may be temporarily impaired in order that the ultimate interests of all concerned may be benefited.

"In addition to the expenses incurred in the establishment of our boat production program, and the normal losses to be expected in its initial stage, we assumed obligations and expenses in connection with a sizeable contract on which we had expected to begin work no later than January 1st of this year. Had such been the case, the revenue therefrom would normally have been reflected in a steadily improved working capital position. Conditions beyond our control, however, have withheld necessary equipment and prevented this operation, resulting in the necessity of this action to permit continued boat construction and serve the interests of all concerned with the success of the company.

"Production of our boats," Mr. Foster stated, "will be continued and increased as rapidly as possible. The preseason enthusiasm of our dealers who inspected our boats at the Chicago show indicates that our full production capacity will be required to fill demands during the coming season."

At present the company is producing canoes, plywood rowboats, outboard boats and regulation Snipe sailboats.

ELLSWORTH VOTES TO PURCHASE FIRE TRUCK

Issue Up for Final Decision at April 7 Spring Election

At the annual Ellsworth village election held in the community hall on March 10th, the proposition of purchasing a fire truck was approved by the electors by a vote of 80 in favor to 4 against.

The actual purchase, however, depends upon the outcome of the annual township election on April 7th when the electors vote on the same proposition.

Should the township election decide in favor of the purchase of such a fire truck, the village of Ellsworth shall proceed to enter into an agreement with the township of Banks and jointly purchase a suitable truck and equip it with a pumper for the sum of $1200.00; each to pay one-half of the purchase price or $600.00.

REGIONAL CAGE TITLES DECIDED AT PETOSKEY

Petoskey, Harbor Springs and Bellaire Are Winners

Northern Michigan will be represented in the quarter-finals of the state basketball championship tournament this week by Petoskey in class B, Harbor Springs in class C, Bellaire in class D.

These teams were winners in their respective classes in the finals of the regional tournament Saturday night at Petoskey. Petoskey, twice defeated in regular season play by Traverse City, trounced the Trojans, 1940 state class B champs, Friday night to enter the finals. They took Rogers City in a thrilling contest Saturday night by a 35 to 33 count to win the regional title. They meet Mt. Pleasant at Big Rapids, Thursday evening.

Harbor Springs, winner of the district title here, downed a highly touted Manton team 33 to 11 to win their first regional crown since 1930. Harbor meets Clare at Big Rapids in the quarter-finals.

Bellaire, trailing by 10 points at the half, staged a rally to out-point Roscommon by a 1-point margin, 36 to 35. It was Bellaire's first regional title. Bellaire was paired against East Tawas, playing Thursday night at Saginaw.

ODD FELLOWS WERE HOSTS TO MASONS, SERIES WINNERS

Lester Hall Heads Odd Fellows, Edgar Behrens Masonic Captain for 1942 Contest

Masons were feted by the Odd Fellows at the annual cribbage banquet Monday night, bringing to a close the 11th winter series between the two lodges.

Following customary procedure, the losers prepared and served the banquet to the winners. Incidentally, it was the sixth time the Odd Fellows put on the "feed" since the series opened 11 years ago.

Lester Hall acted as toastmaster for the evening. Dr. F. F. McMillan was the speaker, giving an interesting talk on the life of Andrew Jackson, whose birthday anniversary fell on March 15th.

Prizes for series high score went to S. O. Sorenson of the Masons with 9,138, and to Lester Hall of the Odd Fellows with 9,073. Prizes for low score were awarded H. R. Fowler of the Masons with 7,992, and to Art Richardson of the Odd Fellows with 8,722.

Captains were chosen for the 1942 winter series. Edgar Behrens will head the Masonic team and Lester Hall the Odd Fellow team. S. O. Sorenson was re-elected secretary-treasurer for the twelfth consecutive year.

Around 35 persons attended the banquet. The evening, following banquet and program, was spent at cards.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Yes, times certainly have changed! Not so long ago when a young man contemplated marriage, he usually had a little "nest egg" layed away and was sure of a job. Recently when a young man asked a father for his daughter's hand and was confronted with outlining his financial prospects, he enthusiastically declared that the FSA would buy a farm for him, AAA would pay him to work only part of it, WPA would give his wife work in the sewing room and himself some winter work on the roads, the Surplus Commodities Corporation would furnish food, the extension service would arrange for mattresses and bedding, and federal agencies would supply doctors and hospital needs if necessary. He said no young couple ever faced the future with brighter prospects.

Acknowledge with deep appreciation following letter from Edwin J. Madill, of Washington, D. C.: "Dear Ken: For the past several years the

TAGGED RAINBOW TROUT TRAVEL GREAT DISTANCE

Fish Planted in Sturgeon River Is Caught in Lake Huron

If Col. F. A. Fisher of the Atlas Power corporation will step forward and identify himself, the conservation department's institute for fisheries research will be pleased to bestow on him a distinction prized among anglers.

The colonel appears to be catcher of the farthest-swimming rainbow trout ever tagged in Michigan waters. The six and three-quarter pound fish he caught July 15, 1940, in Lake Huron between Sarnia, Ont., and Blue Point, had been tagged and released 260 miles away, at Vanderhilt road bridge on Pigeon river, on April 1, 1939, when it was 13½ inches long and weighed one pound.

The postmarked envelope of the letter in which the colonel reported his catch was inadvertently destroyed, and inquiries of army organizations and power companies failed to reveal the colonel's whereabouts, or the address of his company.

Now the institute hopes Col. Fisher will heed the public appeal and confirm the catch, claim the credit.

TOURIST AID BILL SIGNED BY VAN WAGONER

Introduced by Senator Otto Bishop, Bill Provides $325,000 Fund

The Bishop tourist advertising bill was signed by the governor Friday, although the signature carried with it the chief executive's objections.

The governor protested the legislature's refusal to appropriate $100,000 annually for general state advertising through a central office, and referred the bill to Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton, questioning its constitutionality, before signing it.

He said he signed the bill, which appropriates $325,000 for tourist, resort and farm advertising during the next biennium "on the principle that 'half a loaf is better than none'."

"I had hoped that we could have prepared a complete inventory of Michigan's tourist and recreational attractions so they could be made readily available through a central state office," he said. "It is generally recognized that such states as Florida and California do a better job of advertising their recreational facilities than does Michigan. It was my objective to make Michigan tourist advertising the best in the nation."

EAST JORDAN SCHOOL DESTROYED BY FIRE

All Except One Portion of School System Leveled Thursday Morning

East Jordan's most disastrous fire in many years occurred Thursday morning when the high school built in 1921 was completely destroyed.

A new wing completed in 1938 and containing the agricultural, grade and library rooms was the only portion saved. Loss, said to have been covered by insurance, was tentatively set at $100,000.

Charlevoix and Boyne City firemen and fire trucks went to the assistance of the East Jordan fire department, greatly aiding in checking the blaze.

Charlevoix county occupies a prominent position in the West Michigan Tourist & Resort Association annual vacation guide for 1941.

Five pages are devoted to the tourist attractions of the county. Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan facilities for the vacationist are extolled in page advertisements, a county map and description and write-up occupies one page, advertisements of the Charlevoix Beach Hotel and Grey Gables, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Don Clothier, appear on another page.

The vacation guide is "streamlined" this year in comparison to former publications. The book, while smaller, reveals West Michigan's attractions for vacation-seekers in detail, however.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Typical of a mental confusion which seems to prevail in Michigan, and apparently in the entire country for that matter, during these emotionally exciting days of 1941 is the current controversy over two amendments to Michigan's constitution to be submitted to voters at the April 7 election.

It may be news to you that Michigan, just having amended its constitution in November with regard to civil service, is again busy with new proposals.

And, paradoxically enough, the two amendments have to do with how we could amend our constitution in the future, or initiate new legislation and veto or uphold legislation already enacted.

Whereas the civil service amendment was instituted by popular petition, the two amendments for April originated within the 1941 state legislature.

Complications are few, yet interesting.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

C. M. Harrison, Specialist in Farm Crops, to Speak March 20th

The last of this winter's series of six dairy meetings will be held in the city hall, Charlevoix, Thursday night, March 20th, at 8:15 o'clock. The entire discussion will consider all problems of summer feeding. All dairymen agree that the most profit from dairying comes through the summer months. The problem of adequate summer feed is always present. Recently a mixture of smooth brome grass and alfalfa has become popular and taking care of this situation nicely.

Where pastures are run-out many recommendations and suggestions will be made by Mr. Harrison. If you are uncertain as to what grass mixture to use be sure to attend the meeting and enter into the discussion. Remember Thursday night, March 20th, in the city building, Charlevoix, at 8:15.

Carload of Cotton for Making Cotton Mattresses Arrived Last Week

Probably the first cotton ever to arrive in this county made its appearance with the arrival of a full carload of 54 bales of cotton direct from the gin. Each bale weighs between 500 and 600 pounds. Sufficient cotton is now on hand to make approximately 500 mattresses. Already the two N.Y.A. sewing classes in East Jordan and Boyne City have cut and sewed around 80 ticks. The tables, sawhorses, thread and mattress twine have been made available for this project. We are extremely sorry to state that we are ready to start the project but are helpless until the mattress needles arrive.

The needles were ordered on January 29th and we fully expected to have them by the middle of March. A recent telegram states that they cannot be furnished until April 11. Furthermore, all counties are in the same position with the exception of two or three. There has been such a great demand for needles the companies can not keep a supply on hand. All needles in the past have been imported from England and of course the supply has been delayed due to the war.

On the 25th and 26th of March a two day county-wide cotton mattress demonstration for community leaders has been scheduled. Miss Ruth Peck, state leader in this project, will demonstrate the making of cotton mattresses. This demonstration is not open to the public, but only to community leaders who have already been selected.

Applications for over 500 mattresses have now been received and we are all set to go just as soon as needles can be obtained. Applications for cotton mattresses can be received at the county agent's office, Boyne City, until April 1st. If you are eligible to make a mattress and have not made your application, do so at once.

Conservation Talk Enjoyed by 3340 Boys and Girls

The third and last of a series of three meetings on conservation work was enjoyed by 3340 boys and girls in Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties.

Mr. Roberts, from the Oden fish hatchery, gave a very interesting account of the life history of fish starting from collecting spawn to the planting of legal size fish. Mr. Roberts illustrated his talk with colored slides. He first took the boys and girls on an imaginary trip out in Lake Michigan on a fishing vessel where the lake trout are caught and the spawn taken. This spawn, after being taken from the fish, is rushed to the fish hatchery where it is placed in hatching batteries.

Mr. Roberts then described the various processes that the fish eggs go through until they hatch at the age of about 70 days. Much interest was shown in the series of bottles that showed these processes. After the eggs are hatched and the fish are taken care of for some time they are placed in the rearing ponds where they are kept until they are planted in lakes or streams. It was of interest to know that this year about 48,000 legal size fish, which will weigh between 5 and 6 tons, are being planted in streams in northern Michigan this spring.

The 4-H Conservation Clubs in the following schools have sponsored for the third year a series of three meetings on conservation. Antrim county: Alba, Mancelona, Bellaire, Central Lake, Ellsworth; Charlevoix county: East Jordan, Charlevoix, Boyne Falls and Wulloon Lake; Emmet county: Harbor Springs, Alanson and Pellston; Cheboygan county: Mackinaw City, Cheboygan, Afton and Wolverine.

Michigan grows good corn

Sturdy hybrid strains of corn, adapted to local conditions, have been developed by private breeders and by the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station. Hybrids produce strong stalks, even ears, and a profitable yield.

RARELY thought of as a "corn-belt" state, Michigan nevertheless ranks eleventh in the production of this biggest of American grain crops. The corn grown each year on the farms of Michigan would provide two bushels for every home in the nation.

Whether he has a telephone or not, every farmer who grows or feeds corn benefits from the part modern telephone service plays in reporting up-to-the-minute price quotations, in the prompt delivery of seed, implements and stock, and in the process of marketing that moves his products to the consumer.

All along the line, from plowing to husking, from corn-crib to dinner-table, your Telephone Company helps to carry on the job of production and conservation of food — a vital link in the National Defense.

Much of Michigan's corn goes into the feeding of livestock. The state's farm income from meat animals in 1939 was about $50,000,000. The Michigan housewife buys corn almost every day in the form of steak or pork chops, eggs or milk.

SMITH IS OUTSTANDING

Michigan voters have the opportunity this spring of electing a state highway commissioner, who is nationally known as the outstanding highway engineer and executive in the state. That man is LeRoy C. Smith, Republican candidate, who for 23 years has been highway engineer of Wayne county, with jurisdiction over 2,300 miles of roadways. The first super-highways in the nation were built under LeRoy C. Smith's supervision and there are now 165 miles of divided highways in his district. These are important defense works in an industrial area. Mr. Smith drew national attention to his administrative ability when his county won first award among all metropolitan county road departments in a nation-wide management contest sponsored by a national highway magazine.

Born in the village of Millbrook, Mecosta county, he graduated from Michigan State College in civil engineering and later received from his Alma Mater the honorary degree of highway engineer in recognition of achievement. He served from 1913 to 1918 as deputy state highway commissioner until called by Wayne county to take charge of its important highway system. He has full appreciation of the highway needs in all parts of the state. He has served as president of the Michigan section of the American Society of Engineers. He is an active member of the Michigan National Defense Council and is an authority on defense needs of the state.

His election will return the state highway department to its proper function as a necessary highway construction and engineering department.

TESTED SEEDS PROVEN SAFEST FOR PLANTING

Farmers Warned Against Seeds from Out-of-State Sources

Farmers who receive advertisements from other states offering seeds of new and often unknown varieties of crops such as corn, oats, or beans will do well if they consult their county agents before buying, H. C. Rather, head of the farm crops department at Michigan State College advises.

Every year about this time farmers are flooded with offers of seeds promising to give increased returns. Some such seeds offered are good while others are untried and untested. Some of them are good in other states, but not adapted to Michigan climate and Michigan soils, Rather points out. Some others, he reports, are out-and-out fakes.

One firm in Ohio recently has been offering a new variety of soybean seed of which retails at $12 a bushel. A Michigan farmer consulted his county agent before buying, and the county agent in turn wrote to the Ohio experiment station for information. The soybean advertised, the station reported, had been on test for three years, and in each of the tests produced lower yields than the common soys selling at normal prices.

An Iowa seed company sold in Michigan a carload of seed oats of a variety not recommended even for Iowa, where it originated. The price obtained was more than $2 a bushel.

Standard practice of the Michigan experiment station has been to test varieties for adaptation to Michigan condition, and this information is always available to farmers and to seed dealers alike. It is to the credit of reputable Michigan seed dealers that they recommend only varieties that have been tested and approved.

In nearly all instances county agricultural agents have information on varieties of seed, and if they have not, they can easily obtain such information from the college. Thus, the farmer may be saved a headache, and crop loss.

Potassium Iodide Saves The Lambs

In increasing number of complaints from Michigan farmers with flocks of sheep indicate ewes are losing their lambs prematurely. C. L. Cole of the Michigan State College animal husbandry department recommends supplies of potassium iodide.

All of the complaints are identical in indicating the ewes need iodine. Feed seems to have been adequate. An iodine deficiency is easily remedied. In many cases the remedy may be too late to overcome trouble this year but for flocks which will be late in lambing there is still time to prevent some of the trouble.

One ounce of potassium iodide can be mixed thoroughly with 100 pounds of salt. Another way of supplying the indine is by mixing an ounce of the potassium iodide with 100 pounds of equal parts of salt and bone meal fed free choice to the pregnant ewes.

All pregnant farm animals should receive potassium iodide, according to Professor Cole. Michigan happens to be an iodine-free area. Grain and forage grown in the state lack the supply needed by livestock. Thus it always is safer to include a recommended amount of the potassium iodide in animal rations since the iodine is necessary for proper nutrition for the unborn young.

While primarily an aquatic animal, the otter sometimes makes long trips overland. Mert McClure, district supervisor for the department of conservation at Roscommon once tracked a pair of otters for four miles in the uplands. McClure picked up the trail in the snow near Love school on US-27 north of Roscommon and left it near Mud lake. During their meandering, McClure said, the otters visited and investigated a field of cornshocks.

While the war scientists devise new methods of killing abroad, a mounting list of Red Cross volunteers are giving their blood for the largest blood bank ever attempted—at the request of the army and navy. Scientists discovered some years ago that there were various "types" of blood and that these blood types were antagonistic to each other, thereby clearing up the mystery of patients who had died after apparently successful transfusions. As they experimented further it was discovered that blood plasma or the dried corpuscles can be restored to the properties of whole blood by the addition of distilled water and the resulting blood used for every type of transfusion.

The Sharpe and Dohme laboratories in Philadelphia are converting the highly-perishable whole blood into this plasma in their spotless research laboratories. At present New York City is providing all the blood for the reservoir due to the complicated collection, storage and transportation problems but as the program gains momentum and the technical phases of collection are ironed out, it will be extended to Red Cross chapters within a 24-hour shipping distance of Philadelphia.

The route of the blood from donor to hermetically sealed capsule ready for an emergency call is interesting. Each donor gives a pint of blood and at the end of each day it is collected with other donors blood and taken by Red Cross truck to the station. From there it is expressed in a refrigerator car to the Sharpe and Dohme Laboratories outside of Philadelphia. There in a spinning centrifuge the red and white corpuscles are driven to the bottom of each flask of blood and syphoned off into 5 gallon containers tested for sterility. These flasks then go into a bath of dry ice solution where at a temperature of 150 below zero Fahrenheit the plasma instantly freezes. The moisture is drawn off into a barrel shaped vacuum tonk and the flaky yellow powder remaining is hermetically sealed in a vacule flask—ready for delivery to the army and navy. Present plans call for 10,000 units—a unit being the equivalent of one pint of donated blood.

One donor appeared at New York headquarters a short time ago accompanied by 29 cousins, brothers, aunts, uncles and other relatives, all more than anxious to do their part in the Red Cross national defense program.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Davey were honored Sunday at a triple celebration of both their birthdays, and also their 49th wedding anniversary. The party was held at the Boyne City home of Mrs. William Bogart, niece of Mrs. Davey, who also observed her birthday on this date. Sixteen guests were present for the dinner, including Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Davey, Mr. and Mrs. Sam King and children of Ironton, and from Boyne City, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Earl and daughter Sandra Kay, Henry Bogert, Joel Bennett, and Mrs. Luella Staley. A large and beautifully decorated birthday cake graced the table, and Mr. and Mrs. Davey received a number of nice gifts.

The Spread of Tuberculosis

There is sound reason in the determination of physicians examining draftees to take an x-ray photograph of the chest and to eliminate those men with any evidence of tuberculosis. The disease spreads rapidly from person to person and frequently those who are affected remain long ignorant of the fact. To avoid contracting tuberculosis, a periodical tuberculin test, and, if necessary, an x-ray should be demanded.

Neglect of an adequate examination of the 1917 conscript army, due partly to the sudden entry of the United States into the war and the need for quickly stemming the German tide, has cost the government more than ordinarily supposed. In the 22 years which have elapsed since the Armistice, the nation has paid compensation claims of approximately $1,000,000,000 and hospitalization costs of $141,000,000. Between 1924 and 1932, veterans numbering about 61,000 occupied beds in tuberculosis hospitals. New cases are appearing annually.

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. J. Arthur Myers of Minneapolis gives a graphic illustration of the manner in which the disease may be transmitted, often by an unsuspected carrier. In one case cited, a baby 13 months old was found to have tuberculosis while father, mother and an uncle who had been in close contact with the infant were found to be free of the disease. A grandmother refused to submit to an examination on the ground that anyone more than 40 years old could not harbor the tubercle bacilli.

But, as the aged woman had been complaining of fatigue, loss of appetite and declining weight, she eventually submitted to a tuberculin test which was found to be positive. Chest x-rays and analysis of the sputum, obtaine dafter several months of argument with the victim, revealed her to have an active case and to be, indisputably, the baby's source of infection.

Another case was that of an infant born in a hospital and who, though apparently healthy at birth, began to cough and exhibit fever at the age of six weeks. It died when eight weeks old. Examination disclosed a generalized tuberculosis which could not be traced to the baby's family.

Persistent efforts led to the discovery of a nurse who had cared for the child only two days and who was found to be tubercular. The hospital was sued for heavy damages and lost its case.

According to Dr. Myers, 466 suspects were reported to the Minneapolis health department between 1936 and 1939 and of this number, 114 previously unknown cases of tuberculosis were discovered. Seventeen families, each of whom had a member known to be tubercular, were selected for intensive study. Of 102 persons in the group, 42 individuals were found to be infected.

A tuberculin test is quickly performed, is without pain and the cost is nominal. For many it would prove to be the best possible investment of time, effort and money since it may make the difference between a healthy and a normal life span or disease and premature death.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

First vote cast in the city flower contest was for the marigold, ever-popular for beds and borders, and too well known to require lengthy discussion. Sizes range from four inches to three feet high, and colors from lemon yellow to the newly-developed scarlet.

The calendula, or pot marigold, is free-flowering from early summer until frost, in bright shades of yellow and orange.

Pansies always make nice beds, with their piquant little faces and great variety of colors and markings.

Everybody loves snapdragons. Their cultivation is simple. Seed starts slowly, so it is best to start seeds indoors a few weeks before outdoor planting time.

The peony is the flower for every garden. Anyone can grow this showy, beautifully colored blossom.

Foxglove is an old favorite, in shades of pink and lavender, also white.

Phlox is an interesting garden ower. Practically all phlox are of American origin. Great variation is shown by the different types in growth habit, height and type of bloom.

The lemon daylily, easy to grow under almost any circumstances, is useful as a border plant in connection with water gardens.

The clove pink, with its gray-green foliage, fragrant flowers, in white, pink, red or purple, is lovely in any garden.

The Charlevoix Junior Farm Bureau, with Hazel Matchett acting as leader, held its regular meeting in the basement of the Methodist church here. It was a pot luck supper, at which 20 members and guests participated preceding the meeting.

The discussion, led by Ray Cunningham, Georgia Krchak and Clayton Smith, introduced many interesting features for the reorganization program. Among decisions reached by the local group was the constitution, stating membership qualifications, more definite plans for our meetings and also qualifications of new officers.

New officers are to be elected at the next regular meeting, which comes Monday night, March 24, at the city hall. Loren Black is invited to act as our temporary chairman during the proceedings of the election. Sharon Cruthers was appointed temporary secretary.

Many suggestions were made and among these securing Walter Pipp, formerly with New York Yankees, to bring us some pictures on baseball. The suggestions of a home talent show and a joint meeting with the Grand Traverse group, were discussed.

All those interested are urged to attend the next meeting for the election of officers.

LANSING LETTER

Petition Frauds

Last year the Michigan State Supreme Court ruled that election officials cannot go behind the faces of petitions to challenge names and to prosecute persons who affix fraudulent signatures.

As the constitution now reads, any "qualified" voter is eligible to take part in instituting legislation, or asking for a referendum on legislative action, or even proposing an amendment to the constitution itself.

The flexibility of the word "qualified" and the difficulty of ascertaining the genuineness of signatures has led to abuses, particularly in the Detroit area. There a racket has sprung up whereby signatures for petitions are obtained for a price, and only careful and sometimes expensive checking can determine whether the signatures are real or faked.

Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly became convinced that action should be taken to curb this petition fraud. He summoned Oakley Distil, secretary of the Wayne county election commission. The net result was a recommendation to the legislature that petition signatures be limited to "registered" voters.

Interestingly enough, this recommendation was made after the senate judiciary committee had suddenly reported out a resolution containing other drastic restrictions and after the senate had suspended its rules and passed it to the house. Recalled back to the senate (almost an unprecedented accomplishment), the resolution was amended and was again passed by the senate by almost unanimous vote. The house then voted overwhelmingly in favor o fit.

There was no trace of partisanship in the legislature's move.

Opposed by Reformers

And here is where the confusion begins.

In itself an avowed reform, the amendments have been condemned by the League of Women Voters, at least in hundreds of telegrams dispatched to legislators, and also, strangely too, by several well-known reformers.

One is Professor James K. Pollock of the University of Michigan, so-called father of the 1937 civil service bill in its original form and a political science authority of considerable repute. He has labelled the amendments as being undemocratic in principle and hence not desirable.

John Lovell, long connected with good government movement in Wayne county, has also disapproved of the restrictions proposed.

Furthermore, the Detroit Bureau of Governmental Research recently announced, in an analysis, that "there is no emergency requiring immediate action" and consequently that "minor changes should be deferred for consideration at the constitutional convention" should the voters decide in November, 1942, that such general revision was desirable.

"Resentment"?

The chief criticism against the two amendments centers on the use of one word, "registered," instead of "qualified."

So what?

Well, for one thing, admonish the critics, this change would result in disqualification of from 25 to 35 per cent of those persons who are eligible at present to sign petitions.

For example, Senator Earnest C. Brooks (D) of Holland objects on the ground that the constitution reserves to the "people" the right to initiate. As he sees it, a "registered" voter does not fit the definition of being a part of the "people," although as far as elections go in Michigan, certainly popular government today is limited to voters who are properly "registered" by name and address.

Do you find this distinction finely drawn? Well, here is an observation that is easy to follow. It is by William Markland, able Lansing correspondent of the Detroit News:

"From numerous conversations of the last two months, it seems probable that the desire for a curb on the initiation of constitutional amendments arose largely out of resentment and irritation at the passage of the civil service amendment last November.

"If the amendments to be submitted in April are approved, it will be more difficult for the people to undo what they have accomplished, but when the right time and the right legislature comes along, the legislators can submit, as easily as ever, the proper proposal to do the job."

Small Loan Companies

One reason why the amendment controversy is marked with confusion has been the interest and activity of small loan companies in zealous support of the proposed changes.

The connection between the two amendments and small loan companies seems strangely far-fetched, at first.

In the past decade the small loan companies have been harried repeatedly by both legislative and petition attempts to regulate the rate of interest to be charged monthly.

These assaults have been of two kinds: (1) Genuinely conceived as a social reform; (2) deliberately conceived for mercenary purposes and flying under false colors of "reform" in the cause of the "people."

As long as petitions can be obtained fraudulently, the small loan group reasons that their defense will continue to cost them many good, hard-earned dollars. They welcome with open arms these amendments because in preventing petition fraud the amendments would also ease their burden of defense.

At the same time it can be truthfully said that the small loan companies' interest in the changes was entirely unknown to Secretary of State Kelly when he studied the problem. It is just one of those coincidences that make the situation at Lansing so unusual.

Amendment Title

The titles to the amendments, as they will appear on separate ballots April 8, are even confusing in themselves.

The wording is lengthy and hazy. Instead of offering a succinct proposition of "preventing petitions fraud," which would automatically create a mental desire to vote affirmatively, the titles wander in loud terminology and leave the reader in the dark as to their real purpose.

The combination of all these factors (a reform being opposed by reformers, for example) has been to cloud the amendments with confusion, indecisiveness and even apparent contradictions— a condition that is surely in keeping with a greatly perplexed world and is perhaps a psychological byproduct of our times.

AT THE MOVIES

"Western Union" Brilliant Film

Zane Grey's "Western Union" has been made into a memorable picture by 20th Century-Fox. Filmed in brilliant Technicolor and produced on a breath-taking scale, it opens March 22 at the Palace Theatre.

Its brilliant cast, headed by Robert Young, Randolph Scott, Dean Jagger and Virginia Gilmore, brings to life all the colorful characters created by the West's greatest story-teller in his latest best-seller. Others featured include John Carradine, Chill Wills, Slim Summerville and Barton MacLane.

Romance, action, drama and thrilling adventure are all part of the spectacle in "Western Union," which opens in the roaring boom town of frontier Omaha—where the only law was a bluzing six-shooter.

"Tugboat Annie" at Palace

Saltiest of the beloved old salts of fact and fiction, "Tugboat Annie" is sailing again. Her return to the screen is entitled, appropriately enough, 'Tugboat Annie Sails Again.' The film will have its first local showing on March 25 at the Palace Theatre.

In the title role of Annie is Marjorie Rambeau, who takes up the character where the late and beloved Marie Dressler left her. Captain Bullwinkle, Annie's perpetual opponent, is played by big, bluff and hearty Alan Hale, while June Wyman and Ronald Reagan speak up for love and the younger generation.

Others in the cast include Clarence Kolb, Charles Halton, Paul Hurst, Chill Wills, Harry Shannon and many others.

Anne Shirley Again Portrays A Beloved Montgomery Heroine

Anne Shirley, grown up, plays a character she portrayed as a child. This character is L. M. Montgomery's beloved "Anne Shirley," heroin of six stories that started with the famous "Anne of Green Gables," and finished with Anne of Windy Poplars," which RKO Radio presents on March 27-28 at the Palace Theatre, with Anne portrayed by the actress who changed her name from Dawn O'Day to Anne Shirley when she first played the role six years ago.

There are two love stories— that of Anne and the doctor, played by Patric Knowles, and the stormier romance of the characters played by James Ellison and Louise Campbell.

Besides those mentioned other important players are Henry Travers, Slim Summerville, Elizabeth Patterson, Jean Carroll, Katharine Alexander, Minnie Dupree, Alma Kruger, Marcia Mae Jones and Ethel Griffies. Jack Hively directed "Anne of Windy Poplars" from the screen play by Michael Kanin and Jerry Cady. Cliff Reid produced the film for RKO Radio.

The State Mutual Cyclone Insurance Company's foresightedness . . . in carrying reinsurance . . . is one of the reasons why State Mutual continues to grow year after year. On November 11, 1940, approximately 15,000 State Mutual policyholders suffered over $500,000 in windstorm losses. All claims were paid promptly. No special assessment was necessary. The reason? Reinsurance absorbed $300,000 of the claims. You're sure you're completely protected when you're insured with State Mutual; you're sure, too, that your yearly assessment won't exceed 15 cents per hundred dollars (thanks to ample resources and reinsurance).

folks have been sending me the Courier. Needless to say I enjoy receiving and reuding it, as it is one of the few contacts I have with the 'home town.' Since the advent of your column, "Do You Remember,' I look forward even more so, to receiving your paper. 'Shot at Random' is the first column to which I invariably turn. I always did like 'fish' stories. Was sorry to learn of your misfortune in the destruction, by fire, of your office building and congratulate you on the promptness with which a new plant has been started. I wish you all the success in the world."

Same to you, Ed., and thanks for your interest and well-wishes.

Groom: "If I'd known you were so extravagant, I would never have married you."

Recent bride: "If I hadn't been, father would never have let you."

Boyne City's Uncle Josh says: "Well, the 'Lend-Lease' momentous bill passed Congress a little ahead of schedule and now all the President has to do is say "stick 'em up' and if you're wise, they'll go up. It gave a lot of senators an opportunity to get rid of some gas, and as it seems to be against the rules of 'honorable' warfare to use poison gas, none of it was saved for future use."

Wife: "Let me see that letter you just opened. I can see it's from a woman and you turned pale when you read it."

Hubby: "Yes, darling, you can have it. It's a bill from your dressmaker."

If the week end blizzard was King Winter's dying gasps as I heard some folks express it, the "old boy" sure pussed out hard! It was without any doubt the worst we've had this winter. It snowed, it blowed, it blocked the roads, disrupted mail deliveries, made the remnants of a fast-diminishing coal pile look like the tenth month of a coal famine, in fact, did everything that well behaved spring weather shouldn't do. Just when a few of us old die-hard anglers were looking forward to an early opportunity to get out and look over our secret fishin' holes, along came this blizzard to knock all anticipations into a cocked hat. Well, it's just a minor delay, that's all, and in case you haven't been keeping close track, there's 37 more days yet!

And speaking about fishin' makes me think about a night-crawler angle worm I've been nursing along all winter. I discovered him one night sticking his head out of the dirt in one of my wife's flower pots. She said worms were good for the flowers, but just between you and me, I've got other ideas about the usefulness of this fellow. If he isn't the fattest, most tempting morsel a trout ever saw by April 26th, it won't be my fault.

If what Bill Fessenden says is true, fox hunting is pretty easy over on Beaver Island. He told me that Edwin McCann had got nine during the winter and that his dog caught five of that number so Ed. didn't even have to waste his ammunition. What's more, the dog killed one on the ice of St. James harbor and when Ed. got in from the woods an Indian friend who was fishing on the ice and witnessed the kill, had picked the dead fox up and put it on his porch. Now, Bill told me some more about the perch fishing over there on St. James harbor, but after reading what I've said about the fox hunting, perhaps you'd just as soon I'd quit before my enthusiasm gets the best of me.

YOUNG MOTHERS' CLUB HAS HOSPITAL BENEFIT

Proceeds of Tuesday Night Party to Furnish Baby Incubator

Twenty-seven tables were in play at the benefit bridge party given on Tuesday night at the K. P. hall, by the Young Mothers' club, Child Study club and Child Topic club.

A St. Patrick's color scheme of green and white was carried out in decorations and refreshments.

Prizes awarded were: auction bridge, first Mrs. Will Heise, second Mrs. Charles Novak, consolation Mrs. Frank Curtis; contract bridge, first Miss Vivian Dunbar, second Mrs. George Haggard, consolation Mrs. Kit Carson. Door prizes went to Mrs. Alex Sinclair of East Jordan and Miss Gene Supernaw. Mrs. Frank Curtis and Mrs. Lawrence Korth won prizes in a shamrock forfeit game.

Net proceeds of the benefit amounted to $27, which will go into a fund to buy a baby incubator for Charlevoix Hospital. The original plan to buy blankets and bedding for the hospital nursery was discarded in favor of the purchase of the new, modern incubator, which can be used also as an oxygen tent. This type of incubator may be heated by other means than electricity, so may be used in places where electricity is not available.

Another benefit affair for the incubator fund will be held in the near future, for which no definite plans have been made.

Getting a Decoration for his Ear

Deer livetrapped and marked with metal ear tags, like this "whitetail" in a box trap at Cusino state game area, are averaging heavier this winter than deer tagged in the three previous years when snow was deeper and the weather more severe. In winter deer come readily to traps baited with alfalfa and clover. Tagged deer yield information on general health of the herds and reveal how far they range. Deer also are being trapped, tagged and weighed at Hanson state game area, in lower Michigan.

FOUR BALLOTS FOR APRIL 7 ELECTION

VOTE FOR STATE, CITY AND TOWNSHIP OFFICERS

Regular State, Non-Partisan, Two Amendments, City or Township Ballots Being Prepared

On April 7, when Charlevoix citizens go to the polls to vote, they will be handed four separate ballots.

The state office ballot will carry only the Democratic and Republican party candidates for the offices of Regents of the University, member State Board of Agriculture, Superintendent of Public Instruction, State Board of Agriculture and Highway Commissioner.

On the non-partisan ballot will be candidates for Justices of the Supreme Court, on which voters will vote for two, and judge of the Circuit Court, for which in the 13th judicial district of which Charlevoix is a part, the Hon. Parm C. Gilbert is the only candidate.

Two amendments to the state constitution will appear on a separate ballot. The first one, if approved, would require signers of petitions proposing changes in the state constitution be qualified and registered electors; would provide for the regulation of the circulation of petitions, of any fictitious or forged name to any petition; would provide for the summarization of such amendments on the ballot for submission to the electors.

The second amendment would require that initiative and referendum petitions be signed by qualified and registered electors; would provide for the determining of the validity of such petitions; would provide for the regulation and the circulation of such petitions; would provide that the legislature may prescribe penalties for the affixing of any fictitious or forged name to any such petition.

These two amendments, if approved, would require a "Yes" vote, if opposed, a "No" vote. Neither appear to be too important to the average individual, but signing fictitious names to petitions in the past has caused trouble, and the amendments would put control over fraudulent use of names to get petitions on the ballot.

A city ballot will contain the names of city and ward officers nominated at the February primary election.

Township ballots will contain the names of township officials nomioated at township caucuses.

REGIONAL CAGE CHAMPS FAIL IN TITLE QUESTS

Harbor Springs Quintet Reached Finals in Class C Competition

Northern Michigan regional basketball champions, winners at Petoskey, failed in their quest for state laurels in play last week end.

Harbor Springs, striving to repeat their performance of 1930 in winning the state class C crown, were defeated 26 to 19 by Lansing St. Mary's in the finals. They won from Clare 29 to 18 in the quarter-finals and defeated Flint St. Mary's 23 to 22 in the semi-finals.

Petoskey, regional class B winner, and Bellaire, class D regional champs, were defeated in quarter-finals play. Petoskey lost to Mt. Pleasant and Bellaire was defeated by East Tawas.

CATHOLIC CHURCH TO JOIN CHARITY DRIVE

Seek Funds for War Sufferers and Refugees Sunday, March 30

Catholics here will cooperate Sunday with parishes throughout the United States in a campaign to raise funds for aiding war sufferers and refugees and other charities directed by the Bishops' Relief Committee.

Contributions to the fund will be gathered at all Catholic churches at Sunday masses.

Announcement of the drive in the Grand Rapids diocese was made thru a letter issued by the Most Rev. Joseph C. Plagens, D. D., bishop of Grand Rapids, in his first official communication to the people of his new diocese.

In his plea for assistance for the victims of war, Bishop Plagens pointed out that a contribution to the drive would be an expression of appreciation for the blessings of peace enjoyed by the citizens of this country. "In God's Name," he wrote, "do not forget your brothers in Christ, who so sorely need your help. All of the money collected will be used to relieve the suffering of those in need."

LAKE TROUT REARING IS UNDER WAY

MILLION FRY IN TROUGHS AT LOCAL HATCHERY

Anticipated Planting at Length of Between 3 and 4 Inches Will Take Place in July

A lake trout rearing program is under way at the Charlevoix hatchery of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, following transfer of fry from the Oden state hatchery.

Lige Geer, hatchery superintendent, stated today that 1,000,000 fry were transferred on March 3rd by I. L. Bullis and Emerson Krieg of the Oden hatchery, and are now occupying the hatcheries battery of rearing troughs. The transfer this year was made a month earlier than the previous year and since arrival the fish have made a very satisfactory gain. The small fish average around an inch in length.

Barring unforeseen difficulties, the fish should be ready for planting around July 1st. They are expected to reach a length of between 3 and 4 inches by that time.

In addition to Mr. Geer and Dan Potter, regular hatchery employes, Ed. Kling has been engaged to assist in the work.

This season will mark the third year of operation of the local federal hatchery as a rearing unit. Last year's program was an outstanding success, with several hundred thousand fingerlings between 3 and 4 inches in length being reared.

The fry were hatched at Oden from spawn taken by local and other Lake Michigan commercial fishermen last fall.

Mio, Atlanta and Grayling Selected for Two April Weekends

Mio, Atlanta, Grayling and possibly West Branch or St. Helen have been selected as starting points for deer-yard inspection trips to be conducted by conservation department game men on two week ends in April.

Southern Michigan sportsmen who wish to observe personally the condition of forage supplies in swamps where the deer have wintered, and possibly see for themselves some deer dead of starvation, will gather at the towns listed, on April 6 and April 20, weather permitting. April 27 a tour may be conducted to the yards on Drummond Island.

Sportsmen are advised to contact the game division of the conservation department in Lansing before planning a trip, to be certain of dates and starting points. Those attending are advised to carry lunches and wear warm clothing and waterproof foot gear, since they may have to walk a mile or more from their automobiles.

CITY CONSIDERS DIESEL PURCHASE

WILL HOLD SPECIAL MEETING WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Two of Fourteen Invited Firms Had Bids Entered Monday—Plan Aid On Electric Range Installations

The proposed purchase of a third diesel generating unit for the Ferry avenue municipal electric light plant will be considered tonight (Wednesday) at a special meeting of the city council.

The special meeting was called to consider bids received Monday night. Two engine manufacturing concerns out of fourteen extended invitations submitted bids, providing concrete evidence of the tie-up in heavy industry by national defense production. Selection of the new 250 kw unit apparently is a choice between Fairbanks-Morse Co. and Ruthbun-Jones Engineering Co., the only bidders, with the first named in the most favorable position because of early delivery guarantee.

The new diesel, to be financed from electric system revenues without creating a general city obligation, will cost approximately $24,000 and is being purchased to provide a generating unit of light capacity to handle current requirements over production of the Bellaire hydro-electric plant, thus eliminating use of the two larger diesel motors for a light load.

A communication from the Charlevoix Garden Club, outlining recommendations for city beautification in considerable detail, was received and placed on file for consideration at the next regular meeting.

The council discussed at length and held for approval at the next meeting a plan to give credit on electric current purchases a yet unstipulated amount on new power installations by persons installing electric ranges. The action is being taken as a means of stimulating the installation of such electric current consuming appliances and will result, if approved, in a considerable decrease in the cost of power installations.

ACHIEVEMENT DAY PROGRAM APRIL 4

ANNUAL EXHIBIT AT CHARLEVOIX GYMNASIUM

Approximately 500 Club Projects Will Be Shown—150 Girls Take Part in Dress Revue

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

The 4-H Club spring Achievement Day will be held in the Charlevoix gymnasium on Friday, April 4th.

Facilities of the gymnasium will be taxed to the limit to handle the large number of exhibits and the estimated crowd of 800 people. The club members are extremely proud of the articles they have completed and would enjoy nothing better than to have you see the wonderful work which has been accomplished. Included in the display will be handicraft articles, dresses, and other clothing articles and a large number of hot lunch posters shown by over 20 schools who are enjoying hot lunches at noon.

The big features of the program will be a free movie at the Palace Theater, the big dress revue, talks by representatives of our boys and girls club department and other pleasing numbers. A beautifully staged citizenship program will be conducted by some 25 club members. At the conclusion of the program announcements of awards will be given to the deserving club members. The entire public is invited to attend and enjoy the afternoon program. This will be a wonderful opportunity to see these splendid young citizens and to note the wonderful articles that have been made in the various projects. Don't forget that we want the entire public to enjoy this day with our line boys and girls in the 4-H Club program. Following is the program that has been developed for your enjoyment:

Forenoon: 9 to 10—Viewing exhibits; 10 to 11:45—Free movie at theater; 12 to 12:30 — Noon hour; 12:15 to 1—Wood identification contest.

Afternoon: Chairman, B. C. Mellencamp, county agricultural agent. Invocation, William C. Palmer, school commissioner; dress revue, 150 participants to style dresses; address of welcome, Robert Bridge, mayor of Charlevoix; response to welcome—club member from East Jordan; remarks, A. G. Kettunen, state club leader; music, special talent from Charlevoix; talk, Mrs. Ruth Schubert, assistant state club leader; citizenship program, 25 participants assisted by B. C. Mellencamp, Mrs. Bernice Knop, Miss Margaret Strehl and Howard Struthers.

We want to especially call your attention to the citizenship program which I know will give you a thrill and end the program with a deeper appreciation of America the "home of the brave and the land of the free."

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Here I am, bright and early! Well—early, anyway.

The time for sassafras tea and sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses officially arrived at 7:21 Thursday evening when the sun crossed the plane of the earth's equator and the days began to grow longer than the nights in the northern half of the world. The days have since been seasonal, but the nights, with temperatures hovering dangerously near the zero mark, have been a little off color. It shouldn't be long now, though!

Monday, April 7th, is election day. Statistics reveal that only about one-third of Michigan's better than two million voters exercised their voting franchise at the spring elections in 1935, 1937 and 1939. This is not as it should be. In the trying days that are ahead, all will not be called upon to take their place at the forge, press, or the anvil, in shaping the Winning by losing!

That's the result-getting story of the Townsend movement in Michigan.

Townsend clubs are maintained by devoutly, zealous crusaders who believe that America's economic salvation lies in an enforced spending of generous old-age pensions and the replacement of jobs, which these oldsters now retain, by younger men and women.

For any minority cause, legislative appeasement is often granted in proportion to the degree of political pressure that can be applied at the right time on the right persons.

Today, old age assistance is a $450,000,000 annual activity of federal, state and local governments. Beneficiaries number nearly two million persons.

A REPORT to America

The Ford Motor Company's business has always been to serve the needs of the American people. In providing them with low-cost transportation for the past 38 years, we have developed one of the country's largest and most useful industrial units. During a national emergency, we feel that these facilities should be devoted without reserve to our country's needs. Toward that end we started rolling months ago, with these results:

1 A $21,000,000 Ford airplane engine factory, started only 6 months ago, is nearly completed. Production will start with an initial order for 4,236 eighteen cylinder, air-cooled, double-row, radial engines.

2 We are building a new $800,000 Ford magnesium alloy foundry, one of the few in the country. It is already producing lightweight airplane engine castings.

3 Army reconnaissance cars — military vehicles of an entirely new type — are rolling off special Ford assembly lines at the rate of more than 600 a month. We have produced Army staff cars and bomber service trucks.

4 The government has given the "go-ahead" and work is now under way for the fast construction of an $11,000,000 Ford plant to produce bomber airframe assemblies by mass production methods.

5 Several months ago work was started, on our own initiative, on an entirely new 1500 horsepower airplane engine especially designed for mass production. This engine is now in the test stage and plans are being developed for producing it in large quantities when and if needed.

6 A Ford aircraft apprentice school has been established, to train 2000 students at a time.

That is a report of progress to date.

The experience and facilities of this company can be used to do much of the job which America now needs to get done in a hurry.

Our way of working, which avoids all possible red tape, enables us to get results and get them fast. This benefits users of our products and workers who produce them.

We are ready to make anything we know how to make, to make it to the limit of our capacity if need be, to make it as fast as we can go, and to start the next job whenever our country asks us to. And to this end, we know we have the full confidence and loyal support of the workmen throughout our plants.

CONTINUE ELLIOTT

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott's administration as superintendent of public instruction has been marked by perfect coordination in the Michigan school system and the effective co-operation between his office and the local schools. Dr. Elliott has the confidence of the local superintendents of schools, the teachers, the pupils and parents. Because he is the product of the typical American small community his understanding of the educational problems will continue to be most valuable. His is the wide viewpoint of the ideal public officer. Everyone connected or interested in the welfare of the state school system will attest to that.

Dr. Elliott is a candidate for re-election of the Republican ticket. His service to the Michigan schools and his interest in the educational welfare of Michigan's more than a million school children is so intense, that citizens of Michigan feel he is too valuable a public servent to lose.

The Michigan Department of Public Instruction has received national recognition during his administration. This is one of the three states selected for teacher education study. Dr. Elliott has been among the first for American educators to realize the importance of citizenship training in the schools and Michigan has a well functioning program pointing towards the education of children in the American way of life, through creation of better understanding of the benefits of our form of free government.

Michigan will make no mistake in continuing Dr. Elliott as superintendent of public instruction.

LEROY SMITH MAKES ONLY ONE CAMPAIGN PROMISE

"Take the state highway department out of politics, and I'll put it to work. That's my only promise of this campaign," declared Leroy C. Smith, Republican candidate for state highway commissioner, at Flint in his first campaign appearance in this part of the state.

"To make the utmost progress on the various classes of roads," Mr. Smith said, "it is necessary to practice strict economy in all highway matters, to confine construction to the most needed projects and eliminate 'political' road building, and to work out a plan of close cooperation between the counties, cities and the state.

"In this connection, it is an unjustifiable waste of taxpayers' money for counties and the state to own and operate duplicate maintenance equipment and to employ duplicate personnels.

"The counties must maintain their own local roads. According to state law, the state highway commissioner may contract with any county to handle the maintennnce of state trunklines provided the county is capable of doing the work. During recent years the state highway department has taken this trunkline maintenance away from counties manned and equipped to do the job better and more economically than the highway department.

"The transfer was not made in the interest of economy, but because the state highway department administration wanted the names of those maintenance workers on its own payroll for patronage purposes.

"Trunkline maintenance should be returned to all counties equipped to do the work properly and efficiently. Those few counties considered unequal to maintenance responsibilities will be advised and encouraged so that as quickly as possible they can assume trunkline maintenance."

SEN. PRENTISS BROWN SEEKING ICE-BREAKER

Introduced Bill In Congress to Provide Coast Guard Vessel

A bill has been introduced in the U. S. Senate by Sen. Prentiss M. Brown, D., of Michigan, to provide for the construction of an ice-breaker for Great Lakes duty.

The coast guard vessel would be designed for ice-breaking and assistance work on Lake Huron, Lake Michigan and Lake Superior, would be stationed at St. Ignace or in the Straits of Mackinac and would be maintained in commission twelve months of the year.

The need of such a vessel for winter service has been deemed a need on the Great Lakes for many years.

Shouts of "Timber-r-r" still echo in the woods of upper Michigan as ax and crosscut saw bring down the big hardwoods. Loggers pictured are in Luce county, but logging operations are now most extensive in the western part of the peninsula. Michigan has larger stands and greater production of northern hardwoods than any other state in the union.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Vitamin C and Infection

Masters of sailing vessels more than a century ago formed the practice of dosing their crews with the juices of limes or lemons as a preventive of the dreaded scurvy. With the newer knowledge of nutrition and particularly of the role in the body's economy played by Vitamin C, scurvy is rarely seen in the United States. Now, however, investigators are inclined to attribute a host of ills of vague or hitherto undetermined origin to an insufficient Vitamin C intake.

While there is no direct evidence that Vitamin C prevents infection, there is room to believe that an optimum amount must be retained in the body to promote healing and the repair of tissues after attack by disease.

It has been shown, for example, that recovery from tuberculosis depends on the formation of connective tissue and this is in turn dependent on the action of Vitamin C on the flat, elongated cells known as fibroblasts. In their contribution to the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, three Chicago research workers ventured the theory that the administration of Vitamin C in amounts far in excess of that normally required might mean the difference between a favorable and unfavorable course in a case of tuberculosis.

While the value of fruit juices, especially the citrus fruits, has been recognized in the diet of a patient convalescing from such acute infections as influenza and pneumonia, as well as in fever states, it is possible that far larger quantities could be given with even better results. Generally, citrus fruit juice causes the temperature to fall, the condition of the blood to improve and the function of the liver to be restored. Gains in weight are frequently noted.

Studies are in progress to determine the amount of Vitamin C requisite for the maintenance of ordinary good health. For an adult, the equivalent of the juice of one and one-half lemons is now considered the optimum dose. Vitamin C may also be obtained from oranges, tomatoes and, to less extent, from asparagus, cabbage, cantaloupes, lettuce, peas, radishes, spinach, turnips and liver.

The amount of the substance varies both with the foodstuff and its manner of preparation. Open kettle cooking, over-cooking and wilting destroys much of the vitamin content.

Persons on peptic ulcer diets, those convalescing from major operations and alcohol addicts are likely to require larger doses of Vitamin C than persons in ordinary good health. The ulcer patient may have to receive his portion of Vitamin C in tablet form.

The so-called vital tissues of the body, such as the pituitary, adrenal and gonad glands, pancreas, spleen, liver and brain contain the largest store of Vitamin C. Muscle, fat and bone are relatively low in Vitamin C, but, because, collectively, they comprise a large proportion of the body, they may be said to represent a considerable depot of the substance during health.

Children should be given about one-third more and expectant mothers about twice as much Vitamin C as suffices for the normal healthy adult.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

H. C. Moore, Potato Specialist, To Meet With Farmers

Potatoes and their future prospects in 1941 is a common topic of discussion among all potato producers. After two or three years of blight one becomes uncertain as to what to do this spring. Certainly the prices of potatoes have not been such as to arouse enthusiasm in the business at the present time. Nevertheless, potatoes, as always, have been the leading cash crop and as such merit careful consideration before one becomes too discouraged.

We have made arrangements with H. C. Moore, potato specialist of the Michigan State College, to spend the entire day of Wednesday, April 2nd, to conduct two meetings in our county. The first meeting will be held at the Boyne City Co-operative Company warehouse at 10:00 a. m. The second meeting will be held in the East Jordan Co-operative Company building at 2:00 p. m. Mr. Moore will be glad to discuss this potato situation which has become so acute throughout the county. He will discuss the seriousness of the blight infection, just what we can do to save our potato industry. Also he will discuss the spraying program which is so essential in successful and profitable productions. Possibly several farmers should join together and buy a sprayer to handle the job this year.

The question of buying new seed will be discussed. The choice of varieties will receive emphasis. In fact, it is high time that the potato growers get together and talk over their problems. These meetings have been located at warehouses so that we can see first hand various bins of potatoes, talk over storage conditions and possibly see machinery that can be of great help in controling diseases. If your neighbor who is interested in potatoes does not take a county paper and fails to receive an announcement, invite him to come with you. Let's all get together and talk over this big problem. Certainly we can not afford to drop out of the potato game. Hope to see you at your nearest meeting, both held on April 2nd.

Beaver and otter trappers terminating their 1941 season in lower Michigan March 29 will need axes to make their sets on some streams still covered with ice. Below the . rails their season is seven days shorter than a year ago, ends April 3. In the upper peninsula season dates are unchanged, April 1 to 15, but the territory to be trapped is reduced by closing of many streams flowing into Lake Superior. Each trapper may take eight beavers, two otters. In the last three years the Michigan beaver catch has averaged 7,000 pelts, worth $150,000 annually monthly pensions from $30 to $40. Everyone over 65 years of age whose property holdings are valued at not more than $3,500 would be eligible.

The issue for legislators was ticklish.

Rep. Ate Dykstra (R) of Grand Rapids, eight-term veteran who recently announced his intention not to run for re-election, proposed it.

In August, 1939, the federal act was amended by congress to permit federal matching on a 50 per cent basis up to $40 per month per eligible recipient.

In June, 1940, only two states—California and Colorado — had an average monthly payment per person in excess of $30.

The effect of the federal revision was to place responsibility for the higher monthly payment squarely upon the availability of state and local funds, together with the willingness of legislators to give preference to old age assistance over other deserving causes espoused by other voting constituents.

Dykstra's proposal for $40 monthly pensions lacked only nine votes of adoption. The final vote was 42 to 44; needed majority was 51.

Van Wagoner

One of Governor Van Wagoner's first acts in January was to recommend to the state welfare commission that 10,000 persons be added to the old age assistance rolls by July 1, 1941.

A decision was made whereby 2,000 persons would be added monthly.

The March 18 case load in Michigan was 81,340.

Although the maximum payment is $30, most of the recipients get far less than that. The average is $18—not $30, not even $40!

Although more than 81,000 persons are receiving pensions, the welfare board in January had 30,000 applications which it could not fill!

The total expenditure of state funds is about eight and a half million dollars per year. The United States matches this money on a 50-50 basis.

Complications

And so when the house of representatives considered the $40 monthly pension plan, complications were numerous.

First, the increase would virtually double the state's annual expenditure. Instead of $8,500,000, the state's cost would run close to $17,000,000.

Second, this increase would mean a denial by the legislature of state aid sought by other groups. For example, the school lobby seeks a $5,000,000 increase in state aid to schools. A survey made by Dr. George E. Carrothers of the University of Michigan recently revealed that Michigan's high schools are badly overcrowded; teachers are poorly paid.

Third, there is that annoying $27,000,000 deficit on the state books whereby the state has borrowed from certain funds to pay current needs.

But, politically speaking, old age pensions are old age pensions, and they all spell one word: Votes. Consequently, many a legislator nervously saw his shadow when he voted against Dykstra's $40 pension plan. Although the vote wa snon-partisan, hero was a Republican-sponsored cause that would outdo Governor Van Wagoner's 10,000-increase-by-July 1 program for pensions. Even this lure failed to uttract a majority.

Economic Security

When the Social Security Act was created, an insurance system was established so that wage-earners during their years of financial productivity could build up protection for the future.

But this insurance plan could not afford immediate protection for old people. Some other plan had to ba provided.

Thus old age assistance was authorized, and today approximately one-fourth of the population 65 years of age and over are receiving some kiad of monthly pension. Of this group a substantinl portion comprise persons not previously recognized as public dependents.

Thousands of aged persons, who previously had to rely on irregular and inadequate suppott, either thru their own efforts or by sharing the income of children, relatives or friends, have been able to maintain their own homes nnd otherwise to live their own lives.

Social workers believe generally that old nge assistance should provide for persons in need and do so without forcing their relatives to deprive their children, for example, of opportunity for education or otherwise having to maintain a substandard level of life. This is especially true in families of small income.

Appropriations

Fedele F. Fauri, state social security director, this month said:

"If the legislature grunts our request for a $9,500,000 appropriation for nld age assistance during the next fiscal year and $10,500,000 for the following fiscal year, we will be able to take on eligibles as soon as they apply."

At present the waiting list is nearly one year behind authorization of payments. April's new recipients will be those who applied in March, April and May of 1940—one year ago.

Considering that the average pnyment is $18 a month nnd that the house of representatives cnme within nine votes of authorizing up to $40 monthly payments, one might logically forecast that such nn appropriation may be made by the present legislature.

It is by concessions of this kind that special groups win by losing.

Jack Benny and Fred Allen Give Battle In Best Comedy Film of Season

Well, here it is at last! The picture you've been waiting for, the battle of the century between those fending radio comedians, Jack Benny and Fred Allen! And there's Mary Martin, that charming and talented Broadway musical comedy star. She sings the song that she made famous and that made her famous in turn, "My Heart Belongs Tn Daddy," as only Mary can sing it. EVERY SCHOOL AND EVERY BUSINESS HAS ONE OR TWO

In a school full of bright, self-respecting students, there are very likely to be one or two completely lacking in good common sense. And that goes for business, too... particularly the beer retailing business.

Out of thousands of beer retailers who conduct respectable, law-abiding businesses, there may be a few "dunce" retailers who disobey the law or permit anti-social conditions.

These few unwanted retailers are a menace to the future of the beer industry...and also of the benefits beer has made possible. Right here in Michigan, beer provides employment for 58,312 persons, supports an annual payroll of $58,300,740 and contributed $4,439,995.07 last year in state taxes.

It is the brewers' responsibility to make good beer—the retailers' responsibility to sell beer in wholesome surroundings—and the legally constituted authorities' responsibility to enforce the laws. All of these, working together with the public, are needed to protect the future of beer.

You, too, can help the cause of moderation by (1) patronizing only reputable places where beer is sold; (2) and reporting any violation you may observe to the duly constituted authorities.

Last fall this publication opposed a constitutional amendment which was designed to regulate dental advertising on the grounds that its passage would provide a stepping-stone fur the regulation of other trades nnd practices. In view of bills now before the legislature proposing to regulate painting, decorating and paper hanging with the usual license fenture; to register and license cooks, with a state cook board; to regulate barbers and create a state hoard to fix prices of haircnts and shaves; guess the conclusion last fall wasn't so far off.

Harbor Springs high school's basketeers came within one victory of a state class C championship Saturday night, losing in the finals at Lansing. When one reflects that the Harbor team that came so close to being Michigan's best in its class was humbled twice by Boyne City and once by Charlevoix during the regular season, it speaks well for the caliber of basketball teams in this district. Charlevoix and Boyne were both good, but they lacked that final element which carries teams to championships.

NEW PUBLIC FISHING GROUNDS AVAILABLE

Conservation Department Announces Recent Purchases

Nine miles of trout streams, two lakes and more than 5,600 acres of game lands are added to areas anglers and hunters may freely enter, through land deals approved by the state conservation commission.

A 20-year lease from the Michigan Public Service company of Traverse City assures trout fishermen freedom to fish 4,300 feet of the Sturgeon river in Cheboygan county and 1,800 feet of the Boyne river in Charlevoix county. The lease is for a nominal consideratinn, and may be renewed.

Regular purchases with income from fishing license fees include some well known frontage of 3,500 feet on the Little Manistee river in Lake county and 265 feet of frontage on Black lake in Ottawa county. Fishing license fees also financed that part of a 2,588 acre purchase in Escanaba river game area that includes seven miles of trout stream on Flatrock creek, Camp 11 creek and branch, and the north branch of the west branch of the Escanaba river, and 1,200 feet of frontage on Johnson lake, in Marquette county.

Game lands acquired, besides those in the Escanaba river area, include 145 acres in Wilderness park game area, 650 acres in Norway game area, 200 acres in Munuscong game area, and 80 acres in Hardwood state forest. With Pittman-Robertson funds 100 acres was added to Rose lake wildlife experiment station, 806 acres was added to the Barry county project, and 1,080 acres was purchased in the Gratiot-Saginaw area. The Allegan project was enlarged by a 148 acre addition.

DR. ELLIOTT HEADING GOP RALLY AT GAYLORD

Republican State Officials at Meeting on March 28th

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction who is seeking re-election at the biennial spring election April 7, will head a delegation of approximately 50 state officials and candidates attending the 16-county Republican rally at Gaylord Friday evening, March 28, at 8:00 o'clock.

Billy Rogell, former Detroit Tiger shortstop and idol of millions of sport fans in Michigan, will be toastmaster. Rogell is a volunteer campaigner for Leroy C. Smith, Republican candidate for state highway commissioner.

Speakers will include Vernon J. Brown, state auditor general; Howard Nugent, speaker of the house of representatives; Sen. Hale Brake, president pro-tem of the state senate; Lou Burridge of Cadillac, speaking for Mr. Smith; and Dr. Elliott.

The rally will be held at the Gaylord high school. A musical program is scheduled, and refreshments will be served after the speaking session.

Delegations from the following counties will attend the rally: Otsego, Crawford, Roscommon, Emmet, Cheboygan, Charlevoix, Presque Isle, Antrim, Montmorency, Alpena, Oscoda, Alcona, Kalkaska, Grand Traverse, Leelanau and Benzie.

The 10 car cavalcade will leave Lansing at one o'clock in the afternoon, stopping briefly at Harrison and Roscommon. A dinner for the visitors will be served at Grayling, by the Crawford Republican committee.

In previous articles we have spoken of the general work done by the American Red Cross and here we wish to give credit to the Charlevoix branch of the Charlevoix County Chapter for their work in completing our mid-winter quota.

Charlevoix shipped from here: 15 hospital bed shirts, 15 children's dresses, 7 ladies' dresses, 9 men's sweaters, 6 ladies' sweaters, 11 children's sweaters.

In addition was sent to, and shipped from Boyne City the following: 10 long garments, 10 medium garments, 6 smaller garments, 3 small garments, 8 bonnets, 8 bibs, 15 hands, 130 diapers, 2 1-yd. squares, 2 nightgowns, 2 dresses, 1 kimona, 2 men's sweaters, 3 ladies sweaters, 13 children's sweaters, 1 muffler, 1 pair mittens, 3 pair socks, 1 layette.

This was all shipped on the December quota and is now on its way to alleviate suffering in the stricken lands. There is a great deal more material on hand and every man and woman who is anxious to do his or her bit to aid the victims of war torn Europe as well as our own flood and disaster victims is urged to get in touch with Mrs. Harry Ladd for yarn and materials. It has been happily discovered that many men and boys have a very definite talent and liking for knitting and that their products are in no way inferior to those of the ladies, so don't be bashful, gentlemen, come in and ask for the yarn for a sweater. You may not be able to help in other ways but you'll have a deep satisfaction in knowing that some homeless person is cheered and comforted by a sweater or socks or muffler you knit!

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Send in your votes this week for the city flower. The petunia, which everyone knows and loves, is running ahead. Our first two votes from summer people came in the same mail, one from Chicago, one from Flint, and both were for the petunia. Is it your choice?

Soon it will be time to plant new roses, as well as other shrubs. When setting rose bushes, cultivate deeply, about fifteen inches. Use Bordeaux mixture as insect spray. Do not water from the top, as that is the cause of black rot on leaves and flowers. Lay hose on the ground and water deep.

When preparing flower beds before planting seeds, be sure to work into the ground a complete and well-balanced supply of plant food.

The best recipe for good health—grow your own vegetables and eat them.

OUTFIT STATE FERRIES FOR START OF SERVICE

Earliest Opening In Years Expected at Straits of Mackinac

State ferry authorities had orders from the state highway department to outfit ferries beginning Monday of this week.

It is the earliest on record that ferry crews have been put on the boats to make them ready for the opening of the navigation season.

The remarkable gain in auto and truck traffic over last winter is partially responsible for the hurry-up order to get the ferry fleet in shape for a busy season. Early traffic indicates another banner year for Straits travel. Last winter the traffic was well above 1939 and observers predicted a gain in summer travel. A similar condition exists this year, with an even larger gain indicated.

Up to the first of March the ferry had carried 2,036 cars more since January 1, 1941, than were carried in the same period of 1940. The state chartered Sainte Marie handled 11,671 auto vehicles during the first two months of this year as against only 9,535 last year for the same time, a gain of better than 21 per cent.

February's traffic was 5,560 vehicles as compared with only 4,506 in February, 1940.

CITY AUTHORIZES DIESEL PURCHASE

NEW 250 K. W. UNIT FERRY AVENUE PLANT

Offer $15 In Free Electric Current to Patrons Installing New Electric Range and Service

Acting to stimulate the use of electricity for cooking purposes, the city council Monday night placed in effect a proposal to offer free power for a limited period to patrons installing a new electric range and service.

The special inducement, effective April 1 to May 31st, provides an offer of free electric current to the amount of $15. Patrons will be requested to present to the deputy city clerk the statement of a reputable electric contractor as proof that a new electric range and service has been installed in their home. The credit of $15 will be given on electric light bills until the amount is absorbed.

The action was motivated by a desire of the council to make the use of electricity for cooking purposes more attractive to patrons of this municipally owned and operated service.

Purchase of a new 250 k.w. diesel engine and generating unit from Fairbanks, Morse & Co., authorized at a special council meeting last Thursday evening, was completed Monday night through adoption of a resolution accepting contract terms. The new unit, to replace dismantled steam engines and furnish a motor of light capacity to handle current requirements over production of the Bellaire plant, thus eliminating use of the two larger diesel motors for a light load, will cost $24,130. The indebtedness, a lien on the revenue of the electric light system above operating costs, and not a general city obligation, will be retired by $4,000 down payment and equal monthly installments over a period of five years. The indebtedness certificates, known as coupon revenue certificates, may be recalled for payment at any time prior to expiration of the contract and, in all probability, will be offered for sale to the public for investment.

NAVIGATION TO LAKE MICHIGAN IS OPENED

Easterly Winds Clear Bay Off Piers For First Time In Weeks

Navigation between Round lake harbor and Lake Michigan became possible this week for the first time in a considerable period.

Strong easterly winds prevailing since Sunday morning cleared out ice floes which had plugged the bay between North Point and South Point for several weeks. Fish boats, tied up for several weeks, resumed operations Monday.

Plane service between Charlevoix and Beaver Island is still being maintained. Landings at Charlevoix are being made on Lake Charlevoix, where ice is still sufficiently heavy to carry the plane's weight.

PROPOSED HIGHWAY BRIDGE DESCRIBED

DETAILS OF SPAN OVER CHANNEL ON US-31 EXPLAINED AT BOARD OF COMMERCE LUNCHEON

Project to Cost $400,000 Would Provide Double Leaf Bascule Type Bridge; Highway Would Be Widened 20 Feet Martin Block Store to Dixon Avenue

At a board of commerce sponsored luncheon attended by local business and professional men last Wednesday noon at the Parkside Dining Room, a comprehensive description of the proposed new highway bridge over Pine river on US-31 was given by L. W. Millard, state highway department bridge engineer.

Mr. Millard's written report, which was augmented by other interesting information regarding highway department aims and problems, is quoted as follows:

"The existing Bridge street bridge over Pine river was built in 1901. It is a through truss swing span 170-feet long with an approach span 37 feet long on the south end. The roadway is 19 feet wide and there is a 6-foot, 6-inch sidewalk bracketed out from the trusses on each side. The navigation channel is 71½ feet above low water datum when the bridge is closed.

"The state highway department has had to do considerable maintenance work on this bridge in the last several years. The end locking and wedging mechanism is a source of continual trouble and the south abutment gives evidence of moving toward the river from time to time.

"Traffic on US-31 at Charlevoix is fairly heavy the year around, but in the summer time is very heavy. The daily average traffic for the year 1940 was 1060 vehicles north, 1010 south, with a probable maximum on Labor Day of 3433 vehicles north, 3271 south. Pine river carries a considerable amount of navigation also. It was necessary for the bridge to open 1375 times in 1940, or an average of almost four times daily. In the month of August, 1940, the bridge opened 378 times, or an average of over 12 times daily.

"It is evident that a narrow, slow swing span which is not even in good mechanical condition, is obsolete in this location. In 1940 a total of 33,293 vehicles were delayed because of bridge openings; 13,210 or a daily average of 426 vehicle delays occurred in August.

"In an effort to improve the traffic conditions both on the highway and Pine river, and to eliminate a structure that requires continual costly maintenance, the state highway department proposes to construct a new double leaf bascule bridge. The proposed bridge consists of an 111-foot bascule span with a 15½-foot pier span and a 41-foot approach span at either end. It provides a 44-foot roadway with a 6-foot walk on each side, and a navigation channel 90 feet wide with an underclearance of 16 feet above low water datum when the bridge is closed.

"Because of the business frontage on Bridge street, only minor grade adjustments are proposed, however, the crown of roadway over the new structure will be approximately 9 inches lower than the crown of roadway over the existing structure and the approach grades will be evened off to smooth vertical curves.

"As a part of this improvement it is intended to widen Bridge street 20 feet on the east side from the south limits of the city property opposite Park avenue to Dixon avenue. This widening will provide a parking lane on either side of the approaches in addition to the four traffic lanes carried across the structure. Because of the widening it will be necessary, of course, to move the centerline of the roadway of the new structure 10 feet east of the centerline of the existing roadway.

Straits of Mackinac Only Congested Point on Lakes

Some drift ice along the shore of Lake Michigan with clear, navigable water from Chicago to the Straits of Mackinac, were reported last Friday by Lieutenant Roger Johnson of the United States Coast Guard air detachment before he left on a survey trip over the Straits and St. Mary's river Friday morning.

Flying the big Grumman amphibian patrol plane back from Chicago yesterday, after it had undergone a thorough overhauling, Lieutenant Johnson said that most of Lake Michigan to the Straits was open to navigation.—Traverse City Record-Eagle.

His work at the local health department will consist chiefly of inspections of dairies, milk plants, schools, resorts, water supplies and any problems of sanitation.

PERIOD FOR TRAINING OF HUNTING DOGS EXTENDED

Extension from April 15 to May 1 of the season for training dogs in the field and for holding field trials was announced today by the state department of conservation. Lateness of the spring and the fact that Easter occurs on the last week-ends of the regular season, as well as requests for permits to train dogs for late events in nearby states, occasioned the change, it was said.

CITY SEEKS PETITIONS BUILD CURB AND GUTTER

Petitions for Work Under WPA Project Required by April 14

Contemplating a city-wide WPA project for construction of curb and gutter and sidewalks, the city council is anxious to receive petitions for such improvements from property owners.

Outlining the project requirements before the council Monday night, City Superintendent Don Herrick stated no action could be taken on petitions received after Monday, April 14, due to the limited time available to prepare project specifications for WPA approval.

The same cost to property owners as assessed last summer, specifically 10c per foot for curb and gutter, will be available again this year. Property owners are urged to prepare and present petitions for such improvements before the April 14 date mentioned above.

CITY AND STATE ELECTION APRIL 7

NO CONTESTS WILL APPEAR ON CITY BALLOT

State Election Is of Major Political Importance; Two Amendments and Non-Partisan Ballots

Next Monday, April 7, brings the biennial state election and the annual general city election.

Voters will be given four ballots, state, city, non-partisan and an amendment ballot with two proposals.

The city ballot will present a slate of uncontested Republican nominees for city and ward offices. In view of the lack of contests in the city election, the state election, from a political standpoint, emerges to the foreground. With eyes on the control of state administrative affairs, both Republican and Democratic leaders are urging selection of their ticket, with particular stress on the important office of state highway commissioner.

The two amendment proposals, if adopted, would regulate petitions proposing changes in the state constitution.

Following are the city, state and non-partisan tickets:

EXPRESS OPTIMISM REGARDING HOTEL PLANS

City Officials Visit Summer Residents on Promotion Trip

Optimism over Charlevoix's prospects of promoting finances for construction of a fire-proof hotel on the Charlevoix Lumber Co. property was expressed before the city council Monday night.

Mayor Robert Bridge, City Clerk Ray S. Hamilton and Earl A. Young, representing the city council and board of commerce on a trip to Florida and mid-west points last week in the interests of the project, outlined their trip in detail. Mayor Bridge's written report, augmented by statements by Mr. Young, told of visits to 50 summer residents who without exception received the proposal with enthusiasm and gave indication of providing substantial financial assistance.

Contacts already made will be followed up immediately with the hope that sufficient pledges will be obtained to get the project under way for completion for the 1942 summer season. As outlined at present, the hotel, annexes and grounds would cost $300,000.

CITY COUNCIL SETS APRIL 7 ELECTION VOTING HOURS

The city council Monday night set the hours for opening and closing polls for the biennial spring election Monday, April 7, from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m.

They tell me the unusually small number of political posters apparent throughout the countryside prior to the approaching April 7th election this year is due to the keen rivalry between workers for the two major political parties. The rivalry is so keen, they say, that when one side puts up its posters, the other side takes them down, and vice versa. Aside from the absence of once familiar street brawls, times haven't changed much, I guess.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

As leading politicos see it, Michigan citizens are concentrating too much attention on Hitler's threatened "blitz" party in England and our entry as a belligerent into the war.

It so happens that an important election is to be held next Monday, April 7.

But to judge from conversation to be heard at dinner tables and in places of business, the Michigan election hasn't been getting the attention it deserves.

Not only that, the international situation and our domestic boom have combined to put legislative problems into temporary eclipse. James Boswell, liberal correspondent for the Detroit Free Press, phrased it this way:

"Michigan's legislature always is conservative, but this year the radicals sing exceptionally small. Advancing prosperity and public preoccupation with war and defense contribute to this state of mind."

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Trench Mouth

An acute, ulcerative infection of the mouth and throat, known as Vincent's angina for the physician who first described it in 1896 and which became so common among the military forces of the World War as to win the label "trench mouth," seems to be due to vitamin deficiency. That, at least, is the conclusion of several British physicians who report remarkable results from the administration of nicotinic acid, one of the components of the Vitamin B complex.

Their work, if confirmed by subsequent research, suggests the possibility of preventing this rather widespread infection by adhering to a diet rich in Vitamin B. Two organisms are found in the mouths of those suffering from this condition. The gums are usually red, sore and bleed easily but the tongue, throat, or tonsils may also be affected. Surface tissue dies, causing bad breath, the lymph nodes become enlarged and fever appears. There is a possibility that, unless energetic measures are taken in severe cases, the culpable organisms may enter the lungs, causing pneumonia.

The British investigators, like others, had noted that trench mouth is frequently, if not always, found associated with pellagra which is known to be caused by deficiency of Vitamin B in the diet. Withholding this vitamin and, particularly, nicotinic acid from the diet of monkeys resulted in the production of experimental trench mouth.

The next step was to ascertain the effect of giving large doses of nicotinic acid to humans suffering from this condition. In four cases under study, the disease disappeared quickly—whether because the acid actually killed the organisms or whether it so far improved the general health as to inhibit their growth.

It now seems quite evident that an adequate daily intake of food known to contain nicotinic acid will prevent trench mouth. Among the excellent sources of this substance there may be listed: liver, lean meat, salmon, whole wheat and yeast. Nearly as rich are such foods as buttermilk, collards, eggs, haddock, green peas, tomatoes and turnip greens.

To those of us busily engaged in knitting socks and sweaters and making garments to be sent overseas to the unfortunates in warring countries it may be of interest to note that one of the main depots in London for the distribution of Red Cross supplies to air raid victims is the lovely town house of the Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States. When war was declared in 1939 Lord Halifax immediately turned this town house, situated at 88 Eaton Square, a very central location, over to the Women's Volunteer Services, which used it as a refugee home. Later it was given over to its present use as main London distribution depot for relief clothing. Though many nearby sections have been razed by bombs up to this date this square has escaped injury. In all likelihood some of the garments made by this very chapter are at this moment awaiting their distribution from this point.

Speaking of garments—All praise is due to the boys and girls of the Walloon Lake Junior Red Cross! Through the help of their teacher, Mrs. Addie March, who taught them to knit, the boys and girls of the 5th through the 8th grades inclusively, have turned in 35 sweaters since October. Every one of the youngsters keeps his or her work in the desk and at every free period will be found busily knitting. (Incidentally the boys turn out just as fine work as the girls). This Junior Red Cross, needless to say, is the most active in the county and much credit must go to them and to Mrs. March. Their's is a record of which to be proud.

Marriage Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Lamb announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret, to Joseph Colby of Warren, on March 15 at Ypsilanti. The couple will make their home in Warren, where Mr. Colby is instructor in the public schools.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

In the city flower contest, the zinnia is running a close second to the petunia. Send in your choice now for our city flower. Because the votes are not coming in as we had hoped they would, we are extending the time another week. Let's all be interested, for most of us have a flower garden and a favorite flower in it. Send in your votes by mail, using the coupon or a postcard if you like, or phone 654, just so we get the votes. We would be glad to hear from more of our summer people. Vote now!

While we are waiting for the results of the contest, let's have a pick-up week.

Clean-up week isn't until the first of May, but pick-up time is now. Walk around your block and look for the old Christmas trees, old bottles and broken glass, cast-off gloves, mittens and rubbers, broken toys, tin cans and messy pasteboard cartons, cigarette and gum wrappers, circulars and much old paper, bones and litter, sticks and stones.

Let's make Charlevoix the Beautiful pick up and keep clean. The city will gladly place trash containers in convenient places if we will use them only for trash picked up.

And that's being good to our lawns too, for now it's time to give the grass a hand. Rake and roll the bumps out and tie up the dogs, and next week we will have an article on Lawn Hints.

I found crocus and snowdrops blooming in my garden March 31, the first spring flowers I had seen. And someone said the garden club didn't garden!

Smelt go up the streams to spawn in late March and April. With waders and hand-nets, the crowd waits for the night run of fish to begin.

Each spring local girls are chosen to reign as "Queens" of the various Smelt Festivals which take place during April.

Tons of smelt are frozen in huge slabs and stored for use as feed on mink and fox farms in Michigan and neighboring states.

LITTLE FISH MAKE A BIG MICHIGAN INDUSTRY

● SMELT are running! Around Escanaba and Menominee, Beulah, Boyne City and other smelt centers, that means busy days and busy nights. Thousands of people join in the activity, netting tons of fish every night.

The annual catch of smelt in Michigan is over 9,000,000 pounds and growing every year. In the Escanaba area alone, it's a $50,000 industry.

Like all fish, smelt are highly perishable, and handling the catch requires lightning communication between packer, shipper and city market. In locating the places where smelt are in demand, speeding up shipments, routing fast orders, modern telephone service helps get the succulent little fish from river to frying-pan in the shortest possible time.

LANSING LETTER

Highway Race

Interest in the election Monday centers on the office of state highway commissioner.

G. Donald Kennedy, Democratic nominee, has enjoyed an advantage over the Republican nominee, Leroy C. Smith, in time for campaigning. Kennedy knew many months prior to the convention that he would be the nominee. Smith did not.

Consequently the Smith campaign was slow to get started. Republicans have been raising an issue of politics in the highway department and emphasizing Smith's 32 years' experience as a highway engineer, while Democrats have plugged consistently and vigorously on a pledge to continue the Van Wagoner policies and on Kennedy's personal knowledge of the job.

The contest has been enlivened somewhat by activity of county road commissioners against Kennedy and in behalf of Smith. County road men have felt for years that the state department was taking over too many roads and spending too much money.

Whoever is your choice, and we hew strictly to a non-partisan line, be sure to vote TWICE—once for the short term, and again for the long term, when you cast your ballot for state highway commissioner.

Control of Board

In order to obtain control of the state administrative board, Democrats would have to put over both Kennedy and Edward McFarland, nominee for state superintendent of public instruction.

Eugene B. Elliott, Republican incumbent, possesses a state-wide reputation as an educator. McFarland, a professor at Wayne university, was chairman of the liquor control commission during the Murphy administration.

Other party nominees are for the state board of agriculture, two to be elected; University of Michigan regents, two to be chosen, and the state board of education, one to be picked.

Forgotten Amendments

In the neglected class are two amendments which will appear on a separate ballot.

The amendments, in brief, are designed to prevent fraud in petitions for referendum and initiative. They would require a person to be a "registered voter" before he could sign a petition, and the secretary of state would be authorized to determine the validity of all signatures.

Judicial Ballot

A separate ballot will also be provided for supreme court judges.

While nominees were selected at party conventions, no party affiliations will appear on the non-partisan ballot. The theory has been that this difference will divorce the supreme court from politics. It also will put another responsibility upon the voter, already burdened by lengthy ballots.

Strike Re-action

Although many labor bills have been introduced by legislators and the administration itself is sponsoring quite a few, little likelihood exists today that any marked changes will be made in our state labor laws during this session.

A bad reaction has set in because of the current wave of industrial strikes, many of which are inter-labor controversies that do not involve hours or wages at all.

Then, too, the workers are enjoying fat pay checks.

If any bills are enacted, the chances are that the occupational disease law will be liberalized and that hours will be reduced for women workers in intrastate commerce. Nothing of an extreme nature is in sight. If what we hear is correct, federal restrictions of wages and hours will not be imposed on retail stores, for example, as an administration bill proposes to do.

Furthermore, it is very probable that the labor mediation act will not be touched. The 30-day "waiting period" continues to receive favorable public opinion, largely because of the public's mounting impatience over delays in national defense production due to labor tie-ups.

Tourist Dollars

Michigan's nearly 800 millions in arms awards are expected to stimulate the tourist industry next summer in northern Michigan and the upper peninsula.

The state itself will spend more money to advertise Michigan's recreational attractions through the four tourist associations.

A legislative enabling act is to be introduced at Lansing this week giving sanction to a $225,000 bond issue, voted last month by Mackinac Island residents, for the purpose of preserving such shrines as the John Jacob Astor house, restoring colonial atmosphere to the business section, and creating new parks and bathing beaches.

AT THE MOVIES

Errol Flynn Leads Action in "Santa Fe Trail"

"Santa Fe Trail," the new Errol Flynn-Olivia de Havilland co-starring picture, which has its premiere local showing April 5 at the Palace Theatre, brings to life some of the most colorful figures of America's history. Dealing with the turbulent days of the era just preceding the Civil War, the story is said to top the thrills of "Dodge City," "Virginia City" and "The Sea Hawk."

Other players who portray real-life characters in the film are Alan Hale, William Lundigan, Van Heflin, Guian Williams, Gene Reynolds and Henry O'Neill. Olivia de Havilland is seen as a femlaine "Kit Carson," who captures the heart of young Jeb Stuart. Michael Curtiz directed from Robert Buckner's story.

"Murder Over New York" Exciting Chan Mystery

Here's the picture Charlie Chan fans have been waiting for—the case of the stratosphere bomber! It's the latest mystery hit from 20th Century-Fox, "Murder Over New York" and comes April 8-9 to the Palace Theatre, with Sidney Toler again portraying the famed oriental sleuth.

Charlie battles death-dealing spies high in the skies over America's greatest city in "Murder Over New York" and in one of the screen's most unusual climaxes, Chan solves a diabolical plot to sabotage a stratosphere bomber. Called by previewers "the strongest of the Chan pictures," "Murder Over New York" is said to give Toler not only his ablest supporting cast but the best story he's ever had. Among the prominent players in the cast of the picture are Marjorie Weaver, Robert Lowery and Ricardo Cortez.

Carol Landis Star in "Road Show"

Few of the screen's so-called glamour girls lead such an active, slam-bang, rough-and-tumble film life as Carole Landis, blonde film star.

Her current picture, "Road Show," directed by Hal Roach and co-starring Miss Landis, John Hubbard and Adolphe Menjou, opening April 10 at the Palace Theatre, makes even more demands on her athletic ability. She takes the role of a carnival aerialist, and, as usual, does it without benefit of a double, performing high rope tricks many feet above the stage.

"Escape to Glory"

Drama . . . with the power of plunging pistons! Action . . . with the speed of flashing bullets! Romance . . . with the throb of an all-conquering love! Every second fraught with terror! Every scene charged with thrills! Every kiss stalked by danger!

Every action-picture you ever dreamed of now rolled into the floating inferno of passion . . . "Escape To Glory," Columbia's nerve-lashing drama with Pat O'Brien and Constance Bennett at the Palace Theatre on April 10-11, is a thrill-laden story of adventure . . . of love and cowardice . . . glory and vengeance . . . disaster and escape!

"Escape To Glory," includes in its cast, in addition to the co-stars, such players as John Halliday, Melville Cooper, Alan Baxter and Marjorie Gateson. John Brahm directed, from a screenplay by P. J. Wolfson.

LEROY C. SMITH
Republican Nominee
State Highway Commissioner

To the Voter Everywhere, Mich.

REPUBLICAN Monday (X) April 7th

EUGENE B. ELLIOTT
Republican Nominee
Superintendent of Public Instruction

Vote for Smith twice, short term and long term.

(Reading time: 45 seconds)

Citizens of Michigan:

Today's critical times demand the highest qualified public servants.

In state convention, 2106 Republican delegates chose unanimously for state offices men of outstanding ability and experience.

You have an unusual opportunity Monday, April 7. You will decide by your vote whether YOU want politics in your schools and your highways.

Elect LEROY C. SMITH state highway commissioner. He served NINE YEARS as deputy commissioner and engineer; TWENTY-THREE YEARS as Wayne county road engineer. Here is a nationally-known road builder. He pioneered the first national defense type roads in Michigan. He originated the idea of tourist park facilities in Michigan.

A native of Mecosta county and former resident of Benzie county, Smith knows the needs of local government—he's tops in his field!

Re-elect EUGENE B. ELLIOTT state superintendent of public instruction. He will continue to keep schools out of politics. Here is an able public servant who knows Michigan's educational problems. He, also, is tops in his field!

Other Republican nominees, whose names and pictures appear below, join in this appeal: "For Good Government in Michigan, Vote Republican on Monday, April 7."

And then some people would kick because a couple of our city officials who donated their own time to make a trip to Florida and other mid-west points in an effort to raise finances for a new hotel which we so sorely need will get their expenses paid. Shame on them!

That the sight of deer in the wild state is an ever-popular attraction is attested by the number of people who drive to the vicinity of Grayling to watch deer come out to feed racks provided by the conservation department. Was one of the curious last Sunday myself and saw hundreds of others doing likewise. Intended to look over a favorite trout fishing spot located back in the woods in that vicinity, too, but a good three feet of snow discouraged any exploration.

Interpretation—

"What about that sign outside your shop saying 'money returned if not satisfied?'" protested the disgruntled customer.

"Ah," said the shopkeeper, "I am satisfied with your money."

I can get enough laughs to last a week every Tuesday night from the Fibber McGee and Mollie radio program when things come crashing down out of that hall closet. Have heard lots of other people say the same thing, too. Personally, I can't think of anything funnier unless it would be a movie where the actors throw cream pie or whipped marshmallow into each other's faces.

The smelt run is on in the Jordan river, I'm told, and Saturday is the big day of Boyne City's annual smelt jamboree. If you're not interested in dipping smelt, it's fun to watch how the other half of humanity acts.

Saw John Struthers the other day and he told me he'd sold that fine farm of his out in Hayes township. Said he figured on buying a home in town and was just going to sort of puddle around henceforth. Seems only right and proper that John should take things a little easy after the years of hard work he's put in. He set a mark those boys of his who bought the farm will have to hustle to equal, too!

"Since the existing bridge is the only means of carrying vehicular traffic over the Pine river it will be necessary to provide a temporary bridge during the construction period. The proposed temporary structure will be located approximately 250 feet east of the highway and will include a movable span pivoted at one end and supported while swinging on a steel pontoon at the other end. It will provide a 20-foot roadway and a 75-foot clear navigation channel. In the closed position the navigation clearances will be 35 feet horizontal and 18 feet vertical. The temporary detour will turn right off of Bridge street on the existing road 120 feet south of the bridge thence left on a curve on to the temporary bridge. From the north end of the temporary bridge the detour will run a little east of north to Nichols street, thence north to Petoskey avenue.

"The estimated cost of the structure is $300,000.00, of the temporary bridge and detour is $50,000.00 and of the approaches is $50,000.00. Thus the total estimated cost of the project exclusive of right of way is $400,000.00."

Mr. Millard explained that plans had been completed and necessary authorization obtained to build the bridge. Only right-of-way details remained to be finished. He was unable to state when work on the project would be started.

T. M. T. M. CLUB DANCE AT GYM FRIDAY EVENING

MARGUERITE GALLAGHER AND GREGG SMITH WED AT CEREMONY THURSDAY

Miss Marguerite Gallagher of Lansing, daughter of Mrs. Andrew Gallagher and the late Andrew Gallagher of St. James, was united in marriage to Ensign Gregg Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Smith of Boyne City, at a nuptial mass at St. Mary's church at 9:00 o'clock Thursday morning, March 27. Fr. Francis Kupinski of St. Matthew's church, Boyne City, officiated.

Pink roses and ferns decorated the altar and sanctuary. Accompanied by Mrs. Clinton Cooper at the organ, Miss Mary Margaret Orlowski sang "Just for Today," "O, Lord, I Am Not Worthy," and "Ave Maria."

Given in marriage by her brother, Emerald Gallagher, the bride was gowned in traditional white satin made princess style, with long sleeves and train. Her fingertip-length veil of tulle and pointed lace was held in place by a tiara of pearls. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies. Mrs. Sadie McDonough, her only attendant, wore a full-skirted gown of pink crepe, with a small tiara of pink flowers, and an arm bouquet of pink and orchid snapdragons. The groom wore the full-dress uniform of an ensign in the United States Navy. His best man was Joseph McNamee of Boyne City. Franklin Left was usher.

Breakfast was served at the Tower Hotel for the bridal party and their immediate families. The bride cut the first piece of her six-tiered wedding cake with the groom's sword, in keeping with Navy tradition.

The home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McDonald, was open in the afternoon for a reception for a hundred guests. Ferns and pastel snapdragons made a lovely setting for the reception.

The couple left Friday for Chicago, and from there Ensign Smith, officer on the U.S.S. Sepulga, left Sunday for San Diego, Calif., naval base. Mrs. Smith returned to her employment in Lansing for a short time, and will soon join her husband at San Diego.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Smith, Harold Leonard, and Mr. and Mrs. John Kujawski, of Boyne City.

TWO STATE RACES REMAIN IN DOUBT

EDUCATION BOARD, REGENCY CONTESTS UNDECIDED

G. Donald Kennedy Defeats Leroy C. Smith for Highway Commissioner; Elliott Retained

Nearly complete unofficial returns from Monday's general election made certain the election of G. Donald Kennedy, Democratic state highway commissioner, and the re-election of Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, Republican, state superintendent of public instruction.

Only two contests remained in doubt, those of member of the state board of education, and for one of two seats on the board of regents of the University of Michigan.

Miss Frances Comfort of Detroit held an inconclusive margin of fewer than 3,000 votes over Wynand Wichers of Holland, the Republican incumbent, for the board of education seat. With most missing precincts in Republican out-state counties, the Democratic woman candidate's lead is in danger.

Re-election of Franklin M. Cook, Democratic member of the state board of regents, was certain, but Charles F. Hemans of Lansing, another Democratic incumbent, trailed the two Republicans, Sen. Earl E. Burhans of Paw Paw and Alfred B. Connable of Ann Arbor, by inconclusive margins.

Clark L. Brody, Lansing, and William H. Berkey, Cassapolis, Republican members of the state board of agriculture, held leads assuring re-election over Benjamin H. Halstead, Petoskey, and Charles F. Klump, Enst Tuwas, Democrats.

Justices George E. Bushnell of Highland Park and Edward M. Sharpe, Bay City, won easily over John M. Dunham, Grand Rapids and George A. Cram, Pontiac, in the non-partisan judicial election.

Judge Payn C. Gilbert of Traverse City was re-elected 13th judicial circuit judge without opposition.

CHARLEVOIX BANKS TO HOLD VISITORS NIGHT

Functions of Institutions to Be Explained Evening April 17th

Banking in Michigan is primarily a small town business. Results of a recent survey reveal that 297 of Michigan's 466 state and national banks and trust companies were located in towns with population of less than 5,000.

Mindful of the important part that the small town bank plays in the state banking picture, the Michigan Bankers association has announced "Know Your Bank Week" which was proclaimed by Governar Murray D. Van Wagoner to be April 14-19, inclusive.

During this week Michigan banks and trust companies will open their doors to the general adult population for the express purpose of better acquainting them with the operations of the bank from behind the scenes. The high spot of the week will be reached Thursday evening, April 17th, when "Open House" night will be observed by most Michigan banks. While no business will be transacted Thursday evening, the operations of the bank will be shown.

It has also been customary for all business places to close from 1 to 3 in the afternoon, giving everyone in store and office an opportunity to attend this service if they so desire.

TWO NEW MEMBERS FOR SUPERVISORS

MRS. AGNES LORCH SLIP WINNER AT BOYNE CITY

Earl Boyle New Peaine Township Representative; Nearly All Incumbents Weathered Opposition

Two new supervisors will be seated at the organization meeting of the Charlevoix county board of supervisors convening here Tuesday, April 9th.

Mrs. Agnes Lorch, former veteran supervisor of Boyne City first ward and at one time the board's only woman member, defeated Roy Caldwell, incumbent, on slips at Monday's election. Caldwell had won the primary nomination over Mrs. Lorch by a small margin. Earl Boyle succeeds William M. Greene as Peaine township supervisor.

The remaining 23 members will be the same as last year, in many instances, however, retaining office over opposition. Probably in no recent year has there been as many opposed for re-election to supervisorships, and numerous other veteran officers weathered opposition. In Charlevoix township, Oscar Stroud won by a margin of 16 votes over R. C. Korth, whom he defeated last year.

Supervisors retained were: Angus L. Fochtman, Arthur Bergeon and C. B. Meggison in Charlevoix; James R. Dean, John H. Parker and Harold Saffron in Boyne City; William F. Bashaw, Mike Barnett and Barney Milstein in East Jordan; Joe Topolinski in Boyne Valley; John Taylor in Bay; Howard Wood in Chandler; Oscar Stroud in Charlevoix township; Clyde Clute in Evangeline; Wm. M. Sanderson in Eveline; Howard C. Stephens in Hayes; Martin Duff in Hudson; A. J. Bolhuis in Marion; Daniel Buckley in Melrose; Orton VanDusen in Norwood; Roland J. McCann in St. James; Calvin J. Bennett in South Arm; Claude Pearsall in Wilson.

Next Tuesday's board meeting will be for the purpose of organization, naming of chairman and committees. James R. Dean of Boyne City is the present chairman.

SALE THOMSON YACHT SYLVIA IS COMPLETED

Outfitting for Delivery to British Interests Is Under Way

Workmen under the direction of Roy Ranger started Monday outfitting the Logan Thomson yacht Sylvia for delivery at New York City to British interests.

Sale of the 199-foot pleasure craft to the British Purchasing Commission was completed late last week, Mr. Ranger stated. The craft will be taken under command soon by Capt. T. R. Morrison, former skipper, and at least part of the officers and crew that brought the ship here from Florida three years ago. Upon completion of outfitting, delivery will be made to British representatives at New York.

The yacht, built in 1930 in Bath, Me., at a cost of $750,000, had made Charlevoix its home port. The boat had been out of commission three years. The luxurious furnishings, which made it one of the finest pleasure craft on fresh water, were retained by the former owner, it is understood.

KNOW MICHIGAN PLAN UNDER WAY

PERIOD OF MAY 18 TO 24 SET FOR OBSERVANCE

George R. Hemingway, Boyne City, on General Committee; C. S. Webster County Chairman

The 1941 Know Michigan observance has been set for the week of May 18 to 24.

George R. Hemingway of Boyne City has been named a member of the general committee and Clair S. Webster of Charlevoix will serve again this year as county chairman.

Members of the county committees are at work carefully listing details of the scenic, historic and recreational resources of their communities. The materials gathered in this check-up will be published by the West Michigan Tourist & Resort Association as a handy reference book for Michigan people in guiding the tourists who visit Michigan.

Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner has proclaimed the week of May 18 to 24 to be Know Michigan Tourist Week in 1941 and urgently recommends that "all citizens of Michigan dedicate themselves to the study and understanding of the problems and prospects of the tourist industry during this week."

"The resort business," said Governor Van Wagoner in the proclamation, "more than any other single factor, is responsible for the economic rehabilitation of the cut-over pine lands of the north. Although tremendous strides have been made during the past quarter of a century, the surface has been only scratched in its possibilities."

Observance of the week also calls for a tour of newspapermen during the week to see what West Michigan has to offer the tourist, the tour to end with a round-up dinner in Grand Rapids on May 23 when the newsmen will report to the people of western Michigan on the things they have seen. The West Michigan Queens will be guests of honor at this dinner.

The glee clubs and choruses will sing individually during the afternoon, with a mass concert in the evening. The complete program will be announced later.

The x-ray equipment, which is housed in a large truck, is capable of doing 200 x-rays per day, Mrs. Hallett said and it is expected that all youth employees in this region will be taken care of during the one day that the unit will be in Petoskey.

PYTHIAN ENTERTAINMENT SOON

STAGE "WOMANLESS WEDDING" APRIL 24 AND 25

Benefit Production to Raise Funds for Scholarship Awards to CHS Honor Students

Much interest is being created over a great stunt which is to take place here April 24 and 25. It is to be a "Womanless Wedding." Not a woman in it—all men!

Can you imagine our business men, by magic touch of lipstick, rouge and eye-brow pencil, suddenly becoming beautiful girls, charming debutantes, stately matrons and vamping flappers? The only way to believe it is to see it.

A director of the Sympson Levie Producing company, of Jackson, Michigan, will arrive April 13 to direct that popular entertainment. Pine Lake Lodge, Knights of Pythias, is sponsoring the entertainment to raise funds for scholarship awards.

The "Womanless Wedding" is being staged throughout this region this season by the company, and glowing reports come from other towns that packed houses greeted the performance both nights. In Howell, over 1800 people saw the play.

It is a clean, wholesome bit of old-fashioned humor that makes the old laugh young again and the young laugh until their sides ache.

Many beautiful costumes will be worn by local men, so plan to see the funniest thing ever witnessed in Charlevoix.

There will be no candy Easter eggs for children of Britain this year. The limitation on supplies of sugar and materials used in chocolate manufacture prohibits them. LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

The CIO sit-down strike at the Ford Motor company River Rouge plant and other labor disputes that endanger national defense may provoke a back-fire at Lansing.

A bill has been introduced in the house of representatives to double the present 30-day "waiting period" before a strike could be called in an arms industry.

The sponsors believe that conciliation efforts by national and state labor mediation boards would iron out differences between workers and management, while vital defense supplies were being produced during the two month interim.

While the sit-down at River Rouge ignored even the existing 30-day strike notice requirement of the state government, the new bill is a "straw in the wind" of the mounting temper of the legislature to halt stoppage of national defense production. Frequently heard is one word: "sabotage."

GOOD NEWS FOR FARMERS

It's Pickle Cootracting Time—and our 1941 contracts are Good News to every farmer this year. THESE CONTRACTS ARE DIFFERENT AND FAR BETTER, THAN IN ANY PREVIOUS YEAR—

At our 6 Southern Stations (Boyne City, East Jordan, Ellsworth, Mancelona, Charlevoix and Central Lake) we are offering a most liberal and special contract—NO SORTING OF NUBBS FROM STRAIGHTS. (Our northern stations will still operate this year on the old graded contracts.)

You sort no Nubbs from Straights, this year:

—The same price for Small Nubbs as for Small Straights,—and all these can be brought in together, and will be weighed in together.

—The same price for Large Nubbs as for Large Straights,—and all these can be brought in together, and will be weighed together.

—We have also lowered the count on the Smalls,—so you need not pick so many small pickles this year.

—We have also increased the contract-length of the Large, up to 5½ inches this year.

—But most of all, we will take in large nubbs, up to 5¼ inches, at the same high price as the large straights,—together.

1941 Prices at Salting Houses, on Mixed Pickles
SMALL GRADE (Nubbs and Straights up to 3¼ in.)—$2.00 Cwt.
LARGE GRADE (Nubbs and Straights up to 5¼ in.)— .90 Cwt.

This is tha Highest-Price Contract we have ever been able to offer.

Think Of It:—Small Nubbs go in at $2.00 this year (last year they were 75c). And Large Nubbs up to 5¼ in. at 90c this year—(this is 3 times last season's price on these Nubbs).

A few recent cash yields, per acre, from Pickles:

EXTRA SUGAR: The same as in recent years, growers will again receive 10c extra, in free sugar, on their 4th, 8th, 12th and 16th checks from acreages of ½ acre or more. (Also, those contracting before April 15 receive an added 25c in sugar, free, at time of 4th delivery. DON'T MISS THIS.)

In 1940, we distributed a total of almost $600.00 worth of sugar to our Pickle Growers, FREE, —and it was so welcome in every home.

Many farmers have already contracted at all stations. Others are writing in now. A postal card will do. Just tell us how much acreage you want (½ acre or 1 acre or 2 acres or more) and at which of the above stations you prefer delivering,—and we'll mail contract same day. We're taking a large acreage, but at these prices and no sorting of nubbs from straights this year, we urge getting contracts without delay.

DEADLINE ON AAA SIGN-UP IS MAY 1

EXPECT GREATER COOPERATION THIS YEAR

Farmers Not Already Signed Requested to Contact Committeemen or Call at AAA Office

With May 1 the last day for signing up, farmers who wish to participate in the AAA farm program this year should get in touch with either their community committeeman or the county office, at once, according to a statement made by Walter H. Henley, county AAA chairman.

Community committeemen have been making the annual farm canvass during the past few weeks, Mr. Henley said, in which they call on all farmers in their community to explain the farm plan, a form application showing the acreage allotments for the farm and the estimated payments which can be earned for complying with the program provisions. The canvass is a service, he added, and it is not compulsory for the farmer to receive a call from the committeeman in order to be eligible for signing a farm plan for participation in the program. Sometimes the farmer is not at home when the AAA representative calls, he explained, but this does not affect his chances in any way for signing up. All that is necessary for those who have been missed is to call at the county office in Boyne City.

Based on present figures, sign-up this year will exceed that of a year ago, Mr. Henley said. He attributed the increase in participation partly to the conservation materials program, and partly to the growing realization among farmers that some form of action agency is necessary to control production and marketing.

Under the conservation materials section of the AAA farmers can get fertilizers and lime or marl without any outlay of cash, the cost of the materials being charged against their ACP check next fall. They can get material in amounts up to 70 per cent of their estimated payment. Fertilizers available are phosphate and potash and must be used on non-depleting crops. This part of the program is proving popular with farmers, because they can improve their land without having to lay out the cash at a time when other farm expenses are high.

SPRING FARM BURNING MENACE TO WILD GAME

Urge Farmers Use Precaution As a Means of Protection

Rabbits already are using ground nests for their spring litters and it won't be long until pheasants, Hungarian partridge and ground nesting songbirds begin their spring housekeeping.

These notes of spring bring with them a suggestion from R. G. Hill, in charge of farm game extension at Michigan State College, to curtail grass and marsh burning and other types of destructive outdoor fires if wild life is to have a proper chance to thrive and increase.

Sportsmen and farmers interested in wild life preservation will refrain from unnecessary burning, says Hill. The practice is not consistent, anyway, with good farm management, as it destroys humus in the soil, reduces new growth of trees and shrubs and often destroys fencing and utility poles.

Even the dog population ought to feel some restraint imposed by owners, according to Hill's suggestions. Dogs permitted to run at large will reduce the population of young birds and rabbits.

Pasture improvement is not gained by burning off topgrowth. The idea that spring is definitely linked with clennup jobs of firing meadows and swales is a holdover from pioneer days, according to Hill, and does not find support by those veised in agriculture.

NYA EXHIBIT WILL BE HELD AT TRAVERSE CITY

Public Invited April 17-19 to Inspect New Area Office and Work

In order to avail the public of an opportunity to visit the new area offices and to view at first hand the work being done by National Youth Administration employees, an open house and exhibit will be held in the recently established area headquarters on Front street, in Traverse City, on April 17, 18 and 19, it was announced today by Lela Hallett, local NYA supervisor.

The exhibit will cover all types of work now being done by youth currently employed through NYA channels. Examples of metal-working, wood-working, sewing, weaving, cooking and art work will be on display while other work-experience projects such as clerical, stenography and library work will be pictorially and graphically presented.

NYA supervisors from the twenty-one northern Michigan counties comprising area one will be present to answer questions regarding their work and to guide visitors around the building. Mrs. Hallett said that Charlevoix county would be well represented at the exhibit with articles made on NYA projects in this region, and extended an invitation to all interested persons to attend the open house and exhibit.

NEW HIGHWAY MAPS ARE PLACED IN CIRCULATION

Supply at Courier Office Free to Those Making Application

Distribution of 200,000 copies of the newly revised summer highway map, which emphasizes Michigan's importance as "the playground of the nation," was started this week by the state highway department.

The front cover is illustrated by a natural color photograph of a scenic shoreline highway, while the reverse side contains Michigan tourist attractions in picture-form.

The map side contains the latest corrections on the trunkline highway system, together with a mileage table, individual maps of the larger Michigan cities, the state ferry schedule, and a list of the state game areas, national and state forests.

Index to cities and villages includes 1940 census figures. Because of popular demand, construction plans of the roadside picnic tables utilized by the state highway department are included on the map.

Copies of the map may be obtained free of charge at this office.

NUMEROUS COMMUNITIES HAVE SMELT JAMBOREES

April Calendar Brings Events In Several Northern Cities

While Boyne City has just wound up its scheduled smelt festival, most other smelt-conscious communities are delaying their celebrations to later dates than usual because cold weather had retarded the beginning of the smelt spawning runs.

Jamborees are to be held at Menominee-Marinette April 16-19, at Escanaba April 17-19, and at Newberry and St. Ignace April 19. Smelt runs are expected also at Beulah, Alpena and Tawas City.

Runs this season are being watched by men of the conservation department's fish division particularly for evidence that the smelt may be reaching and passing the peak of their abundance.

After your lawn has been thoroughly raked to remove dead leaves and debris, the next step is the application of the right grass food. From recent experience we know it is best to do this even if the ground is still frozen. As soon as the grass starts growing the food becomes available, thereby giving the grass an extra push ahead of crab grass and other weeds which do not start until late spring. If fertilizer is put on while the weather is still quite cool, there is no danger of burning even though it is not washed or brushed in. Early feeding was formerly discouraged because it was supposed that there was considerable loss of food elements from washing away in heavy spring rains. It now appears that this loss is negligible.

Seed and feed the lawn regularly to maintain turf. Seed should be used to replace dead plants and cover bare areas, while food is needed to nourish and strengthen the live grass plants. Regular feeding makes grass plants sturdier and more aggressive, enabling them to crowd out the weeds. Frequent mowing is more favorable to grass than to weeds, also.

Seeding should follow the fertilizer application, unless it has already been done. Rake seed in lightly or cover it with a quarter-inch of good weed-free soil applied as a top dressing. This will be beneficial to established plants as well as the seed.

"What You and I Need Most" is the title of an exceptionally inspiring article by Arthur H. Compton, famous scientist and Nobel Prize winner. If you're one of those people who believe that science and religion have nothing in common, be sure to read this timely sermon in which Mr. Compton shows that without religion, science as we know it today could not exist. LANSING LETTER

The administration's labor program may be scuttled in the rush.

Irony exists in this fact: Only a minority of Michigan union workers have ignored public opinion, as typified by enactment of the lend-lease bill; in the majority of Michigan plants, union men are working without interruption.

Home Defense

The CIO sit-down (an illegal act, so declared by the United States Supreme court) exposed a sorry lack of home defense protection in Michigan.

As in Wisconsin where rioting workers at the Allis-Chalmers plant successfully defied law enforcement officers and the governor did not have even one troop of guardsmen available, Michigan found itself short of trained men and equipment for riot service.

Remaining in Michigan were three national guard regiments, all artillery, under command of Brig. Gen. Joseph H. Lewis. They were due to be inducted into federal duty April 7th.

Both the administration and the legislature have been lukewarm to pleas of Col. Harold Furlong, director of the Michigan national defense council, for a $500,000 appropriation to make possible 7,000 troopsmen.

The sit-down revival prodded Lansing into action.

Col. E. M. Rosecrans, state adjutant general, quickly found support for his plans to recruit and equip a home force of 3,500 men. State prison industries are to manufacture uniforms of forest green color. Troops of 1,500 men have been authorized to date in eight Michigan cities: Detroit, Grand Rapids, Flint, Kalamazoo, Pontiac, Saginaw, Port Huron and Ypsilanti.

These men would be available to suppress riots or unlawful assemblies. (Only 200 troopers of the state police can be mobilized to handle a strike situation; the total enrollment is 465.)

Sabotage?

For many months it has been known at state police headquarters that the United States' participation in World War II would be preceded, and also followed, by deliberate sabotage of vital arms production.

Lieut. Harold Mulbar, director of the so-called "anti-fifth column" division, has forecast that Nazi and Communists would seek to foment trouble in Michigan industrial plants. The Nazi are said to be well organized in the Detroit area.

In key centers where assembly line methods are employed, it is comparatively easy for a few radicals to effect virtual sabotage. Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen, "Merry-Go-Round" writers, observed from Washington: "Sometimes this (stoppage) happens through strikes, sometimes through slowing-up and sabotage so deliberate that behind it must lurk a definite attempt by Communists to hold back national defense."

A few weeks ago at Fort Custer, near Battle Creek, an entire army division completed a military review in only 45 minutes. Men on motorized equipment rolled by the reviewing stand at a speed of 40 miles an hour.

In the parade were "blitz buggies," or "jeeps," which are being manufactured at the Ford plant involved last week by the CIO sit-down.

Because Hitler's blitz success has been due to a combination of superior mechanical strength (airplanes, tanks, etc.) and very skillful propaganda, it is no understatement of fact to say that today's military front lines includes both the worker in an industrial factory and the selectee service soldier in an army camp.

One difference is their rate of pay. The automobile worker receives the highest average wage of any industry in the United States. During the 1937 sit-down epidemic he received an average of 88.5 cents an hour, compared with 69.3 cents an hour in 25 major American industries, and 1941 wages are even higher.

But the selective service soldier (who incidentally must be in top physical condition) gets $21 a month—less than a dollar a day—or about 12 cents an hour!

It was this obvious injustice that prompted the American Legion, following World War I, to advocate conception of both workers and soldiers as a remedy for war-time "profiteering."

Re-action

As at the Allis Chalmers plant in Milwaukee, the CIO sit-down at the Ford plant was precipitated last week by petty causes.

CIO workers at River Rouge objected to the company's firing of four employees.

The International Harvester plant strike in Chicago was finally broken up when AFL members forced CIO picket lines with the aid of 1,500 Chicago police.

Because of minority union conflicts such as these public opinion has been reacting strongly against labor in general. This fact is sensed by state officials and legislative leaders here at Lansing. Restrictive measures, instead of benefits may be the penalty.

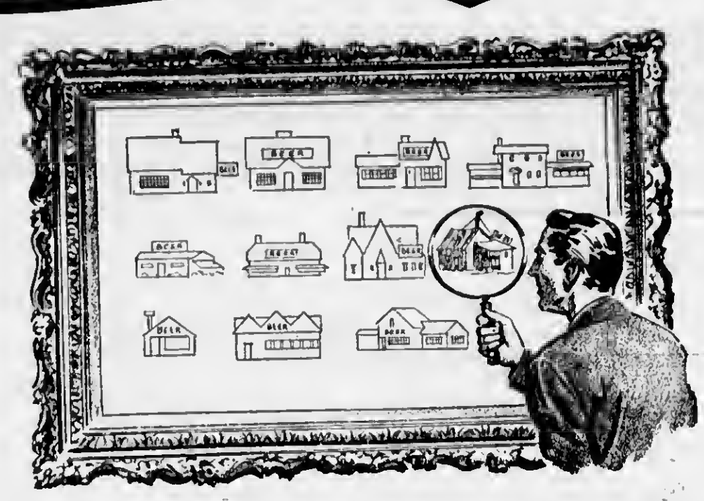
THE RECORD .... Facts That Concern You — No. 26 of a Series



ARE YOU SEEING ONLY PART OF THE PICTURE?

The great majority of beer retail establishments are clean wholesome places.

Yet it is the once-in-a-while exception—the anti-social, law-violating tavern that everybody notices.

Such undesirable retailers give beer a bad name it doesn't deserve. Furthermore, by arousing public indignation, retailing abuses endanger your right to enjoy good beer, the beverage of moderation. They also endanger the benefits that beer has brought to Michigan 58,312 persons employed since re-legalization, an annual payroll of $58,300,740 and $4,439,995.07 taxes paid last year.

While it is the brewers' responsibility to brew good beer and the retailers' responsibility to sell it under wholesome conditions, nevertheless the brewing industry wants anti-social retailing eliminated entirely.

You can help us by (1) patronizing only the legal and reputable places where beer is sold and (2) by reporting any law violations you may observe to the duly constituted law enforcement authorities.

Five veterans from last year's baseball team are available. They were Don Carey, pitcher; Curl Rowe, catcher; Billy Gengle, Keith Ager and Robert Vratanina. Eighteen in all reported for practice. SEEKING LOCATION FOR DRAMA SCHOOL

CHICAGO MUMMERS THEATER ORGANIZATION VISITS HERE

Summer School for Stage and Screen Training Would Compare to Famous Interlochen Camp

Negotiations have been inaugurnted by the Chicago Mummers Theater an organization of eminent stage and radio stars, to locate a summer drnma school in Charlevoix.

Investigation of The Inn hotel to house the theater group, and The Inn garage to serve as a theater, has been made. The organization, which has operated seven years in Chicago, is making its first effort toward organization of a summer school which would compnre in drama as the Interlochen camp does in music.

An initial group of pupils would be enlarged to 25 or more, it is understood. Six plays would be produced during the season with one outstanding star of stage or screen taking part each week.

Visiting Chnrlevoix in the interests of the project last week, was John Goldsworthy, a member of the organization, who perhaps is best identified as a star of the Captain Midnight program broadcast regularly over radio station WGN. Other members of the organization are Ruth Elma Stevens, Luise Barkley and Jeanne Dion, radio stars of note.

While no definite announcement has been received regarding progress of the plan, the board of commerce is netively interested and is lending every possible support.

SMELT "RUNNING" HEAVY IN ALL COUNTY STREAMS

Warm Weather Brought Catches to Peak Within Past Week

Warm weather, causing heavy thaw of swamp snow and higher water temperatures, brought smelt "runs" into streams and rivers emptying into Lake Charlevoix to a penk within the pnst week.

Heavy catches, interrupted only by Sundny's heavy rain, have been reported from Boyne and Jordnn rivers, Horton creek, Loeb creek and other smaller streams, since the middle of last week. Boyne river produced smelt "by the tub-full" Saturday night nnd almost equally heavy catches were reported made at Loeb creek.

It is expected the "runs" will continue for another week or ten days, depending upon weather conditions.

CAST REHEARSING FOR K. OF P. PLAY

PRESENT "WOMANLESS WEDDING" APRIL 24-25

Seventy Local Mon In Cast of Entertainment Designod to Raise Scholarship Award Funds

The roars of laughter heard along the main streets of Charlevoix these days can be traced to the seventy prominent local men who are rehearsing for the "Womanless Wedding." The comedy will be presented next week Thursday and Friday nights, April 24th and 25th at the high school auditorium. It is sponsored by Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias.

According to the cast, the farce is a merry hodge-podge of screwy skits, bass-voiced beauties and goofey comedy. It features seventy Charlevoix doctors, lnwyers, business men and teachers, not solving world problems, but holding forth as maslers of mirth.

Elaborate makeups and costumes are being planned, as on this occasion clothes will make the man—a woman. Stream-lined gowns and elaborate hair-do's will transform stalwart males into silken sirens, or dimpled darlings.

Music will also play an important part in the production, and n number of the actors are preparing vocal numbers.

Miss Jaymie Hicks has arrived to conduct tryouts and rehearsals. Players are constantly being added to the cast, but the latest bulletin from the talent-scouts listed the following characters:

Bride, Harold Miller; Groom, Walter Bergeon, Bride's Mother, Fay Bradley; Uncle from Ellsworth, O. P. North; Duke of Windsor, LeRoy Zelley; Bahy Sister, Charles Marshall; Henpecked Husband, Orm Bergeon; His Devoted Wife, Clarence Heise; Mae West, Norman Ance; Little Twin Sisters, Ronald Fnirbanks and Louis Shapton; Pat O'Flannegan, Bud Gill; Rosie O'Grady, Cliff Gregory; Susie, Grover Geneit; Sally, James Hiller; Gerry, Harrison Bedford; Jennie, Lowell Baird; Charlie Chaplin, Ray Hnmilton; Peggy O'Neil, E. If you want to find who won the election, page n Solomon.

Michigan's hallyhooed bipartisan government wasn't changed much by the popular vote. That state administrative board, about which the politicinns fussed nnd fumed, remains the snme:

Four Republicans — Vernon J. Brown, Eugene B. Elliott, Harry F. Kelly nnd Herbert K. Rushton.

Four Democrats—Murray D. Van Wagoner Frank Murphy, Theodore I. Fry and G. Donald Kennedy.

Two state administrative offices were at stake. Democrat Kennedy rolled up a plurality of about 48,000 while Republican Elliott triumphed by 38,000. It was just another way of saying that Michigan, perhaps more so than the average mid-west state, has enough independent-minded citizens to swing political fates either way nt any election.

It again emphasized the record. No governor has succeeded himself during the pnst decade. Democrat has

It's Action All the Way With Mike Curtiz!

According to Michael Curtiz, the most difficult picture he ever directed is "The Sea Wolf," the film co-staring Edward G. Robinson, Ida Lupino and John Garfield, and opening April 19 at the Palace.

In most pictures, he explains, there are a certain number of trying scenes but these are relieved by ordinary ones where characters simply move about and speak lines.

"The Sea Wolf" he says, "had not one easy scene. There were collisions, fights, storms and special effects from start to finish.

"Nearly the entire picture was on the water, where we needed fog, spray and wind. Much of it was actually in water. I mean the camera was in water, the actors, the workers and I myself."

Picture Marks Debut of New Acting "Find"

One of the brightest prospects for screen stardom in 1941 makes its motion picture debut in "Blonde Inspiration," opening Tuesday, April 22 at the Palace Theater for an engagement of two days. The candidate for stellar honors is Flag, a white-tailed deer brought to Hollywood from Virginia to play the title role in "The Yearling," soon to be produced by M-G-M.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

By Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District Michigan

Some insight of the incompetence and inefficiency of government agencies was presented for the information and guidance of congress recently by Congressman Albert Engel, who represents Michigan's 9th district. His report covered the cost of constructing 23 army cantonments, authorized last fall when the administration made preparations for the training of a large conscript army. The congress appropriated close to a half billion dollars for the work, and later was called upon for a deficiency appropriation of $338,500,000, an increase of over 70 per cent.

That was the signal for the Michigan congressman to go to work. As a self-appointed one-man committee, he spent 19 days visiting the various camps, starting his day at 6 in the morning, so that he might drive into the construction project with the working crews. In this manner he entered without showing his pass, his presence in the camp unannounced. The results of his investigation produced some startling facts which he presented for the guidance of the congress, and which, regardless of action taken, is expected to result in some changes which should save the taxpayers the burden of at least a part of the waste of public funds.

Site Below Sea Level

Mr. Engel's report to congress covers more information than can be reproduced here, but some extracts will give the reader an idea of the waste and inefficiency.

At Camp Blanding, Florida, it was found that 40 per cent of the building site was 10 to 45 feet below the level of nearby Lake Kingsley, necessitating the removal of 2,000,000 cubic yards of earth; including 630,000 cubic yards of muck which had to be replaced with sand. This alone, according to testimony of one army officer, increased the cost of construction by at least $5,000,000.

Crowding the job, with overtime pay for workers, resulted in the additional expenditure of several million dollars on the labor costs.

At Camp Mende, Md., not far from Washington, the evidences of inefficiency were even more startling. A camp was built and maintained here during World War I. The buildings had since been dismantled, but there remained paved streets and sanitary sewers which might have been used. But not in these days when spending the public money is accepted as an administration objective. New streets and utility systems were planned without the existing ones being utilized.

Cost More Than Double

The estimated cost of Camp Mende was $9,053,187. The actual cost will be $23,117,000. Other facts brought out by Mr. Engel included:

"The original cost of utilities was estimated at $766,264, whereas these utilities will actually cost $2,630,550. A part of this excess cost of $1,884,000 was due to the failure of the war department to follow the advice of the contract engineer."

"Lumber prices were from 20 per cent to 25 per cent above current trade prices. The lumber was purchased at above the average prices paid at other camps.

"The rental paid on equipment was from 100 per cent to 200 per cent above the Associated General Contractors' schedule. The rental paid on this equipment was 42 per cent of its value and 2 per cent of the cost of the job.

"The ratio between labor and material on this project was 65.5 per cent labor to 34.5 per cent material. This was out of all reasonable proportion even after one considers weather and emergency conditions.

"The amount of premium paid for overtime on this job was $1,808,320. This means that 13.7 per cent of the money paid on the payroll was paid for services which were not actually rendered. This represents 8 per cent of the cost of the job.

"Priorities demanded by the army, some of which should have been avoided, account for considerable additional expense. In at least one instance, I am informed the troop commander refused to house the troops in barracks provided for because while these barracks were ready for occupancy, they had not been built for his organization."

Government Inefficient

The foregoing is just a part of what was uncovered in the investigation of two of the 23 camps. There is much more than could be reported, but it all adds to one conclusion—inefficiency and incompetence. This, it must be remembered, involves mostly the army, generally accepted as the most efficient of the government branches.

The experience in this war which we have not yet officially entered is a repetition of the mistakes made in World War I. An investigation made in 1920 disclosed that about 40 per cent of the entire cost of constructing the camps was waste. The excuse then was that we were not ready and that in the haste to prepare, the costs were higher than otherwise might be possible.

Whatever the excuses that may be offered, the situation points to one inevitable conclusion — that government agencies are not capable of functioning as effectively and efficiently as private enterprise. That should be the answer to those who advocate the government's taking over industry. Such a course would lead to chaos and a complete disruption of our national industrial system.

LANSING LETTER

followed Republican with distressful regularity, and vice versa.

Soft Gloves

Since the democratic strategy called for wooing of Republican voters in order to elect Kennedy Governor Van Wagoner deftly avoided a frontal assault on Republican ranks. The maneuvers to date have been skirmishes, calculated not to outrage the enemy.

In this kind of political courting, the governor wore diplomatic soft gloves.

Because the spring campaign was so devoid of pressing issues, almost like a parlor game of tiddle-de-winks, Republicans had to take the offensive in injecting life into a somewhat listless contest. Vernon J. Brown, two-fisted auditor general, applied a political hypodermic in the form of charges of civil service violations by the state highway department.

Even this last minute jolt did not overcome the headway made by the Van Wagoner machine over the Republican nominee, Leroy C. Smith. Smith made his entry into the political arena in February, while Kennedy had been 'campaigning" persistently for four or more months—if highway promises, public appearances and steady publicity are bids for votes.

Every state highway sign and every state highway map were changed since the November election to carry the name of the Democratic nominee-to-be, long before the state convention ratified the Van Wagoner-picked state ticket.

The Loser Wins

While Smith possessed a record of engineering achievement that has merited national recognition, having managed a county road organization receiving 1940 national honors, (he is also a former deputy state highway commissioner) the fact remains that he was not widely known outside of Wayne county. Republican generals realized this handicap, and they made valiant efforts to overcome it in the short time available. Upstate pluralities were disappointingly small.

And so, neither man is out of a job.

Smith presumably will continue to earn $15,000 a year as engineer-manager at Detroit, while Kennedy draws $7,500 as state highway commissioner. Could it be possible that Smith, who was virtually drafted as a party nominee, will be doubly better off financially as a result of the April 7 vote?

Who won the election, anyway?

Labor Votes

Now that the diplomatic season is over Governor Van Wagoner is expected to assume a militant role.

Six to seven weeks remain in which his administrative program, revealed belatedly, might be salvaged.

Chances of labor legislation were greatly dimmed by the CIO tie-up of the Ford industrial empire, accomplished without a 30-day notice that is customarily required by the state mediation board for employees in plants that are producing national defense supplies.

The prevailing legislative attitude is tinged with resentment of any labor organizing move that delays vital arms production.

Labor leaders point out that the automobile industry, with the exception of the Ford Motor company, is almost entirely under union agreements, as is the steel industry with the exception of a few medium-sized concerns, and the rubber industry with the exception of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company and a few small plants.

This union expansion, chiefly in mass production industries, has come about during the past five years. Union membership soared from 3,500,000 to over 8,000,000 at the beginning of 1940. The harvest has been rich.

Promises?

Labor's mounting influence in the national economy has invited political bargaining. Such is true in Michigan where the CIO, for example, endorsed Kennedy. It has also been evident for some time that Governor Van Wagoner was building his fences for re-election in 1942 with a definite bid for labor and farm support.

His generosity in advocating labor measures, which in some cases surpassed anything enacted at Washington, has been interpreted by labor-minded Republicans in the following light.

He could put the Republicans "on the spot" by asking more than he knew legislators would grant. He could appease labor with bills, while trying to keep radicals in line by threats of a big stirk, such as he brandished in the Consumers Power company controversy.

This wasn't bad politics from a practical point of view, since he had little to lose. And Van Wagoner is a practical man.

But it has prompted Republican advocates of labor reform to question the governor's concern about the working man amid the greatest industrial boom the state has ever seen.

So don't be surprised if Republicans fail to rush to the rescue.

With the 1941 election out of the way, folks here are already beginning to think about 1942. Such is the way of politics.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

How to know and keep away from poison ivy . . .

Here's a positive identification: Poison ivy is the only wild vine with a three-parted leaf and clusters of small white berries. It is poisonous at all times of the year, and all parts of the plant are poisonous. Avoid its shiny new red leaf buds as well as the bright green leaves of summer and its colorful foliage in the fall. Even the bare stems of the winter and its roots should be left alone. Fortunately white berries remain on the stems most of the winter to signal there is poison ivy there.

Poison ivy is plentiful throughout the entire middle and eastern United States. Around homes and summer cottages you can get rid of it with a little persistent effort. It reproduces by seed and creeping root stalks. Small patches of poison ivy can be killed by covering them with tarred or other heavy paper that completely excludes the light. One method is to spray the leaves and surrounding soil with sodium chlorate, one pound to a gallon of water. This is discouraging to the ivy and deadly to everything else growing in the vicinity. If this is done in the fall, the rains and snows of winter should wash the soil sufficiently to make it safe for other plants in the spring.

The most rapid and surest way to deal with poison ivy is to pull and grub it out down to the last inch of underground runner. Burn all pieces of plant and root. Don't forget to thoroughly wash your hands in warm water and yellow laundry soap after each battle with the weed.

RATES ON MICHIGAN BELL LONG DISTANCE CALLS REDUCED

700,000 CUSTOMERS WILL SHARE REFUNDS OF $1,500,000

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company is moving promptly to comply with the order of the former Michigan Public Utilities Commission, which has just been upheld by the State Supreme Court, to reduce intrastate long distance rates to the level of interstate rates.

That will mean savings of approximately $700,000 a year to long distance users, based on present volume of usage.

Messages will be charged at the new rates as soon as the new tariffs can be filed and are accepted by the Michigan Public Service Commission. Until then, messages will be charged at the old rates and will be subject to later refund.

TO REFUND $1,500,000

Under the order, the Company will make refunds or credits of the difference between the intrastate and interstate rates paid by its long distance customers since August 1, 1938, effective date of the order. That money, totaling $1,500,000, has been impounded in a bank designated by the Court, without interest.

More than 65,000,000 long distance call records, involving the accounts of 700,000 users of the service must be checked. Therefore, it will be some weeks before the refunds or credits can be made or information given with regard to specific accounts. However, in the interest of speeding the work, the checking has been started.

WORK WILL BE SPEEDED

The Company will at once request a supplementary court order authorizing methods to be followed in making the returns.

Calls made within the state between points more than 42 miles apart are affected.

As soon as additional information becomes available with respect to the method of making the refunds or credits it will be advertised in this paper.

the thermometer climbed to 78 on Saturday, hit 70 on Sunday and was up to 75 again Monday. Sunday produced a couple fine showers we needed so badly to clean up the winter's grime. Never saw the ice in Lake Charlevoix disappear so quickly. The lake was covered completely Saturday, by Monday there wasn't a speck in sight. All together, it seems this spring has been one of those "made-to-order" affairs.

And while on the weather topic, I find proof that spring is far more advanced this year than last on comparative dates, is contained in a news item in a Courier issue of April 17, 1940, which read: "Favorable ice conditions at St. James harbor are awaited before starting operation of the Charlevoix-Beaver Island mail boat Mary Margaret." Boats have been operating out of St. James for several weeks prior to this writing.

Death of an 8-year-old Boyne Falls girl from burns received when her clothing ignited from a bonfire, should be a forceful reminder to all parents to use utmost precaution at this time of year.

Just 9 more days and we can match our wits with the wily speckled trout. Think I'll go over to Kalkaska for the opening this year. There's going to be that big festival over there, so I'll see how the folks mix fishin' with fun. And anyway, there probably won't be more people around Kalkaska than there were over at "Hec" McKinnon's "private" lake a year ago. "Hec's" lake, you remember, was supposed to be exclusive, so to speak, but by the time the season opened the place looked like a tourist camp. But then, it doesn't make much difference where you open the season any more, there's sure to be a lot of fishermen everywhere. And just as an after-thought, I'm worried about the minnow bait situation. For the first time in my remembrance, there are no minnows in Round lake this spring. It will take more than conservation department theories to solve that problem, I'm afraid.

COMMERCE MEETING DREW CROWD

SEVERAL CITIES REPRESENTED AT ANNUAL AFFAIR

Lee H. Bierce, Secretary Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce Gave Interesting Address

Annual banquet of the Charlevoix board of commerce, held last Thursday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall, drew a capacity crowd and furnished an altogether interesting meeting for those in attendance.

In addition to Charlevoixans, visitors were present from Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Boyne City, Traverse City and East Jordan, indicating a spirit of cooperation and interest in kindred problems of the northern Michigan resort region.

The meeting was opened by E. J. Edwards, president of Charlevoix board of commerce, who introduced Prosecuting Attorney Norman D. Ance, toastmaster. Short talks, all stressing need for cooperation to meet problems of resort communities of this area were given by the following chamber of commerce officials: Wilson J. MacDonald, secretary, Petoskey; James Fairchild, president, Boyne City; Barney Milstein, president, East Jordan; George R. Hemingway, of Ironton; V. A. Poole, secretary, and Albert Goodrich, president, of Harbor Springs; Don F. Herrick, secretary, of Charlevoix; Jack Jensen, of Traverse City. Others present included John Olson, Boyne City; Mayor Arthur Hinckley, Petoskey; Dick Newson, Traverse City.

Lee H. Bierce, secretary of the Grand Rapids chamber of commerce, and one of the organizers of the West Michigan Tourist & Resort Association, was the principal speaker of the evening. Mr. Bierce gave a very interesting and instructive talk and incidentally commended Charlevoix particularly on its city hall; its financing of board of commerce activity through taxation, thus spreading the burden equally on the entire citizenry; the beautifying of Round lake harbor through a program of parking the east side of bridge street. He gave unreserved endorsement to regional, rather than individual community promotion and tourist attractions.

PUBLIC HEALTH COMMITTEE PLANNING ACTIVITY

Urge Support Bill Aimed to Make Health Office Non-Partisan

Members of the Charlevoix Public Health committee met Saturday evening at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Walter Bergeon, to complete plans for their trip to Traverse City on Friday of this week. The group will be guests for the day at Central Michigan Children's Clinic.

Miss Anne Lawrence explained details of work in clinics. The health unit will begin a series of infant and pre-school clinics about the first of May, with which committee members are to assist.

An appeal was made to everyone interested in child welfare and public health to write to their state senator or representative in support of bill No. 342, pending before the legislature, which is designed to remove from politics the office of state health commissioner.

AWAITING CANVASS TO DETERMINE ELECTION

Gains Made by Republicans Following Unofficial Count

Returns from all but 30 precincts in the April 7 election have reversed early trends in the contest for state board of education and indicate victory for Dr. Wynand Wichers, Republican, over Miss Frances Comfort, Democrat.

Also, returns from all but 25 outstate precincts showed that Sen. Earl L. Burhans and Alfred B. Connable, Republicans, run first and second for regents to the university.

SUPERVISORS ADJOURNED FRIDAY

WM. LINDSAY OF BOYNE CITY NAMED WELFARE HEAD

Succeeds Harold F. Lamb; Integrated System, Requiring Single Director, Is Retained

Following organization and disposition of routine business, the 73rd annual spring session of the Charlevoix county board of supervisors adjourned Friday afternoon.

Election of James R. Dean, of Boyne City, as chairman, and appointment of committees for 1941-42 was announced last week.

William B. Lindsay of Boyne City, member of the county welfare staff the past eight years, was named director of the Charlevoix County Social Welfare Commission to succeed Harold F. Lamb, recently resigned. Mr. Lindsay, who assumed his duties this week, replaces Willis A. Kraus, of Oscoda, who was temporarily filling the position.

Prior to Lindsay's appointment upon unanimous vote of the board, the controversial welfare problem was settled by 14 to 11 vote to retain the integrated system providing one director for county and state agencies.

Dr. F. W. Young, local aviation enthusiast, was voted permission to build a temporary airplane hangar at the Charlevoix county airport.

The finance committee report, setting the tentative budget for 1941-42 at $83,325.00, was adopted.

Upon request of the county road commission, title to one acre of county property at the corner of State street and Hurlbut avenue was deeded to the commission. Plans call for construction of road commission offices on the property in the very near future and subsequent removal of offices from the court house to the new building. A federal grant will be sought to finance the project, it is understood, requiring the road commission have title to the property to receive such aid.

CHARLEVOIX AREA HAY FEVER SUFFERER HAVEN

Only Two Areas in Michigan Are More Free of Weed Pollen

Interesting data concerning the amount of hay fever-inducing pollen in the air at various points in Michigan is contained in a bulletin released by the Michigan Department of Health.

The chart reveals but two locations in Michigan more pollen-free than the area embracing Charlevoix. These areas are the tip of the Keweenaw peninsula in the upper peninsula and the area bordering St. Mary's river, also across the straits.

Purpose of the survey, a service to be continued yearly and to which this, as well as other communities contributed funds, is to make available to hay fever sufferers information on those districts where conditions are best suited for relief.

OUTLOOK IN DOUBT FOR TROUT OPENING

HIGH, ROILY WATER LIKELY TO GREET FISHERMEN

Continued Cold, Late Arrival of Spring Expected to Produce Adverse Conditions on Streams

Trout fishermen will be wise not to set their hopes too high for the opening days of the fishing season which opens Saturday, April 26, and runs through Labor Day.

While snow has completely disappeared from the swamps, heavy rains have made streams and rivers high and roily, and continued cold weather is bound to bring a late development of aquatic life, both plant and insect. Thus the universal prayer is for warm weather, and at once.

Probably of particular interest to local anglers is the fact that the recreated Burns pond on McGeagh creek at Barnard will be opened for the first time. It was hoped to delay fishing in this new water until July, at least, but it seems the conservation department refused to create the precedent it would set by closing this particular piece of water in the face of numerous other requests which were likewise rejected. The pond, built last summer by the Charlevoix Sportsman's club, has been heavily stocked with not only fingerling but legal sized brook and German brown trout.

This year there is no special trout fishing license, a general license costing $1 for all residents covers all fishing and must be possessed by all persons over 17 years of age. However, the wife of a fisherman gets permission to fish without charge through a special identification card issued at the time friend husband buys his license, providing it is requested.

There are about 100 inland lakes designated as trout lakes that also open on April 26. The complete list is found in the digest of the fishing laws.

ALLIE MOORE HIGHLIGHT GUIDE MEET

TERMED MOST PICTURESQUE AT NEWAYGO EVENT

Placed High In All Contests and Contributed Entertainment; Was Highly Commended

Once again Allie Moore, well known local resident, has put Charlevoix in the limelight. Years ago it was on roller skates—this time it was at the annual Guides' Meet held at Newaygo.

Allie's highly lauded performance is described in the following article taken from the Muskegon Chronicle:

"The annual Newaygo Guides Meet, which has been staged successfully for two years, attracts many picturesque guides from Michigan's out-of-the-way places. The men who make their living showing hunters and fishermen where to find game and fish, can track like Indians in some cases, know how to shoot, cast, troll, find their way in the woods without benefit of compass, and generally compete with the famed woodsmen of a century ago in this country.

"At this year's Guides' Meet, there was the usual group of experienced woodsmen, and the most picturesque was Allie Moore, 58 years old, of Charlevoix. He was born at Charlevoix of Scotch-Irish parentage.

"Allie was the oldest guide entered this year, and one of the smartest. His wiry frame carried him through every contest. He didn't win the celebrated boat race, but he was one of the punters and rowers who finished, refusing aid of a nearby launch when it was obvious he would finish 'out of the money.'

"Allie went farther. After the race he left a bit of advice for younger guides, who finished the race, or had to quit, with big blisters on their hands. Allie's trick was simply painting his hands with shellac before the race. He finished without a blister, and passed the secret along for use in following years.

"He was No. 13 guide this year, and has asked for the same number next season, disproving the old belief that all woodsmen are superstitious.

"Allie might have won the big prize of the festival if it had been decided on the basis of points. He placed high in all of the contests involving guiding, including cooking, camping, and a first place in the quiz contest conducted by Newaygo Newt.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

A real diplomat is a man who can make his wife believe a $50 dress makes her look stout.

Under direction of conservation officers, the combined house and senate conservation committees are Monday and Tuesday touring the deer hunting territory of northern Michigan seeking information to aid consideration of legislation which would permit hunting of antlerless deer in certain areas. It is to be assumed these committeemen, like the inquiring public, will be directed to such areas as the Beaver Lake club, Leroy Gun club, Turtle Lake club, all private properties, where heavy concentration of deer has occurred because of limited hunting by the monied owners of such vast tracts. In these places the annual take of the privileged few has failed to kill off even the natural increase, thus over-population and winter starvation creates the horrible condition which motivates the conservation department to

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Potatoes at $6 a bushel, eggs at $1 a dozen and sugar at 25 cents a pound are not expected in a 1941 or 1942 war-time economy, such as was the case in World War I.

The farmer, remembering the price collapse that trailed the great boom, is inclined to be cautious and wary.

And Uncle Sam is taking a hand with reins on possible inflation.

Prospects of 1941 farm crops in Michigan are decidedly favorable, if not bullish. The Michigan cooperative farm reporting service at Lansing pointed out this month that winter wheat, rye and pasture were above average in condition. Corn, wheat and oats are above average, the estimate for oats being 27 million bushels compared with a Michigan average of 15 million.

Because of the mild winter, fruit prospects are also equally bright. And so it goes.

Brakes on runaway prices are to be applied at Washington through a

1,000,000,000
IS A LOT OF EGGS
Fresh eggs for a million breakfast tables are rushed daily from Michigan henhouses — collected, graded, boxed and delivered to grocery stores in every part of the state.

CHICKENS are kept on more than 8 out of every 10 farms in Michigan. Flocks range from a few hens up to many thousands. Producing about a billion eggs a year—20 dozen eggs for each man, woman and child in the state—and supplying broilers, fryers and roasters as well, the poultry industry contributes $26,000,000 yearly to Michigan's farm income.

To the farmer's wife, who very frequently cares for the flock, the telephone is a constant aid. She uses it to buy feed, to get the best prices for her eggs and chickens, or to order baby chicks from the hatchery. But even more important is the service the telephone renders in directing the flow of eggs and poultry from country to city, and helping maintain adequate supplies in every market throughout the state.

Each spring millions of baby chicks are [illegible] hatcheries, by rail, truck [illegible]. The telephone [illegible] be a [illegible] of bad weather.

In a Hydra-Matic Oldsmobile, of course, you'll find no clutch pedal. Gears shift automatically there, forward or reverse, without operating clutch. LANSING LETTER special administration headed by Leon Henderson, the federal economist who accurately foresaw the "recession" of 1937. And at the same time a price ceiling is contemplated, a price floor has been ordered for some food products — pork, butter, eggs and chickens.

The net result should be more money in the farmer's pocket.

We Eat More

Consumption of food is not static; it does not remain stationary.

The federal stamp plan for marketing of surplus food commodities helped to establish this fact. In county after county in Michigan where this surplus system has been put into use, families on welfare lists are eating more food.

Studies by the American Institute of Food Distribution reveal sharp variations in consumption by income groups. As income of the "submerged third" increases, total food consumption goes up.

Food prices tend to rise when spending is inflated.

Meats, for instance, register the highest percentage of price rise—from an index of 68.4 in February, 1940, to 83.6 in February, 1941. But this is an exception.

Foods generally have gone up only 6 points from March, 1940 to March, 1941.

Lend-Lease

Under the new price program at Washington, production of pork, dairy products, eggs and poultry will be stimulated by pegged prices during the next year or two. Prices will be kept at levels remunerative to producers.

Here is where the lend-lease act should help the farmer.

It is a story of surplus and shortage.

The surplus of wheat in the United States is 380 million bushels, greatest in our history. In South America wheat is being fed to livestock; Canada has stored enough wheat to provide for needs of the Dominion of Canada and the British Isles for the next two years.

Furthermore, federal triple-A experts concede that the prospect of the 1941 wheat crop, combined with the record carry-over, should be enough to take care of our domestic needs for nearly two years if farmers didn't grow another bushel of wheat in that time!

Surplus, Shortage

While surplus corn, estimated at 700 million bushels, can be converted into profits by using it as feed for hogs under a better price for pork products, a possible shortage is in sight for dairy products, meats, poultry and eggs and some fruits and vegetables.

Demand for these products comes from both Britain and from rising domestic consumption due to higher industrial pay rolls.

The government, through its surplus marketing administration, will bolster prices in the above group by going into the commodity market and buying up supplies in an orderly fashion. Supplies could be transferred to the British, Chinese or Greeks under the lend-lease act, or they could be released upon the domestic market to halt unwarranted, speculative price profiteering.

Will it work? Both the consumer and the farmer stand to benefit if prices can be stabilized and if disastrous inflation can be avoided.

Cost of Living

An example of price control that affects a Michigan industry is the pegging of copper at 12 cents a pound.

If copper had followed the law of supply and demand, as it did in the World War, it would be selling today for 20 to 24 cents a pound.

Even a small rise to 14 or 16 cents a pound would enable Upper Peninsula copper mines to grant wage increases to miners. But it would also boost defense costs, now running at a dizzy pace of 16 billions for the current year.

Cost of living as a whole is not much above last year.

According to the March issue of Labor's Monthly Survey, published by the American Federation of Labor, "figures for February show an increase of 1.2 per cent over February, 1940."

Earnings

What is the case of the farmer in comparison to industrial wage-earners and stockholders?

In an economy where leading benefits are going to industry, it is inevitable that rural members of state legislatures would reflect dissatisfaction of the farmer with production-halting strikes in national defense plants.

As for the stockholder, corporation dividends in 1938 were $3,370,000,000; in 1940, $4,800,000,000, according to the U. S. department of commerce, even after new taxes had been paid.

(The 1940 dividend distribution was the largest in the United States since 1929.)

As for the wage-earner, the weekly pay roll in manufacturing industries for January of this year was $228,926,000, compared with $189,000,000 for January, 1940. The average wage this year was $27.69 compared with $25.51 one year ago and $23.80 two years ago.

Compare these prosperity figures with Michigan's agricultural income for 1939: $271 per capita for a farm population of 830,000, and a total farm income of $224,675,000. (The national average was $266; income in some southern states is pathetically low.)

Fairer Share

While these figures may seem dull to the consumer, who thinks usually in terms of cost of living, they are important to the Michigan farmer.

Price-pegging of certain food commodities at profitable production levels, accumulation of food reserves to stabilize consumer prices (and prevent speculative profiteering by the middlemen), and continuation of federal acreage restriction payments and parity payments all spell one thing: Better times for 830,000 people in Michigan.

The farmer, faced with prospect of good crops in 1941, is due to get a fairer share of the national income.

Such is the picture in April.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

For a glimpse of real spring beauties, look at the rows of blue hyacinths in Mrs. John Burns' garden on Grant street.

The zinnia emerged victorious in the selection of the city flower, so this week we will tell something of its culture.

A native of North and South America, the zinnia is the state flower of Indiana. "Youth and old age" is another name sometimes given the flower.

There are so many varieties of zinnias, with new strains being introduced every year, that it is difficult to decide which ones to plant. Of course, the color scheme of each individual garden will have to influence each gardener in his choice.

Zinnias readily fall into three classes, the tall, medium and dwarf. In each of these classes there are sub-divisions such as Pompon, Mexican, Dahlia-flowered, and cut-and-come-again zinnias. Colors are varied and brilliant, and we all know that there is no better flower for cutting in the whole garden. So let's have lots of them!

They thrive best in a light, well-fertilized loam in full sunlight. Start seed outdoors in May, although for earlier bloom seeds may be started indoors in February or March and transplanted in May. Zinnias planted outdoors develop better if seedlings are transplated when large enough to handle, and given more elbow room. Set tall varieties two feet apart, and smaller sorts twelve to fourteen inches. Apply a complete fertilizer at three or four week intervals, to help produce larger, more perfect flowers. All types blossom from July until hard frost.

Even a great orchestra will make a musical mistake once in a while. And once in a while... out of the thousands of decent, law-abiding beer retailers in Michigan... you'll come across one or two who operate disreputable establishments.

These "black sheep" retailers constitute a tiny minority. Yet they tend to drag down the good name of beer.

By arousing public indignation, such undesirable retailers endanger your right to enjoy good beer. They also endanger the benefits to the public that beer has made possible.

For example, in Michigan beer has created 58,312 new jobs with an annual payroll of $58,300,740 and paid $4,439,995.07 in taxes last year.

The brewing industry wants "black sheep" retailers eliminated entirely. You can help us by patronizing only the reputable, legal places where beer is sold. And by reporting irregularities to the duly constituted law enforcement authorities.

ask for a law allowing slaughter of does. The hitch in the whole thing is that this over-population occurs on private property, where John Public cannot hunt. Nobody should kid themselves into believing owners of these private clubs will allow does to be killed on their property even if it is legalized. They won't even allow the conservation department to live-trap and remove deer as a means of relieving the over-populated condition. They urge the deer be fed (and they are, too) at every hunter's expense for the benefit of the small club membership. So figure it out for yourself. If a law is passed legalizing the killing of does, this killing will be done on public hunting grounds, where over-population does not so generally exist, and not on private property where it does exist, but where the public cannot hunt. I realize, and admit, this attitude contradicts that expressed in this column two years ago. But at that time I hadn't taken into consideration the fact that the dead, starved deer I saw during a conservation department conducted tour, were all on private property.

FINAL REHEARSALS FOR "WOMANLESS WEDDING"

Cast Ready for Pythian Production Thursday and Friday Nights

Final rehearsals for "Womanless Wedding" have brought a final enthusiastic polish to the production. The comedy is to be presented this Thursday and Friday nights at the Charlevoix high school auditorium. It is sponsored by Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias, and has a cast of sixty-five prominent local men.

Mrs. Harold Miller will play the incidental music, and the soloists include Earl Shapton, Ralph Nutter, Denn Davenport, Dr. John Nordrum, "Mike" Bice, Jay Oliver, Norman Ance and Perry Smith. The Novotny Orchestra will also contribute several band numbers, and Allie Moore will appear as "Sonia Henie."

Among the other skits are an impersonation of Edgar Bergen and his peppery pal, Charlie McCarthy; an impression of the "President" delivering a "Fireside Chat," and a thumbnail "Amateur Hour," conducted by "Major Bowes." The "Quintuplets" will appear in the latter act.

Several Pythian ladies will assist in the makeup room, as in this one feminine art their husbands and fathers admit to a complete ignorance.

On Thursday evening, immediately after the performance, the honor students of the Charlevoix high school will be presented with the Pythian merit awards for scholastic standings. The giving of the awards has been arranged, to follow the play in order that the men of the cast may be present to witness it.

EUGENE STROUD, WELL KNOWN RESIDENT, DIES

Was prominent In Fraternal, Grange and Civic Activities

Eugene E. Stroud, 63, resident of this region for over forty years, died Saturday afternoon at his home as the result of a heart attack.

He was born August 13, 1877, at Middleburg, Ohio. On December 19, 1899, he married Anna Loder of Strongsville, Ohio and they came to Michigan to live. They operated a large farm in Hayes township until 1926, when they moved to their home on US-31 north of the city.

Active in community affairs, Mr. Stroud had been a member of the school board and justice of the peace in Hayes township; Grange member for 37 years, acting as Master of Maple Grove Grange for 20 years, and of Pomona Grange for 10 years. After coming to Charlevoix he served two terms as member of the board of review. He had been a member of the I. O. O. F. for more than forty years. In Ohio, he belonged to the German Lutheran church.

Surviving are the wife; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Haggerty of Pontiac and Mrs. Ruth Bietz of Burr Oak; a son Oscar of this city, and two grandchildren, Beverly and Lindn Stroud.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 Tuesday afternoon from the See Funeral Home by Rev. G. Russell Parker of Northport. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

"Many guides and visitors at the festival are coming to the conclusion that too much stress is placed on the winning of the 14-mile boating race on the Muskegon river. This takes a strong back and youth. These contend that the younger guides have much to learn in the art of woodsmanship and fishing. In an all around contest the older fellows would have a better chance. Yet now, the cash goes to the chap who has the stamina to win the boat race.

"Mr. Moore knows far more than guiding. He once toured Europe as 'the world's champion roller skater.' This year, at Newaygo, he demonstrated his skill, skating blindfolded, jumping in and out of barrels and to table tops. His skating amazed the spectators. It was more remarkable when one considers his 58 years.

"Even at home, Mr. Moore retains his picturesqueness. He runs a mackinaw trout fishing boat that is popular out of Charlevoix. In summer and winter he drives a dog team that is well mannered and efficient. In the winter he uses a regular Alaskan sled, but in summer just puts on wheels and the dogs pull it just the same.

"Each season the guides meet has drawn several outstanding guides of the middle west. This year it was Allie Moore who carried the prize away for the most picturesque. If you're in Charlevoix, look him up. He'a a study without his undoubted guiding ability."

DICKENS, SHAKESPEARE CLUBS ENTERTAINED BY MRS. S. W. MOWER

Members of the Charles Dickens club and Shakespeare Study club were delightfully entertained Monday afternoon at Gwellentop, the home of Mrs. S. W. Mower, at Ironton.

The program was opened with the "Spring Song" by Mendelssohn, sung by a chair composed of members of both clubs and directed by Mrs. A. J. Stelter. The choir also sang "The Rosary" by Nevin, and "Rockin' in De Win'" by Neidlinger.

Mrs. A. L. Livingston sang two solo numbers, "Serenade" by Strauss, and "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer.

Mrs. Mower, a concert pianist, played "Chopin's Etude," "Prelude 25," and "Waltz in A Flat;" also "Romance" by Sibelius and "Rhapsody" by Brahms.

A delicious tea was served by the Dickens club, with flowers and setting to bring out the spring motif.

SECOND REGISTRATION MAY BE HELD JUNE 14TH

Men Who Became 21 After Last Registration Effected

Selective service officials are favoring June 14—Flag Day—as the date for the next regular registration of men for compulsory military service.

President Roosevelt will make the final decision as to the date. An executive order designating another registration day—the second since enactment of the selective service act—is not far off, officials said.

Only those men who have reached the age of 21 since the original registration on October 16 last will be obliged to register this year. The registration last October was for men 21 to 35 inclusive.

Officials said June 14 carried a patriotic significance and that by that date most college students have completed their school year.

CLEAN-UP WEEK IS SCHEDULED MAY 5-10

CITIZENS, FIRE AND HEALTH OFFICIALS TO JOIN

City Street Department to Provide Usual Pick-Up Service for Rubbish and Refuse

Charlevoix's annual clean-up week will start Monday, May 5th, and continue through Saturday, May 11, and as long thereafter as is necessary for completion.

Through proclamation by Mayor Robert Bridge, that period is designated for the annual "Clean-Up" week. Health and fire officials and citizens in general will cooperate in this effort to properly "dress" up the community for the summer season and, incidentally, help maintain this city's slogan, "Charlevoix-the-Beautiful."

The immediate purpose of clean-up week is to clear yards, alleys and vacant property of all refuse, rubbish and garbage piles, thus reducing fire and health hazards and giving the city a neater, cleaner appearance.

Leo Allard, street commissioner, asks citizens to place rubbish in substantial containers at the street curb or at convenient places in alleys to be picked up by truck. Citizens are asked not to dump rubbish in piles, as this method is not satisfactory, and causes extra work for the street department.

All citizens are urged to cooperate in this community effort and, if possible, within the period designated.

GARDEN CLUB TO LANDSCAPE CHANNEL BANK

White Pine Seedlings and Wild Flowers to Cover South Bank

Planting of five hundred white pine seedlings on the south bank of the lower channel, between Round lake and Lake Michigan, was carried out Tuesday by ladies of the Charlevoix Garden club.

Since the north bank was landscaped last year, the south bank has appeared more unattractive than before, and the club women took it upon themselves to do something about this eyesore. George R. Hemingway, of the Charlevoix County Nursery, donated the white pine seedlings for the purpose.

Acting upon the suggestion of O. I. Gregg, landscape gardener of Michigan State college, the club will also plant purple vetch on the bank, as a ground cover. Later, it is hoped to add California poppies and iris, and possibly lilacs. All these plants tend to multiply rapidly and will soon cover the unsightly sand bank with a colorful screen of bloom.

The planting project will include the entire bank, from the coast guard station to a point near the bridge.

THOMSON YACHT DEPARTED FOR BROOKLYN YARD

Ship Given Rousing Send-Off By Local Citizens Wednesday

Under command of Capt. T. R. Morrison and with a crew made up partially of Charlevoix men, the Logan Thomson yacht Sylvia left Wednesday morning for Brooklyn Navy yard.

Motivated by patriotic reasons and no doubt a last view of the palatial pleasure craft which is being transferred to defense service, Charlevoix residents who have for years proudly looked upon the ship as a community asset, were out to give it a rousing farewell. The high school band in full uniform, played at the dock, smaller pleasure craft formed an escort, salutes were sounded as hundreds watched.

Originally announced as sold to the British Purchasing Commission, difficulty over transfer of registration has resulted in sale to the United States government it is understood.

FORMER LOCAL WOMAN IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. Charles Dike Succumbed Last Saturday at St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Charles Dike died Saturday, April 26, at her home in East St. Louis, Ill., after a prolonged illness.

Gertrude Dixon was born in Charlevoix, December 12, 1905, the daughter of Gunson and Mary Dixon. With her parents, she went to Detroit in 1917. She was married to Charles Dike on August 31, 1926, at Detroit. They made their home in that city, and also in Bay City, until five years ago, when they moved to East St. Louis, where Mr. Dike is superintendent of the office of the National Life and Accident Insurance company.

Mrs. Dike was a member of Winstanley Baptist church in East St. Louis, and was active in church affairs.

Surviving are the husband, a daughter Alice; her mother, Mrs. Mary Dixon; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shores; two brothers, Maurice and Curtis Dixon; and a sister, Mrs. Leo Powers.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the Burke Funeral Parlors in East St. Louis. Services in this city were conducted by Rev. W. L. Cruthers from the See Funeral Home at 2:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

PUBLIC HEARING ON ZONING SCHEDULED

MEETING AT CITY HALL, MONDAY, MAY 5TH

Protection of Property Values Is Aim of Proposed Ordinance Considered By Council

A zoning plan and ordinance for protection of property values is being considered by the city council, which has announced a public hearing at the city hall community room Monday evening, May 5th, to obtain expression of public opinion on the plan.

For the past several years Charlevoix has been threatened periodically by the misuse of land in vital parts of the city which would result in ruining values in the resort sections and destroying strategic scenic assets. Gasoline service stations are needed to supply automobiles, but there is a more logical place for them than in the midst of a colony of summer homes. Likewise coal yards are more suitable in an area of similar uses than in the center of one of the citys' most valued scenic assets—its waterfront park.

Many other cities in the United States have been faced with problems similar to these in Charlevoix, and out of need for something to deal with such situations came the zoning method.

Zoning is a democratic method of guiding land use, based on the development of a definite plan for the community's future growth, ten or fifteen years hence. Such a plan considers the best use of the city's land for various purposes and sets aside definite areas for residential, commercial, public, industrial and agricultural uses. It promotes orderly city growth as opposed to haphazard change.

ANNUAL PERCH RUN NOW IN FULL SWING

Limit Catches Are Daily Occurrence On Round Lake Harbor

While opening of the trout fishing season Saturday lured many fishermen to streams and rivers, others were fishing for perch on Round lake and at Ironton.

The perch "run" is definitely under way, providing the first big local fishing event of the season. Untold numbers of limit catches of 50 have been reported since last Friday, start of the run.

Providing the precedents of previous years are not upset, perch fishing will continue good for several weeks.

HILTON DISTRICT WILL SUSPEND RURAL SCHOOL

Vote Sending Pupils to Charlevoix Starting Next Fall Term

At a special meeting of the school electors of Hilton school, held Monday, it was voted to close the school next year and send the children to the Charlevoix schools.

By this action, the Hilton school takes advantage of an arrangement whereby tuition of grade students and transportation of all students, including those in high school, will be paid by the state. The Charlevoix schools will gain in membership, which is used as a basis for distributing state aid; the higher the membership, the greater the state aid.

At the present time, Ironton and Grand View schools are sending their students to Charlevoix. Others are considering the proposition, and the local school board is standing ready to co-operate.

MICHIGAN MAKES SWEEP OF FLORIDA FESTIVAL

Mrs. Lephia Hammond Tells of St. Petersburg Annual Fete

Newspaper accounts of the recent Festival of States at St. Petersburg, Fla., sent by Mrs. Lephia Hammond, relate how representatives of the Michigan Society of resort visitors made a sweep of the event this year.

Michigan's float, depicting Holland during the tulip festival and sponsored by the society of which all Michigan visitors to Florida are members, took grand prize in the All-States Parade climaxing the festival. Miss Betty Shrader, sponsored by Michigan, was winner of a queen contest held in conjunction with the event.

Michigan can well be proud of its clean sweep of honors, particularly as this was the first time in eight years it had entered the festival activities.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Ushor

Uncle Henry says: "Once there was a woman driver who went to heaven. She knocked off one of the gates going in."

Yes, we're bragging! Mary Jane and I (she's next to the oldest daughter and my fishin' partner seeings how I haven't got a boy old enough yet) opened the trout season Saturday with a limit catch at the new Burns pond on McGeagh creek at Barnard. Thirty "specks" are something nice to look at when you haven't seen that many for a time, despite the fact some of the boys have tried to kid themselves into believing these planted trout are tame fish. J. C. Marshall and Gordon Neff had 15, too, but many of the other fellows left too early so went home empty-handed. Hope Saturday's results are an indication of the season's prospects.

I'm the proud owner of a beautiful florescent desk lamp, the gift of Irving N. Klein of Chicago, well known and long-time Charlevoix summer

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

May 1 finds the Michigan legislature swamped with a traditional eleventh hour rush.

Steering committees of the house and senate hope work may be completed within two or three weeks. The date of adjournment may depend on progress of the senate finance committee with house appropriation bills.

While accomplishments to date do not appear on the surface to be outstanding, the legislative session may be said to have the following benefits:

1. Time acts as a sieve to cull out much of the good, reject much of the bad. A 60-day session, such as is constitutionally required in Indiana, invites rash action. And haste can be costly, if legislation is not recorded thoughtful deliberation.

You may fret over it, but an extended session covering five months, as the Michigan session usually does, permits legislators to get their bearings and to "sleep" on new ideas.

2. The two-chamber legislature, in contrast to the unicameral cham-

AT THE MOVIES

Wallace Beery In "The Bad Man," Palace Attraction

Wallace Beery as Pancho Lopez, whimsical bandit, comes Saturday and Sunday, May 3-4 to the Palace Theater in his most picturesque characterization siace "Viva Villa!" in "The Bad Man," picturization of the aoted stage play. Teamed with Lionel Barrymore he presents a swashbuckling, menacing, but still kiadly outlaw, a veritable Robia Hood of the cattle ranges.

Beery is at his swashbuckling best as the fast-shooting, quick-lowing outlaw, and Barrymore portrays the testy Uncle Henry, only man not afraid of the desperado. Their comedy sceaes together are many. Laraiae Day and Ronald Reagan, recently of "Knute Rockne," provide the love interest.

Fluttery comedy is provided hy Nydia Westman, and Tom Conway, English actor, plays the "heavy" role of an oil swindler estranged from his wife. Heary Travers is seen as the avaricious banker, and Chill Wills, cowboy comedian of "Boom Town," Chris-Pin Martia as the handits' lieutenant, and Charles Stevens are among the principals.

Robert Cummings and Ruth Hussey Team in "Free and Easy"

"Free and Easy," whimsical comedy of the romances and foibles of the fashionable, with talented Ruth Hussey in her most glamorous role to date, is the attraction coming Tuesday and Wednesday, May 6 and 7, to the Palace Theater. The pieture places the heroine of "Flight Command" in a gorgeous setting, spectacular costumes, and in a comical series of complicatioas surrounding a romance. Robert Cummings, leading man recently for Deaana Durbin, plays opposite her.

REDUCED

Long Distance Rates

Effective

Saturday, April 26

● Reduced rates on long distance calls from any Michigan Bell exchange to any other Michigan point more than 42 miles distant became effective on Saturday, April 26. Based on current volume of usage, that will mean savings of $700,000 annually to the company's customers.

Your Long Distance Operator will quote the new rate to any point requested.

As soon as possible after authorization by the Courts, refunds or credits, totaling $1,500,000, will be made for the difference between the old and new rates on such long distance calls made between August 1, 1938, and April 26, 1941. It will be some time before such refunds or credits can be made because of the great volume of work involved in checking more than 65,000,000 long distance calls in the accounts of 700,000 users.

Until the work of checking your account is completed, further information with respect to specific refunds or credits will be unavailable.

Fifteen high schools were represented, including Alanson, Kingsley, Boyne City, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Gaylord, Harbor Springs, Lake City, Kalkaska, Mancelona, Onaway, Cheboygan, Rogers City, Traverse City and Petoskey.

During the day each band was heard in separate concerts by Roy Miller, director of the Wayne University band, who acted as critic judge. Mr. Miller rated Charlevoix, Petoskey, and Traverse City bands as being best in performance, although there was no competitive rating.

In the evening a mass concert was given in the Petoskey high school gymnasium. All bands joined in opening and closing numbers of the program. NEW MICHIGAN BEER GOES ON SALE SOON

Michigan Brewed Fox De Luxe Is Made in Grand Rapids

The makers of the widely popular Fox De Luxe, world's prize winner beer, announce that they will be ready to release their finest Michigan brewed product within a short time.

Last year, need for increased facilities to take care of the growing Michigan demand caused them to purchase one of the largest breweries in the state, located at Grand Rapids.

Before starting to brew, many thousands of dollars were spent to completely remodel and modernize, making the plant one of the finest in the industry.

The first Michigan made Fox De Luxe has been ageing and mellowing for months. It could have been bottled and sold long before this. "But," as Mr. Fox explained, "way back in 1933 Fox De Luxe established a policy of never selling a single drop until it was aged to the peak of flavor perfection."

This policy, which won a gold medal for Fox De Luxe in competition with the world's finest beers, has never been changed.

Michigan-made Fox De Luxe will be launched by the heaviest advertising campaign ever put behind a beer in this state, including liberal use of newspaper space. The first newspaper ad announcing that the beer is on the market, will appear soon.

A. & P. OFFERS NEW ENRICHED DEFENSE FLOUR

Is Second Step Recently Taken to Meet Government Standards

As a further step in its program of cooperation with health authorities in the national defense program, the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company today announced a change in its "Sunnyfield" brand family flour to conform to the new "enriched" standards.

Frank M. Tully, in charge of flour-buying operations for the A & P, explained that family flour packages now moving to retail outlets are labeled "enriched" and carry a statement that the flour contains more than 1.66 milligrams of Vitamin B1, or thiamin; 6.15 milligrams of nicotinic acid, the pellagra-preventive found in many common foods such as liver, kidney and other wholesome meats, and 6.15 milligrams of iron.

This change in the flour follows closely the company's action in placing its bread in the "enriched" product class through the addition of corresponding amounts of the vitamin and mineral properties.

MICHIGAN BELL CUTS LONG DISTANCE TOLL

Reduction in Michigan Became Effective Saturday, April 26

The Michigan Bell Telephone company has announced that reductions on long distance calls from any of its exchanges to any other Michigan point more than 42 miles distant became effective at 12:01 a. m. Saturday, April 26.

George M. Welch, president, said the company has filed the new tariffs with the Michigan Public Service Commission, which has granted authority to initiate the reduced rates at that time. The new rates follow the recent decision of the State Supreme Court upholding an order of the former Michigan Public Utilities Commission cutting intrastate rates to the level of interstate charges. Welch estimated that the reductions will mean a savings of $700,000 a year to subscribers, based upon current usage of the long distance service.

Long distance operators of the company will be enabled to quote the new rate to any requested Michigan point.

Rain Halts Fire Danger

Rainfall during the past week put a temporary end to the worst spring forest fire menace in recent years and brought much needed moisture to farm and garden lands. Following a three weeks' drouth the rain was apparently general in this portion of Michigan.

STATE PARKS ARE BEING PREPARED FOR SUMMER

Memorial Day Usually Marks Official Opening for Parks

While Memorial day traditionally marks the opening of Michigan's 56 supervised state parks, skeleton crews already are preparing many of them for school picnics early in May. Shelter and recreational facilities in state parks every spring attract hundreds of students and teachers in semester-end outings.

The department of conservation reports that park employees now on duty are cleaning up winter debris, removing wind-felled trees, repairing roads, bringing equipment out of storage and renewing it for another season. About 125 are employed on park maintenance during summer months.

SEN. BISHOP PRODUCES BILL TO STOP SPENDING

Would Earmark Surplus Revenue for Retirement of Deficit

The so-called Bishop Bill, designed to earmark all surplus revenues during the coming biennium for retirement of the deficit, was passed by the senate April 10 by a 19 to 10 vote. Economy legislators hailed the passage of the proposed law.

As introduced, the bill forbade departments, boards, commissions and institutions to make expenditures exceeding legislative appropriations. It made unlawful the use of any funds except for the purpose specified.

Weight Tax Increases

Deputy Secretary of State Gus T. Hartman has reported that weight tax sales in the first three months of 1941 totaled $16,787,936.

MUST APPLY IN MAY FOR TAX LANDS SALE

Period for Former Owners to Redeem Is Shortened This Year

To insure themselves an opportunity to repurchase tax delinquent property reverting to state ownership next month, former owners must apply this year in May rather than November for its resale, according to the state department of conservation, administrator of these lands in 47 northern counties.

Because the 1939 legislature shortened the redemption period from 18 to 12 months, sale of lands bid in by the state at the May, 1940, tax sale must be applied for by former owners within 30 days after May 5, 1941, if they are to recover full title at special sales in advance of general sales. Senate bill 83, now before the legislature, would extend this application period to 90 days.

PLACE ORDERS EARLY FOR STATE TREE SETS

White, Jack, Norway Pine Seedlings Available Until June 1

With orders for more than one million small pines already filled or on hand, the conservation department's forestry division is advising persons still wanting stock to place their orders early, while planting conditions are most favorable. Orders for the white, jack and Norway pine seedlings and transplants are accepted, however, up to June 1.

Of the 275 orders filled to date, 90 have been for plantings in school forests, and some have been for community forest plantings. Most farm and other private orders are for trees enough to plant two acres.

Cherry Growers Developing Plans For Price Improvement

Cherry growers throughout the county are invited and urged to attend a cherry meeting on Thursday night, May 1st, at the city building, East Jordan. Charles P. Buck, industrial engineer of Traverse City, will be the main speaker. He has spent a great deal of his time and energy in studying the cherry industry.

An effort is now being made in all cherry producing counties to perfect a county organization to advertise cherries.

If favorably received by local producers a Charlevoix county organization will be perfected.

With a large tonnage last year the market has been more or less depressed. It is hoped that cherries can be advertised as were apples the last year or so. Everyone seems to agree that something must be done to keep the cherry industry on a profitable basis. Please plan on attending this session and assist in the discussion, your suggestions will be appreciated. Invite one or two of your neighbors to come with you. This subject is important and we need your help.

Apple Scab Gets Early 1941 Start

Michigan's only serious apple disease, apple scab, jumped to the earliest start in 11 years in the recent rainy and warm days.

This likely will be a year in which close attention to a good spraying program will set a definite value on the apple crop, according to Don Catlon, research assistant in plant pathology at Michigan State College.

Most fruit growers already have applied the first spray at the green tip stage. Five sprays are necessary for best control, although growers who have but a few trees often apply spray just before and after blossoming. This does reduce the amount of scab damage.

Treatment is with liquod lime sulphur at the rate of one gallon in 40 to 50 gallons of water. Complete directions for scab control are found in the Michigan State college spraying calendar, extension bulletin 154.

In the recent rains, beginning with those of April 18, 19 and 20, the scab began discharging spores in central and southern Michigan. The spores come from old leaves on the ground and reach the new leaves and buds by way of air currents.

Young flowers, the potential apples, are especially susceptible to scab spore growth. On the mature fruit, the disease is recognized by the black, scabby areas which detract from appearance and lower keeping quality.

Another effect of the scab, Cation reminds growers, is to increase the drop of young fruit which lowers the yield of apples.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

I love the things the seasons bring,
All buds that start, all birds that sing
All leaves from white to jet,
All the sweet words that summer sends
When she recalls her flower friends
But chief — the violet.
—Barry Cornwall.

May Day—Have you been to the woods? Be sure to go, and go as friend, not as foe. Go to admire and not to destroy. Michigan wild flowers are vanishing, not only because farmers are clearing their wood lots and draining out their swamps, but because we too are robbers of our woods and fields.

To pick a trillium or white lily means to kill that plant. The leaves are the plant's cupboard, where food for the roots is stored.

The jack-in-the-pulpit is so scarce that it should never be picked.

Do you know why there are so many adder-tongue leaves without blossoms? It takes four years for the plant to grow strong enough to send forth a blossom. We pick the flower, leaves and all, and the plant dies. "Four years for what?" says the adder-tongue.

We all know how hard it is to find arbutus. If you are lucky enough to find a large patch, don't try to take them all home. Cut a few of the fragrant flowers trailing at the ends of the stems. But always cut them with a pair of shears, else you may pull up a root and destroy countless blossoms.

Help yourself, though, to the violets. Like pansies, they like to be picked. Michigan has more than a dozen varieties of violets, and more than two thousand wild plants. How many of them do you know?

KNOW These Facts About Firestone

Heavy Duty TRUCK-BUS Tires Built with Rayodipt Cords

1. RAYODIPT CORDS. In the Firestone Cotton Mills, specially fabricated rayon, spun from cotton cellulose materials, is specially twisted by means of an exclusive Firestone process to assure uniform strength.

2. NEW ADVANCED GUM-DIPPING. The cotton cellulose cords are then treated with a new exclusive rubber solution especially developed by Firestone engineers for rayon material. Gum-Dipping greatly increases the bond between fabric and rubber, giving the new Rayodipt Cords greater strength and greater resistance to heat for high speed hauling.

3. RUNS UP TO 34 COOLER. Rayodipt Cords are so resistant to heat, that the new Firestone Rayodipt Truck Tires, by actual test at high speeds and with heavy loads, runs up to 34 cooler than other truck tires. This means longer uninterrupted service and greater protection against blowouts.

4. RAYODIPT CORDS ARE LOW STRETCH — Prevent Growth — Give Longer Mileage. Rayodipt Cords, because they are so tightly twisted and compactly interwoven, have an extremely low stretch. This special Firestone feature reduces tire growth giving greatly increased mileage.

5. HEAVY SCIENTIFICALLY-DESIGNED TREAD—For Extra Mileage at High Speeds With Heavy Load. This revolutionary new Rayodipt Cord body provides additional strength necessary for the extra-tough, extra-deep tread which delivers such remarkable traction and so much longer non-skid mileage.

DONE at the City of Washington this 27th day of March, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-one, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-fifth.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

SUMNER WELLES,
Acting Secretary of State.

ber of Nebrasko, is an effective system of checks and balances which tends to resist pressure groups rather than to encourage them.

(For example, the house may vote for a dog racing bill with the tacit agreement that the senate will bury it in committee. Pressure can be relieved, faces "saved," and certain constituents appeased—all by diplomatic co-operation.)

Democratic

This democratic method of government may not be streamlined. It does not meet the modern conception of business efficiency. Time and money apparently are wasted.

Furthermore, the lack of co-operation between house and senate is hard to explain at times, let alone to justify.

And yet, as one veteran lobbyist in a philosophic mood recently observed, the Michigan legislature does an exceedingly good job, on the whole, in keeping expenditures within reasonable bounds and in limiting the state debt.

"Compared with many other states which have a high bonded indebtedness, Michigan is well off. We have money in the bank, so to speak.

"Except in Wayne, Genesee, Oakland and a few other populous counties, Michigan has no vexatious tax problem. The property tax is not a state burden; it is a local problem. The state sales tax is a prolific source of revenue for state needs and local aid. We can be thankful that the legislature is largely rural and small town in its membership. Believe me, when you get an appropriation through the house with John Espie's approval, you've done something. And deliberative Don VanderWerp of the senate finance committee isn't throwing money away, either."

(In the opinion of this observer, who is a city man, the above tax situation largely accounts for a lagging zeal in the "ax the tax" crusade. As commendable as was Lansing's 1941 anti-spending rally, a state-wide attendance of around 400 taxpayers was not altogether flattering to the cause.)

$34,000 "Deficit"

Puzzling at first, and now apparently solved, was a recent attempt by the unemployment compensation commission to sponsor an amendment to the state act whereby any deficit would be payable out of the state general fund.

When an item of $34,000 was inserted in a house deficiency bill, Chairman Espie was told of a ruling by the social security board at Washington.

From reliable sources we hear that the commission last year fired a bunch of employees and hired proteges of a Wayne county politician. Then the civil service commission ordered the ousted workers to be restored with back pay! Hence the deficiency.

Lumber "Shortage"?

According to carpenters who recently joined the CIO union at Fort Custer, a reoccurring "shortage" of lumber caused many newly hired workers to be dismissed after three or four weeks of high wages.

One young attorney from a nearby small town, whose practice was disappointingly small, earned close to $80 a week including overtime pay as a carpenter at the new army camp until a "shortage" of lumber suddenly developed.

But only after he had paid the $50 membership fee!

Congressman Engle of Michigan, who has been pressing an investigation into army cantonment construction and purchase of land, may strike pay dirt when he digs into this Fort Custer situation.

30-Day Curb

While insisting on the right of labor to collective bargaining which favors unionization, Governor Van Wagoner is said to be convinced that governmental curbs are needed to slow down strikes in national defense industries and a resultant loss of vital arms production.

Furthermore, as a result of the Ford plant trouble, he favors a two-year increase of 200 troopers in the state police force. He supports an appropriation of $200,000 annually for support of 3,500 home guard troops. (The home guard would not be used for strike duty, however; its organization is required by existing federal law, the governor points out.)

The Handy-Decker (anti-strike" bill in the house, which was a direct result of the Ford strike, is being revised with considerable bi-partisan support.

Changes would include:

(1) A strike vote of union members in a plant would be held under auspices of the state labor mediation board. A bare majority of 51 per cent would be needed to make a strike legal. (Sponsors say this safegaurd would halt wild-cat walk-outs.)

(2) Give legislative sanction to the present 30-day negotiating period required for strikes in national defense plants. A month's notice for strikes of this type is at present only an administrative ruling of the state board, supported by the attorney general.

Will these restrictions be enacted into law?

Time is short. Legislators must run for re-election in 1942. Figure it out for yourself!

SUN'S RAYS WILL KILL CORN BORERS IN OPEN

Farmers Are Advised to Plow Under Field Trash Early

Plowmanship will pay dividends of fewer corn borers on Michigan farms in 1941. Borers without the shelter of field trash soon curl up and die in the heat of the sun if skunks or birds or other natural enemies of the borers don't gobble them up.

Those are tips from C. B. Dibble, extension entomologist at Michigan State college, who points to an increasing spread of the borer as proof that wise protective measures will be repaid in better crops.

Plow as early as possible and plow to cover up the trash as thoroughly as possible, Dibble warns farmers. He has found from experiments that a borer will emerge even when buried as deep as 18 inches and that three or four borers can find protection from a piece of cornstalk the size of a small finger.

URGE MOTORISTS USE CARE IN GAME AREAS

Deer On Move In Spring; Collisions Cause Serious Accidents

An extra measure of caution when driving at night through northern game country in the next few weeks will avert serious auto accidents and save the lives of deer, game men of the conservation department declare.

With the coming of warmer weather, deer are moving from swamps to higher ground, sometimes crossing the paths of fast-traveling motorists. At night they are not easily seen, and often when startled will leap into the way of an oncoming car. Collisions with deer can cause heavy damage to automobiles, serious injury to occupants.

Killing or injuring of a deer on the highway should be reported to the nearest conservation officer.

RECORD APRIL TONNAGE TO SOO LOCKS EXPECTED

Early Movement of Steel Exceeds Previous Comparable Period

An all-time April tonnage record for iron ore shipments through the Sault canal is indicated on the basis of shipments during the first half of the month.

A total of 386,592 tons, one of the highest April days on record passed through the canal last Tuesday.

It was estimated that the month's tonnage will reach 7,000,000, compared with the previous record of 4,697,643 tons, set in 1927.

Shipping through the canal was opened early this year to speed ore deliveries needed in connection with national defense program.

EDITORS WILL MEET AT KALKASKA THIS FRIDAY

Under leadership of Al H. Weber of Cheboygan, editors of newspapers in northern Michigan will meet this Friday (April 25) at Kalkaska to hold a regional meeting and to participate in the National Trout Festival opening on that day.

In cooperation with retailers and producers, newspapers are promoting "Michigon Days for Michigan Prosperity," a Michigan merchandising campaign to be held in June. Plans for this observance will be discussed at Kalkasko.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

May First—Child Health Day

If enemy bombers raided American cities, killed 25,000 children and wounded 60,000 more, this nation would declare immediate and effective war.

Yet a silent enemy every year kills more than 25,000 babies before birth or within the first year after birth, and infects 60,000 babies born alive. The enemy is syphilis, and America is not yet waging total war against it.

Today, Child Health Day, is a time for every community in America actively to encourage persons planning marriage, or women expecting babies to be tested for syphilis.

United States Public Health Service studies show that if syphilis were discovered early in every mother and followed by good treatment, the shadow of syphilis could be lifted from our children in one generation. Or, stated another way, ten out of eleven tragedies of syphilis in children could be prevented if infected mothers were treated early in pregnancy.

Physicians can discover syphilis through blood tests and physical examinations in time to save the mothers as well as the unborn babies. But neither science nor the law alone can bring the patient to the doctor, or require the people to protect themselves.

Complete protection of unborn children from syphilis is not a task for physicians alone. It is by necessity a task for the whole people. People have to understand why blood tests are so important to them and their children.

Every woman expecting a baby should insist on a blood test before the third month of pregnancy. If there is infection, immediate treatment by a doctor will mean that the baby's chances of being born free of syphilis are immeasurably greater.

Every couple planning marriage should insist on blood tests and complete physical examinations. Syphilis can wreck marriage, but it need not!

In 22 states, legislation encourages intelligent action by requiring that prospective brides and grooms have physical examinations including blood tests before the marriage license is issued. In 20 states there are laws which require blood tests of all pregnant women. Michigan requires both examinations.

Thus, 28 states in all take at least one of the steps which will help protect children, yet to be born, from syphilis—20 states and the District of Columbia still have taken no precautions.

These two precautions can be a very real offering to our children. An earnest fight by every community for the protection of its future citizens from syphilis would be an ideal campaign for Child Health Day and every day of the year.

resident. Preceding arrival of the gift, I received the following letter: "Dear Ken: I hope the enclosed will save on midnight oil and light the desk that lights my days. I wish you every success in your new building." Was somewhat puzzled, there being nothing enclosed with the letter, but next day the mystery unraveled with arrival of the lamp. My most sincere appreciation to you, Mr. Klein, not only for the gift, but also for the expression in your letter.

It's funny how a few square meals produce round figures.

The Central Drug Store building sure looks a lot nicer with its new coat of gray paint.

Can't help but think what a grand place Charlevoix is to live in right now. As I write this the temperature is 70; the lawns, fields and woods are green, trees have started taking on foliage; you can go into the woods and pick a mess of mushrooms or bouquet of wild flwers as your desires will; the trout season is open and the rivers and streams beckon you to a day's outing in the open; Round lake is clustered with boats, indicating the spring perch "run" is in full swing. May sound sort of poetic to some, but after all, what more could one ask from Nature.

Had a most unusual experience one night last week. Driving into Boyne Falls, a tire blew out, necessitating going to a garage. An attendant came out, directed me where to place the car and then went about the work of placing a jack under the rear end, removing the damaged tire, putting the spare in place, the extra wheel back in the trunk, etc. I handed the fellow a dollar bill and noticed he felt the change over carefully as if to determine its denomination by touch, and only then came to the realization he was blind. I asked him this question and he related he had been blind since 18 years old. He is now a middle aged man. It was most amazing how this man went about his work without the least hesitation when he could not see a thing, and only proves, as in many other instances, that blindness is only as much of a handicap as the individual allows it to be. I can only think that if many of us get discouraged with our lot in life, it would do us a world of good to go to Boyne Falls and see what real perseverance can accomplish.

Inquiring son: "Pop, your answer to that question I asked you last night was wrong, and teacher didn't like it, either."

Father: "What question was that, son?"

Son: remember I asked you how much the government debt was? Well, 'a helluva lot' wasn't the right answer."

Presence of numerous brilliantly plummaged and rare species of ducks in a water hole opposite the Graham farm on the Barnard road the past week had provided an unusual treat for sportsmen and ornithologists. Such species as American and European Widgeon, Green and Blue Winged Teal, Pin Tails, Green and Black Mallards—all of the highly colored species of duck—as well as the rare Greater Yellow Leg Jack Snipe, have been present in large numbers.

"WOMANLESS WEDDING" WAS DECIDED SUCCESS

Capacity Crowds Saw Two Performances of Pythian Entertainment

Arabella Amazon and Timothy Tremble were married last Thursday night at the high school gymnasium in a "Womanless Wedding" presented by the Knights of Pythias. The ceremony was repeated Friday night for the benefit of those unable to attend the first time.

The blooming bride and cringing groom, better known as Harold Miller and Walt Bergeon, were joined in holy matrimony by Bishop Willis Kerns. The mother of the bride, Fay Bradley, was attired in black and wept all through the proceedings, comforted by the bride's father, Fred Willis. Art Wexstaff and Frank Bird were bad little brothers, much in need of a sound thrashing. Her old maid aunt was represented by Earl Shipton. Also present were relatives from Ellsworth, Uncle O. P. North, Aunt J. M. Foster and Cousin Hunk (Dale) Bradley, greatly impressed by the big city and the elegance of the whole affair.

Many celebrities were present, including the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Leroy Zelley and Lowell Merica; ex-Governor Dickinson and his perfect secretary, Ralph Hamilton and J. C. Marshall; Shirley Temple, Jay Oliver; Kate Smith, C. M. Bice; the Lady in Red, Ralph Nutter; Edgar Bergen and Charley McCarthy, Bob Emrey and Clifton Gregory.

Laurels for the best characterizations must go to Ed. Stites for his impersonation of President Roosevelt, complete with Harvard accent, fireside chat, and a plan for spending seven billion dollars; and to Ray Hamilton, who became Charlie Chaplin for the performance. Allie Moore was graceful, golden-haired Sonia Henie, on roller skates.

To mention all the characters would take too much space, but all who took part are to be commended for their excellent performances.

DRAFTED YOUTHS TAKE HITLER "FOR A RIDE"

Fine Send-off Given April Quota Last Wednesday Afternoon

Charlevoix county men who made up the April draft quota had a fine send-off last Wednesday afternoon.

A short but noisy parade to the depot was led by the city fire engine, bearing an effigy of Hitler, for which much credit must go to the artistic ability of one of the drafted youths, Jack Withers. Der Fuehrer was seated upon a throne furnished by the Heise plumbing company, testifying to the high record in which this gentleman is generally held.

At the depot, an improvised band tootled merrily, the little signal cannon from East Park was shot off, Ken Heise imitated Hitler giving the straight-arm salute, and was "shot" by the cannon, then as the train was ready to leave, two members of the band blew "taps" on their cornets.

The train pulled out—but where was the figure of Mr. Hitler? Here's the rest of the story, according to the Grand Rapids Herald:

"Sergeant Wm. Lenning thought he had a dead Hitler on his hands Wednesday night but it proved to be a dummy.

"According to Sergeant Lenning, a call came into police headquarters reporting that the train from Traverse City had a dead man in one of the coaches.

"'Upon investigation he found the 'man' seemingly asleep in one of the coaches. On closer inspection it proved to be a dummy, dressed to resemble a military officer, wearing the Nazi swastika on its sleeve, a medal on its chest and its face painted to resemble Herr Hitler.

"It was believed that a group of draftees who had arrived here from the north had planted it and then called police headquarters."

This story has a happy ending, not reported in that paper. The American Express company office in Grand Rapids took charge of the dummy, and is arranging for it to tour the country on their railroad cars.

SEEK MORE YOUTH AS CCC ENROLLEES

PROGRAM NOW OFFERS VALUABLE TRAINING

Restrictions for Eligibility Are Eased to Attract Youth for National Defense Training

The following article, prepared by William B. Lindsay, director of the Charlevoix County Bureau of Social Welfare, has been submitted for publication:

"The Civilian Conservation Corps, better known as "CCC camps," offers many opportunities for young men between the ages of 17 and 23 who are physically fit, mentally alert, willing and able to do vigorous work.

There are approximately 1500 camps located in every state in the United States and in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands where work is carried on to prevent the waste of natural resources—our soils, forests, water, recreational areas, etc.

"At the time the Corps was started, its program was based upon three principal objectives: (1) to supply work and relief to those unemployed—in want, (2) to conserve and develop the natural resources of the nation, (3) to train for competence in self-support unemployed and untrained young men without other suitable opportunity for work or for training.

"At the present time these three objective in the order of urgency, must be stated in precisely the reverse order. That is to say, at the present time the most urgent objective to be discharged by the corps is the training of untrained and unemployed young men. The technical agencies and educational advisors are fully informed about the worth of the work—experience and work training in the CCC camps. The corps is fully conscious of the growing need for skilled and trained men who will find the training and experience valuable when seeking employment in private industry.

"To meet this growing need the director of Civilian Conservation Corps at Washington D. C. has modified the regulation pertaining to length of time which must elapse since honorable discharges were granted to junior enrollees. At the present time one is eligible for enrollment if he has not been in camp for three months prior to making application for re-selection.

HOSPITAL VISITORS' DAY SET FOR MAY 12

Public May See Armstrong Memorial X-Ray Recently Installed

Visitors to Charlevoix Hospital on National Hospital Day, next Monday, May 12, will have an opportunity to view the new Armstrong memorial X-ray unit, and also the baby incubator which was donated by the three child study clubs.

Both the X-ray unit and incubator are of the most modern type, and are to be compared favorably with those used in much larger hospitals. They are typical of the excellent facilities available at our local hospital.

From 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock Monday afternoon, visitors will be conducted through the hospital. All are welcome to come and see how a modern hospital functions, and a special invitation is being extended to babies who were born there.

OLIVER DUPLESSIS ADMITS COTTAGE THEFTS

Arrested Friday; Held to Circuit Court for Breaking and Entering

Oliver Duplessis, 21, of Hayes township, is being held to circuit court under $1,000 bond on a charge of breaking and entering.

Duplessis was apprehended last Friday by Deputy Edgar Behrens and Police Chief Clarence Helse, and his later admission to entering six summer residences over a period of several months ended an intensive search for the perpetrator.

A wheelbarrow taken from a WPA project at Mt. McSauby and used to carry stolen goods provided the clue for Duplessis arrest when it was tracked first to a cache of contraband on the Waller farm and later to a point near the Duplessis farm. Upon questioning, Oliver admitted entering two Haugan homes, the Campbell, McKinnon and Parks cottages near Mt. McSauby, also Oldswood Lodge. He led officers to hiding places of the stolen goods, all of which was recovered.

PROPOSED ZONING PLAN IS OUTLINED

PUBLIC HEARING ON PROPOSAL HELD MONDAY

Small Crowd Out Voiced Numerous Objections; Changes to Be Made and Second Hearing Held

Details of a zoning ordinance proposed by the city council as a protection to Charlevoix property values, were outlined at a public hearing conducted Monday evening in the community room of the city hall.

Perhaps thirty residents, a disappointing number in view of the importance attached to the proposal by city officials, were on hand for the discussion.

City Attorney Rollie L. Lewis read pertinent portions of the ordinance and J. Martin Frissell, of Lansing, city planning expert retained by the city council to prepare the zoning plan, explained the various property classification, restrictions, etc., from a chart showing each in color.

Probably due mainly to misunderstanding rather than opposition to the ordinance as a whole, numerous objections were voiced on certain details. Inasmuch as the ordinance is still in the stage of formation and is subject to such reasonable and practical changes as the public may desire, the council plans alterations to embody objections which arose, and will hold another public hearing at a near future date.

In view of the fact the ordinance affects every parcel of property in the city, particularly its status in event of changes contemplated on types of buildings, their purpose from standpoint of residential or commercial, type of construction, etc., it is very important that citizens attend the next hearing and in the meantime familiarize themselves with its provisions. Date of the next hearing will be announced when available.

FIRST RAIN IN TWO-WEEK PERIOD FELL ON TUESDAY

Relieves Forest Fire Condition and Aids Farm Crops Growth

Rain, the first in 15 days, fell Monday in northern Michigan. A dangerous forest fire condition was temporarily relieved and farm lands received greatly needed moisture to start growth of crops.

Two weeks of unseasonal warm weather has brought the advancement of fruit tree buds, truck garden produce and flowers to a stage of growth exceeding that of normal years, in this region, it is stated.

NORTHERN CLASS C FIELD MEET MAY 10

AT LEAST THREE SCHOOLS TO COMPETE HERE

Charlevoix Scene Annual Conference Event; Are Defending Champions Again This Year

Preparations are under way by local school athletic officials for the fifth annual Tip O'Michigan class C conference track and field meet, scheduled Saturday, May 10, at south side athletic field.

At least three schools will participate, according to Stewart E. Coleman, Charlevoix track coach. Charlevoix will defend its title against Onaway and Mancelona, it is expected. Late entry of Boyne City and East Jordan, competitors until last year, is a possibility.

Charlevoix has won the event four successive years. In the 1940 event, local trackmen nosed out Onaway by a margin of 57½ points to 42½. Mancelona was third with 20 points. The order of points won was the same in 1939.

According to present plans, qualifying for dashes, hurdles and broad jump, and finals in the pole vault and shot put, will be held in the forenoon, starting at 10 o'clock. Finals in other events, ten in all, will be held in the afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock.

Officials for the meet had not been completely lined up at this writing.

Charlevoix will again place a well balanced team in the meet this year and, if results of the recent Charlevoix-Onaway dual meet may be taken as an indication, should successfully defend its title.

Charlevoix's team will be composed of Bud Kohler in ½-mile, high jump, pole vault, relay; Dick Hallett, hurdles, broad jump, relay; Jack Stewart, dashes, relay; James Ferres, hurdles, shot put; Ken Staley, high jump, ½-mile; Clare Martin, hurdles, pole vault, broad jump; Don Carey, dashes, shot, relay; Gene Bergman, high jump, hurdles; Gerald Chambers, hurdles; Jim Foster, broad jump; Billy Gengle, ½-mile; John Swanson, Ted Janchn, Don Meggison, Harrison Hooker, mile event; Albert McDonald, Ralph Mitchell, John Bissell, Lester Gallagher, in ¼-mile; Carl Rowe, Louis McKenzie, Stanley Shapton, in ¼-mile.

The conference track and field meet tops the list of spring athletic events for northern Michigan class C schools.

SHOT AT RANDOM

Note with interest that the Delta Reporter, published at Gladstone, carries a notice of public hearing on the proposed 1941-42 city budget. Such action on the part of the Gladstone city commission carries out one of our most cherished democratic principles—letting the public know how their money is to be spent. Wish I could say as much for Charlevoix. Our city council, whether it is legally obligated to do so or not, fails to hold such a hearing to show how it proposes to spend tax money, and even more regretable, it has failed the past three years to show by itemized publication, how, it DID spend such money. The same can be said for the county and board of education, also.

One should remember we cannot increase our own store of knowledge while we are talking; we only do that while we are listening.

It would seem only reasonable that if President Roosevelt finds it valuable enough to national interests to

A medley of state topics occupies attention of the state legislature, now in its final weeks of session—national defense, school aid, the $200,000,000 biennial budget, revenue consolidation, dog racing and crippled and afflicted children.

(Bi-partisan support is being given to an extensive program of state defense as Michigan's part in national defense.)

An 11-member council of defense, supported by a $85,000 appropriation, is to be created with general authority to coordinate state and local activities. The house approved the bill 83 to 6 after Republican and Democratic leaders pleaded for its enactment.

Shadow of the darkening war clouds was felt as legislators discussed the bill.

"If we knew the truth, we are at war and don't know it," reminded Rep. John P. Espie of Eagle, chairman of the house ways and means committee. "The state police commissioner and the adjutant-general of Michigan have called this bill nec-

Setting Out Young Pines Receiving Emphasis by Schools, Individuals

Last week was the high point in regard to setting out young pine trees throughout the county. Thursday the East Jordan school forestry clubs set out some 4000 young trees in their school forest. The same day the Boyne Falls forestry group set out over 2000 trees in their newly acquired property between Boyne City and Boyne Falls. Then on Friday the Melrose Township Unit set out a similar number of trees in their school forest located just south of Walloon Lake.

In addition to this activity, orders for over 5000 trees were sent in by the County Road Commission for snow breaks along county roads. Within a very few years these trees set out by local farmers will decrease the cost of snow removal and afford a substantial saving to the county. Also of interest is the fact that the Rotary club of Boyne City set out around 5000 trees in their little forest and the city of Charlevoix set 500 trees along the chnnnel bank. While we have no way of knowing exnctly, we feel confident that local farmers have ordered around 50,000 trees.

More and more people are conscious of the value of growing trees on many locations that nre not suited for other purposes. As years go by it will be far more pleasant and enjoyable as we drive along our county roads to see these pine trees on all sides. This is a land use that certainly ran not be criticised and will surely prove the statement that all land has a proper use and it depends an man's intelligence to discover this proper use.

Home Economics Extension Leaders Given Last Lesson

Last week Tuesday, marked the completion of the project of Home Management which has consisted of four lessons. Every group in the county was represented by their leader or leaders. Miss Peck, home management specialist, Michigan State College, gave the lessun and outlined information to be sent in to the state office.

The forenoun session was largely devoted to a discussion of planning for the Achievement Day. As a result of last year's highly successful Achievement Day tour, it wan unanimously decided to have a similar tour this year. O. I. Gregg, landscaping specialist, will accompany the tour, which will include at least two stops to show the results of home beautification.

It was decided to have the picnic dinner at the Whiting County Park. Also it is planned to visit the new home of Arlo Wickersham, recently completed in Charlevoix.

Brief comments were made regarding the mattress program which has been so ably assisted by the various Home Economics Extension groups in the county. Close to 200 women have been regular members of the various local groups throughout the county. Final plans for the Achievement Day will be developed by the executive committee consisting of Mrs. Edith Novotny, Charlevoix county chairman, Mrs. Frances Looze, East Jordan and Mrs. Priscilla Lish, East Jordan. The entire public is invited to visit six or seven points of interest on Tuesday, June 17th. Watch the papers for further particulars.

Disposition of State-Owned Lands in County Receiving Greater Interest

The various township land planning committees last fall were asked to make recommendations as to the proper disposition of state owned lands. These recommendations have been more or less carried out during the winter months but because of the fact that many of the descriptions were within the boundaries of the Hardwood State Forest no approvals were received. Apparently the representatives of the State Department of Conservation were not aware of the quality of land and all the facts in the case.

The extension office felt that the best policy would be for the local leaders to meet a representative of the state department to discuss these various recommendations.

Last Tuesday night some 15 farmers in Chandler township met together and discussed various descriptions that it is felt should be put up for sale to adjoining farmers. We all feel that there should be around 1000 acres of land now owned by the state offered for sale to farmers to make their farm units more efficient and to afford great opportunity for increase in income. Throughout this year efforts will be made to develop a policy that will be of value to the county.

PERCH FISHING BIG ATTRACTION HERE SUNDAY

Believe Day Produced Largest Crowd of Anglers on Record

Trolling camps, bait dealers, restaurants and gas stations did a "land office" business last Sunday as the annual perch spawning run into Round lake brought the greatest crowd of anglers on record.

One curious and painstaking individual counted 91 boats anchored on the fishing grounds at one time, probably the largest number on record. Every available space on docks around the lake was occupied as well.

While catches did not equal for size and number those of previous days last week, limit takes were not an exception.

COUNTY CHERRY GROWERS JOIN PROMOTION

Take Membership In Michigan Association of Cherry Growers

Charlevoix county cherry growers met Friday night at the East Jordan community building to organize for membership in the Michigan Association of Cherry Producers.

The meeting was arranged through the active co-operation of B. C. Mellencamp, county agricultural agent, and was attended by a representative group of growers from all parts of the county.

Howard Taft was chosen organizing chairman and John J. Porter secretary. It was the unanimous sense of those present that not only should immediate steps be taken to enlist every one of the 80 or more cherry growers of Charlevoix county in the Michigan Association of Cherry Producers, but that a Charlevoix county growers association should likewise be formed.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

The wrens came back this week, and the orioles are here. That was a vesper sparrow you have been hearing and calling a wren, but no matter. He just belongs to the sparrow family and is only a cousin of the English bully.

Wild cherries and shadblow, or shadbush, are the blossoming trees you see in the woods, while in town the cherry, plum, peach, and a few apricot trees are lovely this week. Forsythia, an early spirea and flowering almond are in full bloom. Tulips are coming, and narcissus, baby iris, and primrose were here to greet the May. 'Way ahead of time.

Have you seen and wondered about that yellow shrub in the Charlevoix Oil company's shrub border? It's a golden syringa, somewhat of a rarity in this region.

We are glad to see gardeners cooperating in zinnia planting. Let's all plant zinnias now, and later on. Planting some seeds now and then some more in a couple of weeks will give a continuation of bloom in the summer.

INDIVIDUAL HOSPITAL PLAN SHOWS PROGRESS

Three Hundred Per Cent Increase In Premiums Noted for 1940

Cash assets of $150 for each $100 of liabilities was reported Monday at the annual meeting of the members of the Association Mutual Hospital Service of Michigan, held in the Michigan Building, Detroit, by Joseph L. Milburn, president.

"Premium income and enrollment fees increased from $24,861.00 in 1939 to $75,065.00 in 1940, or an increase of over 300%, and the surplus more than doubled as well as the membership. The association is the only one of its kind in the state of Michigan, selling individual hospitalization exclusively and gives the individual who cannot obtain group hospitalization, the opportunity to receive cash benefits. The Associated Mutual Hospital Service pioneered this type of insurance in Michigan and is now entering upon its fourth year and in no way conflicts with the group insurance plans of various companies and the hospitals themselves. Claims are now running approximately in the amount of $6,000 per month and they have been paid to various members hospitalized in Michigan and throughout the United States and Canada," Milburn said.

The officers and trustees elected to direct the affairs of the association, which is a not for profit, co-operative, community organization, under the supervision of the Department of Insurance, were as follows: Joseph L. Milburn, president; Jesse E. Hatch, vice - president - executive director; Helen M. Smith, secretary-treasurer, and the following trustees: Miss Billie Ammon, Mrs. Mildred Brichta, Joseph W. Landon, Emanuel Maynard, Dr. Fred M. Meader, John C. Norton, James R. Sagel, Willis S. Wyatt.

The combined monthly allotment is $30.00—$8.00 to the enrollee for current needs and spending money, $15.00 to allottees, and $7.00 to be deposited in a savings account which is given to the enrollee when he leaves camp. Advances in the pay rate depends entirely on the ability of the enrollee.

"The Charlevoix County Department of Social Welfare located on Petoskey avenue, Charlevoix, is the only certifying agency in the county. We will be very happy to explain any phase of the new CCC program to any interested person."

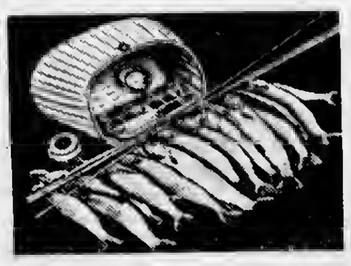
Dry-fly or wet-fly, trolling, bait-casting or still-fishing—whatever kind of fishing you favor, there's sport for you in the streams and lakes of Michigan.

THERE'S A BIG ONE CALLING YOU!

The fighting fish of Michigan are waiting hungrily for their annual tussle at the other end of your line. With five thousand miles of rivers and streams where brook trout, browns and rainbows are jumping—five thousand inland lakes, teeming with bass, lake trout, pike, walleyes and "muskies"—is it any wonder that Michigan tops every other state in the number of fishing licenses?

In the past year, millions of fish, many of them of legal size, have been placed in Michigan waters by the state hatcheries and feeding ponds. A splendid system of state highways leads to the lakes and rivers and the deep-water fishing grounds, offshore. And all Michigan is dotted with hotels and camps for the comfort of anglers. Telephone ahead for reservations, boats, guides or information. Then pack up your tackle and go where the fish are calling!



Do you know the flavor of fresh-caught Michigan trout, crisped and browned over a camp-fire? These are browns and rainbows, taken in Boardman River.

AAA OFFICIALS SEEK INCREASED VEGETABLE PLANTING FOR CANNING

A program to expand the production of tomatoes for canning by 50% to meet probable demands for canned tomatoes under the Lend-Lease Act, and for distribution by the American Red Cross as well as for school lunch, relief and other purposes, was announced today by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard.

The need for immediate action to secure the necessary acreage to produce an extra 15,000,000 cases of canned tomatoes was emphasized, as planting must be made during the next few weeks in order to insure the required supply. Smaller quantities of peas, corn and snap beans may also be purchased from time to time, but no advance purchases at this time are contemplated.

Growers who participate in the AAA program will not incur any deductions from their payments because of increases in acreages of these vegetables for canning. Any acreage devoted to tomatoes, snap beans, peas and sweet corn which is contracted for canning will be classified as non-depleting in connection with the 1941 AAA program. However, the classification of these crops will be soil-depleting, if they are sold on the market as fresh vegetables.

Muskrat Trapping Fell Off

Because of bad weather, trappers along the Lake Erie shore took only about eight per cent more muskrats during the extended 1940-41 season than during the previous year, according to estimates of a conservation department investigator. Trappers reported the 'rat supply still heavy at the end of the second month's trapping.

LOCAL TRACKMEN COMPETE AT MT. PLEASANT

Placed 3rd In 440 Relay, Fifth in Mile Event Last Saturday

Charlevoix high school trackmen made a good showing while failing to score points against extremely stiff competition at the Mt. Pleasant invitational track meet last Saturday.

Competing against other class C schools were Jack Stewart, Clare Martin, Don Carey, Dick Hallett, Bud Kohler, Carl Rowe, Ralph Mitchell and Kenneth Staley, who accompanied Coach Stewart Coleman.

The first four named took third place in the 440-yard relay, and the last named group placed fifth in the mile relay. Kohler gave his best performance of the year in the high jump, reaching 5 ft. 4 inches. Staley's height in the same event was 5 ft. 2 inches.

AUTOMOBILES CAUSE HEAVY WILDLIFE TOLL

Conservation Department Count Indicates Alarming Figures

When the toll taken by fast highway traffic is added up, count among the needless losses the lives of many game animals.

In three months of routine patrol in southern Michigan conservation officers observed these victims of fast wheeled traffic: 1,020 rabbits, 234 pheasants, 211 squirrels, 38 skunks, 36 opossums, 34 muskrats, seven deer, five quail, four raccoons and 21 other game animals. As spring advances, increasing numbers will be endangered.

Conservation officers say care in driving would save the lives of most of them.

PATIENTS STAY IN HOSPITALS DECREASES 70% IN PAST HALF CENTURY

In 1894 the average stay of a patient in a hospital was nearly 40 days. Today the average length of stay is less than 12 days, it was reported by Charlevoix Hospital.

Those who visit hospitals on National Hospital Day will learn many other interesting facts in connection with present day service. Local hospitals are cooperating with other progressive institutions throughout the United States, Canada, Australia and other countries, in a movement to acquaint the people with the real meaning of hospital service and to give them some idea of the great variety of equipment and the large personnel of highly trained executives, medical men, nurses, and others required to treat the sick and injured.

Charlevoix Hospital works with the National Hospital Day Committee of the American Hospital Association in this important work of presenting to the public real facts concerning the hospital's place in the community.

AT THE MOVIES

Roach's "Topper Returns" a Palace Attraction

Comedy, mystery and romance are blended in the swiftly paced story which unfolds in the new Hal Roach production, "Topper Returns," which is slated for its local premiere at the Palace Theater on May 10-11 thru United Artists release.

The cast of "Topper Returns" is headed by such Hollywood luminaries as Joan Blondell, Roland Young, Carole Landis, Billie Burke, Dennis O'Keefe, Patsy Kelly, Eddie (Rochester) Anderson and Rafaela Ottiano. Roland Young and Billie Burke are back as Cosmo Topper and his fluttery spouse, the roles they made famouse in the two previous Roach hits, "Topper" and "Topper Takes a Trip."

"Honeymoon for 3" Coming

A filmful of fun fresh from Hollywood will make its local debut May 13 at the Palace Theater where Warner Bros.' sparkling comedy, "Honeymoon For Three' starts its run. The story tells of one of those long forgotten college romances that pops up at the most inopportune time. Just when Ann Sheridan, in the role of a famous author's secretary, has convinced her employer, an energetic writer played by George Brent, who likes his women as much as his typewriter (maybe more so), that he ought to marry her, along comes a very pretty young matron, played by Osa Massen, who claims him as the only man suited for her despite the fact that she already has a husband. He is an easy-going sort of fellow, very aptly portrayed by Charles Ruggles.

Robert Montgomery and Ingrid Bergman Star in "Rage in Heaven"

Robert Montgomery and Ingrid Bergman, fascinating new Swedish actress, are co-starred in one of James Hilton's most exciting novels, "Rage in Heaven," coming May 15-17 to the Palace Theater for an engagement of three days.

Hilton's genius for brilliant characterization, revealed in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" and "Lost Horizon," reaches its peak in the psychological study of a weakling, married to a beautiful gril, whose insane and unjustified jealousy of his best friend drives him to attempt the "perfect crime."

Margaret Hayes Among Winners at Fashion Show

Margaret Hayes is the glamorous new leading lady for William Boyd in his latest "Hopalong" Cassidy film "In Old Colorado" that Paramount brings to the Palace Theater May 15-17, Thursday, Friday and Saturday next.

Just recently in New York Miss Hayes was the center of a maelstrom of publicity when she was judged runner-up in a national style show to select "Miss Fashion Futures" held at the Hotel Astor.

A GOOD CHOICE

Recent press statements that the governor would "confer with leading conservationists" in the matter of appointments to the conservation commission, soon to be made, indicate that the posts will probably not be filled until after the spring election.

Of the various names that have been presented to the executive, that of Al H. Weber, editor of the Cheboygan Observer, stands out as the best timber for appointment from northeastern Michigan, one section of the state which is most likely to be recognized on the commission.

He has for years been an outstanding figure in matters of conservation, is widely known as a prominent publisher of the fearless type, is a successful business man and has a strong backing, not only in his own particular section where he is most appreciated, but over the entire state.

His appointment to this important non-partisan board, would be indicative, on the part of the governor, of the latter's desire to recognize the various groups and individuals, who have approached the appointment on a non-partisan basis, and place above all else the welfare of the conservation department as representing one of the major interests of the public.

College Sells Sir Lact

Sale of Sir Lact, outstanding Percheron stallion, to a group of Indiana horsemen is announced by Ralph Hudson, farm and horse superintendent at Michigan State College. The college has owned the 15-year-old animal for 12 years and has shown the black-coated animal at fairs in Ohio, Michigan and at the International in Chicago. He is related to every mare now in the college Percheron herd. The new owners are Harry Cahlwell, Frank Beall and Paul Ferris of Milton, Eastern Indiana. They have agreed to give the animal a good home in an effort to extend Sir Lact's usefulness to another section.

Michigan Freezes Foods

Twelve popular foods are being quick-frozen commercially in Michigan for retail distribution, according to a recent survey. Methods and results are being studied in the horticulture department and home economics department at Michigan State College to aid homemakers and the commercial handlers. Foods now involved commercially include asparagus, lima beans, green beans, corn, peas, spinach, miscellaneous vegetables, cherries, strawberries, raspberries, peaches and miscellaneous fruits.

State Leads in Apple Juice

Michigan shares with New York state the national leadership in canning and bottling apple juice, according to a survey recently in a conference at Michigan State College. One of the speakers, Dr. H. H. Mottern of Philadelphia, described by-product usage and notes that pectin made from dried apple pomace apparently has found a new use in lubricating drills boring new oil wells. He also described possibilities of obtaining wax from apple peelings.

How Much Farm Land?

How much land is there available for farm crops in the United States? According to the federal Soil Conservation Service, there is about 415 million acres of cropland area in the country of which 342 million can be classed as good. Actually there are only about 62 million acres now in crops where the land is good and also safe from injurious erosion. Costly irrigation, drainage and clearing could develop another 68 million acres of land safe from erosion.

Corn Supply Ample

Reports from the United States department of agriculture indicate the country began the year with a corn supply of 3,150,000,000 bushels of corn, nearly a record supply. Michigan farmers feeding meat and dairy animals are helping use the corn. Those who have studied this supply indicate there is enough corn and other feed on hand to produce more meat and livestock products than the American public has ever consumed in any one year.

The Indian population of Michigan before arrival of the white man was estimated at 7,000 to 10,000 by Henry Schoolcraft (1793-1851), who reported traveling mile after mile thru woods without meeting a human being. Today the wildlife of the same area furnishes sport, food or income to more than 1,000,000 sport fishermen, 2,000 commercial fishermen, 170,000 deer hunters, 500,0000 small game hunters and 25,000 trappers.

The progress in America in the past 20 years alone is shown by the fact that the number of home owners has increased by 3,500,000; telephones in use, by 7,000,000; electric refrigerators, by 14,000,000; automobiles registered, by 22,000,000; radio sets, by 52,000,000; and life insurance policies owned, by 58,000,000.

A Little Fire Is Big Enough

Outdoorsmen entering the north woods in numbers with the opening of the trout season April 26 are reminded by the conservation department that last year Michigan's heaviest forest fire losses were in the first month of the fire season, before vegetation had time to "green up." The ideal campfire is small. It should be built in the center of a cleared space, away from over hanging branches, and completely out.

LANSING LETTER

cessary. We don't know what fates us in the next few months."

"Short of War"

If the decision of Senator Prentiss M. Brown (D) of St. Ignace is any index of Michigan public opinion and Brown is expected to run for re-election next year, Michigan voters are still cool to the idea of American getting into a "shooting war" on the side of Britain.

Senator Brown has announced he is opposed to use of the United States navy to convoy defense products to Great Britain. Instead, he would turn over more destroyers and other naval craft to British and Canadian sailors of which an ample supply is said to be available.

In taking this stand Senator Brown is in agreement with Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R) of Grand Rapids. Both Brown and Vandenberg voted against the selective service draft; Michigan representatives were overwhelmingly opposed to the act.

In giving his reasons Senator Brown pointed out that the American people, as shown by frequent Gallup public opinion surveys, are opposed to an "all-out" participation in the European war with all that this would mean—transporting of a huge expeditionary force 3,000 miles to a Nazi-dominated continent, unreserved use of our naval and air force, and a sky-high boost in our national debt.

Right or wrong, public opinion continues to influence the actions of men who depend upon ballots for re-election.

School Aid

More school aid for rural districts would be forthcoming under the Michigan Education association bill, now before the legislature.

The MEA formula of school aid, for example, would give Detroit only $100,000 more out of $40,000,000 than it received last year out of $41,000,000.

The minimum amount would be $42,000,000, an increase of a million dollars; the maximum would be $46,000,000. The former amount is more likely than the latter.

$200,000,000 Budget

State payrolls for the first quarter of the Van Wagoner administration were substantially higher than for the same period one year ago.

Furthermore, a $200,000,000 budget is in prospect for the coming biennium. Governor Van Wagoner asked the legislature to appropriate $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 to apply directly on retirement of the state's $28,000,000 debt. The legislature's decision, as shown by passage of a bill by Senator Bishop would not earmark definite money for debt retirement but would take pot-luck with chances of surplus revenues. The Bishop measure, already adopted by the senate, would prohibit expenditure by a state agency of any money in excess of the legislature's appropriation.

Governor Van Wagoner would be without executive power to trim state spending through the budget director. All budget prerogatives would be held by the legislature; the "little legislature" council would be abolished; any emergency funds would require a special session of the legislature.

Tax Collections

A bi-partisan measure that faces a doubtful fate is a bill to consolidate tax collecting agencies.

Sponsors claim that the plan would effect an annual "saving" of $5,000,000 to $20,000,000. Critics say this is nonsense, that it would only clip Republican branches of state government of present prerogatives and that economies would be disappointingly small, if any at all.

Governor Van Wagoner has cast his support to the bill with a flat declaration that its defeat would be "outright betrayal" of the wishes of the people.

Dog Racing

Dog racing tracks in Michigan appear to have a fair chance.

Again, it is an old story of rural vs. city, plus a friendly interest in Floyd Fitzsimmons, Benton Harbor sports promoter.

Three times in past sessions the house of representatives has voted favorably for a Fitzsimmons-sponsored dog racing bill. And three times the state senate has applied the brakes.

This time it may be different. The halt for upstate vote exists in a provision that 90 per cent of the state revenue (Fitzsimmons believes Michigan could net $750,000 to $1,000,000 a year from six to eight tracks) would be returned to counties in proportion to their population. Ten per cent would be earmarked for crippled children.

Dog racing is a city sport, ideal for gamblers. Races draw patronage from city dwellers; they are held at night, permitting attendance of factory workers and housewives. With national defense payrolls mounting even higher, dog racing promoters believe Michigan is ripe for a "killing."

Crippled Children

A hard fought battle is raging between the probate judges and county supervisors and a group of other interests headed by the State Medical society over authority to dispense state aid for crippled and afflicted children.

In 61 out of 83 counties doctors receive no fees for services performed in behalf of either crippled or afflicted children. Hospital fees are now $3.50 a day, and only hospitals in Ann Arbor, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Traverse City and Marquette possess surgical equipment to take care of crippled children.

Because medical care has been authorized by the probate judges and the bill has been turned over to the state, doctors charge "political patronage" while the judges decry "high medical fees." It has been a bitter controversy.

The medical society's plan, which is endorsed by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign War, Michigan Welfare league, Michigan Hospital association, Michigan Crippled Children's society and members of the state crippled children commission, would establish a "filter" system, first to determine the economic need thru the local department of social welfare in each county, and second to ascertain the medical need by medical examiners who would donate their services.

The probate judges' bill, House Bill 297, would continue power in hands of the probate judges. The medical society's bill, House Bill 317, would effect a double check on economic and medical needs, while permitting applications to be received by the probate judge.

Installment Inflation?

Retailers are being cautioned by the Michigan Retail Institute not to rely heavily on installment selling. In fact, the use of extensive credit for merchandise has reached such a proportion that it is said to be headed for a disastrous collapse.

J. Anton Hagios, credit executive of the Retail Dry Goods Association of New York, recently warned in an address at Muskegon:

"Installment selling is destined for a fall—yes, a terrific fall — unless steps are taken now to restrict and readjust the installment terms structure. Credit volume is much greater, time payment terms are excessively long, and above all, we are granting credit to customers in very much lower income levels than at the end of the last World War, or even eight years ago."

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Home Pasteurization of Milk

The process is not difficult and when properly performed should offer a safeguard to many milk-borne organisms and particularly those which in winter cause "strep throat" and in summer are productive of intestinal disorders marked by diarrhea. When circumstances permit the purchase of milk which has been subjected to inspection at every step from the cow through the dairy and to the city doorstep, it is, of course, to be preferred. Nevertheless, rural and suburban families may do much to prevent milk contamination.

It is imperative that animals found to be tuberculous or suffering from Bang's disease should be removed from the herd and destroyed. Those who produce or distribute milk should be free of communicable disease.

Barns and milk room should be scrupulously clean and a supply of live steam should be available for the scalding of all vessels used. In modern sanitary dairies, the cows are brushed and udders washed before milking while considerable time is spent in cleansing the hands of the milker. The milk is released into sterilized pails with small mouths to reduce to a minimum the amount of dust or foreign matter which may fall from the animal into the milk.

If the milk is to be used on the farm or sold directly to customers who call for it, the following procedure is recommended.

A container such as a washboiler is scalded, a wire rack is placed in the bottom and the bottles of milk, loosely capped, are arranged on the rack. The bottles have been previously sterilized. Water is poured into the receptacle until it reaches the lip of the bottles and some heating device is employed to bring the temperature up 145 degrees at which it is held for 30 minutes. In no case should the temperature be allowed to fall below 142 degrees, nor should it rise above 145 degrees.

At the expiration of 30 minutes, the bottles are tightly capped, removed from the boiler and placed in running, cold water until they are cool. Rapid chilling is as essential as heating as the sudden change of temperature tends to destroy the germs of tuberculosis, typhoid fever, diphtheria, septic sore throat, undulent fever and dysentery.

Milk should be left in the bottles until it is used and it is advisable that consumption be completed within 24 hours after pasteurization.

sing Col. Lindberg down for speaking his mind on matters of national policy it would be even more valuable to slap down those elements responsible for strikes which have robbed our country of millions of hours of man labor so sorely needed to provide defense weapons and materials.

There is a reward for voting for the right political party, after all. The new state highway department ferry soon to be placed in service at the Straits of Mackinac is to be named "City of Petoskey."

No Harm Done—

Husband: "Confound it! I've locked the keys inside the car."

Wife: "Never mind dear. It's such a nice night we might as well ride in the rumble seat."

You never would imagine that a 9-inch trout could hide itself in such a small place unless you happened to be out to the Stover creek rearing ponds to watch the process of ridding them of all carry-over fish before re-stocking each spring. Trout being cannibalistic in nature, it is quite important that all large ones be removed before the small fingerlings are released, otherwise the big ones eat the little ones. So they drain all water from the rearing ponds and the chase is on. To see a 9-incher disappear under a 3-inch rock, dive completely out of sight into the mud or hide in a small crevice under the concrete retaining wall is simply amazing to say the least. Roy Ranger gets 'em, though, and such nimbleness at his age is also amazing.

Jess Smith admits the Kentucky derby was a "horse on him." Seems he lost a wager in the winner to a fellow he didn't think knew anything about horses.

Why not apologize instantly and be done with it?

We find peculiar revelations in Ruth Millet's newspaper column, "We the Women." For example, she says: "The servant problem is largely a problem of woman working for woman—and it comes up anywhere that one woman has to take orders from another. A woman hates to be in an inferior position to another woman. She doesn't mind having a man tell her what to do. Men have been bossing for generations. And there is something in the element of sex that makes it not unpleasant for a woman to take orders from a man. But women are so jealous of each other that they can't bear to think of another woman as their boss. Think for a minute how the servant reasons. All day long she does what another woman tells her to do. She does 'the 'dirty work' — cleaning, scrubbing, and cooking meals. Then when the man of the house (always the really important person in the servant's mind) comes home, another woman gets all the credit for running the house well. Servants aren't going to be happy and satisfied as long as women continue to be the bosses in their homes. The solution is obvious. Let the wife work down town and let the husband stay home with the maid. Or let the women hire 'boys' to do the housework. Men don't mind being bossed by women. Or do they?"

A circular, heralding Albert E. Widdifield, former local youth now an advertising executive in Chicago, as the speaker at an annual promotion meeting, indicates the prominence "Al" has attained in his chosen field. The circular read: "Whenever this brilliant figure in Chicago advertising circles speaks he has a message of real significance that no one can afford to spare. Ex-newspaper man, agency executive, publicity agent and now advertising manager extraordinary, only his youth belies his rich and varied background of experience in all fields of publicity, sales promotion and advertising. It will be a high spot of the year's program!" "Al" is advertising manager for the Chicago Flexible Shaft Co., makers of Sunbeam electric appliances.

We're going to hold "open house" on Saturday, May 17. All of our readers and anyone else who cares to, is invited to come and inspect the Courier's new home. We'll try to show you how a newspaper is manufactured—from the reporters' noggin to the finished product—no intimate secrets revealed, however. Since fire upset the program last December 15, we published at the Boyne Citizen plant—a courtesy which words cannot adequately repay, but which I hereby humbly attempt to acknowledge. We put out our first publication in the new plant April 23rd and now have things in running order. Will tell you more about it next week.

And in closing: "All that extra leisure does for us is increase our cost of living and get us into trouble."

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER BANQUET FINE AFFAIR

Nearly Two Hundred Guests at Annual Function Wednesday Nite

The fourteenth annual Mother and Daughter banquet, sponsored by the Margaret Parker circle of the Congregational church, was given last Wednesday evening in the church dining room.

Daffodils and forsythia made an attractive spring setting for the event, at which a hundred seventy-three guests were present.

Opening the program was a piano number by Mrs. A. J. Stelter. Mrs. Donald R. Evans gave the invocation. An address of welcome was given by Mrs. Harold Lamb, who introduced the toastmistress, Miss Frances Durance. Miss Louise Young played a piano solo, "Witches' Dance", by McDowell. The toast to daughters was given by Mrs. Ross Alexander, and her daughter, Jane, responded with a toast to the mothers. Two solos, "Songs My Mother Taught Me", by Dvorak, and Brahms' "Cradle Song" were sung by Miss Eleanor Brow. A violin solo was played by Miss Sybil Blackmon. "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair", by Haydn, and Nevins' "The Rosary" were sung by an adult chorus. Mrs. Stelter was piano accompanist for the musical numbers.

Chairmen of committees in charge of the banquet were: program, Mrs. F. E. Cartier; kitchen, Mrs. Miles Olmstead; tickets, Mrs. C. H. Sternberg; dining room, Mrs. Harold Byers.

SPRING REMODELING AND REPAIRS NOTED

Charlevoix Homes, Business Places Prepared for Summer

Smelt runs, arbutus, maple sap, May flowers, mushrooms, warm wind and rain all point out the fact that spring is here. And residents of Charlevoix are taking advantage of this welcome season to dress up for the summer.

Dead grass, leaves and broken branches have been raked from most yards throughout the city and this work will see completion with the present week's annual clean-up campaign.

Business places are likewise painting up and repairing for the summer season. Among those observed are the Charlevoix Oil Co., Smith's Housefurnishings, Polly-Kay, State Savings bank, Northern Auto Co., Central Drug Store, Charlevoix Fruit Market, Monte's Cafe, Charlevoix Coal & Ice Co., Sternberg Beauty Shop, Fessenden's, Wood Brothers, Henry Barber & Beauty Shop, Milton Block and many others.

Charlevoix will present its customary neat appearance to summer residents and tourist visitors.

FINAL RETURNS SPRING ELECTION ARE RELEASED

Official Canvass at Lansing Failed to Change Previous Results

Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly has released official spring election returns which will be presented to the state canvassing board for certification of winners.

Returns did not change unofficial reports which showed re-election of superintendent of public instruction Eugene B. Elliott, Republican, and election of state highway commissioner G. Donald Kennedy, Democrat, which maintained bi-partisan power of the state administrative board.

The figure showed that Dr. Wynand Wichers of Holland, Republican member of the state board of education, won re-election over Miss Frances Comfort, Detroit educator and Democratic candidate, by a 2,930 margin of votes. Both Republican candidates for regents of the University of Michigan won by narrow margins over Democratic incumbents.

ANGLERS URGED TO REPORT ALL TAGGED FISH

More Than Hundred Turned In to Department This Season

Reflecting anglers' luck in the finest trout season opening in years is the receipt of more than 100 metal tags in the mail to the conservation department's fish division.

The tags were taken from the jaws of brook, brown and rainbow trout. Tagged trout have been released in many lakes and streams by the department's fisheries research men to trace migration, survival and growth of sample fish among the millions stocked each year to maintain good fishing in heavily fished waters.

Anglers are asked to report where they take tagged fish, and their weight and length when caught. If they wish, the tags, along with the fish's history, will be returned to them for souvenirs. Fishermen also may cooperate by reporting when and where they creel fish marked by the removal or notching of one or more fins.

HEAVY TREE PLANTING TO PROVIDE DEER, GAME FOOD

Hardwood and coniferous tree plantings that will total 660,000 trees are being made this spring by the conservation department to provide food and cover for deer and small game. The trees are being set out in two areas in the upper peninsula and three in the lower part of the state.

FISHING LAW CHANGES GIVEN HOUSE APPROVAL

New Limitation on Brook Trout Creel Is Proposed

A general revision of the fishing laws, approved by the house of representatives last Wednesday and sent to the senate, would put a crimp in the style of the fellow who loves to come home from a trout fishing trip with a basket full of "whoppers."

While the bill would continue a maximum of 15 as the number of brook, brown and rainbow trout which might be taken in a day, it would declare no trout fisher is entitled to a number of fish weighing more than 10 pounds, plus one fish, in a single day's sport.

It would continue the creel limit of 25 panfish in a day with the proviso that the number could include not more than 15 bluegills with a special limit of 15 panfish on Houghton lake.

The Mackinaw and lake trout limit, now five in a day, would be changed to not more than 25 pounds and one more fish, save that no limit would be imposed on the catch taken through the ice on Great Lakes waters.

A limit of five large or small mouth bass, pike, perch or northern pike is specified, but the bill would permit a combined total of 10 such fish when taken from Great Lakes waters.

Pike fishing seasons, which now differ in the upper and lower peninsulas, would be made uniform from May 15 to March 15; the bluegill season from June 25 to February 28; the Mackinaw or lake trout season in Lake Huron and connecting waters would be changed to November 16 to October 9, and in Lake Michigan to November 21 to October 9.

Muskellunge and whitefish spearing in waters connecting Lakes Erie and Huron would be forbidden.

BOARD COMMERCE BUDGET OUTLINED

REQUEST $5,600 FOR CURRENT YEAR'S ACTIVITIES

Wide Range of Promotional and Entertainment Activities Included In Board's Prugram

Annual budget of the Charlevoix board of commerce for the fiscal year March 1, 1941 to March 1, 1942, was taken under advisement Monday night by the city council.

Presented by E. J. Edwards, president of the organization, the budget, embodying recommendations of various committees and approved by the board of directors, called for a tentative program of promotional features and entertainment entailing an expenditure of $5,600.

The proposed advertising fund, including $300 contribution to the Michigan Tourist & Resort Association and purchase of new resort folders at a cost of over $500, items already contracted for upon council approval, was set at $2,500. Under advertising are outdoors shows, signs and rentals, newspaper advertising, telephone, telegraph and express charges, postage, printing, local advertising and incidentals.

Other amounts requested were $100 for conservation, $500 for activities of the marine committee which include the annual Venetian night boat parade and preceding day of water events, $200 for entertainment of cruises and conventions, $1,000 for promotion of a proposed new hotel, $500 for conventions, roads, parks and winter sports committees, $800 for extra help at information bureau and employment of an activities director for the summer months.

Items in the budget given immediate approval were $400 for the coming 4th of July celebration, and $275 for modernizing, repairing and repainting four Charlevoix highway advertising signs located at Fife Lake, Houghton Lake, Mackinaw City and Standish. The balance, which is flexible to the extent it is only tentative and is subject finally to council approval before expenditures are actually made, was taken under consideration for future action.

VOCAL FESTIVAL DREW CROWD HERE SATURDAY

Eight Hundred Students In Individual and Massed Concerts

The fifth annual vocal festival for northern Michigan high schools drew more than eight hundred students from twenty-three schools to Charlevoix on Saturday.

Fred Patton, head of the vocal department at Michigan State College, was soloist, critic, and guest conductor. Due to the large number of students participating, Mr. Patton was assisted as critic conductor by Rev. Donald R. Evans, pastor of the Congregational church.

In the afternoon, individual ten-minute performances were given by each school. The afternoon program was divided between the high school gymnasium and the Belvedere casino.

In the evening a massed chorus of eight hundred voices gave a concert under the direction of Mr. Patton at the gymnasium.

MANY LOCAL YOUTH ARE EMPLOYED ON NYA PROJECTS

DRAFT QUOTA FOR MAY CERTIFIED BY BOARD

Fourteen Men to Leave May 26 for Kalamazoo Induction Station

Charlevoix county's May quota of fourteen men for one year's military service were certified Tuesday evening by the Charlevoix county draft board.

This group, including four from Charlevoix and adjoining rural area, will report May 26th at the Kalamazoo induction station, it was reported today by Fay Davis, draft board clerk.

MANAGEMENT ANNOUNCES "OPEN HOUSE" ALL DAY SATURDAY, MAY 17TH

Located In Own Quarters for First Time Since Establishment in 1907, Opportunity to View Printing Operations Will Be Afforded

The Charlevoix Courier's new printing plant, located at 101 Clinton street, will be opened to public inspection on Saturday, May 17th.

The new, modern building, occupied since April 17 and in the process of completion since that date, provides quarters replacing those in the Van Pelt building, occupied by the Courier 23 years prior to damage by fire last December 15th.

Next Saturday's "visitors' day" is designed by the Courier management for a dual purpose. In addition to providing patrons and the public an opportunity of inspecting the new building, plans have been made to demonstrate to such extent as is possible the process of printing through operation of the various machines used in the production of a newspaper. Visitors will be welcomed any time during regular hours from 8 to 12 in the morning, 1 to 5 in the afternoon.

Front View of New Courier Building

The new Courier building is 32x62 feet, two stories, one above ground and full basement. It is of frame construction, veneered with brick and set on reinforced concrete foundation and walls. The 4-ply built-up roof is supported by steel beams and is flashed with concrete in front and tile on three sides.

Entrance is off Clinton street into a vestibule and reception office 12x14 feet. To right and left of the reception office are private offices each 8x15 feet. The east private office has display window. Clothes closets connect with the reception and west office. The walls of each have panels of Georgia knotty pine, varnished to bring out natural finish. Flourescent lighting is used in each.

The composing room, containing all type setting equipment, is 22x30 feet. It is largely equipped with flourescent lighting. Stairway to the basement leads from this room.

The press room, containing printing machinery, stock cutting, binding equipment and stock cupboards, is 21x30, with loading door on the west side. Stock cupboards are built-in wall type with sliding shelves for sheet stock and permanent shelving for other stock, all enclosed with doors.

DAHLQUIST STORES 10TH ANNIVERSARY

ORGANIZATION FOUNDED AT CHARLEVOIX IN 1931

Growth from Local Unit to Fourteen Stores and Warehouse in Traverse City Is Recorded

On page twelve of this issue appears a page advertisement heralding a sale marking the 10th anniversary of the Dahlquist 5c to $1 Store organization, founded by H. A. Dahlquist at Charlevoix in 1931.

The sale is a store-wide event, featured in each of the fourteen stores which have been established since founding of the original unit here. Stores are now operated at Elk Rapids, Kalkaska, Lake City, Traverse City, Flint, Gladwin, Cadillac, Onaway, Frankfort, Rogers City, Mancelona, Cheboygan and Charlevoix.

The story of the organization's growth is told by Mr. Dahlquist, the founder, as follows:

"In a little obscure building in Charlevoix, in the winter of 1931, just when the depression was finding its way around the corner, there commenced, what was then to be a link in a group of stores.

"Under difficult circumstances and with future conditions not looking so hopeful, it was quite a struggle, but the main object of the founder was to render to the public the best of service and quality merchandise at a low price, adhering as strictly as possible to the Golden Rule. Through the cooperation and the fine spirit of the people of Charlevoix and our own organization, the first small store outgrew its expectations, and a larger location to accomodate new lines was taken on. Since that time, store after store has been opened until at the end of 1940 from one unit in 1931, fourteen stores have been opened, one of which was destroyed by fire in 1936. In the year of 1936,

ARRANGE FOR A UNIFORM FLAG DISPLAY

CITY COUNCIL AND LEGION ARE COOPERATING

Flags Before All Business Places, Uniform Spacing and Setting Out, Features of Plan

Uniform display of American flags in Charlevoix on patriotic and holiday occasions has been assured through cooperation of the city council and Leslie T. Shapton Post, American Legion.

Through a plan given council sanction Monday night, all flags will be placed and taken down by city employes designated for this work. In order to accomplish such an arrangement, flags now owned and held by merchants are to be turned over to the city for storage at the city hall. A receipt will be issued to the owners.

Uniformity in spacing will be made possible by drilling new holes at the curb and equal distance apart on both sides of Bridge street between Antrim and the highway bridge. It will require 81 flags, 41 on one side of the street and 40 on the other. To provide flags in front of vacant buildings and in front of park property, the city has purchased 34 new national emblems.

Numerous merchants who had not previously owned flags for display purposes purchased them last week during a sales campaign sponsored by the American Legion.

Under the plan as proposed, all flags will be placed by city employes on patriotic and holiday occasions, providing a uniform display instead of the hit-and-miss arrangement customary heretofore. Successful operation of the plan calls for full cooperation of all merchants and the city council and American Legion are asking this support.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

It is true that all the things we hear are not important, but we can always sift the big ideas out and let the little ones float on down the stream.

Not being a person subject to sentimental outbursts as a general thing, I must admit this week's edition, which is sort of a semi-official dedication of our new building, has me thinking along none too hard-boiled lines. Thirty-four years in the newspaper business without getting your head bashed in for speaking out of turn is quite an accomplishment in itself and to transform from a "squatter" to a landlord after that many years should be a sign of something or other, too. But leaving all kidding aside, 34 years of the kind of public service a newspaper represents is something to be sort of proud of. For this period the Courier has labored to increase the prosperity of this city (and incidentally its own) and to make Charlevoix known as the most desirable of places to live; to give praise to the success-

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Whether for western hemisphere defense or "all-out" war in Europe for defense of democracy, Michigan is rapidly becoming the leading arsenal of the nation as well as a military center of recognized importance.

This is the picture today as Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner and the Michigan legislature act to create a state council of defense.

What the President and Congress may do during the coming weeks is obvious speculation. If this momentous decision were left up to the state legislature, little doubt exists what would be done, for both houses accorded Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana isolationist, a tremendous ovation at his recent appearance in the capital city.

The attitude of Michigan's senators and congressmen is also against involvement in a "shooting war." Senators Arthur Vandenberg and Prentiss Brown are pledged to oppose the use of convoys which the President has said is an open door to active war. Furthermore Michigan congressmen voted overwhelmingly against

Men and Motors—The New Army on Wheels

Uncle Sam's motorized force—the new army on wheels—is symbolized by the "dawn patrol" of Chevrolet 4 x 4 army trucks shown across the bottom of the photo. The Chevrolet four-wheel-drive army truck, above, carries a complete telephone switchboard. Within a few minutes after the Fourth Division's motorized units completed a 235-mile trek from Fort Benning, Ga., on a practice mass movement, Major-General Lloyd R. Fredendall could communicate with every part of the vast encampment. The Fourth, moving in three columns, each 45 miles long, made the trip in 10 hours as compared with nearly 10 days before motorization.

The Courier issued its first annual automobile number that week. New features on 1916 models included headlight dimmers, one-man tops, four-inch tires, gasoline tnnks in the rear of the car. Them was the days of the 106-inch wheelbase, double ventilating windshields, a Ford runabout for $390, 40-h. p. motors, and non-streamlined construction. It looked as though the automobile was here to stay, a fnct which had been under considerable doubt for the seventeen yenrs of existence of the automobile industry.

Another big feature of that week was a description of the Courier's recently installed Model K linotype, superseding the old method of setting the whnle paper by hand.

* CARROT A GEM *
* IN FOOD VALUES *

* * * * * * * * * * * *

Today's carrot is about nll anyone could ask of any one vegetahle. That is the comment of home economics extension specialists at Michigan State College.

Not only does the carrot taste good and have an attractive color, but it rates high in nutrition.

Carrots rnte high nutritionally because they are n good source of carotene, a substance which human beings can chnnge to vitamin A in their bodies. In fact, carotene is what gives cnrrots their attractive bright-orange color. In general, the deeper the color of the cnrrot, the better the source of vitamin A it is.

Because vitamin A is such an important item in a good diet, and because both yellow and green leafy vegetables are good sources of carotene, nutritionists recommend at least one serving a day of these vegetahles. They include carrots as they do other green and yellow-colored vegetables in their lists of "protective" foods. Besides the vitamin A they contain, carrots also are a good source of calcium and of riboflavin.

Young, tender carrots, served raw, add to n salnd's appeal. Their mild flavor and bright color combine well with vegetables of distinctive flavor and pale color, such as cabbage, celery, and cucumbers.

In cooking, carrots are one of the least troublesome of nll vegetables. The color will stay bright through any cooking. The vitamin A value will remain intact at all ordinary cooking temperatures. To conserve the calcium in carrots, though, it is best to use as little water as possible in cooking nnd to serve the liquid with the cooked vegetahle.

HEAVY CATCHES HAVE GLUTTED SMELT MARKET

Upper Peninsula Cities Seeking New Outlets for Surplus

Heavy runs that hnve glutted the smelt market and broken the price from five cents a pound to as low as 40 cents a hundredweight have set Green Bay communities senrching for new markets and new uses for the little fish.

Now observing conditions at Escanaba, where hundreds of tons of smelt have been packed for shipping or storing, are Ralph Russel and several assistants from the federal Fish and Wildlife service, nnd officers of the stnte department of conservation.

Though smelt ordinarily spawn nt night, they have been observed running by dny in several streams this year. One daytime run yielded a haul of four tons.

Well planned shrubbery plantings as well as nailing up lird houses will help home owners hnve colorful birds with cheery songs nesting in their yards. A thicket of raspberry or dewberry, elder and dogwood, grouped about some taller sumac, juneberry and juniper is one good food-producing combination conservation specialists suggest.

Sharptailed grouse in the upper peninsula subsist almost exclusively on a diet of browse, wild fruits, and a few seeds. They use mauntain ash extensively when it is available.

TABULATIONS SHOW DEER KILL HIGHER LAST YEAR

Fifteen Per Cent Increase Shown by Report Cards Reviewed

First tahulating machine tests of deer hunters' report cards, made with a 20 per cent rnndom sample, indicate 6,800 more bucks were bagged in 1940 than in the year before, an increase of 15 per cent. The 1940 season's take, highest in recent years, is estimated at 51,700 deer.

According to conservation department records, not only were more deer hunting licenses sold—173,000 as compared with 169,000 in 1939—but hunters' success was better than in the previous year, averaging 30 per cent as against 27 per cent successful in the year before.

The average hunter, whether successful or not, hunted just one week, the report cards reveal.

FUNGUS ATTACK KILLS SMELT AT ESCANABA

Thousand of Dead Fish Washed Ashore In That Locality

The mystery of 125,000 dead smelt washed ashore from Lake Michigan in the Little Bay de Noc aren has been solved by the State Conservation Department.

Department Director P. J. Hoffmaster said the mnss denths were caused by a water fungus called saprolegnia, to which smelt are immune at all times but the spnwning season. The epidemic was reported on the wane, he snid.

He said seagulls hnd been helpful in clearing the benches of the dead fish until they became so full of food they were unable to fly, and that the CCC had been called in to aid in burying the remains.

NEWSPAPERS CARRY MOST ADVERTISING BY STANDARD OIL

Newspapers ngain this year will carry most of the advertising by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, heralding the message they successfully introduced last year that "motorists throughout the midwest choose Red Crown gasoline 2 to 1," C. S. Webster, Charlevoix Standard agent, announced today.

A total of 1,721 newspapers, as compared with 1,713 last year, with a combined circulation of approximately 14,000000 will carry the advertising in the 13 states in the midwest in which the company markets. This consists of 1,232 weekly papers, including the Charlevoix Courier.

"Again our 'backbone' medium, the newspaper, will continue in its important role," Mr. Webster declared. "When a well and soundly managed institution, like the Standard Oil Company, spends millions of dollars each year, year after year, for advertising in newspapers, it does so only because practical experience proves that it is good business," he explained.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Do the dandelions bother you?

Some people like them, but to most people they are an obnoxious weed. A plant of Old World origin, the dandelion is now naturalized in almost every temperate climate and often is an annoying pest. "Dandelion" is the common name for taraxacum officinalle, a stemless herb of the composite family.

The wild ones are gathered for greens, and sometimes cultivated for that purpose. Some very special strains have been developed in Europe, for salads and pot herbs.

The roots and leaves are also used much for medicinal purposes. People across the straits, around the Soo, should cash in on this industry. There are acres and acres of just dandelions near the Soo.

As a weed, when once established, plants are hard to dislodge because of their long tap-roots which, when just the tops are cut, promptly send out new leaves and flowers. The flowers, if cut in full bloom, will sometimes mature seeds while lying on the ground.

The best way to eradicate dandelions from a lawn is to pull out each plant, root and all, by hand if the grass is young, or in older sod, with two spades or a weeding spud. This should be done before the blossom comes, and the roots burned. Another method is to put a skewer dipped in carbolic acid into the heart of each plant, or use any sharp-pointed implement like a pointed hollow cane that inserts acid or other weed killer into the plant. Afterwards go over the lawn, remove the dead weeds and fill the holes they leave with a little grass seed.

If grass is given good care, and plenty to eat and drink, it will crowd out all weeds, even dandelions.

A couple of bad eggs...

but why blame the hen?

A bad egg does turn up once in a while ... but that's not a sensible reason for destroying all the good eggs ... or for taking it out on the hen.

Beer retailing in America is something like that. The vast majority of beer retail establishments are clean, law-abiding, wholesome places. And still there may be a few "bad egg" retailers who violate the law or permit anti-social conditions.

The brewing industry wants these undesirables eliminated entirely ... to protect your right to drink good beer ... and our right to make it.

And also to protect the many benefits brought by the beer industry to Michigan... such as the 58,312 jobs created ... and beer's $58,300,740 annual payroll. Beer contributed $4,439,995.07 last year in taxes to help pay the cost of government in this state.

You can help us in our program of law enforcement, if you will, by (1) patronizing only the legal and reputable places that sell beer and (2) by reporting any abuses to the proper law enforcement authorities.

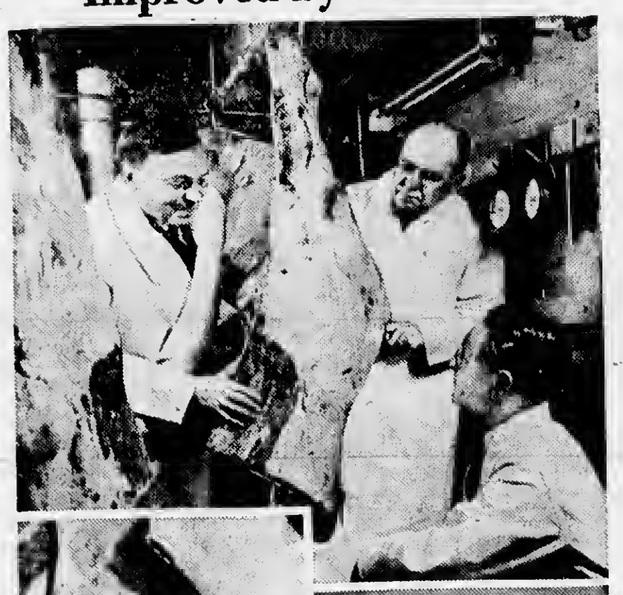
Kroger Introduces Beef Improved by New Process



Top: Dr. H. C. Rentschler, left, Westinghouse director of research Dr. G. D. Beal, center, Mellon Institute, and Dr. M. D. Coulter who developed the Tenderay method for tenderizing beef, check the meat in the Mellon Institute laboratories in Pittsburgh. Lower left: Miss Pauline Forster, pretty Kroger employe, visits the new plant to learn how tender steaks and hamburgers are made. Lower right: L. O. Griffin, manager of the Grand Rapids branch of the Kroger company whose stores will supply Tenderay beef in this area.

Following completion of the Grand Rapids Tenderay plant, Kroger stores in this area now are being supplied with beef tenderized by a method discovered and developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, L. O. Griffin, Grand Rapids branch manager, announced.

The Tenderay method was developed by Dr. M. D. Coulter of Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh while working under a Kroger fellowship and in cooperation with scientists from Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company and the Kroger Food Foundation, Griffin said.

As explained by Dr. Coulter, it hastens natural breakdown of the normally tough connective tissue in beef. This is done at relatively high temperatures and humidity in an atmosphere kept free from mould spores and bacteria by rays of sterilamps developed by Westinghouse scientists. It was pointed out that while the lamps without the other component parts of this patented process have no tenderizing effects on the beef, they are essential in protecting the meat during tenderization.

Study of the problem of meat tenderization was initiated seven years ago by Albert H. Morrill, president of the Kroger company, and preliminary study was carried on under the direction of C. L. Arnold, Kroger Food Foundation director. About two years later the problem was transferred to Mellon Institute, where a Kroger fellowship was established.

The Grand Rapids plant, patterned after the test plant at Mellon Institute and constructed under the direction of Dr. Coulter, is comprised of three rooms. Each has an automatically controlled air conditioning and refrigerating unit, and two of the rooms are equipped with batteries of sterilamps.

In the first room beef is held for two to three days at relatively high temperature and humidity. Next the beef is moved to the second room for quick chilling, and finally to the third and largest room to await transfer to retail stores.

Operated by trained technicians, the new plant brings to the commercial field a laboratory technique which is said by authorities to be the most important development in the history of meat processing.

REVEAL HOW TO FIX CORN TO CURB BORER

Corn Left In Shock Claimed to Harbor Damaging Insects

T oanyone who has seen how borers can mow down cornfields, it's shocking to see how much shocked corn stands in fields in Michigan, comments C. B. Dibble, Michigan State College extension specialist in insect control.

Some of the corn is not even husked. That is no reflection on the energy exhibited by the average farmer in the state, it is a reflection of adverse weather last fall, according to Dibble. But he would like to see that borer hazard removed before the 1941 corn seedings get well started.

Throughout the southern half of the lower peninsula the problem is acute. A few borers emerging from the shelter of corn stalks can fly around and lay sufficient eggs to increase the borer population alarmingly.

Dibble suggests several remedies.

If the corn has not been husked, then it would pay to run the bundles through a husker-shredder. This machine removes the ears and then shreds up the stalks for use as bedding. Because of the increase in absorption of liquid manure, the extra value for this almost pays for the cost of running the shredder and curbs the borers at little or no cost.

If the corn has been husked, then it is important to plow the remnants well under the surface so that none projects out from the furrow slices. This is a difficult job. If the stalks cannot be chopped or well turned under, then Dibble suggests burning if no other disposal is possible.

"Loss of organic matter by burning is not good farm practice," admits Dibble. "Yet good borer control is essential to avoid what could be a heavy corn borer year."

'PILOT' PLANTS HELP INDUSTRY

New Uses Sought for Agricultural Products.

By DR. W. W. SKINNER

Pilot plants form an important part of the program for research on the industrial uses of farm products at the four regional laboratories now under construction by the bureau of agricultural chemistry and engineering. Pilot plants at these laboratories will do for industry very much the same kind of work that the "demonstration farms" have done for farmers—supply practical evidence of the value of new methods and processes.

The new laboratories are planned to carry new discoveries through the doubtful stage where manufacturers who depend on profit for their existence are often unwilling to venture. Often the laboratory proves that a certain process is chemically possible on test-tube scale. A manufacturer, however, wants to know whether it will work as well on a large scale, what the quality of the product will be, what raw materials and transportation costs will be, the expense for labor, and the price at which the product will have to sell to find a quantity market. The pilot plant stage supplies definite evidence on these questions. Production goes on a semi-commercial basis. The research workers and engineers iron out the kinks in practical procedure. The pilot plant is large enough to give a definite line on costs, quality, and marketing problems.

Experience in starch making from sweetpotatoes is an example of pilot plant guidance. In the experiment the pilot plant tests have led to the operation of a co-operative plant that this year will handle the product of 4,000 acres.

Government Scientists Advance Farm Studies

Government scientists are busy studying every conceivable angle of agriculture with a view to making farming more profitable and life in America more abundant for the people. Some of their studies look foolish to the layman, and some of them may be futile. Some of their findings are not yet of any use to man, but neither were the discoveries made by Franklin about electricity of any use to man at the time he made them. When asked "Of what use is it?" Franklin's reply was—"Of what use is a baby?" Down in West Virginia, government chemists are trying to find out how to make red apples redder. After paring the red coloring from bushels of apples, they found out what the red color is, and have isolated it in pure form. The pigment is called idaein and belongs to a group of plant pigments known to chemists as anthocyanins. Now they are spraying leaves, fruit, and branches of trees with various chemicals, injecting chemicals into branches, applying materials to the soil under the tree spread, and binding, girdling, and defoliating at different times and in varying degrees to see if apples can be artificially colored, rather than to depend upon Nature's way of doing the work.

Foot and mouth disease serum has been developed in Denmark. The new serum apparently renders cattle immune to the disease for at least a year.—There are three known types of foot and mouth virus, however, and it is not yet known whether the serum will protect against all three.

The 62,000,000-acre planting allotment for United States wheat to be harvested in 1940 is nearly 2,000,000 acres more than was harvested in any year of the World war. The average acreage harvested in 1916 and 1917 was slightly over 50,000,000 acres, as compared with the present planting allotment of 62,000,000 acres.

If hog-feeding methods recently adopted by Paul Halsey, of McLean, Ill., become universal, we may soon be eating peppermint-flavored pork chops or wintergreen spareribs, says the Country Home Magazine. Mr. Halsey, whose brother runs a candy truck, last spring arranged to purchase all stale candy to feed to a late spring litter of pigs. The hogs thrived so well on their sugary diet that they weighed an average of 287 pounds when sold a few months ago.

SEVENTY THOUSAND TREES ARE PLANTED BY COUNTY 4-H CLUBS

For the past two weeks the 4-H school forestry clubs of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, and Cheboygan counties have been busy planting pine seedlings on their school forest land. Three species of pine seedlings are available, jack, white and norway pine. The kind of trees planted by the members depends upon the type of land and the growth of trees already on this land.

The aim of the 4-H forestry department of Michigan State College asked one 4-H club in each county to make a mixed planting of jack, white and norway pine. These plantings will serve as experimental plots that will be studied by the college in years to come.

The planting of trees is just one of the various activities of the club members. In the winter, they sponsor three assemblies on some phase of conservation work. Speakers are obtained who are authorities on this work.

In the fall of the year the members go out and inspect the plantings to see how many trees are living. In most cases the rows of trees are marked so that each member knows what trees they planted.

Another activity that will be carried on this fall, is the planting of a pine seed bed for each school. In this work the members are shown how to collect the pine cones, dry and collect the seeds and plant them in a seed bed. They are also taught how to care for the seed bed and young pine seedlings.

At the end of the club year each 4-H club member makes out a detailed report of the planting and all other activities. They also make an exhibit at the county Achievement Day or fair.

Each year one or two delegates are chosen from the forestry clubs to attend the state conservation camp which has assembled at Chatham across the straits.

The following clubs have completed their plantings this spring: Antrim county — Mancelona, Bellaire, Alba, Ellsworth, Central Lake; Charlevoix county—East Jordan, Boyne Falls, Charlevoix and Melrose township schools; Emmet county—Harbor Springs, Pellston, Alanson; Cheboygan county — Mackinaw City, Cheboygan, Afton, Indian River and Wolverine.

★ 29 MILLION!

A record never before approached!

★When the 29,000,000th Ford rolled recently from the assembly line, an all-time record for the industry was set. 29,000,000 units built by the same management and all bearing one name—a name that has become one of the best-known trade-marks in the world!

It is significant that this achievement comes at a time when our country is making a mighty effort to re-arm swiftly. For to further that effort, to help speed it along in any possible way, we have offered the vast facilities of the Rouge Plant and every ounce of our experience.

As you read this, a new $21,000,000 Ford airplane engine plant, started only last fall, is nearly completed. A new magnesium alloy plant, one of the few in the country, is already in production on lightweight airplane engine castings. Work is right now under way on a new $18,000,000 plant for mass production of big bomber assemblies. Orders have been filled for military vehicles of several types, including army reconnaissance cars, staff cars and bomb service trucks.

In the midst of this activity for National Defense, building the 29 millionth Ford car is simply one part of the day's work.

The public has acclaimed the 1941 Ford car as the finest in Ford history. Ford Dealers are enjoying their greatest sales and expecting their best year since 1937.

It is good to be producing the things America needs, and to be setting records on the way!

And having gazed upon the past, it turns to contemplate the hopeful prospect of better things to say about the future.

In columns elsewhere in this issue of the Courier will be found news articles relating to action of the city council at Monday night's session. We feel it the duty of a newspaper, as a public servant, to keep its readers enlightened as far as possible on the activities of the city council, its elected governing body. We endeavor to do so. At Monday night's session a payroll aggregating $4,604.66 was approved for payment. This item is conspicuous as the only item appearing in the council proceedings after a 4-hour session. We have detailed in news form the council activities other than this payroll. Due to the attitude of the present council, the payroll, which is also public business, and which the council is obligated by law to have published in itemized form, does not appear. We do not call attention to the commission with any thought that the council does not handle public funds with honesty and discretion. We cannot, however, conscientiously overlook the fact that the council apparently no longer feels the public is entitled to know how its tax money is spent. With nothing to conceal, what reason could there be for such an attitude? We have called this matter to attention before and will continue to do so until satisfied that taxpayers, by lack of response to our efforts in their behalf, indicate their approval of present council action which omits, and has for three years, publication of itemized expenditure of public money.

I have wondered for several weeks the reason for the absence in the Boyne Citizen of Uncle Josh Bailey's column. The mystery unraveled upon reading an item stating Mr. Bailey had been ill for several weeks. Here's hoping for his speedy recovery and renewal of his inimitable wit.

Then you get a dizzy feelin' like your skin is full of dope and a Christmas rubber collar feels like so much hangman's rope; and your thoughts begin to ramble and you're walkin' 'round in dreams —you can see the ten-pound pike go a-scootin' up the stream; you can see their dark forms glidin' and you see the water break in the grass along the Jordan or the marsh of Sasan lake. "PIKE" LAKES OPEN TO FISHERMEN ON MAY 15

Black Bass, Bluegills and Sunfish Remain on Protected List

Trout's near-monopoly on sport fishermen's attention ends Thursday as anglers bait their lines and array their plugs for fishing in the state's 200 designated pike lakes which have been closed eight to 10 weeks to allow for spawning.

Still protected are black bass, bluegills and sunfish in pike lakes and trout lakes, and the fish in all other inland lakes until June 25 when the "bass and bluegill season" begins.

Public Invited to Inspect New Courier Building

generally termed the peak of perfection in precision cylinder printing presses. It is a double-revolution type (two revolutions of cylinder to one printing operation) and may be used in addition to newspaper printing for job work, color work requiring hair-line register, etc. It is a distinct improvement over previous equipment. A Dexter folding machine, used to fold the newspaper and other printed matter, is new equipment in the office. All machines are run by individual, variable speed motors, which replace the old system of line-shaft, pulleys and belt drive apparatus, another distinct improvement. General replacement of parts to job presses damaged by fire have been made.

The new Courier building is heated by a Waterbury oil burning automatic thermostat-controlled furnace, which embodies automatic humidity control and air conditioning. Blower-driven warm and cold air circulation and air filters which remove dust, dirt, lint, pollen and other impurities, are other features of the heating plant which was installed by W. H. Wallace. Tinning and plumbing was done by Robert Bonthron, wiring by Wood Brothers. Front office Venetian blinds and shades on remaining windows, were installed by Smith's Housefurnishings.

The Kit Carson Lumber Co. had the building contract and work was carried on under the personal supervision of Kit Carson, owner of the firm.

Allowance for plentiful light, an important requisite in any printing office, was given careful attention in the construction plans of the Courier building. Fifteen large windows were installed in the two working rooms, two large side, as well as plate glass front windows, light the offices.

Concurrent with occupancy of its new building, the Courier has expanded a limited line of office supplies, now stocking Corona portable typewriters and adding machines, miscellaneous office supplies, filing cabinets, steel desks and office chairs.

As the result of changes brought about in the past six months, the Courier has become equipped to provide better service to this community it has served over a quarter century.

So it is with no small amount of pride that the Courier management opens its building to public inspection. The business has been operated in leased quarters since established in October, 1907, so for the first time in 34 years is in its own home. A. J. Usher, who established the business in partnership with the late Glenn M. DuBois, has retained active management. The present firm of Usher & Usher, still a partnership, vests control in A. J. Usher and wife, Ella M. Usher, whose interest was subsequently passed on from the late George M. DuBois and Margaret M. DuBois.

The Courier building represents culmination of a dream of over 30 years' standing, sentimentally speaking, and incidentally, concrete evidence of progress based on faith in the future prospects of Charlevoix.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Labor Plan Fits Best Pay Farms

Figures taken from more than a thousand Michigan farm accounts indicate that a farmer who "invests" a relatively high number of productive day's labor on his farm each year finishes the year with a more satisfactory labor income.

Variations on some individual farms were evident to C. C. May, farm management specialist at Michigan State College. Yet averages were significant.

When the "per man" number of productive days of labor for the year averaged 156 the average labor income for the year was but $256 on 106 farms.

There was another group of 262 farms which provided an average of 199 productive days of work per man for crops, livestock and other income producing ventures. The labor income for this group averaged $540. Farms numbering 327 averaged 248 productive days labor per man. On these the labor income for the year averaged $746.

Two other groups were included in the study. One group of 196 farms had an average of 287 days productive work per man and returned an average of $1065 labor income. Still higher was the $1518 labor income found on 124 farms where the productive labor for the year ranged around 358 days.

It must not be taken for granted, comments May, that a farmer or one of his men actually spent only 156 days on productive projects, or as much as 358 days. Much latitude occurs because of variations in the efficiency of the man in performing the work.

Pasture Budget Lasts 6 Months

It's popular and profitable to budget a pasture and lay out a six months' program for livestock feeding.

With surveys proving it is economy to have cows or horses or beef cattle out hiting off their own feed, a typical calendar of six months of pasture has been prepared by A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State College.

He cites as an example a dairyman with a herd of 15 cows. Under the old-time system this herd could get a flush pasture only when native bluegrass grew vigorously in spring and early summer. But a planned pasture system lasts six months. Here are the budget plans:

The herd comes out of the barns around April 20 to pasture on eight acres of fall-planted rye. This rye should last until about May 15 when the bluegrass is ready. The rye is to be disced under and seeded to Sudan grass by early June.

Alfalfa-brome mixed pasture will feed the cows from June 15 to July 20. At this time the cows can be turned into the Sudan grass.

Meantime the dairyman has put up hay from alfalfa. Then he gets more pasture from alternating two alfalfa fields or using an electric fence to divide and alternate halves of one alfalfa field. The rotation again suggests efficiency. The heavy milking cows go into a growth first and then are followed by the dry cows and young heifers.

In the fall there likely will be some more bluegrass available. Rye has been seeded in late July after the last corn cultivation. Green fodder corn also can be cut in small lots to help piece out the fall feeding. Refuse sweet corn stalks cut by a silage cutter offer another alternative until the fall rye can be pastured. That ends the six months' program and the cows go back into the barn.

Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney in "Men of Boys Town"

With Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney, it's one for all and all for one. It is interesting in this respect that Rooney literally has grown up with Tracy, and their careers have shared many mutual highlights. Tracy is the first to give Rooney credit for contributing to his outstanding successes. Rooney points to Tracy as his guide and inspiration.

Now Tracy and Rooney are together again, as co-stars of "Men of Boys Town," sequel to "Boys Town," with Tracy again playing Father Flanagan and Rooney "Whitey." The picture will be shown May 18-19 at the Palace Theatre.

Carnival Color and Gayety Get Spotlight On Film Set

The carnival set of the David L. Loew-Albert Lewin production, "So Ends Our Night," starring Fredric March, Margaret Sullavan and Frances Dee, and opening on May 22 at the Palace Theatre, was a burst of color and brilliance when it was completed.

The set depicted the Prater, known as the "Coney Island of Vienna." Or rather, the Prator of pre-Nazi days, for since Germany took over Austria this famed carnival has been reduced to a few humdrum amusements.

"Ride, Kelly, Ride" Hailed As Stirring Race Track Romance

"Stirring!" "Thrilling as a drive down the stretch!" "Exciting as a photo-finish!"

Those were some of the comments noted on preview cards gathered at advance showings of "Ride, Kelly, Ride" fast-moving racing romance which comes to the Palace Theatre on May 22-23.

Based on one of Peter B. Kyne's popular novels "Ride, Kelly, Ride" is a thrilling, behind-the-scenes drama of racetracks and the jockeys who ride the thoroughbreds in the grand sport-of-kings. The featured cast is headed by Eugene Pallette, Marvin Stephens, Rita Quigley and Mary Healy.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

By Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District Michigan

Senator Claude Pepper, the Florida New Dealer, who has been busy telling the Senate of the United States and the people of this country, that the war in Europe was our war and that we should not delay to join the conflict, gave one of his typical speeches last week. In this last outburst of oratory, Mr. Pepper advocated that the United States "get tough," seize bases in Africa, Europe and Iceland, and use bombing planes to "make a shambles of the city of Tokio."

There were those in the Senate of the United States ready and anxious to make full and sufficient answer to Mr. Pepper's declaration of war. But immediately upon completion of a speech that fills more than 14 columns of the Congressional Record, the Florida Senator left the chamber, unwilling to remain to listen to the replies which other Senators—McCarran of Nevada, Bone of Washington and Clark of Missouri—gave to some of the questions he had propounded. The damaging inference whenever Senator Pepper talks is that many regard him as the "trial balloon spokesman" for the White House. For it must be remembered that it was he who first advocated conscription, aid to Britain, etc.

War Makers in Power

The incident is cited to give the citizens of the country some idea of what is going on here in Washington today. The war makers are in power, and they are utilizing every means at their command to convince the people back home that the European war is one in which the United States should take a more direct hand.

> MR. RICH. Mr. Speaker, I do not want this Nation to go to war with any other nation. No perpetual peace was ever won by going to war. I do believe, however, that American should be careful that the business interests of this country do not try to secure business to the end that it may be detrimental to us should we become involved in war.
> I want the House to know that we are shipping about 50,000 barrels of oil a day to Japan, 15,000,000 gallons of gasoline a day to Japan, and 4,500 barrels of machine oil per day to Japan. With conditions as they are in the world today, that, sometime, if the world conditions do not change, may be used against this country. We had better stop doing business with some nations under present-day conditions, and conserve our resources and make our own preparation for national defense. I hope the State Department takes proper action at once.—Congressional Record, May 6, 1941.

It is not a partisan controversy. Those who support the war policy, regardless of their party affiliation, are placed in positions of responsibility, praised or otherwise rewarded for their support. Those opposed to war are separated from the government service, if they happen to be on the public payroll, and if they are not, other means are found of punishing them. Conscientious objectors like Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Col. Charles Lindbergh, and General Hugh Johnson are publicly rebuked by no less than the President himself.

The danger which I have previously pointed out is that the control of the disbursement of so much public money has been concentrated in the hands of those who favor a war policy; this alone constitutes a definite threat to freedom of speech and action.

Profiteers Run Amuck

Senator Pepper, already mentioned as a leading war advocate, was revealed last week as serving as the spokesman for a southern corporation which secured a huge contract for asphalt for Elgin Army Air Corps Field construction in Florida, even though it was not the low bidder. This corporation, the Pan-American Oil Co., was apparently so sure of receiving the order for a 3,600,000 gallon contract, it had the material on a side track, ready for delivery when the bids were opened. Another company bid $55,000 under the Pan-American bid, and immediately there followed some political by-play which rather indicates that the commercial war is not threatened simply from foreign enemies. Senator Pepper is reported, among other things, to have threatened WPA officials, in charge of the construction, with the loss of their jobs, if they did not deliver the contract to the Florida corporation. Even though haste in construction had previously been pleaded, there followed a delay of a month while the factions fought to get the business. Georgia members of Congress, learning what was going on back of the scene, got into the fight. A compromise was reached whereby the Pan-American was given half of the contract, while the low bidder—Allied Materials, Inc.—was given the other half with an implied promise that it would be given an order for some other construction work to cover the other half on which it placed the low bid.

Other incidents have come to light to prove that the profiteers are already at work, not waiting for our country to be in the war. Land sales have resulted in some juicy-profit-taking, and one in Florida recalls some of the get-rich-quick schemes discovered after the last World War. There land wanted by the government for its defense program was sub-divided into lots just ahead of the sale, thereby bringing the price to Uncle Sam very much above what would be considered reasonable. A congressional committee is still looking into this and some other shady deals.

Ship Requisitioning Voted

The House last week passed the Ship Requisitioning Bill, which now goes to the Senate for further debate. I opposed this legislation because on the face of the evidence presented, the use of these foreign vessels was not restricted to our own trade, and they can be turned over to a belligerent fighting the former owners of the ships. Amendments, which would have prohibited the transfer of the ships to another foreign nation, were defeated. One amendment which I offered was also turned down. This would have permitted the purchase of some of the vessels by private operators, who would have placed them in service in our own trade.

The attitude reflected in hearings and in the debate clearly indicates an intention to transfer the vessels under the authority of the Lease-Lend Bill. Even before Congress has had an opportunity to enact the bill, reports are that the foreign vessels are already being outfitted, prepared to go into service.

the selective service act, Michigan being one of a very few states to appear prominently in the opposition column. All this is a matter of record.

Yet, come what may, the state government is preparing for any emergency that may arise. Michigan is getting ready to do its part.

Council's Job

To evaluate the magnitude of the defense council's job in Michigan, you may first know what the federal government is undertaking here.

Brace yourself for a surprise!

Centers of military consequence are nine in number.

Guarding the locks of the Soo canal at Sault Ste. Marie is Fort Brady. It is also a training camp for military police. To augment protection against bombing of the locks, the government is expending a half-million dollars on an airport base.

An expenditure of five millions is scheduled to enlarge the locks as safeguard against possible paralysis of waterway facilities.

Bombing Island

Little known to the public is the military use of an island off Alpena.

This bit of land is a practice target for bombing planes which stimulate somewhat the actual war problem of a flight from an air base to an enemy concentration.

It is an extension of Selfridge Field near Mt. Clemens which is being mush-roomed into giant-size by the war department. Wherens only one pursuit squadron previously nested there, Selfridge Field has 3,700 pilots and enlisted men on duty.

A total of 213 new buildings are "on paper," under construction, or already completed. The air force would number 6,000 men.

Detroit Arsenals

Because of its pool of skilled labor and machine tools, the Detroit metropolitan area is becoming the leading arsenal city.

The war department has built near the Chrysler automobile plants a center for making medium and heavy tanks. It will employ 3,200 workers, three shifts 24 hours a day.

The navy department has contracted with the Hudson Motor company to operate a government arsenal in Warren township of Macomb county for manufacture of naval ordinance. This plant, when in full production, will employ 3,800 workers.

Within the city of Detroit is Fort Wayne, a historic military post, the future status of which is yet to be announced.

Naval Stations

A naval aircraft station has been established at Grosse Isle near Detroit where preliminary ground work is being given prior to actual flight training at Pensacola, Florida.

The navy department has also established a machinists' training school at the Ford Motor company's River Rouge plant. Emphasis is placed on use of torpedo boats and submarine chasers.

These two training stations of the navy, together with the force at Fort Wayne, also constitute a military reserve for emergency use in the Detroit area.

Fort Custer

A few miles from Battle Creek is Fort Custer, headquarters of the Fifth army division, a so-called streamlined blitz-style unit of combat teams.

Besides the 12,000 men in this division, Fort Custer has some 5,000 draftees who are undergoing training. This spring the government acquired 4,300 more acres for use of an enlarged airport and an artillery practice range.

Sprawling over hundreds of acres are 832 new buildings, while some 200 more are "on paper" or under construction.

If the nation's destiny in 1941 is to be involvement in the European war, Fort Custer may be called upon to house two to three times its planned capacity.

Grayling, the national guard camp, may become a chemical warfare center.

New Problems

It is inevitable that nine government military centers in Michigan in addition to the privately owned and operated "arsenals" throughout the state will create a multitude of problems, mostly within a radius of each center: Defense against sabotage, civilian protection, health safeguards for both soldiers and civilians, wholesome recreation possibly at resort centers as official "leave areas" for soldiers and sailors, agricultural resources and production, housing for industrial workers, price stabilization and consumer interests, training of human resources and so on.

The subject of civil defense alone—and this is only one problem of many—would require preparedness to meet possible emergencies due to air raids, fire, medical care and sanitation, and chemical warfare.

Thus the council will become a clearing house to integrate the activities of governmental and private agencies in the defense effort.

Prices

Co-operating with the Michigan Food Council which is a separate co-ordinating agency for food production, distribution and retailing in the state, the defense council would be expected to integrate action against unwarranted rises in prices or depreciation of quality and supply of consumer goods or services.

Price activities would include strengthening of machinery for consumer protection to prevent speculative accumulation, withholding and hoarding of materials and commodities; checking of food laws; comparing and following up enforcement methods; publicizing laboratory tests; assisting in inspection and grading of food supplies.

The two councils would work closely together with farm co-operatives, the Grange, and state and federal departments of agriculture.

Boom

Regardless of the immediate outcome of the "Battle of the Atlantic," whether England goes down or not, authorities apparently agree in forecasting a unparalleled expansion of the present industrial and military activity for many, many months to come.

Financially, the cost leaves the average citizen punch-drunk and numb; the total sum will be fantastically unreal.

Fraught with other potential perils will be the post-prosperity period, call it by any name you choose.

It seems good common sense that our state government, by bi-partisan action in creating an official council of defense, is going to do something about it.

THE AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Quota Protects Wheat Growers and Consumers

The wheat marketing quota, on which farmers will vote May 31, offers a double protection—protection of supplies for the consumer and protection of the market for wheat growers themselves, says Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix county AAA Committee.

The marketing quota insures plenty of wheat for every probable demand by consumers in this country or abroad, Mr. Henley said. A quota on wheat may be proclaimed only when the total supply exceeds a normal year's domestic consumption and exports by more than 35 per cent. With exports practically shut off by military blockade, there will be almost 2 bushels of wheat on hand for every 1 which is likely to be consumed this year in the United States.

In view of this supply, marketing quotas are necessary to protect the income of all wheat farmers, Mr. Henley declared. In the last 2 years, the wheat program, principally the loan, has held the United States wheat price 30 to 40 cents above the world price. However, on the face of the large supply in prospect for the coming year, the loan needs the added protection of the marketing quota, he said. Because loans on an uncontrolled surplus would involve too much risk, they are prohibited by law when a wheat marketing quota is voted down.

If the quota is approved, farmers will be able to sell without penalty all wheat they raise on their acreage allotments. The farmer who has seeded within his acreage allotment can sell his wheat just as he always has. The farmer who over-plants his allotment may store the wheat produced in excess of the allotment; but if he sells or uses it a penalty will be collected.

1942 Wheat Allotments Now Being Considered

Allotments are now being determined for the 1942 wheat crop. All farmers who have raised wheat during the years of 1939, 1940, and 1941, will receive consideration for a wheat allotment.

Any person desiring an allotment for a farm on which there has been no wheat planted for harvest is any of these three years should immediately submit a written request to the Charlevoix County A. C. A. Committee, Boyne City.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX OPENING JUNE 28

RECORD SEASON ANTICIPATED AT LOCAL BOYS' CAMP

New Staff Members, Added Facilities, Are Reported by Lewis Reimann, Director and Owner

Anniversary edition of the Thunderbird, Camp Charlevoix official publication, reveals an optimistic outlook upon prospects for the 1941 season.

The publication states this famous boys' camp, termed one of the outstanding in the mid-west, will open Saturday, June 28th. The camp is located on the east side of Oyster bay on Lake Charlevoix.

A record year is forecast by Lewis C. Reimann, camp director and owner. Enrollments are climbing steadily and are expected to exceed those of a year ago by time of opening.

Buster Naegle comes from Arizona with a background of rodeo experience to take charge of riding instruction, bringing his trick horse from the western state with him. Don Horton returns to instruct in photography and take campers on fishing trips. Three new sailboats are available this year and Ken Vincent will be an assistant in the sailing department this summer.

If plans now under consideration are completed, the camp will be host to some boy who is a refuger from Europe this summer.

Added facilities at the camp this summer include, among other things, two new double tennis courts completed last fall. The tennis courts were a gift to the camp from a group of fathers of boy campers.

CHARLEVOIX FRUIT MARKET OPENING SET FRIDAY

1941 Season Marks Tenth Anniversary of Local Institution

An advertisement elsewhere in this issue announces opening on Friday, May 23, of the Charlevoix Fruit Market.

The 1941 season marks the 10th anniversary of this local institution owned and operated during the summer and early fall seasons by A. Grillo.

Usual repairs and redecoration of the store have preceded the opening.

BEAVER SEASON WAS WORTH $185,000 TO STATE TRAPPERS

Michigan beaver trappers pocketed approximately $185,000 during the 1941 season according to completed estimates of the conservation department's game division which rank beaver the state's second best fur-bearer in financial returns.

CHARLEVOIX SECOND AT REGIONAL MEET

FRANKFORT RETAINED TITLE AT CADILLAC SATURDAY

Rayder Thin-Clads Scored in All But One Event to Score Total of 39 points—Leelanau Third

Charlevoix high school thin-clads placed second in the regional class C track and field championships held Saturday at Cadillac. Frankfort scored 50 points to retain its title, Charlevoix amassed 39, Leelanau School for Boys was third and Mesick fourth.

Coach Stewart Coleman's team took 17 places in twelve events, but lacked first places sufficient to collect needed points.

Jack Stewart copped the only first place, tossing the shot 39 feet to win this event, while Feres placed second. Swanson's second in the pole vault and Martin's tie for second in the high jump were Charlevoix next best performances. Dick Hallett was third in the 100-yd. dash; Jancha was fifth in the 220; Hallett was second and Martin fourth in the low hurdles; McKenzie placed third in the mile; Staley was third, Mitchell fourth and Feres fifth in the ½-mile; Kohler placed third in the 440-yd. dash; Hallett was fourth and Martin fifth in the broad jump; Kohler tied for fourth place in the high jump; Charlevoixs' relay team, composed of Kohler, Jancha, Carey and Hallett, took third position in this event.

While some of the boys were off form from usual performance, results of their participation were highly satisfactory. Charlevoix won the regional in 1938 and has been well near the top for the past five years.

Coach Coleman stated he would not take a team to the state meet to be held Saturday at Lansing, but would devote remainder of time until school closes to training of younger track aspirants and inter-class competition.

HEARING ON ZONING ORDINANCE SET FOR MAY 26

Second Public Meeting Will Be Held at the City Hall

Notice is contained elsewhere in these columns of a second public hearing to be held in the city hall the evening of Monday, May 26th, on a proposed zoning ordinance.

The ordinance will be presented for public approval the second time embodying changes resulting from complaints registered at the first public hearing held May 12th.

Purpose of the hearing is to provide citizens an opportunity to voice approval or disapproval of provisions of the ordinance, thus it is important that all interested persons be present at the meeting.

FISH REARING PROGRAM IS UNDER WAY

96,000 TROUT PLACED IN STOVER CREEK PONDS

Fall-Spawning Rainbows, German Brown and Brooks to Be Reared to Fingerling Stage

The 1941 fish rearing program of the Charlevoix Sportsman's Club opened last week with the release of 96,000 trout in the Stover creek rearing ponds.

Roy Ranger, who had charge of preparing the ponds and assisted in transfering the fish, stated all rearing units were filled to capacity. Consignments received included 30,000 brook trout and 30,000 German brown trout from the Oden state hatchery. Brooks occupy three rearing section and German browns two units.

Deviating from the customary policy of obtaining a shipment of Pacific coast steelhead spawn for hatching at Oden and later transfer here, Mr. Ranger stated 36,000 fall-spawning rainbow trout were received from the Harrietta hatchery. These fish, spawning in fall instead of spring as usual with rainbows and steelhead, are expected to be farther advanced by planting time in the fall, cost the club less money and are expected to be free of the mortality the west coast salt water fish are subject to when transferred to fresh water. As they spawn in the fall, they will not be present in streams during smelt dipping and when illegal sparing is prevalent. It is felt better rearing results will be possible with this new species of game fish.

Release of the fish was preceded by the usual program of cleaning and repairs at the Stover creek rearing ponds.

POPPY DAY PROCLAMATION

"Whereas, the wearing of the memorial poppy is a fitting and effective way of keeping bright the memory of those young men who gave their lives in America's service in the World War, and

"Whereas, the men of Charlevoix served gallantly in that war, some being called upon to sacrifice their lives in that service, and

"Whereas, the present national emergency requires the same type of unselfish patriotism displayed by the men and symbolized by their memorial flower, and

"Whereas, the women of the American Legion Auxiliary will distribute veteran-made memorial poppies thruout the city on Saturday, May 24,

"Now, therefore, I, Robert Bridge, Mayor of the city of Charlevoix, do proclaim, Saturday, May 24, to be Poppy Day in the city of Charlevoix, and urge all citizens to observe the day by wearing the memorial poppy of The American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary in honor of the men who died for America in the war of 1917 and 1918."

A week from Friday—May 30th—is Memorial Day. Let's not at this time of chaotic world conditions, forget its significance.

The Traverse City Record-Eagle printed an interesting photograph in a recent issue. The picture was of a snow storm on May 14th, 1895. Foliage was advanced as far that year as it is today, but the ground was covered with snow. The storm, starting on May 12, continued for three day, during which 24 inches of snow fell. The thermometer by the way, is low in the 80's as this is being written.

I can call your attention to the city council proceedings this week with the knowledge you'll know, after you've read them, what happened at the meeting Monday night. You'll find for one thing, that the council don't always agree unanimously, for there's a 3 to 3 vote on one matter in which Mayor Bridge cast the deciding vote. I hope to be able to call attention to a published itemized pay-

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Michigan's own chronic conflict between organized labor and management flared into newspaper headlines again when 160,000 C.I.O. members threatened an official strike at General Motors plants.

On Wednesday of this week (May 21) 83,000 employees of the Ford Motor company participated in a collective bargaining election, the largest yet conducted by the National Labor Relations board. The Ford industrial empire was the last remaining unorganized oasis in the Detroit automobile field.

Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner, who achieved new national prominence by his successful shirt-sleeve settlement of a wildcat strike at the Ford plants, has been forced virtually to abandon his executive office at Lansing during the few remaining days of the present legislative session in order to give personal attention to the industrial crisis.

As it has been emphasized repeatedly in the past, Michigan is becoming a leading "arsenal" for national defense armament.

ROCK ELM

Mosquitoes are troublesome around here these days.

Lawrence Jensen and Mr. Porter gave their cherry orchards the first spray this week, although prospects for a crop of cherries are not very bright.

Finding the Excello strike still unsettled when he arrived at Royal Oak a week ago Sunday, Kenneth Sloogh came back home for a few more days until the trouble was settled. He returned to Royal Oak Sunday expecting to start working again Monday.

While helping Lawrence Jensen get his sprayer ready for work, Ernest Mather met with what might have been a serious accident. Lawrence asked him to bring the oil can and instead of going around the sprayer, which was hitched to the tractor with the motor running, he climbed up onto the end of the tractor and jumped over a revolving shaft. All would have been well, but his pants leg caught. Fortunately it tore and he landed on the ground minus his pants and considerable cuticle, but with no broken bones. Says it was the quickest he ever got out of his pants, but doesn't recommend it as a way to undress.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Preventing Ivy Poisoning

Medical men are professing considerable interest in an alkaline vanishing cream, perfected by the United States Public Health Service, which apparently offers protection against ivy poisoning. The active ingredients of the cream is a non-irritating, non-staining, oxidizing agent such as sodium perborate or potassium periodate.

Even highly susceptible persons are said to be protected by the cream if it is applied to the arms and face before contact with the ivy. Tests indicated that a 10 per cent sodium perborate ointment prevented any reaction even when a concentrated poison, 15 times more potent than that found in the fresh leaf was rubbed on the skin.

In a group under test, only one person who was known to be most susceptible to the poison, developed a red rash about one-fourth inch in diameter, on a portion of the skin which had been smeared with the ointment. Others, also allergic to the toxin, were set to plucking the ivy leaves and told to press them against the forearms, allowing them to remain for as long as 30 minutes in contact with the skin. After one hour, the cream was washed away with soap and water and no reactions developed.

The health service recommends that vanishing creams containing the oxidizing agents be prepared fresh every two weeks to avoid deterioration. They should be rubbed well into the skin before exposure and removed with soap and water.

Horticulturists, farmers, persons engaged in clearing land and those disposed to rambles in the woods will be grateful for a relatively simple method of avoiding perhaps the most common of all plant dermatosis.

Keep Informed On Public Opinion

If you want to know how John Public feels about great issues facing the nation, read America Speaks. This poll, conducted by Dr. George Gallup, is probably the world's most accurate method of measuring sentiment. In presidential elections as well as state and municipal contests, it has scored predictions little short of miraculous. America Speaks appears exclusively in Michigan in The Detroit News every Sunday and twice during the week as well.

Comedy and Drama Blend in "Virginia"

Smoothly blending stirring drama and bright comedy, Paramount's new Technicolor production, "Virginia," will be presented Saturday and Sunday at the Palace Theatre, with Madeleine Carroll and Fred MacMurray in the starring roles. Featuring Stirling Hayden, young screen newcomer, in an important role, the picture tells the exciting story of a modern Southern girl, reared in the North, who comes face to face with the problem of having to choose between the North and the South, romantically speaking.

Beautiful Madeleine Carroll is the girl who finally decides her heart belongs to the Southland. Fred MacMurray is the romantic interest, winning for the South over the ardent courtship campaign waged by the handsome, dashing young Northerner, Stirling Hayden, Hollywood's newest "find."

Adorable little Carolyn Lee, who was seen with MacMurray and Miss Carroll in "Honeymoon in Bali," is again cast as MacMurray's daughter in this new comedy drama.

Occupying chief featured roles in the film are Helen Broderick, Marie Wilson, Paul Hurst, Tom Rutherford, Louise Beavers and Leigh Whipper.

It's Jane Withers again—and her twenty-fifth picture is said to be her best—what with heart-tugs, drama, laughter, and excitement in a grand story where something is happening every second! "Youth Will Be Served," her latest from 20th Century-Fox, starts Tuesday at the Palace Theatre.

Jane is paired with her boy friend of "High School," Joe Brown Jr., in the story of a wildcat "cracker" who develops into a Georgia "peach." When her pappy is jailed by the "revenooers," Jane sets out with Joe to take matters into her own hands. The going gets tough, even for Jane—and then she really begins to fight.

In the grand finale of the exciting film, Jane joins her picaninny friends in a singing, dancing number audiences won't soon forget. It's a fitting climax to what has been called Jane's best effort to date.

In the featured cast are Jane Darwell, Robert Conway, Elyse Knox, Joe Brown Jr. and many others. Otto Brower directed the film and Lucien Hubbard was associate producer.

Charlevoix County Club Members Win State Wide Recognition

Friends of 4-H club work will be interested in the announcement of state wide honors won by local club members. Miss Elinor Howe, Charlevoix, now a freshman at the Michigan State College, has been awarded the "all-around county" championship for 1940. She has long been identified with the club program and in addition to having been a member, has served as a local leader. This award consists of a $25.00 scholarship at the college.

Five members have been selected on the State Honor Roll in the various projects selected. Raynor Olstrom, East Jordan, has been chosen in the junior potato project. Leroy Nicloy, East Jordan, appears on the honor roll in senior potatoes. Mason Clark, Jr., East Jordan, from his participation in commercial gardening. Betty Strehl, East Jordan, won in 3rd year canning, while Gladys Larson, East Jordan, appears in the list for 5th year canning.

As we start the summer 4-H club program we are encouraged by the results of last winter's activity. The summary shows 66 clubs with 502 members having started and 488 finishing their projects for a percentage of 97% finishers. This is considered to be a splendid showing when one analyses the change that has taken place in the rural districts throughout the county. We have seen a large number of district schools consolidating with the larger school units, which decreases possibilities for winter club projects. In spite of this fact, the number of club members finishing last winter was only 27 less than the previous year.

Already many communities are now making their plans for summer projects.

441 Mattresses Completed in Fourteen Work Centers

The cotton mattress making project has now been completed on the mainland and shows a total of 441 mattresses made in 14 different work centers scattered throughout the county. Boyne River Grange has the honor of having made the most mattresses, with a total of 58 made. The next highest communities were Horton's Bay, Maple Grove, and Advance with 37 completed.

In each case $1.00 was charged for each mattress made in the work centers. Of this 75 cents was sent in to the county office with the balance left at the local work center to defray costs incidental to the program. In one or two cases where fuel was a serious problem an extra 25 cent charge was made. The mattresses were greatly appreciated by the large number of families that cooperated. In most cases the husband and wife involved, spent two days in making the mattress. Needless to add, the folks greatly enjoyed working together in their community. The local leaders in charge of the program are to be commended on their wonderful help.

We are glad to state that the income has been sufficient to take care of all expenses necessary. This week the program is being started on Beaver Island, with a public demonstration on Thursday afternoon. Miss Margaret Harris, assistant state demonstration leader, and Miss Ruth Peck, in charge of the mattress program, are spending sufficient time on the island to get the project under headway. It is planned to make some 30 mattresses yet this spring. Present plans call for another project for next winter when we expect to make another 450 mattresses.

The cost to tax payers of taking men who have tuberculosis into military service is around $10,000 per man, according to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

THE RECORD.... Facts That Concern You No. 29 of a Series

It's always the SORE thumb that sticks out...

Odd, isn't it—the way everybody notices the sore thumb?

It's the same way with the retailing of beer. Everybody knows about the one undesirable place...everybody seems to forget about the thousands of worthwhile retailers who operate clean, decent, law-abiding establishments.

To protect the good name of beer, we of the beer industry want the few... but noticeable..."black sheep" retailers eliminated.

That's not all. Such retailers endanger an industry that brings important economic benefits to the community. Right here in Michigan beer provides employment for 58,312 persons, supports an annual payroll of $58,300,740 and contributed $4,439,995.07 last year in state taxes.

This state, too, has an important stake in the beer industry's purchases—for materials, equipment, and services—from more than 100 other industries.

You can help us protect these benefits in two ways—by (1) patronizing only the law-abiding places where beer is sold and (2) by reporting any irregularities you may observe to the duly constituted authorities.

Fifty of Michigan's outstanding 4-H club members win places on the 1940 "all-around county" honor roll for making the best records on their projects in 1940.

Announcement of the awards is issued from the office of A. G. Kettunen, state 4-H club leader at Michigan State College. The award consists of a $25 scholarship at the college. Other counties are selecting nominations for similar awards within their counties.

In Charlevoix county the award winner is Elinor Howe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Howe, Charlevoix Route 3. A freshman at Michigan State College, Elinor has specialized in clothing and canning projects in her 4-H club work. She has been leader of both summer and winter clubs, and has won other awards for her outstanding work.

FROST DAMAGES FRUIT AND BERRY BLOSSOMS

Cherry Crop 90% Loss; Strawberries and Apples Are Affected

Heavy damage to fruit and berry crops in this region will result from frosts during the past two weeks, according to reports from rural districts.

Cherry orchards of the county were damaged to an extent running as high as 90%, from frosts of May 8, 9 and 10, it is believed. The crop in many orchards will be too small to pay for picking, it is understood.

Frosts the nights of Friday and Saturday, May 18 and 19 caused heavy damage to strawberry and apple blossoms, although the extent has not yet been determined. Warm weather earlier in the spring brought fruit blossoms to a greater stage of advancement than in previous years, thus exposing them to the frost damage.

TB X-RAY CLINIC REVEALS COUNTY CASES

One Suspect Case, Seven Primary Infections Found at Boyne City

One suspect case of tuberculosis and seven primary infections were discovered from a recent X-ray clinic in Boyne City where 52 residents of Charlevoix, Otsego and Antrim counties were X-rayed by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association in cooperation with Dr. Wallace Chapman, Director of District Health Department No. 3.

Dr. Chapman explains that "primary infection" means that the germ has gotten into the body, often causing no illness, and that complete healing has occurred. With proper food, rest and exercise to keep the body normal this "primary infection" will not develop into an active case of tuberculosis.

Of the seven primary infections discovered in this clinic, five were X-rayed for the first time while the others came back as a check to be sure that the disease had not become active.

In Charlevoix county there was one suspect case of tuberculosis and four primary infections from the 36 persons X-rayed. One primary infection was found among the six Otsego county residents X-rayed and two primary infections among the ten persons from Antrim county.

Michigan spends over $4,000,000 each year in the treatment of tuberculosis. Half of this amount would be sufficient if the persons were treated in the early stages of the disease instead of waiting until such symptoms as coughing and loss of weight occurs. The X-ray clinics, an effort to find these early symptomless cases, is supported by the sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

By Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District Michigan

Who are those who prattle about convoys to insure freedom of the seas? Look into your newspapers of September, 1939, or better still, consult the pages of the Congressional Record and you will find that they are much the same ones who at that time proposed keeping our American ships out of the war zones, as an excuse to repeal the Neutrality Law which had been enacted.

That law had been passed at a time when we were not threatened with war. Under its terms, our nation refused to sell any implements of war to any belligerent. Those who helped enact that law praised it, and promised that it would be the means of keeping us out of the next war. And the people agreed, and expressed their thanks and appreciation at the polls to those who had brought the law into force.

Abandoned Our Neutrality

The war in Europe had not even gotten underway before those who had won the plaudits of the country for their share in the enactment of the Neutrality Law, were demanding its repeal. We will not extend credit, they said. We will sell on a cash and carry basis. "Cash on the barrel head" was another popular expression. They promised to support neutrality for America, and assured the people that we could sell munitions of war to all belligerents as long as they came over here to get them, and still keep from involving our nation. And for good measure, they included the provision that our merchant ships would be barred, by Presidential order, from the war zones, a step generally and strongly supported.

With that as an excuse, they called it a neutrality law, but it was not that. It was an abandonment of our neutrality, and meant embarking on the road to war, just as in 1914 when we supplied credit and munitions to the warring nations of Europe. And ever since that beginning, we have taken one step after another, each bringing us that much closer to the brink of actual participation. Our leaders have not been honest with the people. They have promised one thing, while they knew they meant something else. The success of their plan depended on selling the people the idea that the peace and security of our own nation was dependent on the success of another nation winning the war in Europe. Every means has been employed to put that idea across. Cabinet members, officials high in the various branches of the government, have all added their voice to the cry for aid, immediate and "all-out", for the so-called democracies. Their task was simplified by the fact that the natural sympathy of the people as a whole rested with the victims of the aggressors, regardless of the circumstances that caused the war.

Recent speeches, as every one knows who listens to his radio or reads a newspaper, have been frequent on the part of our government leaders, and of British statesmen, all urging the use of convoys to get our supplies to England, the Red Sea, or wherever fighting is in progress or in prospect. Some of the speakers have avoided the use of the word convoy, but their intent has been clear enough. It meant our further involvement in the war itself, call it whatever you will. These speakers are generally recognized as "fronting" for the President, sending up trial balloons, to set the stage for his next fireside chat, originally scheduled for May 14th, and now set for May 27th. In this speech, Mr. Roosevelt has been urged by those favoring a declaration of war, to go all the way in calling for a showdown. But the President, recognized as a master in sensing public reaction, is not convinced of the timeliness of such a declaration. And there is evidence that his uncertainty is due to the numerous appeals that have reached his ears, pleading that he keep our nation from direct participation in the war, just as he promised he would.

Help England? Yes. Join her in the war? No.

That seems like the reaction that comes from all over the states, particularly from the central and western states.

With such an attitude so widely spread, he has in truth sufficient reason to doubt the wisdom of taking the next step toward war. A divided nation might be the cause of a war venture that fails of its purposes.

Labor Not Cooperating

Numerous strikes have also contributed much to the feeling of uncertainty." Not to be outdone by the dollar profiteers who invariably demand their share of war profits, labor leaders are taking full advantage of the Defense Program for wage increases previously not obtainable. Living costs are going up, and the ceiling is nowhere in sight. True, the government has issued statements denouncing such price rises, but no real machinery has been set up to control the situation.

Some incidents within the training camps have also come to public attention indicating that the morale and discipline is not all that it should be. Soldiers are supposed to take orders, not be demanding their rights. But men who have been uprooted from their established homes and jobs are not seemingly inclined to enter enthusiastically on a fighting assignment they do not understand. And furthermore, they see no joke in living in still unrooted barracks at $21 per month while so-called carpenters are paid double time on Saturdays and Sundays at over $21 per day, and then indulge in a jurisdictional labor strike on a rainy Monday while the "boys" roll up their bedding to keep it dry. They very nearly had a serious riot at Camp Meade—called Camp "Mud" by the "boys"—recently and they will have riots and serious ones before long because these "boys" openly brag that they are about to pound sense into some of these laborers' heads if no one else will. After all it is hard to expect patriotism in uniform for $21 a month when one does not show it at $21 a day out of uniform.

I happen to know of at least one camp where the men in uniform have circulated a petition, maintaining their desire and intention to defend their country, but protesting against any move which might lead to their being sent in another AEF.

In the past three years more than 225,000 persons in the outlying areas of Michigan have seen the Michigan Tuberculosis Association's films which are shown free on the theory that "Children who know the facts about tuberculosis will help fight it."

MORE PUBLIC HEALTH NURSES SORELY NEEDED

Urge Enrollment to Bring Numbers Up to State Requirements

Employment of at least twice as many public health nurses as are now at work in Michigan is necessary to meet accepted requirements for adequate nursing service, according to a survey just completed by the Michigan Department of Health. The 276 public health nurses in the state represent a ratio of one nurse to 5,385 persons as compared to the ratio of one to 2,000 regarded as adequate by public health authorities.

"The number of public health nurses is divided equally between Detroit and the rest of the state," said Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "This gives Detroit a ratio of one nurse to 3,326 persons and makes the ratio in the out-state aren one nurse to 7,443."

Last year Michigan ranked seventh in the nation in the qualifications of its public health nurses with 52 per cent having completed at least one year of advanced public health training in a university in addition to their basic nursing course. Current figures are not available for other states, but the Michigan percentage this year is unchanged.

The largest number of public health nurses are employed by agencies supported by public funds such as city, county and district health departments. Visiting nurse associations are the leading non-official agencies employing public health nurses in Michigan.

SOAP BOX DERBY CONTEST BEING SPONSORED

Urge All Youth of County to Enter Event at Boyne City

Boys of Charlevoix county are looking forward to the first annual Memorial day soap box derby race to be held in Boyne City, Friday, May 30th.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Helen Kreighoff, publicity director of the county Red Cross, and through the cooperation of county schools and newspapers the entry list is growing. Some ten youthful "Don Campbells" have indicated their desire to join in the race.

Perhaps the most outstanding statement included in the list of rules is the one saying there will be no prize for the best appearing auto. Appearance will not count. Prizes will be offered only on speed of the machines. Boys are asked to remember that they may receive advice ONLY from adults, and that their car must be boy built. Contestants must produce a signed statement proving their auto is boy built with no other help.—Boyne Citizen.

UPPER PENINSULA PRODUCES BIG BEAVER CROP

Number Taken Across Straits Offset Poor Results In Lower Counties

Almost ideal trapping conditions and good prices made the 1941 beaver season the best in contemporary upper peninsula history, Dorias J. Curry, regional supervisor of the conservation department, said today.

A total of 5,324 pelts was sealed in the peninsula—the greatest number in modern times and, in spite of the closing of large areas to trapping this season, a figure well above the 1940 take of 3,782. Because the lower peninsula catch of 1,747 was only half what it was a year ago, the state total this season, at 7,071 pelts, is a little more than 100 short of the 1940 catch of 7,180 beavers.

Preparedness is the price of peace. Production is the foundation of preparedness. Workingmen's health is an essential to production. Therefore, health is the price of peace. Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

MRS. ERNEST L. IVES HEADS CHINESE RELIEF

Accept Charlevoix Chairmanship of National Organization

Mrs. Ernest L. Ives, of Charlevoix, has accepted the chairmanship of the Charlevoix committee of United China Relief, it was announced today by James G. Blaine, national chairman, from national headquarters, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

In announcing Mrs. Ives' acceptance, Mr. Blaine said, "I think we Americans face our best, and perhaps our last chance, to show the people of China that our friendship for them is a deep-rooted one. We must show them, and not merely with words, that their human needs are a matter of personal and private concern to every one of us."

United China Relief, which is coordinating the efforts of seven China relief agencies, has launched a campaign to raise $5,000,000. There are already over 100 local committees in cities throughout the country, with more being formed every day. The campaign effort will be brought to a peak during China Week, May 18-25.

CHANGES APPEAR IN MOTORBOAT RULINGS

New Regulations Issued With Approval Secretary of Commerce

Several changes appear in motorboat rules for 1941 as result of repeal of the Motorboat Act of 1910, and issuance of new regulations, with approval of the Secretary of Commerce.

As applied to motorboats not in commercial service, lines will not be incurred for failure to carry copies of the Pilot rules. It is not necessary to carry fire extinguishers on outboard motorboats. Fog bells on motorboats less than 26 feet will not be required. Whistles are also unnecessary on motorboats less than 16 feet.

No change need be made in type of navigation lights if present lights comply with the old motorboat law and have proper range of visibility.

For life-preservers, box-type buoyant cushions will be permitted on boats up to 40 feet in length.

Ventilation of the boat is not required when the greater portion of the bilges of the engine and fuel tank compartments is open to the natural atmosphere.

Fire extinguishers must be carried. Boats up to 26 feet long must have one extinguisher. Craft from 26 to 40 need two. Boats between 40 and 64 feet long require three.

For reckless operation of motor boats or vessels so as to endanger life, limb or property, a fine of up to $2,000 is provided, or imprisonment for up to one year.

Purchase of every numbered motorboat must be reported within 10 days. Failure to comply subjects the vessel to a penalty of $10.

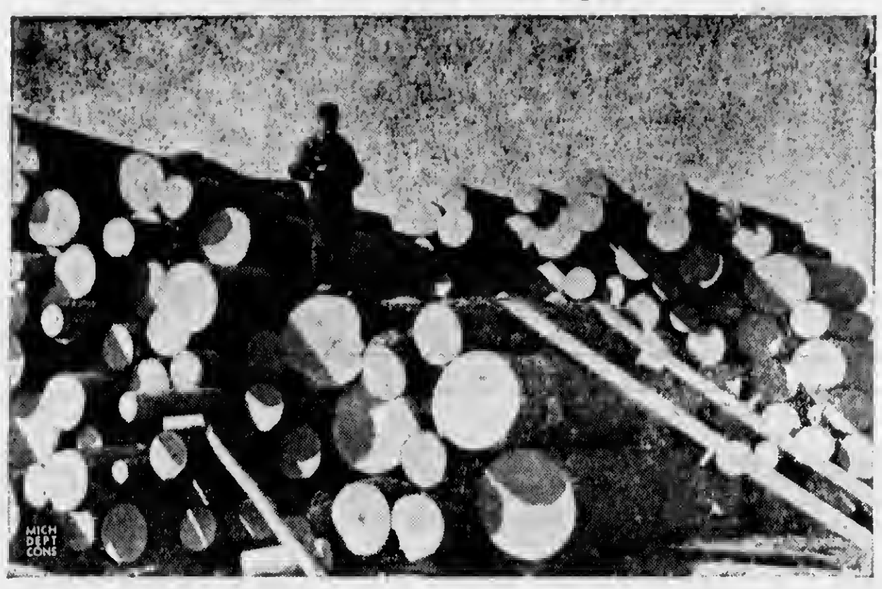
Like Old Times in Michigan



Reminiscent of the state's roaring lumbering era of 70 years ago and now a rare sight in Michigan are such skidways as this of big white pine logs. These were cut by CCC crews from giant trees in Interlochen state park blown down in the Armistice Day windstorm. From state forests private operators already have salvaged 75,000 board feet of logs, 800 cords of spruce and jackpine pulpwood, and 265 cords of jackpine cabin logs, while CCC crews have taken out another 138,000 board feet of logs and more than 500 cords of fuel wood for use on state forest projects. With northern woods and swamps now more accessible to trucks, a stepping up in timber salvage operations is expected

The current wave of labor unrest thus involves our national defense and our democracy's pledge of aid to England.

Struggle for Profits

Underlying the disagreement between capital and labor, in Michigan as well as elsewhere, is a basic struggle over the share of profits each group shall receive during the present boom.

At complete variance are the points of view of labor and capital.

The C.I.O. "Economic Outlook" for January, 1941, says the C.I.O. will "continue to strive. . .to improve the wage structure of our members and to obtain improved working conditions. This involves obtaining for the workers an increasing share of mounting profits.

C.I.O. officials make much ado of New Deal statistics showing that less than 23 per cent of the nation's workers earned $1,400 or more a year; one-third of all workers earned less than $400 a year.

The A.F.L. in its March, 1941, "Monthly Survey of Business," points out that General Motors in its report to stockholders showed it had made $717 per employe in 1940; American Telephone and Telegraph, $689; Du-Pont, $1,363; General Electric, $747, and U. S. Steel, $402.

According to labor, capital is not sharing war-time profits with the worker.

Capital's Answer

The official transcript of a mass conference held April 24 with C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, states the viewpoint of management.

In anticipation of a small increase in the cost of living, estimated recently by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins to be 2.6 per cent since the war started and another 3 per cent between March and autumn of this year, General Motors offered to raise 1941 wages an average of 3 cents an hour, or $15,000,000 a year. (C.I.O. asked for $50,000,000.)

The average earnings of all hourly paid General Motors employees has been $41.24 a week. The average hour rate for all men and women in all G. M. divisions has been 97.9 cents; for men alone in car and body plants, $1.05½.

Mr. Wilson said: "The wage rates in General Motors car, body and automotive parts plants are already as high, or higher, on the average than rates paid in the industry by others. G. M. rates are very much higher on the average than rates in other heavy goods industries. Recent substantial increases granted in other industries still leave their average earned rate less than G. M. is already paying."

More Profits to U. S.

The 1941 industrial picture is, indeed, confusing to the layman.

It is a paradox of production and gross profits rising, while stock prices continually decline on the New York market.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., recently reported to G. M. stockholders about 1941 first quarter operations. Sales were $191,042,000, or 41.7 per cent higher than during the 1940 first quarter. Yet, because of rising federal taxes, the net profit was $2,500,000 lower than for the same quarter one year ago!

This tax total, in relation to total sales, was $46,849,000, a gain of 256 per cent more than in the 1940 quarter.

More profits? According to the G. M. official report, there will be less profits to be shared among the investors who own the company, let alone split up a share of the declining profits among the workers.

Defense Jeopardized?

What has been the effect of industrial strikes to date upon national defense?

Here, the student of propaganda will encounter varying viewpoints also.

Labor's attitude may be summed up as follows: Bottlenecks that delayed defense production were due more to an unwillingness of capital to accept national defense contracts on a basis of a 7 or 8 per cent profit limitation which existed in the Vinson-Trammell Naval Expansion Act of 1935, prior to its 1940 repeal. A monograph by TNEC also makes this charge.

Business Week (March 1, 1941) is quoted as saying: "Actually in the first six months of the defense program there have been fewer man-days lost in strikes than in any other comparable period since the passage of the Wagner act, and labor disputes have not been nearly as serious as they were in 1917."

Management's Answer

Walter D. Fuller, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and of the Curtis Publishing company (Saturday Evening Post) declared on March 26:

"It is alarming for fathers of draftees in this country to find out that enough time has already been lost through strikes to build 480 destroyers and half a million modern Garand rifles for their boys to carry."

The management of General Motors, for example, has felt that the union was trying to subsidize another wage increase at the cost of the rest of the country.

"It shouldn't be necessary to have strikes all the time in order to have collective bargaining in the country," said Mr. Wilson. "It seems we ought to get broadminded enough so that collective bargaining doesn't always mean to collect and that the bargain part of it ought to come in."

Socialism, Fascism?

It is a memory of World War profits, which brought a crop of more than 10,000 millionaires between 1914 and 1917, that prompts labor to suspect management is not giving the worker a fair share of 1941 profits.

Management answers by pointing to the soaring toll which federal taxes are exacting.

What will be the final outcome of this internal dissension?

Will it be more centralized control, such as further state socialism or possibly an adaptation of fascism to meet American attitudes?

These are questions which thinking citizens, no doubt, are asking themselves today. Public opinion, influenced by events more so than by words, will supply the answer.

GOOD MANAGERS FIND BEST DIETS

Good management or poor management can make the difference between good diets and poor diets, say home economics extension specialists at Michigan State College. Families over the country are getting diets varying widely in quality, even when they spend exactly the same amount for food.

On the farm or in the city, homemakers who are good managers are those who know the foods their family needs, spend their grocery dollars wisely, are good cooks, and smart meal planners.

Good management on the farm, in addition, means planning the home-produced food supply carefully on a year-round basis.

Farm families the country over produce about two-thirds of their own food in their gardens, orchards and fields, and with their milk cows, poultry flocks, and other livestock.

In an analysis of farm diets over the nation, it has been found that many farm families could be better fed without any greater outlay of cash, simply by following a well-worked-out yearly production plan. The difference between good diets and poor diets usually is in the amounts of the 'protective' foods—milk, eggs, green leafy vegetables, and vitamin-C rich fruits and vegetables—included in each type of diet.

Spending grocery dollars, say the specialists, means learning to recognize quality, then buying the quality that best suits particular needs and purses. Whole-grain cereals cooked at home can take the place of more expensive ready-to-eat kinds, for instance.

Your Cold? A Germ's "Ghost" May Cause It

Science reports, at last, on the causes of colds and sees down to the borderline itself, studying a strange new world, where live the viruses, or poisons, (not germs, but maybe their "spooks"), which give us diseases like influenza and many puzzling, but deadly, afflictions. No Local Reflection—

"We have a fire department in our town that has only one hose car and two dogs."

"What are the dogs for?"

"Oh, they find the hydrants."—From an exchange.

What a mean trick it was for the state liquor control commission to close all of the 642 liquor selling establishments in Genesee county because of the strike in four General Motors plants. It must have been discouraging to CIO leaders, for no doubt the mob violence which attended the Ford labor disturbance in Detroit was lacking with absence of the stimulation of alcohol.

Yes, there's good news from the fishing front this week. Three steelhead trout were reported taken at Ironton last Sunday and one off Chula Vista down towards Boyne City. And there's still big perch to be had from Round lake if you get up early enough in the morning. They're not biting so good during mid-day now and frankly speaking, the spawning run is about over. Nobody had reported taking a mackinaw trout yet, either from Lake Charlevoix or Lake Michigan.

Bet everyone will be glad when the "skeeter" season is over. We've now got our seasonal crop—about two weeks in May—and between you and me, I never saw them any bigger nor more vicious anyplace except down in the middle of the Tahquamenon swamp.

Activity on Round lake harbor indicates the approach of summer. Two "foreign" boats are reported by Harbor Master Joe Howard. The sloop Shamrock, enroute from Chicago to Detroit with its owner, Ernest Gratis, a Detroiter, was here Saturday, and a previous visitor was the 34-foot Christ Craft cruiser "O-Mi-O" from Petoskey. The Wares, Chicagoans, have a new 31-foot Standard Over-Niter, delivered at Hamilton & Son boat yard this week, and Clark C. Coulter, Detroit attorney and former local resident, has purchased the Charles Bellinger boat. Otherwise there's a rush to put pleasure craft of summer residents in commission before the arrival of their owners.

Don't lose hope! President Roosevelt publicly admitted his New Deal experiment in changing the date of Thanksgiving is a failure and perhaps this is a forerunner of admission of failure on many other crack-pot ideas. Next fall Thanksgoving will be next to the last Thursday in November, but in 1942 it's going to be the old-fashioned last Thursday in November kind.

PIONEER LOCAL WOMAN SUCCUMBED WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Henry Howe Passed After Long Illness; Funeral Friday

Mrs. Henry Howe died Wednesday morning at her home on Antrim street, after several weeks of illness. She had been an invalid for a number of years.

Amelia J. Struthers was born May 23, 1873, in East Jordan. Her parents came to Hayes township when she was a child. She was united in marriage to Henry Howe in February 1892. They made their home in Hayes township until sixteen years ago, when they came to live in Charlevoix.

Mrs. Howe had been a member of the Baptist church for many years.

Surviving are the husband, a son, Wilson, of Detroit, and four daughters, Mrs. Bernice Burns of Otsego, Mrs. Lila Ellis of Oakland, Calif., Mrs. Mildred Coblentz of this city, and Geralynne, at home. Five children preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the See Funeral Home, with Rev. H. J. Pulsipher officiating. Interment will be at Brookside cemetery.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Isn't this the most beautiful week of the whole year, when the lilacs are in bloom. Charlevoix should have a lilac festival. Have you driven around to see them?

The common lilac is one of the best loved shrubs, and must have always been, judging from the old dooryards and so many out of the way places we find them. More than two hundred named forms of this old favorite have been developed by skilled plant breeders. Besides these, there are many others that bloom until the tree lilac blooms in summer.

Lilacs are good-natured and tolerant of almost any soil and situation, but thrive best in a rich, well-drained soil and open situation. They appreciate lime and applications of bone meal and dressings of well-rotted manure from time to time. Should they get overgrown and scrawny, they can be cut back almost to the ground in early spring.

Lilacs force readily and are grown largely for this purpose in Europe. It is strange they respond more easily and quickly after being subjected to ether fumes for a certain period.

To avoid lilacs becoming diseased either by black or brown spots on the leaves, do not let bushes become crowded. Prune to let in the sun and air and spray with Bordeaux mixture when leaves are opening. The mildew that comes in late summer is not very destructive, but is unsightly and in time will weaken the bush. Dust with fine sulphur for mildew.

DISTRICT BUTTON COLLECTORS MET AT HOME OF MRS. C. R. MUNYON

A meeting of the Sixth District of Michigan Button Society was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Munyon, Saturday, May 17.

Members were present from Traverse City, East Jordan, Beaver Island and Charlevoix.

Charlevoix members served luncheon, after which a business meeting was held. The rest of the afternoon was given over to exchange of buttons, and study of the various collections.

Much interest is now being shown in button collecting. There is a National Button Society which meets annually in Chicago, and a Michigan Button Society with over one hundred members, which meets twice a year, at Lansing and at Detroit.

The Sixth District comprises the counties of Emmet, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Charlevoix, Antrim, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Leelanau, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Wexford, Kalkaska, Missaukee, Oscoda and Alcona.

Mrs. E. L. Dawson, chairman of the local group, states that they will be glad to contact any button collectors in this district.

MICHIGAN BELL REFUND METHOD IS ANNOUNCED

Long Distance Toll Subscribers to Receive Credit or Cash

At the request of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, Judge Leland W. Carr, of the Ingham Circuit Court, today entered a decree setting forth the methods to be applied by the company in refunding approximately $1,500,000 to long distance subscribers as a result of the recent State Supreme Court decision with respect to intrastate toll rates.

Of primary interest to subscribers, the decree authorizes the company to make the refunds in the form of credits, on unpaid or current bills, or by check, or by a combination of both these methods. If a refund due is greater than a present unpaid account, a portion of the refund may be applied to clear the account and a check be given for the balance. In other words, credits will not be applied on future billings.

The decree provides that a person not receiving, by July 1, and refund due shall be awarded interest, at the rate of one half of one per cent a month from that date until the particular refund is paid or credited. That is in line with the statement in the decree that it "is intended that refunds shall be made as expeditiously as possible and with as little trouble to those entitled thereto as possible." Interest will apply from July 1 on refunds due on toll calls made from public pay telephones only if claims for such refunds are presented by that date. On a claim for a refund on such calls presented after July 1, interest will apply from the date of the claim.

The company has a record of toll calls made from customers' telephones, but has no record of individuals who made calls from public pay telephones. Slips were provided at pay telephones for customers to fill out as claims to be presented to the company. Other subscribers need not file claims.

Any balance remaining in the impounded funds available for the refunds shall be turned over to the company a year from now, according to the decree. Thereafter, the company will continue to credit or pay any unpaid refunds from its own general funds. The decree points out that that provision contains no element of profit to the company inasmuch as the cost of making the refund probably will exceed the amount of the unpaid refunds.

The Ingham Court is empowered by the decree to settle any dispute arising out of individual refunds. The company must file formal reports with the Court and the Michigan Public Service Commission every three months, beginning November 1, on the progress of the refunds.

The decree permits the company to designate hotels as its agents in making refunds to guests qualifying for such payments.

With the issuance of the decree, George M. Welch, president of the company, said the refunds or credits probably will start within 30 days. Due to the enormous task of checking 65,000,000 records of individual calls and applying the refunds of about 700,000 accounts, he said the job will require a number of months to complete.

Neighbors and Good Citizens!

Few Michigan citizens stop to think how much the railroads mean to Michignn today. In this era of commercinl and industrial development the railroads are vitally essential to Michigan's progress.

For example: In the average year the railroads spent more than 75 millions in Michigan—$55,007,715 in payrolls to 47,000 men; $5,759,621 in taxes; and, in 1939, $15,473,292 for supplies purchased in 248 communities in 69 counties in our state.

The railroads are our neighbors. They operate in all but two counties in Michigan. Their employes live in nearly every community in the state.

The railroads are good citizens. They furnish us with an indispensable service. They are the state's largest taxpayers. Railroad taxes help make possible the schooling of hundreds of children in this county. Railroad taxes last year in Charlevoix County amounted to $16,195.72, all of which went into the Primary School Fund. The prosperity of the railroads and of their employes helps make the business of all of us prosperous. Railroad employes in Charlevoix County were paid last year the sum of $92,346.27, most of which was spent with local merchants.

We urge our Legislature and Congress to be just nnd fair in considering any legislation intended to remove the inequality under which our railroads are forced to operate.

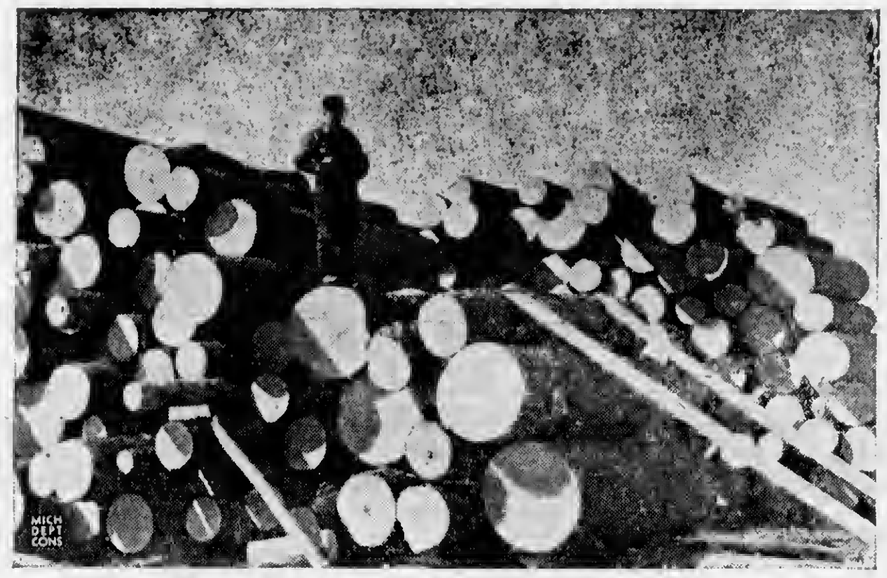
Like Old Times in Michigan



Reminiscent of the state's roaring lumbering era of 70 years ago and now a rare sight in Michigan are such skidways as this of big white pine logs. These were cut by CCC crews from giant trees in Interlochen state park blown down in the Armistice Day windstorm. From state forests private operators already have salvaged 75,000 board feet of logs, 800 cords of spruce and jackpine pulpwood, and 265 cords of jackpine cabin logs, while CCC crews have taken out another 138,000 board feet of logs and more than 500 cords of fuel wood for use on state forest projects. With northern woods and swamps now more accessible to trucks, a stepping up in timber salvage operations is expected.

The current wave of labor unrest thus involves our national defense and our democracy's pledge of aid to England.

Struggle for Profits

Underlying the disagreement between capital and labor, in Michigan as well as elsewhere, is a basic struggle over the share of profits each group shall receive during the present boom.

At complete variance are the points of view of labor and capital.

The C.I.O. "Economic Outlook" for January, 1941, says the C.I.O. will "continue to strive. . .to improve the wage structure of our members and to obtain improved working conditions. This involves obtaining for the workers an increasing share of mounting profits.

C.I.O. officials make much ado of New Deal statistics showing that less than 23 per cent of the nation's workers earned $1,400 or more a year; one-third of all workers earned less than $400 a year.

The A.F.L. in its March, 1941, "Monthly Survey of Business," points out that General Motors in its report to stockholders showed it had made $717 per employe in 1940; American Telephone and Telegraph, $689; DuPont, $1,363; General Electric, $747, and U. S. Steel, $402.

According to labor, capital is not sharing war-time profits with the worker.

Capital's Answer

The official transcript of a mass conference held April 24 with C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, states the viewpoint of management.

In anticipation of a small increase in the cost of living, estimated recently by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins to be 2.6 per cent since the war started and another 3 per cent between March and autumn of this year, General Motors offered to raise 1941 wages an average of 3 cents an hour, or $15,000,000 a year. (C.I.O. asked for $50,000,000.)

The average earnings of all hourly paid General Motors employees has been $41.24 a week. The average hour rate for all men and women in all G. M. divisions has been 97.9 cents; for men alone in car and body plants, $1.05½.

Mr. Wilson said: "The wage rates in General Motors car, body and automotive parts plants are already as high, or higher, on the average than rates paid in the industry by others. G. M. rates are very much higher on the average than rates in other heavy goods industries. Recent substantial increases granted in other industries still leave their average earned rate less than G. M. is already paying."

More Profits to U. S.

The 1941 industrial picture is, indeed, confusing to the layman.

It is a paradox of production and gross profits rising, while stock prices continually decline on the New York market.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., recently reported to G. M. stockholders about 1941 first quarter operations. Sales were $191,042,000, or 41.7 per cent higher than during the 1940 first quarter. Yet, because of rising federal taxes, the net profit was $2,500,000 lower than for the same quarter one year ago!

This tax total, in relation to total sales, was $46,849,000, a gain of 256 per cent more than in the 1940 quarter.

More profits? According to the G. M. official report, there will be less profits to be shared among the investors who own the company, let alone split up a share of the declining profits among the workers.

Defense Jeopardized?

What has been the effect of industrial strikes to date upon national defense?

Here, the student of propaganda will encounter varying viewpoints also.

Labor's attitude may be summed up as follows: Bottlenecks that delayed defense production were due more to an unwillingness of capital to accept national defense contracts on a basis of a 7 or 8 per cent profit limitation which existed in the Vinson-Trammell Naval Expansion Act of 1935, prior to its 1940 repeal. A monograph by TNEC also makes this charge.

Business Week (March 1, 1941) is quoted as saying: "Actually in the first six months of the defense program there have been fewer man-days lost in strikes than in any other comparable period since the passage of the Wagner act, and labor disputes have not been nearly as serious as they were in 1917."

Management's Answer

Walter D. Fuller, president of the National Association of Manufacturers and of the Curtis Publishing company (Saturday Evening Post) declared on March 26:

"It is alarming for fathers of draftees in this country to find out that enough time has already been lost through strikes to build 480 destroyers and half a million modern Garand rifles for their boys to carry."

The management of General Motors, for example, has felt that the union was trying to subsidize another wage increase at the cost of the rest of the country.

"It shouldn't be necessary to have strikes all the time in order to have collective bargaining in the country," said Mr. Wilson. "It seems we ought to get broadminded enough so that collective bargaining doesn't always mean to collect and that the bargain part of it ought to come in."

Socialism, Fascism?

It is a memory of World War profits, which brought a crop of more than 10,000 millionaires between 1914 and 1917, that prompts labor to suspect management is not giving the worker a fair share of 1941 profits.

Management answers by pointing to the soaring toll which federal taxes are exacting.

What will be the final outcome of this internal dissension?

Will it be more centralized control, such as further state socialism or possibly an adaptation of fascism to meet American attitudes?

These are questions which thinking citizens, no doubt, are asking themselves today. Public opinion, influenced by events more so than by words, will supply the answer.

* GOOD MANAGERS FIND BEST DIETS *
* * * * * * * * * * * *

Good management or poor management can make the difference between good diets and poor diets, say home economics extension specialists at Michigan State College. Families over the country are getting diets varying widely in quality, even when they spend exactly the same amount for food.

On the farm or in the city, homemakers who are good managers are those who know the foods their family needs, spend their grocery dollars wisely, are good cooks, and smart meal planners.

Good management on the farm, in addition, means planning the home-produced food supply carefully on a year-round basis.

Farm families the country over produce about two-thirds of their own food in their gardens, orchards and fields, and with their milk cows, poultry flocks, and other livestock.

In an analysis of farm diets over the nation, it has been found that many farm families could be better fed without any greater outlay of cash, simply by following a well-worked-out yearly production plan. The difference between good diets and poor diets usually is in the amounts of the 'protective' foods—milk, eggs, green leafy vegetables, and vitamin-C rich fruits and vegetables—included in each type of diet.

Spending grocery dollars, say the specialists, means learning to recognize quality, then buying the quality that best suits particular needs and purses. Whole-grain cereals cooked at home can take the place of more expensive ready-to-eat kinds, for instance.

COUNCIL APPROVES A REDUCED BUDGET

ORDINANCE SETS FUNDS FOR ENSUING FISCAL YEAR

Budget of $36,515.25 Will Require Tax Rate of 15 Mills, Same As Last Year

Adoption of the annual budget and setting the tax rate for the July, or summer roll, constituted one of the major items of business transacted Monday night by the city council.

The budget, providing funds for the various departments and for the interest and sinking fund to retire bonded indebtedness, was set at $36,515.25. This sum is a reduction of $162.67 from a year ago when the figure was $36,677.92. To provide this amount, the council adopted a tax rate of 12 mills for general purposes and 3 mills for interest and sinking fund, the same rate as a year ago.

City Valuation Reduced

The 15 mill tax rate will be assessed against a real and personal property valuation of $2,434,350 as set by the board of review last week. The valuation figure for 1941-42 represents a decrease of $10,845 from a year ago.

The budget sets up thirteen funds in comparison to eleven last year, providing funds for sanitary sewer requirements and docks and harbor, which expenditures heretofore were charged to sewers in the first instance and to parks in the second. Arrival of the budget figure this year was made more accurate, it was explained, by a new system of accounting which charges expenditures directly to the department benefited. Details of the budget are contained in an ordinance appearing on page 6 of this issue.

Zoning Hearing Conducted

The regular council meeting was preceded by a second public hearing on a proposed zoning ordinance. Interest in the measure was indicated by the large number attending. Numerous objections to certain features of the ordinance were heard. Changes to conform with what were considered justified objections, with particular stress on a provision setting the percentage of loss by fire necessary to prohibit rebuilding a business establishment now located in a residential district, are to be made before final adoption, it is understood. Personal contacts with objectors, rather than another public hearing, are planned, it is believed.

Requests by Franklin McFarland and Monte Withers for approval of application for license to sell liquor in their establishments were received. In view of the fact such approval would require change in the present ordinance controling sale of liquor within the city limits, the matter was referred to the ordinance committee. Application for renewal of the Belvedere Hotel liquor license was approved.

SEASON'S STRANGEST FISH CAUGHT NEAR ROSCOMMON

While fishing in Beaver creek, Everett Sisterman hooked and landed the freak fish of the season—a seven and one-half inch brook trout wearing a wooden ring from someone's creel encircling its middle. The fish had worn the ring for some time, possibly since last summer, as it appeared to have grown on both sides of the place where the hing pinched it tightly.

REDUCE MUNICIPAL COURSE TO 9 HOLE

PORTION EAST OF DURANCE ROAD IS ELIMINATED

Numerous Improvements Accompanied Change—Course Unofficial Open for 1941 Season

Preparations are nearing completion for opening of the Charlevoix municipal golf course for the 1941 summer season.

Conforming with a decision of the city council following the 1940 season, the course this year has been cut to nine holes as a means of reducing maintenance costs which in the past have exceeded revenue.

Under the new plan, the course will comprise six holes on the north side of US-31 and three holes south of this highway. Making up the 9-hole lay-out will be holes one, two, three, four and five of the original course, former fourteen becomes six, fifteen becomes seven, sixteen becomes eight, seventeen has been eliminated and partially combined with eighteen to form hole nine.

Among improvements made are a hook-up with the city water mains, thus eliminating the necessity of operating the pumping station on Lake Charlevoix to provide water for sprinkling. The usual fertilization and seeding of greens and fairways has been carried on and minor improvements on the buildings will be made.

While the course has been open to play for several weeks, no date has yet been set for the official opening. Play will be available over the holidays, however. It is expected the club house will be in charge of Keith Carey this summer.

Under the new plan of operation, greens fees will be reduced to some extent for the 9-hole lay-out.

RESUME OPERATIONS ON M-66 RELOCATION JOB

Resurfacing of Highway Into East Jordan Expected to Be Included

Work was resumed Monday by the firm of Comstock & Terry on the relocation of M-66 between Charlevoix and Ironton.

Present operations, a resumption of work where discontinued in midwinter, include completion of grading, drainage, gravel surfacing and landscaping. It is expected the project will be completed some time in June.

Surfacing of the new relocation will follow completion of present operations and, it is understood, will include the entire distance from beginning of the relocation into East Jordan. Purchase of right-of-way beyond the relocation has been started, according to reports.

LEGION, KIWANIS PICK DELEGATES

WILL SEND THREE YOUTHS TO WOLVERINE BOYS' STATE

William Lusk, Howard North and Jack Stewart Will Be Sent to Lansing Boys' Round-Up

Leslie T. Shapton Post, American Legion, and the Kiwanis Club will send three representatives to the fourth annual Wolverine Boys' State to be held at Lansing, June 19 to 27.

Delegates, with expenses paid, are William Lusk and Howard North, sent by the Legion, and Jack Stewart, sent by the Kiwanis.

These three youths will join 900 other boys from every Michigan county to establish and conduct the mythical 49th state on the Michigan State College campus in East Lansing.

On the first day, boys will be organized into cities and counties and will elect local officials. Nomination and election of state officers will follow. Boys' State citizens will be divided into two political parties which will not be similar to any existing political party.

For eight days youthful legislators, mayors, police, justices and other officials will conduct their own model government, receiving advice and guidance from a picked staff of technical counsellors. The State will give boys the opportunity to learn good citizenship and ways of meeting governmental problems through setting up their own government and conducting it themselves.

All boys attending will be 16 and 17 years old, and will not have attended previous Boys' States. Shortly after their return home, delegates will make reports on their experiences to sponsoring organizations.

Boys' State citizens will conduct their own daily newspaper, post office and band and will have a large share in producing the regular evening assembly programs. Senior students from Michigan's four law schools will serve as counsellors to the young government officials, and Legionnaires will comprise the official staff and organization of county advisors.

RAGWEED POLLEN COUNT TO BE REPEATED AGAIN

Charlevoix to Cooperate in State-Wide Effort This Season

With the cooperation of observers at 50 places in the upper and lower peninsulas, the Michigan department of health will conduct its second ragweed pollen count this summer.

The city of Charlevoix donated funds and cooperated in the plan last year and will join with other cities again this season.

"Information gathered in these state-wide surveys will be useful as a guide to hay fever sufferers," said Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "People have been coming for many years to Michigan for relief from hay fever; the pollen counts will simply indicate more accurately where the most favorable areas are. On the basis of last year's survey, it appears that some of the areas where pollen counts are low will be inland and some will be on lake shoreline."

The pollen counts are made by exposing glass slides, covered with a film of grease to hold the pollen grains, and counting the grains caught in 24 hours. Ragweed pollen grains are invisible and are counted under a microscope.

Memorial Day picknickers and campers will find all 56 state parks in Michigan ready for use Friday, many of them with improved facilities, John Rogers, assistant chief of the conservation department's parks division, said today.

Because of the shortage of WPA and CCC labor caused by changing industrial conditions, planned improvements in several parks have not been made. In a few cases there may be minor inconvenience where projects undertaken are not yet complete.

DEER KILLED IN CRASH INTO BELVEDERE TENNIS COURT FENCE SUNDAY

Apparently driven by panic when it became trapped inside a wire fence surrounding the Belvedere Club tennis courts, a doe deer crashed into the wire and broke its neck Sunday evening.

Bill Ochs sighted the entrapped animal around 8:30 o'clock and reported the incident to Police Chief Clarence Heise, who shot the fatally injured animal and turned it over to conservation officers on Michigan Patrol boat. The carcass was placed in Martin Block's cooler to await disposal by department officials.

While the incident was one of the most unusual ever recorded here, the presence of deer within the city limits has been occasional for the past several years.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Gossips are such good mathemnticians they can put two and two together and have twice as much left over to carry—to the next place.

Proof that seasonal conditions are more advanced this year than last by Memorial Day is borne out by the fact that last year lilacs had not yet bloomed, while this year they are nearly through blossoming.

There was once a time when catching brook trout out of Round lake was commonplace, but today it is rare and for that reason the fact that Mrs. George Priest and Julian Griffin each had this unusual experience last week puts the incidents in the category of headline news.

Ever since that deer broke its neck in the Belvedere Club tennis court fence Sunday evening, Police Chief Clarence Heise has been trying to collect a dollar off his brother, Charlie. The boys have a standing bet of that amount on the first deer each fall and Clarence is trying to rush the season. If you knew Clarence like I do, you wouldn't be surprised,

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Michigan has been chosen by the treasury department at Washington as one of six states where organized volunteer buying of U. S. national defense bonds will be tested on a big scale.

Upon the outcome of a high pressure campaign led by the dynamic Frank Isbey, Detroit appointee of Gov. Frank Murphy as state fair manager in 1937 and 1938, may rest the federal administration's decision whether to expand the plan nationwide or to recommend congressional enactment of compulsory payroll deductions.

"As many leading Detroit business men see it," confided Isbey, "the country has the choice of either assuring the adequate financing of our national defense program through purchase of government bonds as well as taxes or opening the door wide to disastrous inflation.

"If the bonds are not bought voluntarily, the government may be forced to require compulsory savings through payroll deductions."

The Defense Program and Social Disease

Persons qualified to speak with authority are expressing their conviction that, both military and industrially, the United States must shortly exert itself as never before in its history if it is to become a factor in deciding the European conflict and so insure the continuance of its way of life. The efforts of the World War era, it is predicted, will pale into insignificance besides those which must be made within the next few months.

In the last analysis, the success of the training program and the volume of industrial production must depend on the health of those engaged in those fields. Adequate barriers have been erected to the spread of the communicable diseases but considerable difficulty is being experienced, as always, in preventing infection with the so-called social diseases. A radically changed environment, infused with not a little hysteria, loneliness on the part of the men in uniform and the craving for pleasure on the part of workers after the grind of the factory may be cited as some of the reasons for the increase in prostitution now being reported from industrial areas and from the neighborhood of the training camps.

When it is considered that an estimated 7,000,000 soldier-days lost from the life of the A.E.F. in the last war because of syphilis and gonorrhea, it can be seen that the diseases are a serious menace. With influenza, these maladies send more of the U. S. Army personnel to hospitals than did battle wounds or other causes.

Thus far, drafted men show an incidence to syphilis of only about 2 per cent. Authorities at Fort Brady, Fort Wayne, Fort Custer and Selfridge Field are establishing regulations which, it is hoped, may hold infection to a minimum. However, their efforts are likely to avail nothing without the co-operation of local officials, the medical profession and public health agencies.

A potent factor in eradicating commercialized vice from the community is the average citizen. Women's organizations, particularly, would do well to obtain from local health departments the pamphlet, "Syphilis and Your Town" and act on its suggestions. Public opinion could exert sufficient pressure on police heads to bring about the mitigation if not the suppression of prostitution.

Prompt arrest and isolation of those proved on examination to be infected would exert a deterrent effect.

Community resources should be surveyed with a view to organizing wholesome recreation for men in military service and in essential industries.

Severe penalties should be exacted of persons who, having contracted syphilis or gonorrhea, fail to report the fact promptly. Means must be found for compelling hospitilization until the diseases have been cured or brought under control.

The sulfonamide drugs offer a new weapon for combatting gonorrheal infection. The recently proposed five-day treatment for syphilis has yet to prove its worth. It may prove useful in some carefully selected cases but there is no evidence that it can be universally applied.

CHANGE LOCATION MINERAL WATER FOUNTAIN

Move From Memorial Park to Lower Level Trebled Water Flow

A recently completed change in location of the mineral water fountain from Memorial park to the north side of the roadway at the foot of Antrim street has resulted in increasing the flow of water.

Near trebling of the water flow was accomplished by installing the fountain at a lower level than its previous location, where it had nearly stopped running. The fountain is fed from a city-owned mineral well.

This improvement will be appreciated especially by summer residents, many of whom took the water in containers for home consumption.

Mrs. Lester Hall entertained last Wednesday afternoon at a party in honor of the fourth birthday of her son, Lawrence. Guests were Joyce Cunningham, Barbara Smith, Jackie White, Billie Murray, Roberta and Guy Swanson, and Phyllis Williams.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Have you noticed how the maple leaves have been falling, before and not since the wind and rain storm of Monday.

This trouble seems to be caused by the leaf borer, which tunnels the leaf stalks and causes serious falling of leaves. There is no control for the pest.

Other borers that operate on maples can be controlled by injecting carbon bisulphide or nicotine-sulphate into the burrows.

Maples are also subject to various diseases and insect pests, but one of the commonest troubles, leaf scorch, is caused by unbalanced water rations. Dig around your maples and other trees and keep them well watered, especially the ones between the sidewalk and curb.

Did you get to the greenhouse this week, and did you ever see it so colorful and pretty? They have a new collection of cacti for the collector.

All you young married people who are buying homes, be sure to set out a few trees; an apple, a pear, an elm and a cherry at least. The cost is so little compared to the pleasure you will get from them in years to come. We know, because we didn't plant our apple, pear, cherry and elm 22 years ago.

URGE MOTORISTS USE CARE OVER HOLIDAYS

State-Wide Effort to Avoid Auto Accidents Is Being Made

Anticipating a record-breaking volume of traffic on state highways over the Memorial Day week end, State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy this week urged motorists to redouble their efforts to avoid accidents.

Meanwhile, state highway department maintenance crews were rushing applications of calcium chloride and other dust layers on gravel roads. Roadside picnic areas have been put in condition for use with more than 3,500 tables available to the traveling public. Signs and signals have been checked and temporary routes around construction projects put in the best possible condition. In urging motorists to exert extreme caution during the holiday period, Kennedy suggested that travelers arrange their schedules to take advantage of low traffic periods in the morning and allow more time than usual for reaching a destination.

Kennedy also called attention to the mounting death toll from traffic accidents. Said he:

"A toll of 12 deaths in street and highway crashes over the last week-end continues the bad record of the present year, the first three months of which witnessed a total of 403 fatal crashes in Michigan. This was an increase of 50, or 14 per cent more than for the corresponding period last year."

Kennedy stated it was significant to note that the traffic accident rate virtually parallels the curve of industrial activity, and with business soaring to unprecedented heights as a result of the national defense program, a rising tide of traffic fatalities is imminent.

Revealing the stress that has been placed on present transportation facilities, Kennedy cited figures showing that traffic on Michigan highways this year has jumped more than 11 per cent over last year's figures and was 40 per cent higher than that of three years ago, and now stands at the figure previously estimated to be reached in 1945.

Early Arrivals

Superintendent of Straits state park near St. Ignace makes a friendly call on an Indiana party whose tent has been pitched at the edge of the forest. While Memorial Day, May 30, is the traditional opening date in the 97 state parks operated by the conservation department, most of these parks are open earlier to accommodate picnickers and the first of the season's campers. Fair weather has brought many visitors to the parks early this year.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

By Your Congressman

Fred Bradley

11th District Michigan

There have been times in recent years when the national budget with the proper approach could have been balanced. There were those who not only said it could, but suggested ways by which this objective could be attained.

The situation has been changed in recent months. While there are a few voices still calling for a budget balance, there are none to say now how it can be done as long as a War Economy prevails. And the deficit for the present fiscal year will not be our usual three billion dollars — a staggering sum itself—but three and a half times as much, or something like 11 billion.

A New Economy

The American people are finally becoming awakened to the truth, that they are facing a new economy in this nation—a war economy. There have already started far-reaching shifts which will affect the lives of all the people—their jobs, their living conditions, their future. Big as we may be as a nation, we cannot stop the world-wide influences now at work—no more than we could when a world depression set in, disrupting our economic forces at home, and bringing on a depression here that has persisted since 1929.

Members of Congress are aware of some of the forces at work. They are hearing, too, of some of the government's activities that have not been carried out as well as might be hoped. To get accurate and complete information, to serve as a guide in dealing with the present as well as future developments, Congress conducts investigations through specially designated committees, many of which are now at work.

A Senate Banking Committee, headed by Senator Prentiss Brown, is surveying the monetary question; defense industries and army camps are being investigated by a special Senate committee, headed by Senator Truman; the House Military and Naval Committees are also watching and studying the field; the Dies Committee, investigating un-American activities, has again gone into action, prying into the operations of subversive groups, Social Security and Old Age Pensions also are being studied. Other government activities under scrutiny include the telegraph companies; government agencies; civil service; the pulp-wood industry.

Government agencies are also conducting investigations of their own. One of these is that by the Federal Trade Commission looking into unfair trade practices. One regulation it has provided calls for the proper labelling of merchandise, notably silk hosiery. The tag must show the grade of thread used, etc.

More Government Control

Instead of less government control, it is certain we are headed for more control, for the demand for raw materials to feed the factories now producing war equipment of all kinds. Already deep inroads have been made on the sources normally going into peacetime pursuits. Such changes in economy also call for population shifts, for workers will move in where jobs in defense industries are available. The government has promised to spread this employment, and it will, eventually, but meantime orders are concentrated in centers already over-populated, while other districts, such as our own, are left without orders.

Another important matter which will pinch many of us, is the drastic curtailment of installment buying. With higher wages that always follow a war economy, it is but natural that people will want to purchase more automobiles, more electric refrigerators, radios and other commodities on the installment plan. The government proposes to control the inflation and price increases which such demand will bring by providing for larger down payments and shorter time to complete the balance of the payments.

The government is going more into competition with business, through the granting of more power to the R.F.C. and its subsidiaries. This will be true especially in the foreign field, where the restrictions of the Johnson Act are being sidestepped through the operations of the government agencies operating in fields formerly restricted to the private operators.

Follow Totalitarian Lead

The fact is that whether we call it that or something else, our own government will be following in the footsteps of those foreign nations that have gone to either the Fascist, Nazi, Communist or some other form different from our basic representative government, with private initiative the guiding force and inspiration for our failure or success.

Under the form which is rapidly taking root, and which promises to establish itself firmly, the government will manage and direct the lives of the people—not the people direct the functions of the government. That is the price of the war economy with which we are now faced, regardless of whether or not we permit ourselves to be drawn into the European war.

MICHIGAN'S MILK MAKES FINE FOOD

Michigan's 900,000 dairy cows contribute daily to good nutrition for families consuming fresh milk, butter and cheese, according to nutrition specialists at Michigan State College.

Just what is it that milk adds to the diet?

With every glass of whole milk there is protein, fat, calcium, phosphorus, milk sugar and some vitamins. The vitamins include A and G in important amounts, some vitamin B and a little vitamin D. Cheese made from whole milk supplies most of these same food values in a more concentrated form.

Americans are using more milk and cheese than they did 10 years ago. Yet recent studies by the federal Bureau of Home Economics indicate that an increase in the use of dairy products would do still more in improving the nutritive value of present-day diets.

Macaroni and cheese is one of the most familiar cheese and cereal combinations. Another preparation puts cheese with vegetables. This is considered wise practice. The added protein from the cheese can make the vegetable dish the main part of the meal.

Cheese should not actually be cooked. Just enough heat should be used to melt the product. The kind depends on what the family likes. Most cheese used in cooking is the familiar golden-yellow American or cheddar. When young, the cheese is mild in flavor and soft in texture, but age brings on a sharp and tangy flavor, with dryness and crumbling.

Congressman Fred Bradley recently treated the Wednesday Night Congressional club to a smelt dinner at Washington, D. C. A resolution of appreciation written over the signature of Robert A. Grant, Indiana, read in part: "We congratulate the people of Mr. Bradley's district in sending a representative to congress who not only is such a conscientious and faithful legislator, but who is congenial and a relinble friend. We trust that the people of his district may continue to recognize his valuable services." Must take something besides smelt to merit such glowing praise.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR AIR SERVICE LOWERED

College Education Not Now Required for Eligibility in Corps

The war department has lowered the qualifications for the air corps to the extent that men who have not a high school education will be accepted if they can pass an intelligence test.

Of course men who have a high school education, or an 11th grade education and can show written proof of mechanical ability, or have a journeymans rating in a mechanical trade need not take the army general classification test.

Some of the pursuits of the air corps technicians are: aerial photography; airplane and engine maintenance; welding, machine shop work; sheet-metal-craft; radio; armament; parachute rigging, cooks and medical. Because of its need for specially trained men the air corps carries a generous allotment of grades and ratings with attendant high pay.

New vacancies have been alloted the recruiting stations in Michigan and they are as follows: 12th Bomb Group, McChord Field, Wash.; 2nd Communication Squadron (radio) Jefferson Barracks, Missouri; 3rd Communication Squadron (radio) Jefferson Barracks, Missouri; Mech. & Res. Airplane Detachment, Jefferson Barracks, Missouri; Air Corps Recruit Detachment, Panama City, Florida; and Air Corps Depots, Jefferson Barracks, Missouri.

For further information call at, or write the Army Recruiting Office, Post Office Bldg., Traverse City.

May 27 marked the 31st anniversary of the death of Robert Koch, the scientist who proved that tuberculosis is caused by a germ and transmitted from one person to another. All modern methods of fighting the disease are based upon his work, according to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

LANSING LETTER

Cities, Schools

An educational program is being launched through the public schools, local governments, and industrial concerns to acquaint the public with the merit of the new bonds.

Whereas the World war Liberty bonds were bought at par and often sold at a loss, the 1941 securities are redeemable at any federal reserve bank at not less than par, plus any interest accrued.

School children are being asked to buy saving stamps in denominations of 10 cents and upward, available at local postoffices. Stamp "booklets," when filled, have a cash value of $18.75 good for the purchase of a $25 bond. The bond is redeemable in ten years at the latter amount, a 33 1/3 per cent increase on the original investment.

All bonds constitute a direct obligation of the United States government itself.

Crawford's Warning

Rep. Fred L. Crawford, Michigan, testified before the house banking committee at Washington that the treasury's quota of a billion-a-month sales of defense bonds was lagging badly.

Declaring that a plan of compulsory bond buying had been adopted in both Germany and Britain, Crawford said that such a proposal had been made here by Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics. National defense contracts would carry a provision whereby a certain percentage would be automatically deducted from each worker's pay and invested in government saving bonds, redeemable in full at the end of the emergency.

C.I.O. and A.F.L. workers in Detroit were warned by labey (state chairman of the saving bond campaign) to "get in step."

The initial success of the pressure drive indicates that Michigan may again lead the way, not only in mass production of vital armament but in mass purchase of government saving bonds. If it succeeds, it will be democracy in action.

Legislative Wind-up

Tuesday night (May 28) found the state legislature in a frantic last-minute rush to clear decks for adjournment.

In session since early January, the legislature may be remembered more for what it did not do than for the new laws it enacted.

This observation contains more significance than appears on the surface, as a primary function of any well functioning legislative body is to serve as a filter in culling out bad bills.

Condemned widely by the press was a dog racing bill, pushed by gambling interests through their lobbyist, Floyd Fitzsimmons of Benton Harbor. The House smothered this measure.

In the Senate a proposal to establish a secret police force for the personal use of Attorney General Herbert K. Rushton was halted by bi-partisan vote.

Rushton was critical of the governor's use of the state police in handling the Ford strike at Dearborn. During the 1940 campaign, Rushton carried a tag of being "anti-labor," placed upon him by union leaders. The proposed "gestapo," so branded by Senator Ernest C. Brooks (D) of Holland, was too much even for the Republican majority in the Senate. Again, the filter typified much of the 1941 legislative record.

"Bewildering Speed"

The traditional habit of legislators of waiting until the last few weeks before they break the legislative jam has again incurred widespread criticism.

C. Milton Kelly, writer for the Associated Press which plays no "politics" and has no axe to grind, observed caustically: "Feeble protests were voiced by a few members as bills were rushed through the hopper at the rate of one each two or three minutes without benefit of debate, explanation or the formality of reading."

He noted that the house even dispensed "with reading the full titles of each bill in some instances, a shortcut the senate refused to take on advice of Fred I. Chase, secretary, who said it would be unconstitutional."

Another capital correspondent, equally independent, observed: "The senate shoved through with the flimsiest kind of consideration shoals of minor house bills."

The legislative excuse was the deadline for committee action and the generally conceded fact that most of the 1,200 bills have been of minor concern. The public would probably get along very well if no new laws were enacted for five years.

Middle of the Road

The civil service commission, invested by the constitutional amendment with dictatorial powers, rebuffed zealous reformers when it chose Thomas J. Wilson as director.

"Friends" of civil service had sponsored candidates who were known to be professionally trained as career men, and hence, like social welfare workers, apt to be sticklers for red tape.

Instead of imposing drastic rules that might not work, the commission has proceeded slowly with its authority. Under consideration for the commission's June session are regulations proposed by Commissioner Alex J. Groesbeck to prevent civil service employees from soliciting political funds, belonging to a political party committee or serving as delegates to a political convention.

Employees would be permitted otherwise to engage in political activity while not on official duty.

Thus the commission has been earning a reputation for middle-of-the-road action, going neither to the right nor the left. It is our observation that the 1939 legislative reaction to civil service, as introduced in 1937 by the Murphy administration, was due chiefly to arbitrary, impractical rulings of the administrator and the commission.

The present commission seems determined not to make the same mistake. Hence its slowness in introducing "all-out" merit protection for state employees.

GARDENERS WARNED AGAINST CUTWORMS

Cutworm Baits Catch Crop Pest With Formula of Five Ingredients

Farmers and gardeners fishing for good crop and garden yields better put on some bait if there are infestations of cutworms.

Whether it's on an acreage basis or for a quarter acre farm garden, the baiting catches a crop pest at work before the crop itself becomes cutworm feed. That saves time, seed and temper, says C. B. Dibble, extension entomologist at Michigan State College.

On an acreage basis, the best workable formula calls for five ingredients. The following adds up to 200 pounds of bait, sufficient for six to eight acres:

Seventy-five pounds of bran or three bushels plus one bushel of sawdust. Two gallons of molasses. Six gallons of water to which is added one quart of eight-pound test sodium arsenite or two quarts of four-pound test sodium arsenite or three pounds of white arsenic or Paris green. This mixture gets three ounces of banana oil just before spreading to help attract the cutworms.

On a garden basis Dibble offers a formula for mixing a smaller quantity. This is sufficient for the average farm garden of a quarter acre:

Five pounds of bran, three quarts of water, three ounces of Paris green and one pint of molasses. The tempter for this is one ground lemon, orange or apple.

Baiting, says Dibble, is most effective when put out in early evening, for the cutworms work at night.

POTATO VALUE ONCE DOUBTED

U. S. Pioneers Were Slow to Adopt Tubers.

By H. E. ESWINE

Frederick the Great, Louis XVI, the luck of the Irish, and the ingenuity of the French all were needed to popularize that white sheep of a black family, the potato, which had to go to Europe and back before it was accepted by our forefathers who prided themselves on their ability as pioneers.

Sir Walter Raleigh's claim of purveyor of potatoes to Queen Elizabeth is subject to dispute, but there is no argument about the original distrust of most Europeans for a plant that had as relatives the deadly nightshade and other dubious cousins. The Irish were hungry enough to take a chance and the potato flourished in their climate.

Frederick the Great found that soldiers had to be fed and that farmers objected to requisitions of grain if that left their cupboards bare. Potatoes would feed the civilians and release barley and rye for soldiers' rations, so potatoes got a "must" rating from the Prussian, and Germans got an early start in accepting orders gracefully.

The French were and are different. Parmentier, a Frenchman who had eaten potatoes and liked them in a German prison camp, arrived home with a determination to popularize this food. Louis XVI could see the advantage of having well fed subjects and gave his royal sanction to the scheme, but the subjects were suspicious.

Parmentier knew his countrymen and obtained a detail of soldiers to stand guard every day around a plot of potato plants. At night, the guard was withdrawn and the neighbors pilfered what they would not accept in Germany. Russia harvests more than Germany, and France about equals our crop. Alcohol made from European potatoes may keep planes in the air when an exhausted gasoline supply would ground these eyes and weapons of warring nations.

Tuberculosis in the 1917 army cost tax payers one billion dollars in hospitalization and pensions, yet in Michigan army camps today there are 21,500 draftees who have been given no chest X-ray according to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

Every day five persons die in Michigan from tuberculosis, although the disease can always be cured by treatment in its early stages, says the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

Editor Usher of the Charlevoix Courier, held open house last Saturday, because that was the day his new printing and publishing establishment was completed, fully equipped and ready to go, to fill the place of the old Courier, burned out last winter. Mr. Usher has not only put up an entirely new building to house the Courier, but he has equipped that new building, made especially to fit his desires with new machinery, and new equipment throughout. This is meant to wish him all kinds of success, the kind of success that a good, very good, home town weekly like the Courier, deserves, because his paper, is a great asset to a good community.

Claude Fairman, who operates the Fairman Orchards out on Route 1, states that despite frosts which heavily damaged fruit blossoms generally throughout the north, his place escaped such losses. He sent in a green strawberry of fair diameter to prove his assertion and gives credit to the use of a chemical spray, particularly applied to cherries, which delayed growth of buds to a point where frost did not affect them. The same chemical, he claims, is used to make apples stick on the tree longer and to kill part or all blossoms of apples or other fruit to make them bear heavier on off years. With prospects for a good crop of peaches, apples, strawberries, red raspberries, sweet and sour cherries, Claude's setting pretty, and if I don't get some free fruit out of this bit of advertising, I'll sure mark him off my list.

HOMAGE TO AMERICAN FLAG IS LEGION URGE

Proper Methods Outlined by Officers of Leslie T. Shapton Post

With approach of the two great patriotic holidays, Memorial Day and Fourth of July, Leslie T. Shapton Post, American Legion, wishes to refresh citizens on the proper method of paying homage to the flag.

The following paragraph is quoted from Adoptions of the National Flag Conference of 1923:

"During the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag, or when the flag is passing in a review or in a parade, all persons present should face the flag, stand at attention and salute. When not in uniform, men should remove headdress with the right hand and hold it over the left shoulder, the right hand being over the heart. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the flag in the moving column is rendered at the moment the flag passes."

IMPROVEMENTS AT CHICAGO CLUB CLUBHOUSE

Interior Redecorated, New Furniture and Linoleum Installed

Work of re-decorating a large part of the interior of the clubhouse on the Chicago club grounds is now almost completed.

Miss Alice Keith, manager, has supervised painting of the office, library, upper and lower halls; laying of new linoleum in the office; new stair carpets; new furniture and draperies for office and library; refinishing of floors in living suites, and in the solarium.

New sofa and draperies in the office are Chinese red print with white design, fringed in white. The floor is black-and-white "Marbelle" finish linoleum, bordered in black with red inset border.

Library re-decorating was done by Miss Cornelia Conger, of Chicago. The walls and newly-built bookcases are painted a soft, pale green. Draperies, two new upholstered chairs, and extra pillows are of a floral chintz with background matching the walls. Two davenports, one at each end of the big room, have been re-covered with a heavy cloth in deep tan shade. Flanking the fireplace are two new love seats, done in tomato-rust upholstery. End tables, small coffee tables, two three-tiered tables, and one huge round coffee table are of amber-finish wood in Swedish modern design. Unique lamps with woven raffia bases are on the tier tables.

In the solarium are several new Chinese wicker chairs. Venetian blinds will be installed here.

While no re-decorating has been done in the upstairs suites, the halls have been painted white, as also have the downstairs halls and office.

The clubhouse will open for the season on Memorial Day.

JULY 1 IS SCHEDULED SECOND REGISTRATION

Men Reaching 21 Since Last October 16, Are Affected

Selective Service officials Tuesday planned to dust off the historic World war draft "Goldfish Bowl" again for a second peace-time national lottery in mid-July to determine order numbers for new 21-year old registrants.

Affected by the proposed drawing will be men who have become 21 since last October 16 and who, under a proclamation issued by President Roosevelt Monday, must register for selective service on July 1. It was estimated that between 1,125,000 and 1,300,000 men are involved.

Officials said present plans, subject to change after further study, provided for classification of the new registrants at the bottom of the list of men 21 to 35 who registered last October 16 and whose order numbers were drawn in the first peace-time lottery last October 29.

Unless the army requests a big allotment of men under 30 or 26, it was said, the new registrants will not be called up for induction until the list of eligible men in the initial registration has been exhausted.

The July 1 registration will be handled by local draft boards. Officials said plans for it were made well in advance of Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation, and that "we are all set." The October registration, involving approximately 16,000,000 men, was handled mostly by school teachers and other volunteer workers.

No date for the proposed lottery was fixed. Selective service headquarters said it probably would be held within two weeks after registration.

RECORD TRAFFIC MARKS WEEKEND

TOURIST PATRONAGE HEAVIEST IN RECENT YEARS

Cars Carried at Straits Set All-Time-Record; Look Forward to Banner Summer Season

If tourist traffic over the three-day Memorial Day weekend may be taken as an indication, Charlevoix and northern Michigan can anticipate a bumper 1941 resort season.

Statistics gathered from local sources and from throughout the region, reveal the period from Friday until Sunday provided the heaviest tourist patronage for any like period in recent years, and this condition existed despite unfavorable weather conditions.

Cabin camp operators — Bancroft, Stroml's, Johnston and Taylor—reported capacity patronage. Likewise Lakeview Inn and Hallett Hotel, recently opened for the summer as well as small hotels, rooming houses and tourist homes, were taxed to provide accommodations. Like conditions existed throughout northern Michigan.

Traffic, heavy all day Friday, reached its peak Saturday when the business section took on a mid-summer appearance. Numerous summer residents took advantage of the holidays to make advance preparations at their cottages, while others moved in to stay. Homecomers added heavily to the hundreds of visitors.

Supporting regional claims of unprecedented tourist activity, is the all-time peak load of 10,538 automobiles carried across the Straits of Mackinac by state ferries during the holidays. Traffic was 3,716 cars heavier than for the same weekend in 1940. Friday was the peak day with 3,801 cars carried. Four ferries running as fast as they could be loaded failed to keep up with Thursday night's traffic. Several hundred cars were lined up at Mackinaw City awaiting northbound passage Friday morning. A fifth ferry was pressed into Service Sunday to handle the southbound traffic.

Charlevoix county escaped any serious automobile accidents and arrests for law violations were practically nil. The sheriff's department reported no calls over the weekend.

TWO STRUCK BY CAR, KILLED AT PETOSKEY

Horton Bay and Bay Shore Indians Are Accident Victims

Lucy Enos, 62, of Horton Bay, and William Gilbert, 51, of Bay Shore, both Indians, were instantly killed early Sunday morning when struck by a car driven by Peter Lites, 22, of Petoskey.

The pair were believed to have been walking north on US-131 on the south city limits of Petoskey when struck by Lites car. The body of Gilbert was found 165 feet from the accident, and that of Mrs. Enos 85 feet away. Lites promptly reported the accident to Petoskey police, who investigated.

Lites told officers that he was driving about 40 miles an hour and that he was blinded by lights of an oncoming car.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday by Rev. John W. Alexander at the Greensky Hill Indian Mission.

NEW LIQUOR ORDINANCE IS ADOPTED

PERMITS SALE IN BRIDGE STREET ESTABLISHMENTS

Zoning Restrictions Altered In New Ordinance; Council Action Result Two Applications

Steps which will permit the sale of liquor for consumption on the premises in the Charlevoix business section (Bridge street), were taken Monday night by the city council.

The action, breaking a precedent established when repeal of prohibition legalized the sale of intoxicants, was in the form of a new ordinance, which, by re-establishing locations where spirits may be sold for consumption on the premises, includes Bridge street.

The previous ordinance, prohibiting sale of spirits within a distance of 800 feet of schools or any churches, is replaced by one stipulating such locations as 800 feet from schools or within 200 feet of any church. The original ordinance is rescinded and the new one takes immediate effect.

Under state law, one establishment for sale of liquor for consumption on the premises is allowed for every 650 population, thus Charlevoix may have four in addition to summer hotels which come under a different classification, it is understood.

Monday night's action, approved by a 5 to 1 vote, Alderman Wood dissenting, followed request last week by Franklin McFarland and Mont Withers for approval of applications to the state liquor control commission for license to sell liquor in their restaurants. These applications must now be approved by the council and license issued by the state liquor control commission.

In the past, liquor licenses have been granted to the Beach Hotel, Colonial Club and Belvedere Hotel, all of which have been renewed for the 1941 season.

Charlevoix Merchants Offering Money-Saving Values. For Limited Time

Offering an array of attractive merchandise and products at today's money-saving prices, merchants of Charlevoix will begin observance this Friday of a statewide merchandising campaign, "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity."

Co-operating also are farmers, wholesalers, producers, manufacturers and processors. The drive, formally proclaimed by Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner, will close next Wednesday, June 11.

Cecil Taylor of Lansing, an independent retail grocer, co-chairman of the general committee in charge of the campaign, hailed the undertaking as "keynoting the advance toward a sounder market for our products right here at home."

Independents and chains alike are cooperating in this "Michigan Days" program. Various departments of the state government, from Governor Van Wagoner on down the line, along with trade associations and groups have joined the movement.

"Industry and agriculture have joined hands with retailers to show the public the way to a better Michigan," Taylor said.

Spearheaded by the Michigan Food Council, an organization of farmers, processors and distributors organized for the advancement of production and distribution of Michigan food products, "Michigan Days" has taken on a wide scope in the retailing field so as to include all types of retail merchants.

The Grange, the Farm Bureau, a score of agricultural organizations interested in some particular branch of the $225,000,000 industry, are cooperating in this campaign.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

They say the mule is half horse and half jackass and then comes to a full stop, Nature discovering her mistake.

I'll bet a lot of folks who crabbed about the government's past expenditures for WPA labor will gripe a lot hereafter about the absence of improvements partially financed by federal funds now that the WPA rolls have been practically eliminated here in Charlevoix. That's human nature.

Not having been wise enough to continue high school and graduate, I always feel extra proud of those who are fore-sighted enough to do so. The group of 49 who will receive diplomas tonight at the Charlevoix high school commencement program are no exception. The only regret I have is that the present day method of education is aimed more toward college than it is toward business, agriculture, trades and the more practical things in life. Charlevoix schools, and many others as well, are not up high enough in this line of training. They teach more for degrees than for the common things. But nevertheless, here's congratulations and best wishes for the future success of every one of the graduating class of '41.

Ever meet a fella who was so homespun he started to unravel the minute you talked to him?

Lake fishing is decidedly spotty and disappointing, to say the least. Some steelhead and muckinaw trout have been taken from Lake Charlevoix the past week, but results are far from what would be termed good. Robert Wood and Jim Hiller landed a pair of steelhead hooked at one time Friday morning, one a 5-pounder. A party out with Don Clothier took four, the largest tipping the beam at 7 pounds, and H. Z. Brown's 8-pounder, displayed in Staley Hardware Co. window, is the largest recorded. Have heard of three muckinaw trout being caught. One was a 26½-pound fish, perhaps a

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Come what may, America today is having a fateful rendezvous with destiny.

We are not yet at war. Yet we are rushing breathlessly toward an all-out war economy.

Peace-time habits of living, by which luxuries of yesterday are considered to be essentials of today, must face the cold test of necessity for survival. One of the costs of a war economy, as historians remind us, is a temporary sacrifice of economic and civil liberties. This sacrifice the people will make willingly if they are convinced of the justice of the cause and the mutual sharing of sacrifices by all.

In this epochal turn of the road, Michigan's governmental problems seem small and petty and insignificant in contrast to the monumental issues which we, as a nation, face during the coming weeks and months. It is only natural that home problems should occupy our attention; we have more interest in the corner grocer whom we know than in the far-off statesman who to us is only another name.

The Home Front

Development of mechanized warfare has converted the civilian at home into virtually a soldier at the front.

Modern warfare is total.

Fighting is not confined to the military lines; it is waged daily in thousands of industrial plants. For this reason Michigan citizens must be mobilized.

Thousands of hours of highly skilled labor are needed to turn out the powerful pursuit plane or the mighty bomber. Aircraft must be equipped with sensitive navigating instruments; fuselage and wings must be carefully protected with armor; death-dealing cannon and machine guns must be provided; motors must surpass those of the enemy.

Although the life of a plane in battle may be only a few hours

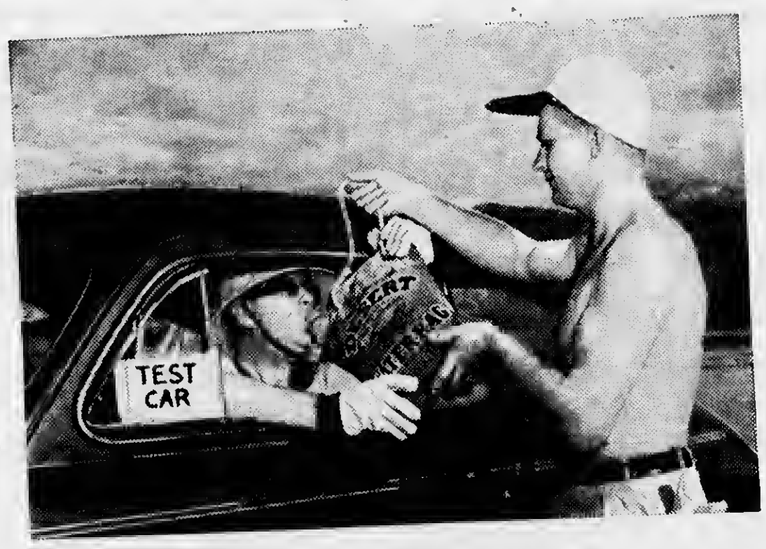
6 CARS DIED IN OVERHEATED DEATH VALLEY TO PROVE THAT YOURS CAN LIVE LONG

New Oil a Life-Giver. 5-quart fill—None Added —Lasted 13,398 Miles

More than Twice the mileage averaged by 5 other big-name oils in fiendish Destruction Test...Impartial...CERTIFIED



THIRST killed gold-feverish Forty-Niners in Death Valley. You can stand there today on our Hemisphere's bottom, 279 feet below sea level. And some of the worst heat on U.S. Weather Bureau records will be drying you up.

...America's hotspot!... where 6 identical everyday cars scorched along, testing 6 different motor oils, till 6 new engines were junk. Every condition was the same for all. Qualified authorities eyed every move. Speed: 57 miles an hour for all. The Referee had bought 5 of the oils right off the market; millions know their names well. The other oil was decidedly new. And this new oil that authentically delivered more than twice the mileage averaged by the others is named

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL
— Now on Sale here for Your Car

How could one fill of this popular-priced Conoco Nth oil keep lasting—without one added drop—for an official total of 13,398.8 miles? How could Conoco Nth oil outlast them all by 5,683 miles or more, even outlasting one "rival" by 8,268 miles!...Certified.

New SYNTHETIC in Conoco Nth

You know of vitamin synthetics... man-made... replacing Nature's life-givers sacrificed in some modern food processing. Similarly, the latest refining methods steal life-giving elements from motor oils. But more than making up for that today—in popular-priced Conoco Nth oil—is Thialkene inhibitor... man-made. (Conoco Patent 2,218,132.) It inhibits or checks the effect of foul leftovers created by the normal engine explosions. Thus Conoco Nth stays more like its own good self... helps the engine keep fit—good way to save quarts.

A triumph matching Conoco OIL-PLATING

Another wondrous synthetic—long in use under the famed Germ Processed oil patent—still makes Nth oil give your engine OIL-PLATING... lubricant that can't all quickly drain down from inner parts. Instead, it's able to stay plated up... on guard against wear in advance, while you're using Conoco Nth oil. In addition you get the latest life-giving aid that foiled Death Valley... that eclipsed other oils tested... that made one 5-quart-fill-of-new Conoco Nth oil last 13,398 miles. Certified.

That's like a mad extreme—beyond the utmost allowed by authorities on the subject. You'd never make your own car stand such proving-ground torture. But you want as wide a margin of engine protection and oil economy as your money will buy this Summer, and Conoco Nth has nailed up plain evidence. Ask today for Conoco Nth at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

IMPARTIAL The 6 new cars were broken-in alike, after engines had been taken apart for the Referee, to check uniformity. All cars tuned alike. Same desert route for all. Handling evened up by alternating drivers. One 5-quart fill per car and no more... engines under lock.

CERTIFIED

I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

GOVERNOR URGES PEOPLE TO AID CAMPAIGN

Van Wagoner Praises Efforts In "Michigan Days" Undertaking

Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner has officially proclaimed the period June 6-11 inclusive, "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity."

During these days farmers, merchants of all types, processors, distributors, retail organizations and manufacturers, are joining to make the people of the state conscious of the fact that Michigan produces goods and materials that lead in any market.

The primary purpose of the drive is to stimulate markets for Michigan products.

In calling the public's attention to the campaign, the Governor said:

"Expansion of the home market for Michigan products is essential if we are to maintain proper business tempo and play our full part in the national defense program.

"Business is on the upgrade. Merchants of Michigan are prepared to demonstrate to our people that Michigan is a great producing state. Through the medium of 'Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity' the retail industry will stimulate interest in the products of our farms and our factories. I know of no better way than thru this program to call upon the consuming public to participate in a movement for a better Michigan.

"World conditions require that we all work together, think together and plan as one great body of people. 'Michigan Days' affords all of us a rare opportunity to prove to one another and to the rest of the nation that we are one people bent upon a program of state unity.

SUMMER THEATRE FOR CHARLEVOIX

The eyes of the theatre-minded Middle West will be turned to this city when the Mummers (Chicago's most prominent producing company) hold their first summer theatre of professional proportions Charlevoix has ever had. To launch this subscription drive a meeting will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the community room of the city hall.

The support of the entire community will be needed to put this venture over. If it is successful, the Mummers and the city will combine to build an annual theater festival second to none in the country. Those who are interested in helping to make this theater project a success should contact any member of the committee, or this newspaper.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through the Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 23

FIVE STATE FERRIES ON SUMMER SCHEDULE

Hourly Crossings at Straits Will Continue to September 9

Michigan's white fleet at the Straits of Mackinac was operating on summer schedule this week as the vanguard of millions of tourists headed north.

State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy announced that hourly schedules would be maintained from both St. Ignace and Mackinaw City with two additional trips scheduled for late in the evening and early morning. During rush periods all four boats will operate without schedule to transport tourist vehicles just as rapidly as they can load, make the crossing and unload.

The summer schedule, effective until September 9, is as follows:

Leave Mackinaw City at 2 a. m., 5 a. m., and every hour until 11 p. m., inclusive.

Leave St. Ignace at 12:30 a. m., 3:30 a. m., 5:30 a. m., and every hour until 9:30 p. m., inclusive; also 11:30 p. m.

With traffic for the first four months of this year showing an increase of 38 per cent above that for the same period last year, Kennedy predicted the state-owned ferry fleet would be taxed to capacity throughout the summer months.

He was confident, however, that with the addition of the newly christened City of Petoskey which has just been added to the state fleet, excellent service would be available this year.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressmnn
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

What was the reaction of members of Congress to President Roosevelt's proclamation of an unlimited emergency? Thnt is a question that might well be usked because it came up in the minds of millions of people who are relying on their representatives to keep the United States out of wur.

Members of Congress were the first to direct attention to the fact that the President never once mentioned the legislative branch during the 45 minutes he spoke over the rudio. Much of the first half hour he devoted to an execration of Hitler and all that totalitarian government stands for, charges that are readily agreed upon hy the liberty-loving people everywhere, and particulurly here in our own country. Then he elaborated on whut was being done, and what would be done, to deliver the implements of war to the British and its allies. How this was to be done was not made clear, except that convoys were no longer thought effective, and the President left his audience to infer that some new way had been worked out by him, with the aid und advice of his military und naval officials.

Neutrality Law Unchanged

The President proclaimed the freedom of the seas, in keeping with American tradition. But no mention was made of the Neutrality Law, passed at a special session in the fall of 1939, on the recommendation of the President himself. This law burs Americun ships from war zones, named by the President himself. While this was left unmentioned in the speech, the day following at a special press conference which he called, the President in reply to a reporter's question stated that the Neutrality law stood as enacted.

There was some comment to the effect that, with the new power the President wus assuming, he would find u way to deal with the strike situntion. Members of his own party seemed plensed with this possibility, although it is generally understond in informed circles thnt there already are laws and wuys of deuling with this unhappy capital-lnbor strife, nny time the President saw lit to deal with the trouble. New laws have been suggested but these have been cast aside as unavailing unless und until Mr. Roosevelt himself gives the word. Ile has reserved the final say in dealing with all strikes, regardless of the number of meditating agencies set up.

Too Many Agencies Already

Just a few days ago I encountered un experience that reflects the trouble with the defense program as it stands. I made a call on an important official, a military officer, with regards to the location of a certain unit for the Army which was well suited to northern Michigan. Among other things the necessary lnnd was availuble at a low price; the labor was there ready to go to work; the shipping facilities were reudy to handle the business. Imagine my dismay, and disappointment when informed that orders had come through that no such units were to he added to the territory east of the Mississippi river and north of the Ohio river. This excluded Michigan and all the north central states. Furthermore I was tolil that no less than 19 separate agencies had a voice in such matters, each with veto power, and that the last and final authority was the President himself.

The point is that military considerations enn be set nside in favor of politicnl and sectionnl exigencies. There has been u reluctnnce to delegnte authority. The President hns seen fit to retnin the weight of the entire program, a terrific lond, yet only he can decide to relieve himself of u pnrt of the burden. From one side he is hesieged by the well-organized minority clamoring for uctive participation in the war; from the other he is receiving hundreds of thousnnds of appeals from citizens who want their country to remain nloof from Europe's troubles.

Vote of Confidence Refused

Senator Pepper, who has clamored for war on every possible excuse, made nn attempt to secure from the Senate a vote of "full confidence" in the President's policy, as proclaimed on Mny 27th. The Senate refused to act on his resolution, which perhaps is the best indication of Congressionai reaction. Pepper's resolution rend ". . . . It is the sense of the Senate that the President was right and deserves the full confidence of the full Congress of the country."

Senator George, Georgia Demoerat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in refusing to bring up the resolution, stated: "It would precipitate an unnecessary and most regrettable debate and promote no spirit of national unity."

Encouraged hy the voice of the people from hack home, the lawmakers, who alone have the power to declare war, are still of a mind to stop short of war. And the leaders of this antl-wnr bloc in Congress, meeting the dny following the President's speech an the radio, decided to continue their efforts for penee as in the past, and calling upon the people to nlso continne the campnign for peace. Nothing in the proclamation denies the right of freedom of speech and assembly.

Bert Wheeler Wrestles His Way in New Comedy

If Bert Wheeler didn't get thrown for a loop in the filming of Puramount's "Las Vegas Nights," that gay musical of the Nevnda gambling and divoree mecca that opens Tuesday, June 10, at the Palnce Theatre, it was not the fault of his teamaute, Hank Ladd.

Wheeler und Lndd huve two of the leading roles in this Paramount picture, in which Francetta Malloy, wife of Ladd, also appears.

Miss Malloy was handed an additional scene of the script that called for her to wrestle with Wheeler on the floor of a night club in a slapstick routine.

"That's fine," suid Ladd grimly, "kid, we start rehearsals at home tonight."

Ladd used to be the wrestling champion of a Georgia military school and knows his headlocks.

A gay, rollicking comedy that nevertheless has a very pertinent theme, Warner Bros.' "The Great Mr. Nobody," will open Thursday, June 12, at the Palace Theatre. Thefi lm stars Eddie Albert and n lovely newcomer to the screen, Joan Leslie.

Eddie plays the role of an idealistic guy in a practical world, whose life ambition is to take a trip on a boat with his friend "Skipper" Martin, played by Alan Hule. He daesn't get his hont. He acquires u very heavy debt and to top it all he becomes negligent at his work and his boss, John Wade, played by John Litel, fires him.

He bravely attempts to rescue Wade who has fallen intn the river, even though he can't swim. As u result, Wade gives him n promotion.

LISTS 17 WAYS TO GUARD ROSES

It takes u Spartan to grow roses in Michigan. In a new tabulation of insect pests u list of 17 has been compiled us rose enemies, although fortunutely only u few are imporiant.

A tentative spray schedule for the control of insects on Michigan roses has been devised by E. I. McDaniel of the entomology department at Michigan State College.

There reully are five serious pests. Top rating goes to the aphid which can be sprayed with nicotine sulphate, one ounce of 40 per cent in three gnllons of water plus one ounce of soap and applied as soon as mixed.

Next in ruting prnbably is the rose beetle or rose chafer feeding on flowers and foliage. Protection of choice plants is obtained with cloth tents, or flowers can be protected with a fortified pyrethrum dust.

The rose slugs probably come next in importance. These skeletonize the foliage or consume entire leaves. Dusts or sprays are recoamended hy Professor McDaniel. Copper-rotenone or pyrethrum dust can be applied. Several treutments are possible and the most effieient is the one that nlso will control other types of insects at the same time.

Red spider rates about fourth. This pest feeds on the underside of the leaf. One simple spray is made with a tablespoon of glue in n gallon of water, or another application consists of two tablespoons of bill posters' paste in a gallon of water. The rose leafhopper is another rose enemy, a small pale green insect nbout one-eighth af an inch long. Control is with dust or with a spray of one ounce of 40 per cent nicotine sulphate in three gallons of 8-12-100 bordeaux mixture.

Miles of Sandy Beaches

Practically surrounded by water, Michigan has some of the finest sand beaches in the world, attracting thousands of visitors during the tourist season. The state renlizes the value of muintaining putdie bathing beaches and is constantly improving them through the services of various state agencies.

or a few days, thousands of hours of industrial effort are required on the home front to muke its fleeting existence pnssible under fire.

The Cheice

As we gird ourselves for new sacrifices, shifting production of peace-time goods to war munitinns and equipment, Michigan will become increasingly one of democracy's first lines of defense.

In the first World War Germany had to keep two workers at home for every soldier at the front. Today, due to the development of mechanized war—chiefly airplnnes and tnnks—experts estimate that Germany must utilize 18 workers for every fighting man.

Walter Lippmann puts the ratio nt 25 to 1.

While soldiers and sailors are conscripted for military duty, mnnngement and labor at home face the choice of volunteering in a cooperative battle of production or of being conscripted outright by the government. England was compelled in May, 1940, to forego voluntary industrial mobilization nnd to decree industrial conscription through a virtual dictatorship under the King and his ministers.

The war department's industrial mohilization plan, which will affect Michigan to a tremendous degree, seeks to avoid the mistakes made in the first World War when the War Industries Board attempted piecemeal control nnd created only costly confusion.

Another civilian choice is the volunteer purchase of defense savings bonds or having compulsory payroll deductions made hy the government. The issue is identically the same.

40 Hour Week?

The stnte legislature made futile attempts this year to find a solution to recent labor unrest by applying state regulation of union strike voting or a longer "cooling off" period for purpose of mediation.

Under President Roosevelt's proclamation of an unlimited state of national emergency, the present 46-hour week with its week-end blackout may be suspended for workers engaged in work covered by government arms contracts.

Plants may be commandeered outright; supplies and equipment may be requisitioned; priorities may be ordered on delivery of materials.

1917-1918 Disputes

"Mobilizing Civilinn America," n study made by Harold J. Tobin nnd Percy W. Bidwell for the Council of Foreign Relations, reviews the labor problems of the home front. The authors point out that in 1917-18- manufacturers with huge war contrncts bid up wages nnd engnged in stealing of workers from competitors. In some plnnts the lnbor turnover rose to 100 per cent per week!

Factory workers became dissatisfied. Soaring commodity prices, brought about chiefly by inflnted wages in wnr industries, resulted in an unhappy lag of wage increases behind living cost increnses.

Suspicion that employers were making fat wnr profits—nnd more than 10,000 millionaires arose during the two war years—only added more fuel to the fire. In 1917 more than 4,000 industrial disputes were recorded involving 1,213,000 workers.

Morale

Longer hours for the worker may not be the solution.

The English minister of labor stated on July 18, 1940, that extension of overtime in war factories was retarding rather than increasing production.

In brief, the mnrale of the worker on the home front today becomes the key to victory on the military front.

If the civilian is convinced that both national security and individual security are at stake and that the sacrifices he may maka are heing balanced by sacrifices made by others, then he may forego the right to strike (which means the right to deprive the military front of vitally needed munitions and equipment) without government compulsion to do so.

Whether Michigan workers will voluntnrily forego this right to strike is a responsibility that centers to a large degree on the leaders of organized lahor. Whether mnnngement will voluntarily forego any opportunity for more than a "fair profit," as contrasted to war profiteering, is the responsibility of our lenders in industry.

Paradox

In this national emergency it is inevitable that Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner will be sought to mediate differences of both capital and labor. The governor's state council of defense, the stato department of labor and the state lnbor mediation bourd face kindred responsibillties.

Michigan's own "arsenal of democracy" faces the choice of solving its own problems by voluntary cooperation or of being conscripted hy n government that has become temporarily totalitarian in its methods.

Either we will volunteer to sacrifice our own liberties, or we will be conscripted by government to do so.

Such is the paradox of a democracy today at war.

INTERESTING EXPERIMENT

Michigan is witnessing an interesting experiment in retailing. For many years the consuming public has been aware of the keen competition between chain and independent retail stores. This healthy rivalry for trade has reached interesting heights in the past. Today in Michigan it appears that the sore spots have been set aside and chains and independents have joined hands in staging "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity" for the henefit of the state as a whole.

Designed to stimulate interest in Michigan products, this retailing venture is unique in that all retailing outlets in the state are cooperating in an effort to make the affair a success.

It is a pleasant thought indeed to he able to realize that business interests in this great producing state have reached the stage where they fully realize the importance of promoting Michigan goods for the benefits of the state in general.

The program has the hearty endorsement of state officials including the department of agriculture which regulates the sale and distribution of our farm products. This is only proper.

Virgin White Pine

Interlochen State Park, near Traverse City, has one of the few remaining stands of virgin white pine in the state. These giants tower to a height of 90 to 100 feet.

NEWSPAPERS BEHIND STATE MARKET DRIVE

Press Association Manager Praises "Michigan Days" Event

Newspnpers nf Michigan are cooperating fully to muke "Michigan Days for Michigan Prosperity" a complete success, Gene Alleman, manager of the Michigan Press Association with headquarters at Lansing, nnounced today.

Alleman's statement came as the drive—designed to stimulate markets for Michigan products—opened on n state-wide basis under the nuspices of farmers, retailers, processors and manufacturers.

"The promotion of Michigan products will have a beneficial effect on the economic well-being of the state," Alleman declared. "The press in Michigan is in hearty accord with the drive."

Alleman said the extensive promotion and ndvertising of Michigan products pointed the way for n permanent drive to boost prosperity in the state.

"The first step toward increasing consumption of Michigan products is to tell the people nbout the quality of those products," Allemnn said. "That is the key to the 'Michigan Dnys' empaign. This drive should stimulnte markets for our products grown here in Michigan, increase the farm income and show ngriculturnl interests that the people realize the vnlue of products grown on Michignn fnrms."

Trees For Snow Fences

Evergreens bordering Michigan highways that so delight the tourists were planted for the most part for the practical purpose of acting as snow fences. It has been found that tree planting is more economical than unsightly picketfences.

A camp providing for dramatics what famous Interlochen does for music is becoming a reality for Charlevoix. The Mummers of Chicago have definitely decided to establish a summer theater here with an outstanding group of stage and radio stars heading a cast to be supported by 10 talented amateurs. Success of the venture depends to a large extent upon the support Charlevoix local and summer residents give it, so let's get behind this drama group whose efforts are being watched with interest by theater-minded persons throughout the mid-west.

Parents of 12 young Charlevoix men serving in various branches of United States military service have taken advantage of the Courier's offer to send its publication to them free as they are in the service. The offer is unlimited and we again extend an invitation to take advantage of it.

Charlevoix can soon boast of two more new business places. "Doc" Nettleton's office on Clinton street, and the new Dahlquist store at the corner of Bridge and Mason are nearing completion. They will be fine additions to our business section.

In case you may not have noticed it, the Courier has a new "dress" this week. We have shifted from a 6 to 7 column paper—more modern, more news and advertising space, etc.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank the Knights of Pythias, the Congregational Ladies Aid, the Margaret Parker Circle, our summer visitors and the many others who sent flowers, cards, letters and kind messages during my illness in Charlevoix Hospital. Mrs. Ernest Staley.—Adv. 23-1.

REDUCE WPA ROLLS CUT CITY'S WORK PROJECTS

Improvements Planned for Summer Discontinued Temporarily

City improvement projects, particularly curb and gutter construction, sidewalk building and repairs, and sewer construction planned for the summer will be sharply curtailed by reduction in the rolls of WPA workmen, it was revealed before the city council Monday night.

Projects now outlined will be discontinued until late summer, at least, it is understood, for the reason WPA rolls have, or will be, reduced to 12 men. This group, upon request of state WPA officials, will be used on county road projects now under way. Among the road projects is improvement of the Lake Michigan scenic drive, considered particularly valuable to Charlevoix as a tourist attraction.

CIRCUIT COURT WILL RECONVENE THURSDAY

Seventeen Citizenships Granted, Sentences Imposed

Circuit court, adjourned Tuesday afternoon, will reconvene Thursday to consider non-jury cases.

At Monday's session citizenship application of 17 persons, a record number at a single session in Charlevoix county, were granted.

Robert Everett Johnson, 31, of Boyne City, was sentenced by Judge Parm C. Gilbert to serve from 2 to 5 years at Jackson prison for breaking and entering. Sentence of Oliver Duplessis on a similar charge, was withheld for further investigation.

Joe Koss, of St. James, charged with felonious assault, pleaded guilty to resisting an officer. Sentence will be imposed Thursday.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

This is a good week to put your annual seeds in for late full blooming, and also plant the last of the glad bulbs. Some perennial seeds can be planted now for next year's blooming, but better sow in August the phlox, delphinium and oriental poppies.

Do not cut back your tulip, daffodil and iris leaves. Iris make a pretty background, and the others soon die down and can be raked off.

Remove the old spent flowers from shrubs that blossomed early. Reshape bushes by cutting out old wood, but don't lop your flowering shrubs, because they're not so pretty. There's nothing so natural as nature!

Do drive around to see what flowers your friends and neighbors have blooming this week. Did you see the peony rose in Dan Geneit's yard on Bridge street, the lovely tamarix bushes on the south side of the Belvedere Golf Club house, all the lovely iris in so many colors and shades?

Can you find five hawthorn trees in bloom this week in Charlevoix? They are excellent lawn specimens. The hawthorn, or May, of English literature, is the plant for which the ship Mayflower was named.

FARM LOAN ASSN. MEETS JUNE 11TH

ANNUAL SESSION AT CHARLEVOIX CITY HALL

Election of Two Directors, Report of Secretary-Treasurer Are Program Features

Members of the Charlevoix National Farm Loan Association will meet at eight o'clock Wednesday evening, June 11th, at the city hall in Charlevoix for their annual meeting and selection of two members of the board of directors, according to announcement by Secretary-Treasurer H. C. Bedell.

Most important of the matters to be considered will be the report of the secretary-treasurer, which will show income of the association from payments on loans and allowances from The Federal Land Bank of St. Paul and other sources, together with association expenses. Comparison of the current year with the previous year in regard to income and expense, foreclosures, farms sold, repayments on loans, and other matters will be shown on charts and presented for discussion by members.

The secretary-treasurer said that one of the results he hopes to attain this year will be discussion from the floor in regard to items shown in the report. Questions will be welcomed, with the idea that this is one of the best ways to bring home to members the information about their association. He emphasized that unless the members know the facts about their association they are apt to lose interest in it and let it become more and more an affair of the board of directors.

Directors are chosen for three years with terms staggered so that the board will always contain at least three experienced members. The members whose terms expire this year are: Wm. P. Johnson and Lee Sneathen of Charlevoix. Board members whose terms are expiring may succeed themselves if chosen by the members, and the secretary-treasurer expressed the hope there would be a large attendance so that the vote on directors would be representative.

Several special features have been prepared for the meeting, including a short quiz program, showing of colored slides, as well as the serving of light refreshments.

PROGRAM FOR JULY 4TH IS NOW BEING OUTLINED

Fenton R. Bulow is chairman of the parade committee and may be contacted by those desiring information.

Full details of the celebration program will be worked out at a meeting scheduled next Tuesday evening.

CITY EMPLOYES GET WAGE HIKE

COUNCIL ADOPTED NEW PAY SCHEDULE MONDAY

Increase Covered All But Elective Officials—New Plan Meter Reading Is Approved

A general increase in wages for employes of various city departments was granted Monday night by the council with adoption of the annual resolution setting compensation of workmen.

The scale for unskilled labor was raised from 40c to 45c per hour, for semi-skilled labor from 45c to 50c per hour. Departmental employes were given a blanket increase of approximately 10% of previous salaries. The increase as represented on Monday night's payroll, probably a maximum for any pay period in view of the seasonal peak of employment in preparation for summer, amounted to $149.79, or a yearly increase of $4,674.96.

Compensation of the mayor at $50 a year, aldermen at $50, clerk at $100, treasurer at $1,200, city attorney at $250, and assessor at $400, was left unchanged. Salary of city marshal was increased from $1,260 to $1,380; street commissioner from $1,380 to $1,500, health officer from $50 to $100. Salary of city accountant was raised from $960 per year to $30 per week or a total yearly figure of $1,560.

Change Meter Reading

The council approved a new schedule for reading electric and water meters—a plan which will result in eliminating extra help for this work and will partially offset wage increases allowed. Effective July 1st, meters will be read by districts on certain specified dates, instead of the former plan of covering the entire city between the 25th of one month and 5th of the following. Patrons will be allowed the present discount for payment of bills within 15 days of date meter is read instead of the present plan requiring payment by the 15th of the month. Under the plan, no extra office help will be required, also the rush at the treasurer's office around the 15th of each month will be eliminated.

It is also understood that the utilities department, operating for some time past without the services of one regularly employed lineman, will continue on this basis, thus further offsetting the payroll increase.

Full text of the salaries ordinance and resolution setting compensation of workmen is contained on page 7 of this issue.

ASSERT PLENTY GASOLINE MICHIGAN CARS

Could Increase Production By Opening Closed Wells

There is not much prospect of gasolineless-days in Michigan such as are being threatened for the East, Col. H. J. Fell, Claremore, Okla., executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America said Thursday at Grand Rapids.

Fell, addressing a meeting of the oil and gas association of Michigan, said the supply of crude oil in the United States is in good shape because of the nation's conservation of the product in past years.

He said the gasoline output could be increased 30 per cent by opening wells already drilled and that the oil industry as a whole is in good shape to meet all the demands of the government to date.

ANNUAL ACHIEVEMENT EVENT SET

TOUR ANNOUNCED FOR TUESDAY, JUNE 17

Completion of Extension Projects Marked by Visit to Beauty Spots of County

WILL BEGIN WORK ON SCENIC DRIVE

MATERIAL RECEIVED FOR INWOOD CREEK CULVERT

Completion of Fill to Be Followed by Continuation South Toward Norwood

Arrival Monday of culverts for the Inwood creek fill on the Lake Michigan scenic drive promises early resumption of work on this project.

Excavation for the fill was completed last summer, but further work has been held up awaiting arrival of culvert materials. Two sections, 60 inches high and 46 feet long will be used.

It is understood that additional work on the highway south towards Norwood will be started as soon as the Inwood creek fill is completed, providing possibly a travelable road over the entire route this year. The portion from Bedford's cottage south to Inwood creek was graveled to a one-truck width last summer to allow transport of heavy equipment.

Other present operations of the county highway commission include, in addition to regular maintenance work, the preparation of an unfinished portion of the Ironton-Advance road for asphalt surface, and re-building of the portion of the Ironton-Boyne City road between Advance and Boyne City. Traffic at the Boyne City end of this highway is being temporarily detoured while the roadbed is torn up.

In view of the popularity of the Lake Michigan scenic drive with summer residents and tourists, resumption of the project will be received enthusiastically by local citizens.

AMATEUR GOLFERS TO COMPETE HERE

EVENT AGAIN AWARDED TO BELVEDERE CLUB

Tournament Scheduled for July 10-13 to Bring Michigan Top-Flight Amateurs

Invitations to participate in the Michigan State Golf League's 35th annual amateur golf championship of Michigan have been posted in golf clubs throughout the state.

The event this year has been returned to the Belvedere Golf club course, scene of the tournament last year and previously in 1930, '31 and '35. The dates scheduled are Thursday, July 10, through Sunday, July 13. Awarding of the tournament to Charlevoix last year followed three consecutive years at the Gull Lake country club, Kalamazoo.

The qualifying round of 18 holes will be held Thursday. Sixty-four players will qualify for the championship flight. Match play will be 18 holes Friday and Saturday. The championship match Sunday will be 36 holes. Plans call for 36 holes of medal play Friday for all who fail to qualify for the championship flight.

The invitation posters reveal accommodations and rates to be obtained in Charlevoix, also a warning against outside caddies coming to the tournament.

The event in past years has drawn a field of well over a hundred of Michigan's top-notch amateurs and no doubt this year's entry will be no exception to the general rule.

OPEN DRIVE FOR SUMMER THEATRE

POINT TO PROJECT'S MATERIAL POSSIBILITY

Drama Committee, Formed to Promote The Mummers, Urge Support of Subscription Campaign

With two organization meetings behind them, members of the Charlevoix drama committee have launched an intensive subscription campaign to assure establishment of a summer theatre in Charlevoix by the Mummers of Chicago.

Plans of the Chicago group, which is one of the largest in the country with well organized semi-professional groups with their own buildings, training schools, technical equipment and directors, were outlined last Thursday evening by Sherman Marks, director, and John Goldsworthy, nationally known radio star and a promoter of the summer theatre project, before the drama committee at the city hall and members of the Charles Dickens and Shakespeare Study clubs holding a joint picnic at the S. W. Mower home at Ironton.

As a result, the drama committee, headed by Ralph Price as chairman, has rallied behind the project for reasons of the decided cultural value it holds for the community, to give this community a part in the efforts toward revival of interest in the legitimate theatre, as well as the commercial value attached to the location of such a theatre movement in Charlevoix.

At a second meeting Tuesday evening, the committee organized a subscription campaign aimed to obtain the sale to local citizens of a minimum of 100 coupon books of admissions to the summer theatre. The coupon books, containing six one dollar admission tickets, sell for $5. The tickets are interchangeable at the box office for their equivalent in 50c and 75c tickets. Funds thus derived are to be held in escrow and released to The Mummers as tickets are turned in at the box office. The sale of seven coupon books gives the seller recognition as a patron of the theatre and provides them free admission to all productions. It is aimed to complete the subscription campaign in two weeks.

Wishful Thinking—

It's nice to learn that your balance at the bank is $10 more than you thought it was, but it's nicer to find a $10 bill in the pocket of an old vest.

Acknowledge with deep appreciation a message from Alvin D. Goldman congratulating us on our new building. Mr. Goldman said: "I want to extend to you, and to your paper, my heartiest congratulations, and to express the wish for a very profitable and worthwhile future." "A. D." also mentioned something about having to go to Florida to get some "real fishing", so to him I'll express the wish that his future angling efforts at Charlevoix are more fruitful.

An ideal husband is one who:

Is so handsome that he makes every female heart flutter, but who never looks at another woman; makes mints of money, but never goes away on business trips, stays late at the office, brings business friends home to dinner, brings work home with him at night, or drags his wife to company parties; is practical with his hands, could make his living as a plumber, carpenter or electrician; dances divinely and plays a beautiful game of contract, but is not above helping with the dishes or getting up at dawn to give the baby its bottle; composes all bread-and-butter letters and letters of condolence; loves symphony concerts and lectures on the arts and can be drafted to carve turkey at church suppers; is always open to constructive suggestions on how to drive a car and does not sulk when corrected; can find a parking space within a few feet of amusement, and pushes right ahead and gets the only remaining seats at a crowded movie; does not lose his hair or add an inch to his girth as time goes on; can be let out alone with pruning knife, sickle, or other lethal weapons in a flower garden and not leave ruin in his wake; is totally free of entangling relatives and has no recollection of his life prior

LANSING LETTER

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Michigan's second industry, the tourist business, faces the uncertainty of a war economy with its leaders determined more than ever to meet the challenge by positive action.

At the governor's office last Friday was held an unusual conference.

Present were managers of the regional tourist associations, officials of state departments and leaders of the Mackinac Island city, state park commission and the newly formed harbor authority. Their objective was an aggressive program to lure out-state visitors to Michigan this summer.

Florida resorts experienced a good season last winter, but the volume of business was noticeably off. Families in the middle-class income bracket are beginning to apply their own budget priorities in order to meet increased federal income taxes. A new spending class comprises 1,250,000 families with incomes of from $1,000 to $2,000 a year to spend. These folk live in the industrial centers which are enjoying a temporary boom from national defense orders.

Competition

Another factor in the Michigan picture is the growing competition among states for a slice of the rich tourist trade. Nearby Midwest states — Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota—as well as New York, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and several others are vying with each other for vacation dollars.

The average tourist state advertises through a state financed centralized office, while Michigan's eminence as a popular vacationland has been achieved through co-operation of private operators and the state government. The situation of four regional associations, each being financed in part by the state, is the exception to the general rule. These associations have succeeded in obtaining

Unique Michigan Machine Tool Works Operated by Deaf Mutes

ROYAL OAK, Mich.—Along a back street in this Detroit suburb is perhaps the most unusual industry—if not the only one of its kind—in the nation: A machine shop operated entirely by deaf mutes.

The shop is housed in an abandoned livery, but in spite of its unpretentious surroundings the Oakland Machine Works is a monumental piece of evidence that deaf mutes, if given a chance, can be as useful as anyone else.

At present the payroll is $[illegible] a week. Sixteen men are employed. Each week the Oakland Machine Works turns out about 50 per cent of the water pump pulleys used on Ford automobiles—some 5[illegible] pulleys a day.

Behind the idea of a machine shop for deaf mutes only is Leo H. Kuehn, a stocky man of 5[illegible] himself a deaf mute. Kuehn had been working for the Ford Motor Company as a tool and die expert for 12 years when in 1933 he decided to apply his knowledge to helping others in the same predicament as himself.

Henry Ford heard about Kuehn's interesting project and helped it along by offering to buy all the Ford water pump pulleys the tiny shop could turn out.

What Kuehn has accomplished in eight years should be an inspiration to anyone. He started in the depths of the depression with little capital, only three helpers, 200 square feet of floor space in a stable, and a few machines. The [illegible] now has 4,000 square feet of floor space, with 27 machines of the most modern kind, all of which Kuehn himself has reconditioned.

"If I can help others afflicted as I am to become helpful Henry Ford-like men, similar shops could be established all over the country," Kuehn predicted.

"Now that the defense program has become a commonplace and jobs taken from small machine shops, it seems to me deaf mutes could be very useful in filling the gaps."

Boyne Falls Potato Club Using New Seed

As a result of blight in potatoes last year and in low yields, nine boys in the Boyne Falls district are securing new seed and hope for better results. Last Wednesday 51 bushels of Katahdin potatoes were treated cooperatively and distributed to the club members. This seed comes from certified Katahdins and is as free from potato disease as is possible thru thorough spraying and field selection.

The following boys have joined the Boyne Falls Potato Club and will do everything within their power to secure better results with potatoes this year: Leo Massey, Edward Surko, Elmer Lick, Walter Kipisz, Chester Kipisz, Mike Tymoe, Ted Kusminski, Charles Bradfield and Elmer Matz.

It is expected that these three teams will put on these demonstrations at the club camp at Gaylord.

The 15th work center established in the Sunnyside school, Beaver Island, in their first report indicated a total of 16 mattresses completed. Great interest has been aroused in this project and without a doubt 30 mattresses will be made before the project closes for this spring. The mattress demonstration was held on May 22nd, with some 15 folks attending. In the afternoon a short business meeting was held which resulted in the selection of Mrs. Elsie O'Donnel as general chairman for the project, assisted by Mrs. Clara Schmidt, Miss Lizzie McCauley, Mrs. Frank O'Donnel and Mrs. Mary Aubman.

Three bales of cotton were taken to Beaver Island, which will make around 30 mattresses. When this 15th center completes their activity we should have around 470 mattresses made in Charlevoix county. Present plans call for more activity next winter when a second carload of cotton will be made into mattresses and comforters.

He's Not Lost

Contrary to a persistent notion among new visitors to northern Michigan, fawns seen alone along woods roads, like this little fellow in the daisy field, have not been deserted by the mother, for the doe usually is keeping anxious watch from a secure hiding place. Fawns orphaned by well meaning but mistaken motorists (who, incidentally, violate the law when they pick one up) often are reared at conservation department game refuges. But they will be much better off, say game men, if they are left frisking wherever they are seen.

Flag Day is this Saturday, June 14. Flag-raising Day, as it was once known, was first recognized on June 14, 1894, when at the request of the Sons of the Revolution and the Colonial Dames of America, the Stars and Stripes were raised on all public buildings to commemorate the first use of the national flag.

The first American flag is said to have been made by Mrs. Betsy Ross, an upholsterer and seamstress who lived in Philadelphia. Thirteen white stars in the blue field in the upper left-hand corner of the new flag represented the thirteen colonies, as did also thirteen alternating stripes of red and white. Later, when Vermont and Kentucky joined the Union, the number of stars and stripes was increased to fifteen, but still later Congress voted to return to the thirteen original stripes, adding a new star on July 4th following admission of each new state.

Previous to adoption of the national emblem, each colony had its own flag. But when the new flag was approved by Congress, it was at once copied by patriots all over the country.

It was the sight of this glorious flag floating on Fort McHenry that inspired Francis Scott Key, who had been detained on one of the British ships, to write the Star Spangled Banner.

The day is not usually officially observed, but many individuals are careful to hang out the flag on that day. Be sure to display a flag at your home!

Abnormal Mouth Habits

About 17 per cent of the two million children born annually in the United States develop some form of abnormal mouth habits during infancy. Many of these habits persist into early childhood and some even into maturity. Those which are overcome during infancy probably have little effect upon the future facial appearance, but those which continue throughout childhood may produce serious mouth abnormalities and facial changes.

Most of these abnormal mouth habits produce various types of malocclusion. Arecent study of two hundred children with a history of thumbsucking showed that only three of this group had no malocclusion or effects from this habit. This was due to the fact that in the three the thumbsucking was only occasional and not persistent.

A common effect of these mouth habits is the production of a protrusion of the upper anterior teeth. The habit also causes an abnormal pressure of the cheek muscles against the posterior teeth which in turn produces a narrowing of the roof of the mouth and of the arch of the lower jaw.

Habit plays a most important part in life, but there are good and bad habits. It is generally conceded that the so-called mouth habits of infancy and childhood fall in the latter class. These include lip - biting, lip - sucking, tongue - biting, tongue - sucking, cheek-biting, cheek-sucking, pillow-habits, and finger-sucking. The psychologist states that there is a definite basis for these habits. The habit may be difficult to correct if it is associated with some other physical condition such as enlarged tonsils, adenoids, the habit of mouth breathing, abnormal or underdevelopment of various muscles of the mouth, the chin, the face, inherited characteristics and such.

The easiest method of correction is prevention at the earliest sign of the habit. A sympathetic approach is better than nagging or scolding. Parents must acquire more knowledge in the field of their child's growth and development if prevention of mouth habits in their child is to become an easy matter. Occasionally a bad habit may be diverted to a good habit. The simplest method of prevention or correction of mouth habits is to direct habit formation in the right path.

FINANCE YOUR NEXT CAR . . THE BAND WAY . .

Certified: 13,398 MILES ON ONE 5-QUART FILL OF THIS NEW OIL

5 OTHER GOOD OILS OUTDISTANCED 74% TO 161%

Impartial test in Death Valley Desert. 279 ft. Below sea level.

6 cars Destroyed to give you Economy data beyond any Quibbles.

U.S. Patent No. 2,218,132 tells exactly what is new about the new Conoco motor oil named

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL

5 quarts of this same new Conoco Nth oil that you can buy today, lasted 13,398.8 miles in a stock coupe—under lock and under scrutiny every minute.

13,398 miles up and down Death Valley. Sand and sagebrush. Lowest land and highest extremes of heat in our U. S. A.

5 other well known oils got the same chance as new Conoco Nth oil. 6 identical new cars were used. Tune-ups, tire pressures, speeds, and all other factors were the same for all—impartially. Engines were under lock. Qualified authorities eyed everything.

The test was simple and stern... Each car got its 5-quart fill of some one competing oil and was run at a 57-mile speed, without added oil, till the engine smashed up. New Conoco Nth motor oil went 13,398 miles. Certified. Not another oil came within 5,683 miles of that and one was outlasted 8,268 miles by new Conoco Nth oil. Certified.

The reasons are straight and simple... New patented Conoco Nth motor oil contains Thialkene inhibitor, a new synthetic . . . man-made by Conoco.

Now, in fighting rust, it is something that restricts, you say—checks, we say. The inhibitor checks the effect of poisons formed in normal engine operation. Instead of "festering," weakening, and passing out, this oil is scientifically prepared to keep its health, so that the engine can do the same—a good way to keep up the oil-level.

OIL-PLATING, too! Long the keystone of Conoco success, OIL-PLATING comes from another Conoco synthetic... (U.S. Patent 1,944,941). Magnet-like action bonds OIL-PLATING to engine parts, so it can't all drain down—not even overnight. While you use Conoco Nth oil, this OIL-PLATING stays on guard against wear in advance! By OIL-PLATING the engine and inhibiting the worst effect of oil pollution, one fill of new Conoco Nth lasted 13,398 miles. Certified.

You'll not put your car through such a third-degree—any more than you keep starting in high gear just because you could. You'll certainly never want to exceed the recommended distance between crankcase drains. But knowing that new Conoco Nth oil lasted 74% to 161% longer than other oils in 6 5, see how seldom you add a quart. At Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station today change to your correct Summer grade of popular-priced new Conoco Nth oil. Continental Oil Co.—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

TAHQUAMENON FALLS BOAT SERVICE OPENS

Daily Trips to Michigan's Top Scenic Wonder, Offered

Daily boat service to Tahquamenon Falls, near Newberry, was resumed June 1, according to Captain Joe Beach, manager of the river line. Many special chartered trips for high school classes and other groups are being made.

Beginning June 1, the Tnonerville Trolley left Soo Junction daily at 10 a. m., returning about 6:30 p. m. From July 1 to Labor Day a second daily trip will operate, leaving Soo Junction at noon and returning about 7:30 p. m. Soo Junction is a short distance north of highway M-28, 54 miles west of Sault Ste. Marie and 17 miles east of Newberry.

Each boat carries a good restaurant and is safe and comfortable in any weather. Reached only by water and in the center of a beautiful state park, the falls are second only to Niagara in size, and the winding river trip through heavy forests and the haunts of much wild life is one of the finest in America.

SUMMER WHITEFISH SPEARING SEASON ON

Taking With Spear and Jacklight Allowed on Lake Michigan

The brief summer whitefish spearing season is on now, conservation officers report.

Whitefish move into relatively shallow water over banks off Northport for a few weeks each year at this time for some unknown reason, possibly because of currents, water temperatures or feeding conditions. On very calm nights, in the light of gasoline jacks, the fish are speared from bots with spears having handles 20 feet long. Creel limit is seven whitefish per person. Such spearing is permitted only on Great Lakes waters.

Whitefish spearing by jacklight is to be one of the diversions for sportsmen attending the fifth annual Michigan United Conservation clubs convention at Traverse City June 21 and 22.

HIGHWAY TRAVEL HAS ENORMOUS INCREASE

All-Time Peak at Straits; Highway Travel Up Thirty Percent

As the touring season went into high gear this week, State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy reported highway travel up 30 per cent over that of 1940—and travel across the Straits at an all-time peak.

Kennedy stated that traffic tabulations from the Straits revealed that the state-owned boats transported a total of 10,538 automobiles over Memorial Day week-end, as compared with 3,716 for the same period last year. This was an increase of 184 per cent.

"This upsurge in holiday traffic bears out our predictions," Kennedy stated, "that Michigan this year will witness a banner gasoline travel season with a total of more than $425,000,000 expected to be spent here on highway holidays."

CONTINENTAL OIL CO. LAUNCHES ADVERTISING

Courier Among Publications Carrying 1941 Series of Ads

Continental Oil Company started last week one of the largest newspaper campaigns in its history to introduce the company's newest product, Conoco Nth Motor Oil.

According to Will A. Morgan, advertising manager, newspapers throughout the most of the United States, including The Charlevoix Courier, will receive the major portion of Continental's advertising budget to present Conoco Nth Motor Oil to the public. More than a million dollars will be spent by the company in newspapers alone during the next six months.

Continental's claims for its new oil include low motor wear, Oil-Plating, more miles between quarts, and a decided improvement in the reduction of lacquer and sludge, accomplished by the discovery in Continental laboratories of a new synthetic, Thialkene Inhibitor.

Proof of these claims was dramatically illustrated by a daring destruction test carried out in Death Valley, where the hottest temperatures in the United States have been registered. Five identical stock cars, each lubricated with five quarts of a different well-known motor oil, and a sixth car, identical with the others and filled with five quarts of Conoco Nth, were all run over a course in Death Valley until each of the six engines was wrecked. The test was run under the impartial supervision of Prof. H. M. Jacklin, who during the academic year is Professor of Automotive Engineering at Purdue University.

At the end of the test, the car lubricated with Conoco Nth had run 13,398.8 miles on one crankcase full of Nth oil— 73.67 per cent more miles than the closest competitor—161.17 per cent more miles than the first car to fail—and 111.29 per cent more miles than the average of all the other five cars.

The entire story of the Death Valley test will be told, with many illustrations, in the series of advertisements which will appear in this newspaper.

SEEK NYA REGISTRATIONS THIS COUNTY

Need Replacements for Youth Absorbed in Industry

Youth currently employed by the National Youth Administration are rapidly being absorbed by private enterprise due to work experience they have gained on one or more of the 130 projects operating in northern Michigan, according to Mrs. L. Pearl Meads, NYA area director.

Industry is constantly hiring skilled and semi-skilled workers with the result that the demand in non-industrial communities for employees who have had some training and have acquired basic work habits is steadily increasing, it was said.

"One of the greatest needs of young people who are seeking private jobs at the present time is practical experience in actual production work and some basic aptitudes," Mrs. Meads said. "As far as possible, the National Youth Administration tries to give each young man and woman employed on its out-of-school work program the opportunity to obtain basic manual experience that will fit him or her for a job in private industry. In this way the NYA is not only helping young people get a start in life but is also helping to meet the needs of all employers for experienced workers."

Young men and women who are unmarried and between the ages of 16 and 25 are eligible for employment and can make application locally to Delbert Paquette, NYA supervisor at Boyne City.

Looking at the theatre project from a commercial angle as it effects Charlevoix, there will be a group of around 40 people residing here for eight weeks at least; alterations at The Inn garage to make the building suitable for a theatre at an estimated cost of $1,000, repairs at the Beach Hotel annex necessary to provide quarters for the group at a considerable expense; and finally, and perhaps most important, the aim of the group to provide a summer school of drama in Charlevoix along the lines of the famous Interlochen music camp.

Inasmuch as the summer theatre project has definite beneficial commercial possibilities for Charlevoix, it is hoped citizens will unite behind the movement to insure its success.

FOREST FIRE LOSSES LOW FOR TWO MONTHS

Report 3,191 Acres Were Burned During April and May

At the end of two months of the 1941 forest fire season, conservation department forest fire fighters report the fire loss on state and private forest lands has been held to 3,191 acres in 462 fires, or about seven acres per fire. In the first two months of the season last year, 556 fires burned over 11,303 acres, or about 20 acres per fire.

Recent heavy rains currently have reduced the forest fire hazard materially. In the eighth week of the season, only 15 acres were burned over.

MR. AND MRS. J. E. CHEW OBSERVED GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY MAY 31

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Chew, on Saturday, May 31, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

At seven o'clock a dinner was served to the relatives and a few friends at the Methodist church, after which a program featuring reminiscenses, was given, with appropriate remarks by several.

In the course of the evening several interesting facts were brought out, among which were, that this was the first time in thirty-seven years that the Chew brothers and sisters, nine in all, had been together. Another was that Mr. and Mrs. Chew were married in the same church (location, not building) in which they celebrated their anniversary, and that at least one guest (outside the family) was present who attended their wedding, Mrs. Elva Barrie.

After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Chew lived for a short time in Charlevoix after which they moved to East Jordan where the former operated a feed and grist store and the latter a restaurant on Bridge street. In 1905 they moved to their farm north of town where they lived until last fall when ill health forced them to leave the farm and move to town.

Mr. Chew served as school director of Chaddock district for twenty-five years, supervisor for five years and was elected to serve two terms as Representative to the State Legislature—1917-1921.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Chew had no children, they have raised three—John, whom they took when an infant, Mary and Frank, who were but small children when they came to make their home with them. Two sons of John (who passed away last winter) now make their home with them.

Mrs. Chew is a life member of the Eastern Stars, and a charter member of the Rebekahs. Mr. Chew is a Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Chew were the recipients of many lovely gifts.

The following people from out-of-town were present: Mr. and Mrs. Forest G. Blair and family (Mary), Milwaukee, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Chew, Charlevoix; W. S. Chew, Kalamazoo; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pinney, Mt. Morris; Archie B. Chew, Mr. and Mrs. Roy VanSteenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pinney, Milo K. Chew, Flint; Mrs. Edith Simpson, Petoskey; Mr. and Mrs. Gubi Chew, Alma; Mrs. Dora Cooper, Kenosha, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Addison M. Chew, Eldean A. Chew, Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith, Olive Webster, Mr. and Mrs. John Ross and family, Charlevoix; Mrs. J. Glenville and Arlene Pontieff, Voorheis, Detroit; Willis H. Chew, Conneaut Lake, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. O. Wheeler, Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Allen, Pontiac; James J. King and daughter, Cheboygan; Mrs. Hollie Bayliss and daughter Bare of East Jordan, niece of Mrs. Chew.

Several East Jordan friends were also present, making about seventy-five who attended the dinner and reception following.—Charlevoix County Herald.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressman

Fred Bradley

13th District, Michigan

President Roosevelt's great trouble in handling the strike situation must now make him realize the difficulties encountered by industrial leaders in the days when the government was throwing its entire support to union organizers. Then it was that those directing the labor movement within the government, the men who were advising the President, were prone to place all the blame on the employers.

So the National Labor Relations Board was set up under the Wagner Labor Act to create labor unions. This was hailed as labor's Magna Charta. No longer would dollar-mad industrialists penalize the worker who produces the goods. Such a movement had much to recommend it, assuming that it could operate to settle a capital-labor war as old as civilization itself. And undoubtedly it would have functioned effectively if left in the control of the rank and file of labor through those loyal and patriotic union leaders who have a sincere and honest intention to raise the standards of the working man.

Labor Crowned—With Thorns!

But the control in many cases fell into the hands of foreign agents, many of them Communists whose main objective was to foment trouble and discord. Instead of settling old trouble, many new ones sprung up. For one thing competition developed within the labor movement itself. The CIO challenged the AFL and the jurisdictional disputes that followed brought about some of the hottest and bloodiest labor wars on record. Michigan, with its large mass-production auto plants, became the center of the earliest uprisings. The government of the state of Michigan stood by — the federal government did nothing—while labor leaders fought management and rival organizations warred among themselves for control.

With the government refusing to intervene in the interests of fair play, the management was powerless to deal with the situation. The power of the organizers, actually supported by the NLRB itself, became such that the ordinary working man found himself the victim of conflicting forces which threatened his very life. The worker, without protection from his own officials, soon found that it was dangerous to defy the orders of the organizers. Either he joined up, or "else!" So most of them joined, hoping for the best. Radical forces such as never before existed came into power. They dictated to the working man as well as to the government, through the power of campaign shakedowns from the tremendous aggregate sums of money collected in dues—and for which no agency of the government demands an accounting.

Officials Back Organizers

The Labor Board not only did not correct the abuses that were sprouting in every direction, but it went to the other extreme. Its field men actually entered the fray to encourage the spread of strikes and dissension. The committee that investigated the history of that period produced evidence that government officials went out making speeches invariably upholding the strikers, regardless of the issues involved. In fact the "first lady" did so only recently. This situation made "line pickings" for the racketeer. The longer he remained out on strike, the greater was the chance that he would collect for work never performed. The Supreme Court rulings did little to clear the atmosphere.

The pay-off now comes in the form of the threat of the government to seize all plants where strikes interfere with defense production. As proposed in the bill submitted to Congress by the War Department, the government would be empowered to seize all property, real or personal, from the fountain pen in your pocket to the automobile in your garage, the cow in your barn, or the cash you have in the bank or in your pocket. The owner is given no rights. If he protests he is penalized 25 per cent and can go to court where he will be opposed by the full power of the government.

Such a howl of protest went up from all directions, even from Congressional forces that up to this time have supported the Administration in its foreign policy, that indication has been given that the measure will be modified before passage. This would still permit the seizure of property the government wants for defense. This is really drastic, for we are not yet at war.

Uncle Sam Employer

Under such seizure, the government becomes the employer and the strikers would find themselves striking against their own government. Such strikes were permitted in the early days of WPA, but it is rather inconceivable that such tactics would long be tolerated during the existence of the "unlimited emergency" proclaimed May 27th by the President. Regardless of promises already made, the laboring man would soon find himself reduced to the serfdom of medieval times.

Labor troubles of the present period are the fruit of the failure of those in power to deal realistically with the situation in the first place. I have said before, and I repeat now, there was need to correct the abuses under the old system which allowed the exploitation of labor. The right to strike is fundamental in our form of government. But likewise it is fundamental that labor must be free, to work where and when it pleases, without undue interference by either the government or by outside organizers. Given reasonable protection unions will grow and prosper in keeping with their willingness and ability to serve those who join them. The government must be the protector, not the dictator. Labor must not be exploited, either by agitators or by the war makers.

Their loves sunk by the swastika. Just as though they were the targets of totalitarian torpedoes, three American matrimonial barques have gone down and a fourth just barely managed to limp to port. Read about them in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Herald-American.

SUMMER BRINGS VITAMINS TO DIET

It's easier to get a supply of vitamins in summer. One of the most plentiful is vitamin C, present in most of the vegetables and many of the fruits soon in the peak of harvest for the summer.

Members of the home economics extension staff at Michigan State College remind the cooks, however, that vitamin C is elusive. Foods must be fresh and properly cooked, if cooked, to retain a plentiful supply in the food on the table.

Vegetables offering a goodly supply of vitamin C include new cabbage, green lima beans, green peas, summer squash or any of the leafy vegetables. Plump red tomatoes, cantaloups, raspberries and watermelons or lemonade are other sources.

Most important of the cooking rules is to use as little water as possible and to serve this cooking water with the vegetables. The vitamin C dissolves in the cooking water. Losses occur when the water is drained off and discarded, when vegetables are cooked too long or when soda is added to the cooking water.

Michigan's vast network of railroads employs 49,000 men at wages aggregating $70,000,000 a year.

Legislators See Starved Deer

Dr. S. C. Whitbeck, pathologist of the conservation department's game division, exposes evidence of starvation to members of a legislative party which found 63 starved deer on a brief tour of deeryards in Ogemaw, Oscoda and Montmorency counties. The 15 members of House and Senate committees on conservation, accompanied by Director P. J. Hoffmaster and conservation department game men, had a look for themselves at one of the trouble spots of Michigan's deer range before reporting out the bill which would authorize tagging of antlerless deer in restricted spots where winter food supplies are insufficient for present herds.

appropriations from state legislatures, session after session, because of the outstanding results which they have been able to show.

At a round-up dinner of travel editors and state officials held recently in Grand Rapids the chief suggestion voiced was a need for a centralized tourist program in Michigan, if we are to meet this augmented competition of rival states and to counteract any loss in business due to the war.

Mackinac Island

Michigan's most historic shrine, according to the daughters of the American Revolution, is Mackinac Island.

Because it is situated between the upper and lower peninsulas and is at the crossroads of the Great Lakes, this rocky scenic spot belongs to all the state to a greater sense than does the average tourist attraction.

It is the plan of the tourist groups, voluntarily banding together for a 1941 "All-Michigan project," to stage a historical pageant on Mackinac Island during July. The pageant would be the spearhead of a national drive to lure outstate visitors to Michigan—and when they are here, to show them our many other points of interest from Greenfield Village at Dearborn to the Porcupine mountains near Ontonagon.

Due to a 1941 legislative enactment, the old business section in Mackinac City is being given a treatment of historical restoration. It will become the Mid-west "Williamstown" with authentic colonial atmosphere. Several hundred thousand dollars are being spent at the island to create bathing beaches, parks and recreational facilities in order that visitors may have something to "do" on the island other than to climb hills and to watch ore-bearing boats go by.

Northwest Passage

In quest of the "Northwest Passage" to Japan, Jean Nicolet canoed through the Straits in 1634.

The rich fur trade there attracted both the French and British.

At the end of the American revolution, British troops refused for 13 years, to evacuate the island.

When the war of 1812 was declared, the British on St. Joseph's island amassed a force of 1,000 soldiers, Indians and trappers. They landed secretly at night on the western side of the island, mounted two cannons on the promontory above the fort, seized the island without a battle and continued to hold it until news of the signing of the Treaty of Ghent reached America in 1815.

John and Jacob Astor of New York then formed the American Fur company with headquarters on Mackinac Island. As many as 3,000 Indians camped along the beach during July and August when they brought the beaver pelts to the trading post.

Frontier Scene

The "Michigan Guide," (Oxford Press) recently compiled as a WPA Writers' Project under the supervision of Harold Titus, novelist of Traverse City, gives this colorful picture:

"Woodsmen of various nationalities slept in tents and stables or wrapping themselves in pack bedding, spent the night in the open. Clerks and voyageurs, adventurers from the leading European countries, were quartered in tents, barracks, and the agency house.

"The American soldiers, of equally varied stock and lineage, occupied the fort and served as guardians of the frontier. Coureurs de bois, unattached woodsmen who worked spasmodically, lived in a constant state of debauchery while their funds lasted and their credit remained stable.

Picturesque

"All the frontiersmen lived a rough and adventurous existence, punctuated by drunkenness, brawling and not infrequent murders. Dances and banquets were given for traders on their return from the wilderness, and invariably the merry-making lasted until daybreak. The man or group thus honored would return the courtesy the following night.

"This round of activities, wealth of characters, and constant bustle made Mackinac an exciting and picturesque settlement during its heyday as a trading post. But, after 1830, the fur trade declined, and when Astor closed the company's office on Mackinac, the island populace gradually diminished, leaving only a few whites and Indians."

It is this historic setting, "restored" by paint and architectural veneer, which may provide Michigan with its national bid for tourist dollars in 1941.

Serk Lost Gold

Southwestern Michigan has two "buried treasure" legends which constantly intrigue visiting tourists. Often they may be seen traveling the lakes near Indian River or the St. Joseph river, to find the lost Indian gold.

to his marriage, is a man's man, but does not leave rings on tables with wet glasses or burn places on the mantels with cigarettes; makes out checks for monthly bills, without uttering a single groan, and does not have to be reminded to hand over the market money; corrects the children and never shatters discipline by taking sides with them; is a paragon of virtue, but when things go wrong at home, humbly confesses that it is all his fault.

Which all reminds me, The man who wears a toupee knows there is no substitute for hair — and there is no substitute for advertising in the Courier when it comes to letting people know what you have to sell.

The Charlevoix Marine Club is leaving no stone unturned to make this year's Venetian night boat parade and day of water sports the best Charlevoix has ever had. Their latest promotional effort is that of sending invitation to attend the event to editors of the nation's leading yachting publications. Tentative acceptances have been received from C. F. Chapman, editor of Motor Boating, one of the nation's outstanding authorities on marine information and compiler of the text book used by all United States Power Squadrons, also from Herbert L. Stone, editor of Yachting. Nice going, boys!

Women don't win verbal battles by accident—they diligently train and prepare for them.

Most middle-aged men look all right until they get into a bathing suit.

In an article we mentioned a woman whose first name is Amey. The editor questioned the spelling. The proof-reader questioned the spelling, and finally the editor's secretary questioned the spelling. We assured each that the spelling was correct. But the repeated questioning caused us to refer to the city directory, where we found the name spelled Aimee. So we telephones a lifelong friend of Amey and asked how the name was spelled. "Amy" was the answer. We called another friend who told us it was spelled "Aimee." So we called Amey's lawyer and he told us it was spelled Amey.

A man confessed to us that he has invented a new system for preserving peace at home. "We went out to dinner one night this week," he said. "Next day I told my wife that she had never looked better in all her life. Since then she has been pleasant and cheerful. I haven't the faintest idea what dress she wore or how she looked, but flattery makes her happy and I get my reward in her improved disposition."

We think the fellow's got something.

No doubt you all remembered Mother's Day, so don't forget that next Sunday, June 15th, is Father's Day. Give the Old Man a break!

The wandering Metcalfs (Jay and the Missus) are back in their usual haunts. They're living aboard their cruiser See-Fever and probing the depths of Lake Charlevoix daily for mackinaw trout. Called them the wandering Metcalfs, for the last time I heard from Jay, they were in Mexico City.

I'm told they've named that hump of rock off the old Pere Marquette Railway transfer dock in Lake Charlevoix "See's Shoal" since Glenn rammed it with his boat while trolling one day last week. It's been marked with a flag now, and it's about time some warning was put up there, too.

SCHMIDT'S ANNOUNCES SALE OF CANNED BEER

Famous Beverage Makes Appearance In New Containers

The growing demand for beer in cans has been successfully answered by The Schmidt Brewing Company, Detroit, which has placed on the market Schmidt's beer in cans. Schmidt's is this made available in bottles, on draught and in cap-sealed cans.

Lou Ransom, city sales manager, reports that after a thorough survey it was decided to use Cap Sealed cans as best filling customer requirements.

"With cap-sealed cans," said Mr. Ransom, "no tricky special opener is needed. Every home has a bottle opener, and any type will do nicely. Also, cap-sealed cans have the advantage of furnishing a clean, cap-protected surface to drink from."

Schmidt's officials reveal that the growing demand for Schmidt's beer assured the popularity of the new container, even before it was released to the public.

They pointed out that the increasing trend to Schmidt's had made constant expansion of plant facilities necessary. Now, with many people repeatedly asking for this new type of container, plus the summer season increase in picnics and beach parties, the quick-cooling, easy storage advantages of canned Schmidt's appeals to a large new market.

But as Schmidt's president, George Schmidt, states, "This new type of container will be an addition to the already popular ways of serving Schmidt's; the old familiar bottle and on draught. It will not take the place of either, but is the answer to a distinct demand for canned beer."

"Even though the containers will be new, it will be the same old Schmidt's so many know and staunchly appreciate because it is brewed the costly, natural way."

FINE RESPONSE IN MUMMERS' DRIVE

NEAR MINIMUM SUBSCRIPTION GOAL IN WEEK

Prepare for Summer Theatre at The Inn Garage — Plans for Remodeling Are Disclosed

An early and successful conclusion to the Charlevoix drama committee's subscription campaign for the Mummers of Chicago summer theatre is in prospect.

With one week of the drive concluded, committee members report sale of 70 of a proposed minimum of 100 admission coupon books among local residents. Inasmuch as returns from several solicitors have not been obtained, indications point to near approach of the goal at close of the first week.

In the meantime, directors of the Mummers are busy in Chicago with plans for their summer opening here July 10th. Plans for remodeling The Inn garage, leased from the Pere Marquette Railway Co. for the summer theatre, are being prepared. The south entrance will be altered to provide a foyer, stage constructed, interior decorated, special lighting for stage, to be brought from Chicago, installed. Dressing rooms and scenic workshop will be built in the rear. Seating capacity for 350 persons is planned.

If the first season is successful, plans call for purchase of the property and rebuilding into a permanent summer theatre.

Housing facilities for the group of forty professionals and amateurs to take part in the Mummer productions are being provided at the Beach Hotel annex which will need considerable repairs to make it suitable.

EVELINE PIONEER NEAR 100TH YEAR

ALEC CURRIE TO REACH CENTURY MARK JUNE 26

Came to Ironton in 1881; Recalls Hand Harvest of Grains on Scottish Estates

Alec Currie, pioneer Eveline township farmer, will join the selected ranks of Charlevoix county centenarians when he attains his 100th birthday anniversary Thursday, June 26th.

Mr. Currie was born June 26, 1841 near Belfast in northern Ireland. Among his early remembrances are the days when he, with others of his neighbors, went to Scotland for the annual harvest of grains with scythe and sickle for Scottish land-owners. Hundreds of Irish farmers took part in the yearly trek to the Scottish estates.

Mr. Currie came to America in 1873. He was employed four years on a farm in York state owned by a wealthy New Yorker whose hobby was raising of purebred stock. He later moved to Lambton county, Ontario, Canada, and in 1881 came to Ironton then flourishing iron foundry town near Charlevoix. After following lumbering for several years, he purchased the Eveline township farm which is still his home.

Mr. Currie married Mrs. Caroline Freeman in 1892. She died 26 years ago. His nearest relatives are two nieces and three nephews, Mrs. Lyle Wilson, with whom he resides, Annie and Charles Currie, James Currie, of Boyne City, and Alec Currie of Eveline.

Mr. Currie is in good health and active for his extreme age. While only a few of the pioneers with

'41 BASS SEASON OPENS JUNE 25TH

ALL INLAND WATERS BECOME OPEN TO FISHING

Six Hundred Thousand Licensed Anglers Eagerly Await Lifting of Restrictions

Next Thursday, June 25th—is eagerly awaited by Michigan's army of 600,000 licensed fishermen. This day marks the opening of the inland lakes fishing season, legalizing hook and line angling for bass, bluegills and other pan fish.

While the general fishing law was amended in many respects by the 1941 legislature, none of these changes go into effect until January 1, 1942, thus the same regulations as last year will be in force. The digest of 1941 fish laws which you can obtain from any agency dispensing licenses will outline the rules.

The resident fishing license remains at $1 for all inland waters, while there is no license required for the Great Lakes and their connecting waters. It is well to remember, however, that Round lake and Lake Charlevoix do not come under the "connecting waters" classification. The wife, also, may fish on the husband's license under a special permit granted at the time the license is purchased. Non-residents, however, must pay $2 for themselves and an extra 50c for the Missus. The non-resident may take only certain species from the Great Lakes without a license, too.

Michigan expects the biggest tourist business of record this season and the quality and type of fishing offered in the state is primarily responsible for attracting a large proportion of visitors.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Some folks are so ornery they won't even agree with the food they eat.

Traffic cop: "Use your noodle, lady. Use your noodle!"

Lady: "My goodness—where is the noodle? I've pushed and pulled everything in the car."

Righteous indignation is one thing. Far superior to it is the feeling that you have curbed it—that you have kept to yourself a brilliant retort which would have disarmed your critic. Suppose your employer sees you hiking home from the lake and fishing in late afternoon when you ought to be either at your desk or scouting for business. There's accusation in his eyes even if he doesn't say a word. Should you tell the boss that you went with a valued customer and left him there with a friend? No, your boss might think more of you if you did, but you'll think more of yourself if you hold your tongue. To know that you are right and your critic wrong is itself a wonderful feeling. But to know also that your critic doesn't suspect he is wrong—that you alone know how wrong he is—gives you a magnificent sense of superiority. It is such a feeling of triumph that you can scarcely bear it. Husbands know all about this experience. It seems a pity that no wife has ever tried it.

Still going up the ladder! That's Ted Kibbe, who recently was appointed regional supervisor of fish culture with headquarters at Albuquerque, New Mexico. Ted's latest advancement places him in charge of ten fish culturists in eight stations and 30 hatcheries. Congratulations, Ted!

Useful business phrases:

That's not in my department; no one told me to go ahead; I'm waiting for an okey; that's the way we've always done it; how did I know this was different; I didn't know you were in a hurry for it; that's his job not mine; wait till the boss comes back and

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

No gasless Sundays are in prospect for Michigan this summer.

Furthermore, according to present indications, we are not apt to have a shortage here of petroleum products, although such may be the misfortune of the East.

This is the assurance from William Palmer, secretary, Michigan Petroleum Industries Committee, with headquarters at the capital city. Palmer, former member of the state senate for three terms, is a member of the state civil service commission.

Restrictions on the public use of gasoline and oil would be a hard blow to Michigan because of its adverse affect on the tourist business, foremost in Northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula."

Pipe Line

Transfer to Britain of 50 seagoing tankers is the cause of the oil transportation bottleneck.

The shortage is confined solely to the East, Palmer points out, and it has prompted introduction in Congress of the Cole bill to authorize construction of pipe lines from Texas to New York at an estimated cost of $140,000,000.

Michigan has approximately 400 miles of oil pipe lines; Standard Oil of Ohio recently acquired control of the pipe line from Mt. Pleasant to Toledo through which crude oil is transported to market. Michigan producers at Alma, St. Louis and Mt. Pleasant have been transporting crude oil from the Illinois fields for local refining. For that reason the Michigan refinery output is greater than our oil production would indicate.

Appointment of Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes as petroleum coordinator for national defense has again ushered in an era of federal control, reminiscent of the NRA days when Ickes was administrator of the oil code.

Oil Reserves

With a surplus in the Southwest and a shortage in the East, Michigan's oil industry is prospering.

Local Leaders Complete Mattress Program With Pot-Luck at Peninsula Grange

One of the most enjoyable get-to-gethers ever held in the county took place last Tuesday night, when local leaders and helpers in the mattress program were invited to eat and play together at the Peninsula grange hall. It is estimated that 135 people attended.

The evening started by dancing and the program was informal and extemperaneous. Mr. Norton of the Clarion group gave a clever skit called the "Gathering of the Nuts," Mr. and Mrs. Crane of the Advance community favored with songs, Mrs. Anna Warner and Mrs. M. Waffle from the Barnard community put on a little stunt called "Monkey's at the Zoo."

A final report showed that 470 mattresses have been completed, including twenty-nine made on Beaver Island. Also that 379 families had made one or more mattresses.

Summer 4-H Club Groups Being Organized

Many communities are now organizing groups. During the week a calf club has been developed on the Peninsula, under the leadership of Bud Staley. The Deer Lake girls are taking canning and food preparation this year under the leadership of Maxine McGeorge.

The Murray School community has already organized with fourteen food preparation projects and eight canning members. In this group Mrs. Ruth Muir and Mrs. Wm. Price are donating their time and energy in helping the young folk with their requirements.

Early developments in drilling test well yielded only meager returns, and it was not until 1928 that the Mt. Pleasant pool was discovered. The state's production in 1935 exceeded 15 billion barrels; in 1939 it reached an all-time high of 29 billion barrels and has since declined to a little under 20 billion barrels. (Natural gas production, however, has been rising sharply.

The production curve was declining until early this month when a substantial pool was discovered near Reed City. Drilling is now going on in 50 out of our 83 counties. As the Osceola County Herald, weekly newspaper at Reed City, proclaimed in a happy headline:

"Folks, we're in the money now."

Defense Confusion

Because organization of the Michigan Council of Defense was authorized only a month or so ago by the state legislature, confusion has been inevitable in certain unusual defense activities. Here are examples:

1. The state prison industries are making 10,000 arm bands for use of the American Legion in Michigan in civilian defense. Action was taken without knowledge of Col. Harold Furlong, administrator of the defense council. One reporter last week asked: "How does this fit into the council program?" The colonel had to admit: "It's news to me. I learned about it for the first time in the newspapers."

2. Washington agencies have been flooding mayors for pleas to form civilian defense agencies under guidance of F. H. LaGuardia, newly appointed national director of civilian defense. Yet the defense council has been awaiting instructions from Washington as to procedure.

In a situation as unprecedented as today's mad scramble to arm ourselves overnight, dizzy inconsistencies are perhaps inevitable. Colonel Furlong, fortunately, is a patient man.

Can Britain Hold Out?

According to K. T. Keller, president of the Chrysler Corporation, a shortage of tools is showing up production of army tanks at the new arsenal. While 80 per cent of the machine tools have been installed, the assembly line is awaiting arrival of the remaining 20 per cent.

Raymond Daniell, New York Times correspondent who recently visited the Detroit arms plants, has pointed out that between blue prints and finished products there is a "tremendous time lag." New tools have been designed and made. And when the demand is ten times greater than the supply, you simply have to wait and make the best of it.

This "time lag" appears to be the crux of the British problem. As Daniell aptly phrases it, "Can Britain must hold out through this Summer and Fall. This is a cold, hard fact on which most of the industrialists agree."

Labor strikes in national defense plants serve only to lengthen the "time lag" a bit more. With an invasion of England being forecast by many observers, including William Shirer whom you have heard many times on the radio from Berlin, the big issue is: "Can the British hold out for only three or six months?"

Strike Against State

The recent strike of liquor store employees against the State of Michigan, declared by Attorney General Herbert K. Rushton to be a legal impossibility, poses an interesting problem in labor relations.

The late Calvin Coolidge jumped to the White House because of national attention given to his forceful handling of the Boston police strike while he was governor.

The Michigan C.I.O. union has demanded $1.50-a-month minimum and $190-a-month maximum for store clerks and warehousemen. Rushton has ruled that the state cannot make wage contracts with Here's the source of $64,000,000 a year in farm income. That's the value of all Michigan's dairy products, including butter, cheese, evaporated milk and ice cream.

MICHIGAN'S RIVER OF MILK

DAIRY products form the largest single item in Michigan's farm income. In this state—8th in the nation for dairy production—more than half a billion gallons of milk are marketed yearly.

This is a wholesome condition for the state, not only because it benefits Michigan farmers but because milk is Nature's most nearly perfect food.

To maintain the swift, unvarying flow of this river of milk from farm to table, dependable telephone service is all-important. By telephone, the dairy farmer can talk to the milk-receiving station, buy feed and equipment, or discuss creamery prices, all in a few minutes. By telephone, the city milk distributor controls the movements of transport trucks and route men. And by telephone, the housewife orders her pound of butter, quart of milk, or brick of ice cream.

Children need a quart of whole milk a day—adults at least a pint. Modern dairy methods rush pasteurized milk, pure and fresh, to homes all over Michigan.

Then how long is a quart of this great New Motor Oil?

STRAIGHT FROM SIZZLING DEATH VALLEY COMES YOUR ANSWER...

The lock-guarded engines of 6 coupes faced the Death Valley desert with oil exactly up to "Full." Not a drop could be added. The destination of all 6 identical everyday engines was . . . Death!

Here were 6 high quality motor oils getting the same strictly fair opportunity to show how long they'd let an engine live on one exact fill and no more.

Down in Death Valley—hotspot of the U. S. A.—every car sped at 57 miles an hour, till its oil gave out and the engine smashed. The brand of oil that used up quickest was outlasted by a revolutionary new oil in this impartial, certified test. This new oil exceeded the average mileage of the other 5 oils by all of 7,057 miles! Certified. This longest-lasting oil in the test, which your car can have today—at popular price—is new

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL
with its Man-made new Economy aid

The record long life that defied Death Valley comes from a new laboratory creation . . . man-made . . . called Thialkene inhibitor. Its action in some ways suggests Vaccination—which puts the right protective substance on guard to keep a trouble from even starting on you.

The trouble aiming to start on motor oils lurks in the engine's normal firing. Filth is formed that tends to start the oil "festering." First one drop spoils—then two drops "catch it"—then four—then sixteen—faster, faster, FASTER. Soon oil stamina is sapped; the engine suffers, and cries for quart after quart . . . but not when the worst of this "festering" attack is nipped in the bud—inhibited—by the life-giving Thialkene inhibitor in new Conoco Nth motor oil.

Now you'll never rashly exceed the proper oil-change period for your car and driving conditions—any more than you ignore traffic rules just to "get away with it." But Certified Proof from the desert that new Conoco Nth could outlast the other oils in the test by as much as 16t%, gives you more than mere hopes of long Summer mileage between quarts. Change to Conoco Nth—at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station . . . today. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

IMPARTIAL

Latest available private records of 5 other competitive makes, not Referee.

New everyday cars used—identical. Broken-in alike. Engines taken apart for Referee—to assure uniformity.

Cars tuned alike. Same Death Valley route for all. Drivers rotated to even up on skill.

One fill per car. None added. Engines under lock—under scrutiny—every mile.

AND CONOCO Nth OIL OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE!

Long the keystone of Conoco success, OIL-PLATING comes from another great Conoco synthetic . . . man-made under the famed Germ Processed oil patent. By magnet-like action, OIL-PLATING is bonded to inner engine parts. Then it can't all drain down—not even overnight—not while you're using Conoco Nth. So OIL-PLATING is on guard against wear in advance! . . . and helps mileage, as it did in Death Valley. An OIL-PLATED engine is one more economy you get from a change to popular-priced new Conoco Nth oil.

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

WYANDOTTE ROBBERY SUSPECTS ARRESTED

William Armstrong and Benny Vincent Taken Here Friday

William Armstrong and Benny Vincent, of Detroit, arrested by Patrolman Glen Rose last Friday night following reports they carried concealed weapons, were turned over Tuesday morning to Wyandotte police to face charges of robbing a beer tavern at Wyandotte of $1,200 last Friday morning.

The woman proprietor of the tavern, who accompanied Detective McCrae and Sergeant Swartz of the Wyandotte police department to Charlevoix, identified Vincent as the man who held a gun on her at 7:20 Friday morning while two others robbed the place. Armstrong was not identified as one of the trio, it is understood.

Following their arrest Friday night the men were jailed pending investigation. It was found the gun they were reported carrying had been given to a woman here. It was recovered. When description of the men was given to Detroit police officials, it was found to tally with those being sought for the Wyandotte holdup. The gun, registered in Detroit, had been stolen.

New Dahlquist Store Opens Saturday

IS ACCLAIMED FINEST MERCANTILE STORE IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN AREA

Equipped Entirely With New Fixtures of Latest Type, Flourescent Lighting; Three-Day Sale Will Mark Opening In New Building

The Dahlquist 5c to $1 Stores organization will officially open its new Charlevoix store on Saturday, June 21st.

Acclaimed one of northern Michigan's finest, most modern and up-to-date merchantile stores, the new building places the Charlevoix unit—established in 1931 as the original unit of a chain now including 14 stores—in quarters owned by the Dahlquist organization. The property, located at the corner of Bridge and Mason streets, was acquired early last spring. The new store replaces quarters occupied in the Birnkrant building.

The building is approximately 50x87 feet, two stories, one above ground and full basement with concrete floor. Walls are concrete blocks, faced with brick.

The main floor is supported on steel beams, has plastered walls and insulation tile ceiling with 16x32-inch panels. The ceiling and built-up roof are supported on clear span steel trusses, eliminating posts in the main salesroom.

The store front facing Bridge street and part of the front facing Mason street are covered with black vitrolite structural glass, backed by steel and cement. Both front entrances are constructed of non-slip tile on reinforced concrete slab.

Display windows are of ultra-modern type. They have plate glass fronts and the backs may be completely opened through use of sliding doors, making access simple for trimming. Upper half of the sliding doors are of glass, providing ample light on the main sales floor.

Ladies' and men's rest rooms are located in the basement. The rest room for lady employes is equipped with chairs, davenport and table. Both rest rooms, also the office, are ventilated by forced air.

The heating system is a Sunbeam coal-burning unit, embodying forced air which carries heat through basement and main salesroom through concealed pipes along the ceiling, providing full circulation of heat forced downward at a 45 degree angle, elimination of floor drafts and wasting of floor space. The unit may be used also for ventilation in the summer.

A convenient Mason street side entrance is provided, also waterproof package shute into the basement which is used almost entirely for stock storage in racks, bins and on shelves.

All counter and wall fixtures are new and of the most modern design obtainable. They are built of clear birch trimmed with white wood and colored medium brown oak. Wall fixtures, matching the counters, are adjustable. Beneath both wall and counter stock display units are storage cases with dust-proof sliding doors.

Flourescent lighting will be used throughout the store. Display windows will be equipped with tubular units, the main sales floor with ceiling type units.

An outstanding feature is a new, modern candy case. It provides 36 bins with open display under glass and is equipped with insect and fly proof sliding doors. Top counter and trim is of stainless steel in attractive design.

The Cadillac firm of Peterson & Westberg were general contractors and work was supervised by Edward Westberg and Ed. Scott, foreman. Heating and plumbing was installed by Robert Bonthron, electric wiring by Wood Bros., brick and cement was furnished by Argo Milling Co., lumber by Kit Carson Lumber Co., concrete blocks by the Northern Concrete Products Co., Petoskey, plate and structural glass by Toledo Plate & Window Glass Co., fixtures by P. Meyer Fixture Co., New York, and L. A. Darling Fixture Co., Bronson, Mich.

Formal opening of the new store is announced on the page adjoining. The event is marked by a three-day special opening sale.

The store will be equipped on opening day with a public address loud speaker system and special provisions have been made for music and entertainment features by WTCM radio station performers.

Harold A. Dahlquist, owner of the chain of stores bearing his name, states the new Charlevoix store, representing a large investment, in a measure shows the organization's appreciation for the wonderful way the people of Charlevoix have responded to efforts to supply their merchandising needs. A large portion of the financial outlay went for labor and materials in Charlevoix.

One dollar out of every $25 spent in retail trade in the United States is spent in Michigan.

Greetings

to the

Dahlquist 5c to $1.00 Store

Upon the completion of their new modern Charlevoix store.

We are happy to have had a part in the realization of this splendid improvement in our city.

LANSING LETTER

anyone; in substance, a worker cannot strike against himself!

It is no secret that union organizers are becoming apprehensive over inroads being made by government into field of private business. They also see another rich field of payrolls available for collective bargaining.

An ironical aspect to the whole situation is that Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner is being embarrassed by the same group which he recently befriended by successful settlement of the Ford strike at Dearborn, resulting in a C.I.O. organization victory.

State Socialism

The general situation was recently described by Philip Murray, president of the C.I.O., as follows:

"It must be apparent to everyone by now that slowly and inexorably the government is assuming many of the functions which have been those of private industry.

"Whether we like it or whether we don't, it is happening. And there is no telling where or when this process will be stopped."

F. H. LaGuardia, newly appointed national director of civilian defense, came to near parting of ways with the C.I.O. when he warned that government "does not and cannot recognize the right of any group to strike against the city."

And the New York mayor was re-elected last time on a labor ticket!

Bribe Quiz

If one-tenth of the rumors are half true which were circulated openly during the 1941 legislative windup at Lansing, there would be ample basis for a grand jury inquiry into existence of so-called "slush funds."

Rep. Loomis K. Preston, St. Joseph, startled a luncheon club recently when he recited a thrilling tale of the bad, wicked state capital—how he was offered a roll of bills "big enough to choke an ox." He also confided that Rep. Gail Handy, Eau Claire, had been offered $2,000 to vote a certain way on a certain bill.

Reminded by the attorney general that it is a violation of the law for anyone to offer a bribe, let alone for anyone to accept one, the Berrien county representative (incidentally, an attorney) has been a bit evasive and was summoned to appear here for questioning.

"Sand Bag"

Rumors of this kind have always persisted in legislative sessions, and occasionally they are manufactured deliberately for propaganda purposes. The rumors also go both ways, for example: One lobbyist confided to this writer that the 1941 session was marked by legislative attempts of a petty type to "sand bag" lobbyists for release of important bills from committees, or to prevent their release from committee.

Preston's charges, however, were directed at what he termed "undesirable" lobbyists.

One thing is certain. Bribe rumors have been numerous, and the attorney general's office is fully aware of them.

A majority of legislators, who are both conscientious and honest, undoubtedly would welcome a thorough inquiry.

Buy Coal Now

Citizens are being advised by defense agencies to buy in their winter supply of coal now.

Reason: Production at mines can be stabilized; winter shortages may be forestalled.

Bluegill and Bass Fishing Begins June 25

If it's bluegills that nibble, these lads can keep what they catch after June 25. Now the No. 1 fish of the state for sport fishermen, the bluegill accounts for more than a third of the total catch reported in Michigan department of conservation creel census records, outnumbering the catch of its nearest rival, the yellow perch, by two to one. It is especially popular with amateur anglers. Hard fighting black bass also become legal game fish June 25.

Wishing You Every Success...

SHOT AT RANDOM

ask him; I forgot; I didn't thiak it was so very inqortant; I'm so busy I just couldn't get around to it; I thought I told you.

I discovered the other evening that what this fruit producing region needs is better educated bees. Visiting an orchard and observing an alarmingly light bearing of sour cherries, I asked the owner: "Were the blossoms frozen?" He aaswered: "No, not entirely. The first crop of blossoms froze, and when the second crop came on the apple trees were in full bloom also, so the bees deserted the cherry blossoms for the more tasteful apple blossoms, thus the cherry blossoms werea't pollinated." It was a revelation to me to find how what an important part the bees play in the propagation of fruit and my departing remark to him was he'd better teach the bees better manners.

Boy, oh, boy, is "Doc" Nettleton mad! Took his golf bag to have a tear in it sewed up the other day and down in the bottom found a 15-pound chunk of pig-iron. Just as if the darn thing wasa't heavy enough in the first place, and him getting round-shouldered carrying it, some prankster had stuck that chunk of iron in the bag. Doc's sworn seventeen kinds of vengeace if he ever finds out who the responsible guy is.

They say you have to fish to get fish—and four fellas from Kalamazoo proved it so last Sunday. Ten steelhead, largest single day's catch of the season, were taken off the railroad bridge and in the channel between Round lake and Lake Charlevoix by Richard and Robert Phillips, Francis Baker and William Weber. They lost several besides while taking movie shots of these scrapping "fresh water "Tarpon" and altogether had a very profitable day. Let's hope it's the start of better steelhead fishing.

Flash!—Charlie Heise and Ben Yettaw took three nice mackinaw trout trolling Tuesday afternoon in Lake Michigan. That certainly is good news!

Bass season opens June 25! We have a complete stock of lures, reels, rods and lines. See our prices before buying. Gamble Store.—Adv. 44tf.

TEMPERANCE UNION MEET HELD FRIDAY

Adopt Resolution In Protest to New City Liquor Ordinance

The June meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. C. Hansen on the Norwood road.

Mrs. William C. Palmer conducted devotions, and Mrs. Lois Campbell presented an excellent paper on "Character Building".

A resolation was adopted protesting the city council's recent action in substituting an ordinance permitting the sale of hard liquor by the glass in the business district, for one which practically confined such sales to the resort sections and resort season.

Attention was called to a bill in Congress to keep vice and liquor from the army camps and vicinity, and everyone urged to write Senators Brown and Vandenberg and Congressman Bradley urging their support of the measure, namely H. R. 2475 as amended by including the Sheppard bill.

The next meeting will be held in the city park July 11, following a picnic dinner.

COAST GUARDSMEN CALLED FOR NAVY

Elmer Bump, first class radioman, has been added to the personnel of the local station and also serves other stations of the district. Capt. Johnson announced that radio equipment had recently been installed at South Fox Island.

A transfer last week took the remaining 11 men from Sleeping Bear station. Transfer of men from Beaver Island occurred at the same time, also all but three of the South Manitou station.

William Woods of Sleeping Bear station, former local resident, has gone to Norfolk, Va.

Indications are that these coast guardsmen, following preliminary Atlantic coast work, would be stationed at some American outposts, possibly Alaska or Greenland, although no official word to this effect has been received. Replacements in Great Lakes stations with new recruits are expected.

Change in Train Time Brings Alteration In Mail Deadlines from Local Postoffice

The summer schedule of train service over the Pere Marquette Railway went into effect Monday, June 23. Subsequently mail schedules at the local postoffice changed to conform with the new train service.

Charlevoix now has two trains north and south daily except Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The resort special arrives northbound at 7:20 a. m. daily except Monday, and leaves southbound at 9:10 p. m. daily except Saturday.

Local No. 106 leaves southbound at 9:50 a. m. and Local No. 1 arrives northbound at 2:16 p. m., both daily except Sunday.

The new postal schedules provide for deadlines on outgoing mail at 6:45 and 8:40 a. m. and 1:20 and 7:30 p. m. Sorted mail will be available to patrons at the postoffice at 10 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. Two complete deliveries of first class mail will be made in the city daily during the summer. There is no train south on Saturday afternoons, thus mail intended to go out that day should be posted in the morning to go south, and by 1:30 in the afternoon to go north. The postoffice will remain open until 9 p. m. and window service after July 1 will be available until 7 p. m.

Better airmail service for Charlevoix is available with inauguration of mail plane schedules at Pellston airport. Letters to be sent by airmail should be posted by 1:15 p. m. They will go north to Petoskey at 2:16 and from there make connection with airport schedules.

The 12:30 closing Saturday afternoons will continue, it was announced by Postmaster J. M. Foster.

Attractive Outdoor Dining Room Adds to Accommodations

"The Hitchin' Post", popular eating place operated by Mr. and Mrs. George Smith on Petoskey avenue, will open for the season Saturday, June 28.

The door is to be finished in deep tile red, and furniture will be burgundy and white. The north wall is constructed of brick, while east and south walls are siding.

DRAMA LEAGUE'S DRIVE A SUCCESS

FINE RESPONSE TO MUMMER SUBSCRIPTION CAMPAIGN

Alteration of Inn Garage, to Be Known as Charlevoix Playhouse, Is Under Way

Determined to have a theatre of repute in operation during the summer, Charlevoix has invited the Mummers of Chicago ta present a season of Broadway hits.

The city has pledged to support the Mummers with a subscription drive to which there has been enthusiastic response. Members of the Drama League, headed by Ralph Price, will be listed as patrons of the theatre group upon selling seven subscriptions.

Construction work is under way to convert the Inn garage, which in the future will be known as the Charlevoix Playhouse, into a theatre. The next regular meeting of the Drama League will be held in the Playhouse on Thursday, June 26th.

As it is known that a successful professional theatre in Charlevoix will be of tremendous benefit to the entire northern Michigan vacationland, plans are being formulated to encourage attendance of groups in Boyne City, Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Walloon Lake, Central Lake and East Jordan.

In reciprocation to the board of education for the use of school equipment in their theatre, the Mummers have offered a scholarship in their drama school to some boy student of Charlevoix high school. This course is the same as that given regular Mummer students.

Any church, club or fraternal organization desiring information concerning the benefits or fund raising plans may address E. H. Gilpin, Charlevoix Playhouse, or by calling Charlevoix telephone 78.

NYA ANNIVERSARY SET FOR THURSDAY

OPEN HOUSE SCHEDULED TO OBSERVE OCCASION

Public Is Invited to Exhibit at Resident Work Center on Park Avenue

June 26 is the birthday of the National Youth Administration. Residents of Charlevoix will have an opportunity to view some of the work of this agency on Thursday when the resident work center for girls on Park avenue will hold an open house and exhibit.

Through Mrs. Laura Zipp, project supervisor, Orin W. Kaye, state administrator of the NYA has invited the public to inspect the work that is being accomplished at the residence.

The resident project will open its doors to the public at 2 p. m. and will remain open for inspection until 9 in the evening. Refreshments will be served to the visiting guests between 4 and 5 in the afternoon, and 8 to 9 in the evening.

Because it was hard for youth in sparsely settled areas of the state to participate in NYA work, resident work experience centers were established in 1937 where a youth could both work and live on the project site. First major resident unit in the state was the Cassidy Lake resident work experience center which started in 1937. This type of project proved such a success that others were launched until now there are eight in operation and six more under construction.

Mrs. Zipp pointed out that the work being turned out by the girls at the residence at the present time is largely composed of sewed articles for the State Hospital at Traverse City and that this work experience is invaluable in placing the girls in positions in private industry.
